LEO and DISTRICT NEWS

There were quite a large number of people attended the meeting at Quigley on the 19th inst. to hear Mr. H. H. Wood, president of the U.F.A. and chairman of the Wheat Pool Executive in support of the great pool drive which is now on. A couple of pool cars were made up for the occasion, Mr. Wood was met at Hussar by a car load of Leo people and motored to Quigley where a number of people had gathered and organized as a very appreciative meeting. Mr. Wood gave a splendid address and was followed by a very interesting talk on co-operation by Mr. Johnson, which was enjoyed by all. Mr. Johnson was on Saturday at the Bon Ton Livery Barn.

Mrs. J. Skirko and Edward spent Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. H. E. Bays.

SPRING WHEAT AT DRAYTON FARM

(Experimental Farms Note)

The question of what varieties of spring wheat will be best to put under cultivation on specially favored land in this country would be a fairly easily, highly interesting problem, non-scientific person could solve. Take three representative parts of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and there would be no difficulty in selecting the varieties which would be most suitable for each district. Then, if a number of farmers in each district were to follow the recommendations, the results would be known in a few years. Unfortunately, however, the problem is not so simple as that. Even if we could select the best varieties for each district, we would find that the best varieties for one year are not the best for the next year. My gentleman friend told me last week that the prohibitionists were going to spend more than $1,000,000 in the United States to enforce prohibition. I remarked that I thought that was a lot of money to spend on a thing that nobody wanted, and when I said that remarks I thought that was the end of the matter, but no, he had to go and tell me that the money was not to be spent in the United States, but in Canada, and that the object was to get Canada to adopt prohibition. Well, I ask you, what would you do with a man like that? I suppose you would just tell him to go and chase himself, but I can tell you that I didn't. I just sat and looked at him for a minute or two and then I asked him if he thought that the people of Canada were a lot of fools. He said he did not think so, but that they were very much misled by the liquor interests. I then

Many Reasons From Many Users

If you were to ask the next fifty Ford owners you meet why they prefer Fords, you would get a wide variety of answers.

Some would say, "Because they want never to wear out," others would answer, "Because I pay out so little." Many would reply "Because I can get service anywhere," and just as many, "Because I am the only one I can afford."

All would tell you, "Because they master a bad road in any weather," a woman driver would respond, "Because I can drive it so easily," From the fleet-owners you would hear, "Because I can buy two or three or four Ford Trucks for the price of one big truck.

Wherever you might inquire you would hear expressed those basic reasons why Ford predominates — why, year after year, Ford sales equal the total sales of all other cars combined.

Influenza and La Grippe

The appearance in Stettler of a number of cases of influenza and la grippe has brought to the attention of the provincial authorities the necessity of taking precautions to prevent the spread of the disease. Dr. Lyall, provincial medical officer of health, has issued a memorandum to the effect that the end of the world is near and that it would be destroyed by fire from heaven. Years he declared in his study, and he had been able to show that the millennium would arrive in 1843. Having satisfied himself on this point he felt that the world at large ought to be informed of his discovery and that they might be neatly converted it. Yet he had been enough to know that the world likely be met with incredulity.

One day when he was turning over in his mind his tremendous responsibility to his neighbors he chanced to receive. A young man came to his door and told him that the preacher was ill and would not be able to preach on the next Sunday. Would not Mr. Heller take his place, and from the pulpit of the church he contemplation the result of his explanations upon the Bible which, rumor had it, had led him to own outstanding convictions. Heller accepted, and revealed in the startled congregation his opinions concerning the approaching end of the world. Many of his hearers doubted, but others believed. The news of the sermon spread, and Miller was invited to preach from other pulpits. The number of converts grew, many losing their material engagement who thereafter devoted themselves to an exposition of the Miller doctrines. In November, 1832, two years before the fateful year, there was an extraordinary meteoric display. Those who believed Miller thought it was a warning from heaven, confirming his interpretation of the Book of Revelation.

When 1843 arrived Miller said that he could not foretell the exact date of the Second Coming, but that all the portents clearly indicated that it would be before the end of May, and as the spring approached the frenzy of the many thousands who had accepted Miller as a prophet increased. Men, women and children went to bed at night in the full hope that they would be aroused by Gabriel's trumpet. Thousands forsworn their jobs and made startling confessions of hitherto un-suspected sin. People paid their debts, because many wouldn't be no use to them in a few days. Others rambled debts for the same reason. COULDN'T DIGEST A THING

Hughes Has Taken Dyspepsia Cure and Gets Quick Relief. Has Splendid Appetite, Sleeps Soundly and Feels Better in Every Way.

"My stomach and kidneys caused me all sorts of trouble during the past year," writes Mrs. Mary Hughes, of 2626 Johnston Avenue, of 1625 Victoria Avenue, Montreal. "I could not digest. It would lie on my stomach like a lump of lead. I had a very poor appetite, was subject to sick headaches and couldn't sleep. My kidneys were in a terrible state as a result of undernourishment. I was always tired and weak and had no energy for my work. In addition, I had severe headaches from my kidneys.

"I only started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills. Now I have a splendid appetite and can eat anything and digest it perfectly. I sleep like a log all night long and awake in the morning feeling better than for years. My kidneys are in fine shape too."

Dodd's Kidney Pills, 50 cents per box, 6 boxes $2.50, at all dealers or direct from Dodd's Kidney Pills, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Influenza and La Grippe

The appearance in Stettler of a number of cases of influenza and la grippe has brought to the attention of the provincial authorities the necessity of taking precautions to prevent the spread of the disease. Dr. Lyall, provincial medical officer of health, has issued a memorandum to the effect that the end of the world is near and that it would be destroyed by fire from heaven. Years he declared in his study, and he had been able to show that the millennium would arrive in 1843. Having satisfied himself on this point he felt that the world at large ought to be informed of his discovery and that they might be neatly converted it. Yet he had been enough to know that the world likely be met with incredulity.

One day when he was turning over in his mind his tremendous responsibility to his neighbors he chanced to receive. A young man came to his door and told him that the preacher was ill and would not be able to preach on the next Sunday. Would not Mr. Heller take his place, and from the pulpit of the church he contemplation the result of his explanations upon the Bible which, rumor had it, had led him to own outstanding convictions. Heller accepted, and revealed in the startled congregation his opinions concerning the approaching end of the world. Many of his hearers doubted, but others believed. The news of the sermon spread, and Miller was invited to preach from other pulpits. The number of converts grew, many losing their material engagement who thereafter devoted themselves to an exposition of the Miller doctrines. In November, 1832, two years before the fateful year, there was an extraordinary meteoric display. Those who believed Miller thought it was a warning from heaven, confirming his interpretation of the Book of Revelation.

When 1843 arrived Miller said that he could not foretell the exact date of the Second Coming, but that all the portents clearly indicated that it would be before the end of May, and as the spring approached the frenzy of the many thousands who had accepted Miller as a prophet increased. Men, women and children went to bed at night in the full hope that they would be aroused by Gabriel's trumpet. Thousands forsworn their jobs and made startling confessions of hitherto un-suspected sin. People paid their debts, because many wouldn't be no use to them in a few days. Others rambled debts for the same reason. People sold their farms for small sums to people so stiff mothed and indifferent as to be willing to buy them in the foundationless belief that they might live long enough to get another crop. Subscription notices are dodged, but business notices are not. Many items appear in a small Northern Alberta town each week that would be of interest to the people in the surrounding district, but which never appear in print because the editor does not know about them. Subscribers are the best source of information. Many of them have items of interest to their neighbors, but they do not realize that the editor is glad to receive them. Subscribers are requested to send in items of interest to the paper. Mere trifles are often of great interest to the editor. MOVEMENT OF GRAIN

The Board of Grain Commissioners makes the following comments on the movement of the coarse grains of West ern Canada during January last: "The most outstanding feature of the marketing movement of Western grains in the manner in the volume going out to the country market via Vancouver. The partial failure of the Chinese crops and the destruction of a large proportion of the Japanese cereal crops by the earthquakes, fully account for the increased demand in those countries for Canadian wheat. On the other hand very much larger quantities have been exported to the United Kingdom and European countries than in previous years. The lower freight rates enable much of the large crop in Alberta to be forwarded to Vancouver at a lower cost than if routed via Fort William. A large volume of tonnage was offered for chartering so far about as February as much more attractive than could be obtained now. All of these factors play an important part when importers are arranging for shipments for future delivery as well all as business when the grain is routed Vancouver or undoubtedly

All of these factors play an important part when importers are arranging for shipments for future delivery as well all as business when the grain is routed Vancouver or undoubtedly

The story of how this blend of tea originated and is now extended over the whole continent of North America is unexpectedly linked with the life of P. C. Larkin, the founder of the Salada Tea Company, and at the present time Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain, holding one of the most responsible posts within the power of the Government to give.

As a young man Mr. Larkin was a traveller for a Montreal Wholesale Grocery house. This fact seems to be important only in so far as it was the factors of this firm, Mr. Larkin was left without a position, and having courage and ability, he started a business of his own as a tea importer in Toronto, out of which grew the Salada Tea Company.

Mr. Larkin's earlier in Mr. Lyon's memory [illegible] was in the tea business, and with a firm both in accept- [illegible] ing the agency for Salada Tea, and in the course of [illegible] Mr. Lyon became personally acquainted with Mr. Larkin. He was impressed with the quality of the tea, and with the manner in which it was put up for the consumer, and he was also impressed with the fact that Mr. Larkin was a man of unusual ability and energy. Mr. Lyon was then in the employ of the Massey-Harris Company, and was in charge of their business in Ireland. He was so impressed with the possibilities of Salada Tea that he resigned his position with the Massey-Harris Company and went to Ireland as Mr. Larkin's representative. He was successful from the start, and before long was appointed Sole Agent for Ireland for Salada Tea. Mr. Lyon has been Mr. Larkin's representative in Ireland ever since, and during the years that have passed he has built up a business of large proportions, and has become personally acquainted with Mr. Larkin. Mr. Lyon's connection with Salada Tea has been a most interesting one, and he has had many amusing experiences in connection with the introduction of Salada Tea into Ireland. He tells the story of one of these experiences as follows:

"I had been in Ireland for about a year, and had succeeded in getting a few agents to handle Salada Tea, but the business was not developing as rapidly as I had hoped it would. I was in the office one day when a man came in and asked to see me. He was a big, burly fellow, and looked like a prosperous farmer. He said he had come to see me about Salada Tea, and I thought he was going to tell me that he wanted to handle it, but instead he said that he had been using it for some time, and that he thought it was the best tea he had ever used, and that he was willing to pay me a good price for it. I was delighted to hear this, and asked him how much he would be willing to pay. He said he would be willing to pay me a pound for it. I was astonished, and asked him if he was sure that he meant a pound. He said he was sure, and that he would be willing to pay a pound busy women want SMP Enameled Ware because it will bring food to the boil almost twice as fast as all-metal utensils, as it combines the cooking secret. A woman can wash SMP Enameled Ware utensils faster than utensils that have to be scrubbed and scoured.

Three finishes: Pearl Ware, two coats of pure-spray enamel inside and out. Diamond Ware, three coats, light blue and white outside, white lining. Crystal Ware, three coats, pure white inside and out, with Royal Blue edging.

BARGAINING IN CHINA

Every day is bargain day in China (A.D. 41 being the important year) says [illegible] Mr William L. Hall's account in Asia of a fortnight's [illegible] Canton. There you have to bargain, and the lack of a uniform money system adds not to the quiet.

This afternoon, says Mr Hall, a man ran along the road for more than half an hour, trying to sell a basketload of red turnips. Before the deal was made into the man took part on the turnips. In China "one hundred cash" does not always mean one hundred pieces of money. In order to stimulate trade different villages have different rates, and weights and measures vary everywhere. After the price of the turnips had been settled the men had to go over the ground again to instill whether payment should be made in each ninety-six, ninety-seven, ninety-eight or one hundred pieces to the hundred. Each man who had helped with the trade wanted the peddler to have the number normally given in his own home town, and none could see justice in any other figure.

At last they decided that the man should be paid in the amount current in his own village. Then he had to wait till someone who could vouch for the truth of his statement came along with the money, which amounted to less than five cents, was paid the cash on our boat began to push off the turnips, and, on finding a sweeping upset, revoked the peddler for his dishonesty. Then the man came running after us to say that the payment made to him was "two cash short." He was to have been paid ninety-eight to the hundred and had received only ninety-six!

He forced his company on us until the "two cash" were thrown to him. Then we went nine minutes. Again a boat-passenger saw of the trip was [illegible]

If anyone noticed it on a street of cash. A question was at once raised whether the man that he declared to be a counterfeit was the one given him or one that he had been carrying for days, waiting for just such a chance to palm it off on somebody. And so it went. The transaction was not finally completed for hours.

IMPORTATION OF BEEF AND CORDS INTO CANADA PROHIBITED

[illegible] Canadian Food Board, acting on the recommendation of the Health of Animals Branch, Department of Agriculture, has prohibited the importation of meat products [illegible] Canada from the United States. During the past two or three years [illegible] shipments of [illegible] canned meat [illegible] Canada through [illegible] the Dominion could be made with [illegible] from the United States ports. But recently have failed to [illegible] their method of inspecting [illegible] many new methods of American [illegible] have been traced to such shipments. A number of these have not yet been found in Manitoba, and resulted in the [illegible] of that province passing a resolution at their last convention asking the Dominion Government to pass such legislation as would prohibit the importation into Canada of bone in canned meat. The second hand beekeeper's supplier [illegible] of the resolution were sent to other associations with the result that similar requests have been received from all over Canada. In accordance with these petitions [illegible] order to prevent the [illegible] of American [illegible] and other diseases which affect the beef cattle industry, the importation into Canada of bone in canned or cured or boned form and [illegible] of fresh beef has been prohibited.

The importation of bone in [illegible] packages is also prohibited, unless such packages are accompanied by a declaration signed by the shipper that the food supplied to the bone and carried in the package is free from disease.

"The Order shall come into effect on and after March 20th, 1924."

As combines perhaps can be shipped safely to any point in Canada and, as they will give equally as good results as model (bone on combs), no difficulty should be experienced in complying with the rules contained in the above order.

LOCAL DEALERS DO BUSINESS IN OPEN

Know They Must Face the Music of Their Customers Are Displeased — Must Patronize Fare to Fare — Mail Order Man Prefers to Deal Long Distance Rather Than Deal With People in Their Own Cities

[illegible] the [illegible] argument of the man who orders goods from a mail order house at that [illegible] many times [illegible] a man [illegible] that the local merchant is not [illegible] to [illegible] and treat them as he [illegible].

This argument may be all right on the theory that a poor sucker is better than one, but it fails to [illegible] when [illegible] a reasoning [illegible].

[illegible] that the mail order man is on the square with the real order man why he does not [illegible] as well as the [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] as much [illegible] the latter does and if they are not to be found in the mercantile establishments of the merchants and customers with each profit. [illegible] profit from the [illegible] to be dealing with a merchant who stands back of the goods that he sells, and who is always accessible in case the article purchased do not prove to be all that the customer had expected.

GIVE HOME MERCHANT PREFERENCE

Why not try this plan the next time you want something when you cannot find in any of your home stores? The merchant in the average rural town cannot carry everything in stock, but if you [illegible] in such a way [illegible] to get it as quickly as any mail order house. Many times larger than the average merchant can carry and to do this, but he does the best he can. He constantly does carry in stock or after [illegible] many things in order that he may meet the needs of his customers to the greatest possible degree. [illegible] there is a limit to his purchasing ability. He is always ready and willing, however, to make every effort in [illegible] the demands of the community. Why not, then, give him the preference over the far distant mail order man if you can have anything which is not to be found in the local stores? He will do his best to get it for you in a satisfactory manner, give you as quick if not quicker service and more satisfactory treatment, and there are times when he will give you better values for the money. Finally, whatever trade may be made off the transaction will stay at home to help make the merchants and the town and, incidentally, yourself, more prosperous.

[illegible] the mail order man is not always on the square in his dealings with you. [illegible] the merchant must face to face. The only recourse in this case is at the close of the [illegible] the merchant [illegible] the mail order man [illegible] the merchant must face to face. That is a thing the mail order man cannot do. THINGS WE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW?

Are not our electors the most fortunate in the world since mortgages with which they have the power to vote themselves money are much better than other children are on their parents?

Are the members of the Dominion Parliament who voted against legislation prohibiting a newspaper the same type as those members in some of the local Legislatures who regulate about the length of skirts the width of lace insets in flannel and against smoking in public places? If the Provincial Government, that is the legislature, are in the business of telling lawyer in substantial profit, what grounds have they to object to the newspapers making a profit by advertising the things which the government itself and the government is going to sell? Space is it not to the advantage of the public to emphasize the difference between good and bad liquor through law?

Is it not time the Council by body Golden is town instead of having it run by individuals? Is it not time that a Mayor and council had no end of the way permanent as a temporary institution and Rotate a wealth more to that to some outsiders.

WEDDINGS

The home of Mr and Mrs. T. S. Dawes, 1108 Thirty-fourth Avenue, Southwest, Calgary, was the scene on Wednesday afternoon, when their daughter, Miss Ethel Mary Dawes, became the bride of Mr. William Bell, of Stettler.

The bride, who looked charming in navy blue silk crepe and carrying pink carnations, was given away by T. S. Dawes. She was attended by Miss Queen Rose in a dainty peach coloured crepe, while Fred and Lily Bell were the flower girls. W. A. Williams acted as best man. Miss Ada Coulter played the wedding march and Verna Rose played the bridal chorus. Rev. H. Bingham officiated.

After the ceremony a dainty buffet luncheon was served to twenty-five guests. Mr and Mrs. Bell received many congratulations and a few valuable presents.

Insulin is Saving Lives

Insulin, the cure for diabetes discovered by Dr. F. G. Banting of Toronto, already is checking the death rate caused by the disease, it was declared by Frederick Banting, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York. Among nearly 15,000,000 industrial policy holders in the United States and Canada, the company has found that the death rate from diabetes has been reduced 50 per cent in the last two years.

Dr. Banting, who is in charge of the insulin research work at the University of Toronto, is expected to arrive in New York shortly to receive the Cameron prize and medal of the University of Minnesota.

GADSBY NEWS

Mr. J. Alexander, a very well known and much respected citizen of Gadsby, died very suddenly on Thursday of last week. She had gone up town in usual good health and was dropped as he was at a friend. Mr. Alexander, the local ill there and did not seem unconsciously. About a year ago Mr. Alexander had undergone a rather severe operation and she had never been quite so robust since. Of a quiet, retiring disposition, but an ample provision to help in times of trouble or sickness, she was very highly esteemed in the community and her place will be hard to fill. She leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband, a son, married and living in California, a daughter living a few miles south of town, Mrs. Chas. Miller, and an unmarried son, Cecil, who lived at home. To them the sudden departure of the mother has been a terrible blow, and much sympathy has been shown to them by the people here in all circumstances generally. Rev. G. A. Brooks conducted the funeral services in the church on Saturday afternoon and thereafter the funeral took place in Gadsby cemetery. "He giveth His beloved sleep."

Mr. Bill McTaggart, our popular garage man, has been shaving to the Bowling Club of late: business being has been unusually so it is this district. He said it were to one week a Chevrolet sedan to Mr. R. N. Rushell, a Chevrolet touring to Mr. L. Bailey, and a used Dodge to Mr Fred Anderson. The two new cars were driven to Stettler Calgary, Bill is the head, and they made the trip up without a hitch. Mr. Bill has other prospects for sales that we may be able to announce soon.

Mr. R. W. Barbour has every reason to be pleased with the result of his sale last Friday as he had a very big crowd present, prices ruled higher than at any such sale in this district for some years. He had a splendid assortment of stuff, horses especially being of a much better and younger type than one usually sees at a farm sale. Bidding was brisk and all found buyers at good prices: some thought

Mahomet could have sold your merchandise

You know the old story of Mahomet and the Mountain—when the mountain wouldn't come to him he, like a sensible man, grabbed his Panama off the hall rack and went to the mountain—he wanted it badly enough to go after it.

That is precisely the situation today—the mountain—BUSINESS—will not come to you—you will have to go after it and go after it hard. You have one great advantage over the prophet—he had to take the going as he found it—you can pave the way with advertising.

cold that upon two enemy boots and rounded down his thirsty lips.

But just so he swallowed the first delicious gulp of coolness, there came a sudden heavy pounding in the breakwood behind him. In one breath he was on his feet. In the next he had whirled the pail in a long, and huge flinging for the nearest tree, with a motion that landed as big as an elephant on his haunch.

The moment was, a young hawk, one not so big as he would have wished, but he was not taking time for that. He grabbed the pail, the whirled himself round the trunk, sprang to one side, dodged behind it and scrambled desperately to gain a safe height. He gained it, but literally by no more than a hair's breadth, as the black monster reached the tree, it checked itself abruptly, and as almost the same instant lifted its right forefoot high enough to reach and strike with a flash at Peddie's foot just as it appearing over a branch. It missed the first by half an inch, shaved a

A farmers, our popular coal man, is seriously thinking of trying his fortune near the Rocky Mountain House.

We are pleased that Miss Lois Flack is resuming her teaching of vocal music in town.

Here is the time to prepare for a clean up campaign. Would it not be well while we are considering the matter of decorating the interior of our homes to also plan for the decoration of our lawns, streets and unsightly spots by tree planting, and growing hedges and flower gardens. People would well begin to find that we are really intending to make our town attractive. What do you think? Let us then get together and boost our town instead of knitting things down.

The Stettler boys have organized their team and making a choice selection of men, quite confident that this will also be a formidable season.

David J. McKay, of Edmonton Herald, attended the directors' meeting of the U.F.A. constituency of Stettler on the matter of nominating a legislative candidate.

The C.G.I.T. group of 2nd Willow are giving a very high-class program on Friday evening, April 18th, under the leadership of Mrs. R. Webster. Come and see what the girls are doing and give them your hearty support. You will not be disappointed.

Do not forget the Concert and Dance found in Stopbey's Hall on this Friday night. The best of local talent is given. The proceeds will be used for the payment of the various indebtedness funds of the Union Church.

Rev. H. D. Mee, Calgary, will preach Rev. I. E. Hughson in evening at the meetings beginning with Easter Sunday.

The Sunday services, Sunday 13th, will be held at Burnt Yata, Beaver Mound and the Union Church. Rev. I. N. Hughson, pastor.

OBITUARY

Mr. Emma Jo Vernie Manchester, wife of Captain L. Green of Liburd, died at Crossfield Hospital on Monday March 31st, after an illness of only of the last.

Mrs. Green was born in Maria, Quebec, in 1893, where she lived until her marriage in 1917, when she came with her husband to Stettler, Alberta, where they lived for a few years and then moved to the ranch near Bindloss.

In 1920 they moved to Liburd, nine miles north of Stettler, where she resided until her late illness.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, Captain L. Green of Liburd; one daughter Mrs. H. Allen, Mrs. S. Allen and Mrs F. Patterson, all of Lloydminster, Sask., and Mrs. S. Johnson of Stettler.

Robert, her eldest son, died in 1922 while in Washington. Harvey died in Stettler, 1918.

Mrs. Green was the mother of a large family, and the community extends their deepest sympathy to them in their bereavement.

The remains were laid to rest in Lakeview cemetery, beside Harvey.

"We buried her not in her native land,
Beneath the cold, dark soil;
But her body will rest through the years to come,
For her soul's at rest with God."

THE HANNA-WARDEN LINE

Bill Calls for Grading of Line in 1924

The copy of Hansard which comes daily to the "Independent" Office gives much more details on the building of the Hanna-Warden line and on the passing of the bill in the Commons than appeared in the Canadian Press report published last week from the April 8th copy of Hansard it appears that the bill calls for the grading of the entire line in 1924, the laying of steel in 1925 and the ballasting of 30 miles of the steel in 1926 and the remainder in 1926. The Dominion members for Red Deer and for Bow River supported the bill but argued that the western terminal should be at Big Valley instead of Warden, following a the report as given in the official report of the House:

Hanna-Warden

Hon. George P. Graham (Minister of Railways and Canals) moved that the House go into committee to consider the following proposed resolution:

Resolved, That it is expedient to provide that the Governor in Council may authorize the construction of a railway from a point on the Canadian Pacific railway at or near Hanna, in the province of Alberta, thence in a northerly direction to a point at or near Warden, in the province of Alberta, a distance of about 70 miles.

Mr. Graham: The following is the agreement in regard to that proposed line:

"In 1924 it is proposed to grade 37 miles of the line, a total of $740,000 and in 1925 to lay the 37 miles of steel rails and ballast. In order to avoid any delay in 1925 it is proposed to ballast 27 miles at a cost of $146,000, also ties and steel.

"Construction of this line will serve a double purpose, as it will open up a new district, and further through which will run and will also make a short route for the haul of coal. Hanna has proven itself as a coal producing district, and the Canadian Northern Railway Company has been using coal from there for some time. The Canadian Northern Railway Company has been using coal from there for some time. The Canadian Northern Railway Company has been using coal from there for some time. The

THE SECRET TRAILS

By Charles G. D. Roberts, Canada's Foremost Nature Writer

THE CALLING OF THE LAW-HORNED BULL

II.

Wise though Peddler was in the ways of the wild, he found himself at fault in regard to this particular bull, when hastily re-read in the light of more than his mature and his mates. Taking up the trail next day, he came at last upon the spot, near the head of the lake, where the bull had joined the calling crew. From this point the trail of the pair had struck straight back from the lake towards the range of low hills which formed the watershed between the eastern and central branches of Beaver Creek. About noon Peddler came to the place where the two, wearied out by so strenuous a pace, had laid down to sleep in a thicket. The bull, however, driven by his vehement spirit, had gone on without a pause.

All day Peddler followed on their spoor that unwavering trail. He crossed the ridge, descended into the broken and desolate eastern levels, and there, on the farther slope, came upon the pair in the midst of a small open glade. Here they had evidently fed and rested for a time, and here, too, they had had their first encounter with a rival. The bull had left the field victorious, probably for a good trail boss, but bearing new scars of combat on his sturdy shoulders.

Just as the moon was rising over the low-lying hills Peddler started with the bull's trail on a parallel with the course he had been following. Presently he struck a dead tree, watched him for a while with intense and suspicious interest. His fury of the preceding night, and even his memory of it, seemed to have been blotted from his mind.

But a few hours later from that very spot, where he must have met the crashing form of the bull on the edge of a low hollow, Peddler caught the sound of the great bull's voice and knew it uttered not a challenge but a call. What could a moose-cow be thinking about to respond so near the dangerous neighborhood of man? But, no, his eyes answered him that there was no one in the man's hollow place. There, then, could she be? He blinked anxiously. She was no where in sight. He startled the wind like night air. It bore no savour of her. He waved forward his great, sensitive ears to listen. And across came the call, the voice, unmistakably of the moose-cow.

There could be no question about it this time. It came from the thicket. Had there been any doubt left in that call, the giant bull would have rushed at once to the source of the unseen rival, considering that the man had her hidden. But now, the utterance was nearly that of an intimidated cow. Therefore, for the moment, the great bull was chiefly puzzled. Keeping the wind in his nostrils, and many an unsuspicious air of he were bound for the nearest of them, he took one more and nearer put, till he could plainly see every detail of the man's unconcerned pose. There was actually nothing there but rock and bush, save for the crouching figure of the man himself, staring out upon the moonlit beach and holding a curious roll of bark to his mouth. Nevertheless, in that same moment there came across the bull's mind a sudden misgiving.

It came not strongly from the unfamiliar form of a man, from that it did take alarm. The man's scent, and his every action, had been of the strangest to be seen, nearly. A less sensitive nose awake to his scent. It was that element of wonder alone which for the moment restrained him from rushing forward and trampling the mysterious cloud beneath his hooves. A red spark blinded in his eyes.

All mid-summer of the moose-cow's desire left him. Peddler set his lips to the lying talks of bark and gave his call again and yet again, with all the perseverance of his half-grown self. He felt sure that his efforts were convincing. They were, indeed, all of that. They were so convincing that the suspicion of the moose's voice that they perfectly contained a huge and angry bear, which was at that moment creeping up from the other side of the rock upon the unsuspecting hunter's hiding-place.

The bear knew that its only chance of augmenting or safety still inside a quarry as the moose-cow lay in nothing her by pouncing on the unnatural rock. He never doubted for a moment that the cow was there behind the rock. When he was within a dozen feet of those persuasive sounds, his nostrils caught the scent of man. He elongated itself like a dark and tawny serpent, and, launched itself full with a crotch through the encompassing bushes.

Before Peddler's wits had time fully to take in what was happening, the hugest monster that he had ever seen was there behind the rock. Well was he within a dozen feet of those persuasive sounds, his nostrils caught the scent of man. He elongated itself like a dark and tawny serpent, and, launched itself full with a crotch through the encompassing bushes.

With a contention that nearly deafened him, Peddler hurled backward instinctively backwards and sideways and not just escaped the pile-driver stroke of the bear.

He caught it for the instant, but only for the full breadth of his jammed to nerf in a crevice of the rock as an involuntary shudder ran through his entire frame. He drew up his legs with an involuntary shudder as the bear's claws rake the flesh of the moose-cow.

When the bear found that it was not there it turned and lumbered away in a direction opposite to that which the moose-cow had taken. It was that he had scented man, and that he had smelt that, for a second or two, furbore to follow up his advantage. Then, still standing [illegible] Peddler stood his ground.

MY IDEAL

I wish I were as big a man,
As big a man,
As bright a man,
I wish I were as bright a man
As honest and as kind a man,
As broad and high and long a man,
As I need to be.
As fine a man,
As every year divine a man,
As one I need to know.

I wish I were as green a man,
As brave a man,
As keen a man,
As learned and as serene a man,
As fair to friend and foe.
I wish I owned sagacitousness,
And greatousness,
As of cold a man
Who hopes to be as good a man
As one I need to know.

I'd be a creature glorious,
Victorious,
A wonder man,
Not just—no more—a Simon—
Whose ways and thoughts are alive.
If I could only be the man,
One-half of one degree the man
I need to think my father was
When I was ten or so!

GRAHAM WESTERN RYE GRASS

(Experimental Farms Note)

Western Rye Grass has now been cultivated at the Prairie Provinces for quite a number of years. It is a native grass and as far as known was first collected by Kenneth Wardrop of Virden, Manitoba, from the latter end ten years ago. This grass is not usually self-fertilizing, but occasionally there is a great variation in the individual plants in the matter of seed and this is true to a considerable extent of the Western Rye Grass grown in Manitoba.

Dr Hadle, formerly chief of the Forage Crop Division of the Dominion Experimental Farms, discovered that the Western Rye Grass was self fertilized, and in this way of this selection, he was able to produce a large number of different types and to grow them under comparable conditions on the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa.

Plants possessing desirable growth and types were sent to the branch farms and stations of these experiments and described as the Scott Station as fairly [illegible] horse was one I loved as a child. Mr. Hadle believes that this grass will do well on the prairies. It appears to be particularly productive from the seed producing standpoint and has always given fairly good yields of hay.

One of the experimental farms in Manitoba has had a trial of this grass in comparison with the common grasses and other cultivated grasses. It appears to be equal to any of these in yield of hay and is superior to most of them in the production of seed. It is a perennial and has a long season of growth. It starts to grow early in the spring and continues growing until late in the fall. It is a good pasture grass and is relished by stock. It is also a good hay grass, but should be cut before the seed ripens as it shatters very easily.

Further experiments are being carried on with this grass at the Dominion Experimental Farms and Stations.

MANY PUT TRUST IN THE UNKNOWN

Never Satisfied With Those Things With Which They Are Familiar—Continued to Take Chances—Curious Traits in Human Character—Has Driven Mode Possible Growth and Development of the Great Mail Order Houses

A cut-rate trust in human nature makes [illegible] apparent very frequently. That is an estimate to trust in the unknown rather than on that with which one is familiar. A person is very apt to take a chance, even though he may know that the odds are 100 to one against him, instead of taking something with which he is familiar, and which there is no possibility of disappointment.

It is precisely the flaming up of the ever-present gambling instinct, but there is something more than that. It is a trait of character on the part of most people to look for the unknown, to hope for the best, to expect to get more than they are entitled to, and to be disappointed when they do not get it. Human nature is seldom satisfied with those things with which it is familiar, and is always just out of his reach.

WHY "ONE MAN THRIVES

England is a man with his faith in the unknown on the part of so many people in this country as a characteristic preference to one's own business, which is familiar, and with which there is no chance to gamble. The experience of the last few years should have satisfied everybody of the folly of such conduct. Nevertheless, it is a fact that the mail order business is [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Round the Country

In the Alberton's report of the debate in the Provincial Legislature on liquor advertising in newspapers we note the following paragraph:

"Hon. Mr. Hoey, A. L. Sanders, Burt and Cameron and Mr. Hackman each opposed liquor advertising with a force at their command, keeping the battle about way for two hours, although it was evident from the start that the number of orator in the house on the question was to be reversed when the House reached a vote, which it had evidently difficulty in doing."

Note the last line of the last paragraph. What is the true sentiment apparently to prevent the will of the majority. The same spirit was in evidence just previous to the referendum when the official prohibitionists ignored hundreds of meetings in favor of the return of taverns in the province and carried on a campaign of misrepresentation and lies. Is it the spokesmen of fourteen of teenage that will find its way to the statute law, but to a dictation of teenage from the same source that has no conscience?

There is another point that must be taken into consideration by this parliament, and that is where this money differs from the Canadian Northern and other privately owned railway. We must take into consideration not only the interest benefit to be derived by the country from the railways but the direct benefit to be derived by the country through the increase in population and increase in our natural prosperity. Nothing would be more unjust at least by more adequate transportation A privately owned time does not want to take into consideration, but I believe it is well for us in voting the money of the taxpayers to keep all these points in view. I believe this House will be a profitable line, for I know the country fairly well and the amount of freight that can be expected, but it is for the minister to consider, after taking all these facts into consideration, whether the terms suggested in the best terms all the circumstances.

Mr. Graham: Big hot, friend has been in the House for a number of years of interest. The people in the vicinity of Big Valley made strong representations along the line that my friend presents. I discussed it at the time with the chairman and others with the engineer of construction. Mr. Graham: and they advised strongly for this as the best route from the railway standpoint, largely on account of the short haulage of coal. I have no information concerning the engineering of moving the terminal. That would be a matter for the Canadian National Railway Board, and has not yet been discussed with me. If it has been discussed with the engineers, an act was passed by parliament some years ago providing private loan, in a monopoly, of those that may construct, who ought to be moved from one terminal to another from loss of their property, etc. I imagine that law is on the statute book yet. I have had no occasion recently to look it up. However, I think the question of terminals was not discussed with the engineers. I cannot, I have no recollection of it.

Mr. Mosier: Has the minister been informed that the Canadian Northern have now?

Mr. Graham: I am prepared to grade 27 miles of line at a cost of $500,000 and to lay steel on 15 miles of it at a cost of grade, and ballast 20 miles at a cost of $700,000. In 1923 it is proposed to ballast 27 miles at a cost of $140,000 and this completing the branch."

Mr. Speakman: In reply to the last gentleman (Mr Hoarle) as to cost of construction being low, I can give information on that point. I know the territory well and the ground is very level and easy to construct. I therefore be carried on at a comparatively low cost.

Mr. Meighen: There is this feature of this line that makes it not quite so important as the four lines that have preceded. There is nothing at all done in the way of settlement or production. I am convinced from what inquiry I have been able to make of the people in the territory, but I have been to within a few miles of it myself, that the information being about it—that the lines should be built, and that it will bring settlement and production. I do not think it advisable to go into the remote country by the railway ahead of settlement. I have also been urged very strongly with reference to the change in the route from that which I understand was originally proposed. The reasons that have been presented by the hon. member for Red Deer (Mr. Speakman), and I do not intend to rehearse them. If, however, there is to be a change in the route I think it is essential in the interests of the country that the route should be proceeded with and that the line built. It is needed, but I think the terminal should be Big Valley and not Warden.

Mr Henry Drayton: I suppose the minister's idea in moving, or rather in this point was the cost from Brumm. Is that correct that the cost is greater if I am wrong in that I would like to be put right. Surely it cannot be the minister's intention to go to Brumm and then run the Brumm east. Is that right?

Mr. Graham: I am taking no exception to the statement.

Mr. Henry Drayton: I am asking as to the cost which is said to be one of the reasons, if not the main reason, for the building of the line to Big Valley because coal?

Mr. Graham: I think there is no doubt about it.

Mr Henry Drayton: What tonnage of that Brumm coal moves to that route in the eastern direction?

Mr. Stewart (Argenteuil): The Brumm collieries supply all the requirements of the Canadian National as far east as the first division.

Mr Henry Drayton: I think it is a large tonnage and I want to find out what it is.

Mr. Graham: I have not the figures, but I think I can get them.

Red Time for Kitten

Kitty are unpopular in Europe, as a result of the war, and the feline population is being reduced by the thousands. Cats are being killed for their fur, and the total consumption in these lands last year reached 10,000,000. A number of Canadian Natural Railway employees are using these skins in 1923, instead of purchasing fur and building material. Ottawa trend is fast and, rented rooms, and still indoor things which were not in the department of Big Valley a month ago. The result of a movement that the department ought to be removed. Certain a situation arose in connection, that the town authorities wrote to Mr. A. E. Warren, Canadian Manager, Canadian National Railways, Winnipeg, and asked him if this rumour was true. They pointed out that it was common talk in the Big Valley of the school district, which at that time amounted to $14,000, that these men should take up residence in the town and increase taxpayers. Mr Warren replied under date of September 10, 1923, as follows:

"Mrs. Fred Graham,
Big Valley, Alta.

Dear Sir,

Referring to your letter of August 27th addressed to the Canadian Northern Town Properties Company, Limited, Winnipeg, which was referred to me by Mr. Field, Land Commissioner, there is no intention of moving the terminal away from Big Valley, as that the rumour referred to by you, for the purpose of building up the settlement.

The club decided to invest in a number of lots, as time could prove, but it will have some subsequent that his bills will be returned if lost, then refunded to him as a minimum.

A number of suggestions were put forward in several rules and regulations. One of the most important was that clubs be cleared of rent on the fairways and balls knocked outside of these will be out of bounds, and count a penalty of one stroke. Another had to do with gopher holes. Some, and all suggestions will be turned over to the grounds committee to draw up a series of rules for consideration at the next golf meeting.

A drive will be made for member ship in the near future and it is expected that the club will have a total membership of around 75 this year.

IN TORONTO

A YEAR after being founded, the Bank of Montreal opened its Brandon ventured, in July of that establishing Agencies at Kingston and York.

York, which afterwards became the city of Toronto, had then just had its first sunspot—which consisted of individual cabin, Simpson and Inkerman. It was merely a settlement in a clearing amid unbroken forest, from which the Indians came to trade with furriers and other members of the little community. Today Toronto ranks among the largest cities in the continent.

Of the Bank's 93 Branches, 26 are in Toronto and 29 in the Province of Ontario, including Toronto.

Fenn News

Fenn news has been omitted from these columns for the last few weeks on account of the unavoidable absence of your correspondent. However this issue will not appear regularly and the writer would be glad to receive by phone or mail items of interest that may arise during the week. Please phone your items by Sunday if you can.

The regular U.F.W.A. meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Richardson on Wednesday of last week was well attended and a good deal of discussion took place. Members are already busy manufacturing their dollar towards the Piano Fund and all those who have not already started are urged to make a start right away. The idea is the raising, contributions or a medley of articles or produce which can be sold to increase the fund quickly, the proceeds from which could be turned in as a given date to the Piano Fund. It is possible that a prize will be offered to the member turning in the largest amount.

Mrs. Mary Gunn, the new president of the U.F.W.A. has written a series of letter - composers will be sent to forthcoming meetings, so make an effort to attend so they will provide interesting reading.

The next meeting will be held on the second Wednesday in May at the home of Mrs. Harriet Callihoo. We hope to see a good attendance of all our members.

Two new members of the community have made their appearance during the past few weeks. Mrs. Harry Strange has returned from Calgary with a little daughter and Mrs. Callihoo has presented her husband with a small son, and consequently has received the U.F.W.A. gift in one for the U.F.A.!

Wilfred Shackleton has evidently had a brain wave. He has discovered that proper medical advice is infinitely more profitable than working at farming. Can anybody give advice to the uninitiated as how to become a doctor?

Leo Legg's chickens are coming along in fine shape. Mr. Legg already has hundreds of chicks and they are being well and a keen exhibitor to the poultry plant at Pleasant View Farm is being planned.

DONALDA

We are sorry to say our correspondent is unable at this time personally to write us as during the last few weeks that we have realized all is not Snowdrama are putting quite a hustle on.

Spring plowing has already started, Bowley Brewer having made a few days showing last week.

The services of Pastor Sunday were well attended and the entertainment of Baron Yorke, Bonnie Mount and the Union Church's services in general, into The was furnished in usual ally Mrs. Pahlstrand, assisted by Mrs. Lundquist, has each rendered in all.

Mrs. Lockwood has not started on the new house, but is busy getting out the timber.

The next regular meeting of the Women's Institute Board will be held at the home of Mrs. Lockwood on the second Tuesday, April 29th, when the Union Church will be the scene of the afternoon or evening's entertainment. Mrs. Lockwood will be pleased to welcome all visitors.

There will be special Easter services held this coming Sunday, April 20th at Red Willow, Bonnie Mount and the Union Church, the children taking the leading part.

The C.G.I.T. Club of Red Willow are holding what promises to be the best program in connection with the Easter Tree Work ever given in a Red Willow auditorium. No effort is being spared by the girls and every member will be present to render some. The public will be cordially welcome to the beautiful arrangement of their C.G.I.T.

Mrs. Ed. Wood have has their automobile painted. In spite of the bad state of the roads it is work the Ladies' Aid do many of the Union Lodges turned out en masse for their annual meeting and election of officers. Mrs. W. McIntyre, the retiring president, conducted the business part of the meeting in a most creditable manner, every report showing a very successful year. Following the business meeting Mrs. W. L. Porter read a very interesting paper on the progress of the province, a most instructive and interesting paper it was. The meeting was then closed by a short address by Rev. Mr. Sprattan. He expressed the interest and appreciation he had in the work and the many kindnesses received from the ladies. A Parent-Teacher Association was formed at Dravus, that night, with J. Round the Country

The people of the Bassking, Lac, Cottonwood and Bindloss country have been waiting for a railway for fifteen years and with the passing of the year was made for the construction of the line. There have been several surveys since then over the same route. Through a variety of circumstances, unfortunately for the west, the work was delayed year after year. After that lapse of time some enterprising company will be found to build the road. During the campaign, the editor of the Bassking Courier contributed favorably upon the downward consumption of liquor in other lands and contrasted the conditions, their contentment favorably with their best judgment As far as the pre-election propaganda was concerned, they favored its non-sale sale in Alberta, the banner cross would be one of abstinence through out of customers. Here we have gone to the other extreme and in a few month to expect a little consistency in its supporters. Has the Courier any desire to know the truth? Do new-papers exist to have a business to kill the demand for its products? What particular benefit of liquor are going to promote temperance, sobriety and self-control? To whom are those advertisements intended? Is it to the non-users? Is it going to lead them and to perpetuate the drink habit and cause up a new generation of alcoholic drinkers? As our business is conducted every week we are constantly in touch and conversation with our customers and we know that the vast majority of them are not users of liquor. Are they going to be encouraged to drink more? Is it not common that the route into Bay Valley goes over better roads and more fertile land? No resident of the country the latter both routes could favor the old conditions.

We might now mention that though we have every request for the entire press of the people, living in the vicinity of Bay Valley, and every opportunity for their desire to get as many as they possible, that we have not been a gratuitous or a public nuisance by anyone in suddenly during the past few months push into our midst. Indications that the railway would be completed and have Bay Valley for its western terminus.

The only exception we can name to that our business unprecedented has been conferring with some Local north of Gough Lake who are vitally interested in the Bay Valley route and they have promised him to go against his best judgment in favoring that route for the railway.

The agitation to switch the line appears to be purely political.

Dear Sir

I notice in your issue of the 17th inst. an article entitled "Make money on the farm," in which you refer to the advisability of raising pigs, especially the advantage of keeping brood sows. Perhaps, from the local standpoint, it would have been better if you had confined the advertising of what you could do with the money received from the sale of pigs to the purchase of a piano for the daughter of the family.

Yours very sincerely,
Wm. A. Smith

SPRING CULTIVATION

(Experimental Farm Note)

The prime requirements of a good seed bed are moderate fineness, firmness and a good supply moisture and of these only two can be governed by spring farming operations. Spring cultivation should, as a rule, consist of one operation, the first, using the plan of a fallow cultivator. The second operation should be performed with the implement which had produced a rough tilth during fall.

In most districts, except in the Peace River district, the land is usually ploughed in the autumn, and in the spring work land previously ploughed is given the necessary finishing touches. It will be found that, in dealing with winter ploughing, the harrow is not quite so effective in killing weeds, but it is easy to make the soil fine tilth, for that reason, to test a desirable implement to use in preparing a seed-bed on fallow land. It may, however, be used satisfactorily in preparing ground which has given satisfactory crops the previous year and is more effective than the cultivator in killing weeds on such ground as it will not bring the stubble and destroy the weeds without upsetting the stubble and making drilling difficult, which the cultivator tends to do.

The preparation of fall and spring ploughed land presents a difference condition from the fallow and must be handled differently. While the fallow is fine, the ploughed soil is not mellow enough to allow the seed to germinate and grow properly. It is necessary to pulverize the soil to some extent before seeding. This may be accomplished by the use of the harrow, packer or cultivator, or a combination of these implements, the first using the plan of a fallow cultivator. The second operation should be performed with the implement which had produced a rough tilth during fall.

Production of Natural Gas

The total production of natural gas in the province of Alberta during the year 1923, according to returns made by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, was 6,611,000,000 cubic feet, an increase of 1,330,000,000 cubic feet in 1922. The increase in this record is accounted for by the discovery of several new gas fields in Alberta, which produced during the year 2,000,000,000 cubic feet.

The total production of crude petroleum in Alberta in 1923 was 6,000 barrels compared with 4,333 barrels in 1922.

Natural gasoline was also in production in Alberta.

In the North Country

The Advocate has received a March 17th copy of the Whitehorse, Yukon territory, Weekly Star, which has been re-started by Mr J. D. Skinner, formerly of Rocky Mountain House. It is a newsy four-page four-column sheet, with a subscription price of $5 a year, with permanent advertising at $5 per inch per insertion. In his introduction, Mr Skinner says that the cause of the suspension of the paper for several months was generally attributed to the instability of the then publisher; the paper was too large for the constituency and the prices of job work and advertising altogether too low. He likewise prepared a statement in detail of the actual cost of publishing the paper, and the business men agreed to assume their fair proportion of the advertising responsibility. Round the Country

The Rev. H. Brode, the popular pastor at Lindsay, and Mr. Drennan, the well known Lindsay correspondent, have entered the "Independent" almost our exclusive of some of the members at Edmonton for their last-ditch opposition to allowing newspapers to publish paper advertisements of duty must be.

Mr. Brode believes that the attitude of these men is to prevent the increase in consumption of liquor and therefore consistent and praiseworthy, while Mr. Drennan takes the same position and between the lines we fancy he must not quite approve of our criticizing our local member when once we may do about candidates.

Well, we are very fond of Mr. Sanders and appreciate his good qualities as much as anybody, but we report that he has lined up with the "Independent" on Mr. Drennan's letter, in their attempt to distract to the papers what they shall publish. That should be to the public interest.

In the world of sin and sure there are a lot of things which are anathema to people everywhere, and when they truly think now a stumbling block to their friends, neighbors and supporters. We can make up a list of things they boldly shout away from their communities lumped on by those supporting would like to have them on the internet list and forbidden in the newspapers. Some of these are "Tobacco, Tea, Coffee, Chewing Gum, Face Powder, Bobbed Hair, Bobbed Hair Dances, Jazz Music, Classical Music, Beach Pavilion, Rum, Vegetarianism, Prohibition, Government Control, Short Skirts, Bolshevism, the Bourgeoisie, Poker and Capitalism."

An advertisement advocating the use of any one of the above must immediately bring pat to mind many people—some from whether in Alberta or in other States of the Union, and those broadcasters if they could would do not promote sound understanding by any means. Advertisements of this and the other articles are not, either, recommended as detrimental to their friends and to the community at large.

Of course, in such a thing, advertising is of course chief as it does advertising into other lines to some extent. Similar to the power of a hydroelectric to operate a cement mill, and the press if it would only be as useful to the substance as the press in regard to any subject we have known it would be a thing.

Mr. Drennan appears to think that any reference to Lenin and Trotsky as compared to our own enlightened legislators is ridiculous. Well, of course, Lenin and Trotsky have not had the good fortune to live in an enlightened province like Alberta (nor have Lenin has not) but we imagine that if some of our legislators were members of the Russian Parliament they would gladly join with their "comrades" in "controlling" the press without any debate at all.

THINGS WE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW?

The Postmaster would like to know when your neighbor asks you to bring his mail, and you forget to ask for it at the post office, why you do not tell him you forgot instead of saying there was no mail and thereby, to save there was any, getting the postmaster into trouble, for your relative will be sure you, in spite of all the postmaster may say.

CORRESPONDENCE

Gadsby, April 21st, 1924.

Editor,
Stettler Independent.
Dear Sir,

I read your Editorial in your issue of April 17th anent the discrimination in Liquor Advertising which took place in the Legislature lately.

In my opinion your language in a little misconception, you have created a great endeavor out of a very small mole-hill, and your comparisons border somewhat on the ridiculous. You quote the "Albertan" report of this Debate which says—"Hon. Mr. Clarke, A. L. Sanders, Donald Cameron and Mr. Hardman combated Liquor Advertising with all the force at their command, lumping the banks, steel way, etc., etc., for two hours, although it was evident from the start that the verdict of mother in the week was to be reversed when the House resolved to go into Committee on Monday morning."

You ask your readers to note the last paragraph which runs: up the enormity of which these four members had been guilty. They had persisted in putting their views on this important point before the House after the "Albertan" reporter was retired and they had no chance to prevail.

I wonder at what part of the Debate the guilty men became enlightened like Saul of Tarsus, and a conversion was wrought which would have astonished Saul himself had he been a party to it. Because it is not a fact that these four members were the only ones who spoke more than once, or who had asked any questions, or had pointed out in any heavy reasoned they faith in Liquor as a dry is police of Liquor-using. Well, there are deeper mysteries than these, and we must look up two lines of Longfellow's Hymn of the Dead—"In silence and in fear, I think the dead must hear." Perhaps I am over-sensitive, but stated two or three days before Parliament I am convinced of the absolute necessity of Liquor Advertising in every legitimate channel, and I am sure that I am not alone in this conviction. Some men can't be moved in Mexico—I am sure I am not moved, but I recognize the real Conservative people in this Province and I am confident that they will not be found wanting in the hour of need. Yours truly,

G. H. Drennan.

Yet millions of women keep youthful loveliness this way

To retain the charm that is so every woman's heart, to keep the skin of every woman exquisitely fine, to prevent the coarsening that so often comes with age, there is but one way. Many leading beauty specialists of women are using it daily. Their skin is always fresh and clear. Their complexions are always beautiful. Their eyes shine.

Wash thoroughly with Palmolive Soap—much more than ordinary soaps are needed. Then massage this rich, soothing lather into your skin and rinse off with warm water, then cold water. Do this regularly. Just a few days will show you a remarkable improvement.

Palmolive Soap is blended of rare oils and skin softeners for this beauty treatment. Because Palmolive Soap is blended of rare oils and skin softeners for this treatment, it is called Palmolive Soap.

Just be sure to get Palmolive Soap—not a substitute. Remember all dealers have it. Therefore you can buy it anywhere, anytime. Its lovely delight results will be a revelation to you that you will want to tell your friends about. Try it tonight.

The simple, correct way

You cannot find a more effective beauty treatment. Because

Experience points the way

RECENTLY a man left his son a portion of his estate on condition that he save $500 out of his own earnings within five years.

Why? Because he knew from experience that one must first learn to save before he is capable of handling other money matters successfully. Systematic saving develops responsibility and careful judgment, and gives that confidence which leads to success.

We invite you to make your start now with

WHY WE CROW

STETTLER DISTRICT won First Prize for the best wheat grown in all the world in 1923. Alberta won twenty-one prizes out of thirty-five at the World's Great Seed Fair held at Chicago in 1923. Every acre of land in the wheat growing area of Alberta has increased in price at least ten dollars by Major Strange's wonderful achievements. Let every one of us do our share in 1924 by growing at least a few acres of pure seed wheat, or other kinds of pure seed grain. This is the time to produce the best in the west and take advantage of our climate and sunlight which was here before you came.

"STETTLER" A GOOD TOWN TO TRADE AT SAY "STETTLER The Place for Me"

We have a FLOUR MILL running twenty four hours a day, and a regular Gristing Trade is done for those who wish to grind their own Wheat. TRY IT ONCE

The E. C. D. CREAMERY has a Splendid Plant; always open to buy the products of the farm at Current Market Prices. This Company won many prizes at the recent Dominion Butter Exhibition and have an increased demand for all they can manufacture.

WE BOOST STETTLER BECAUSE What We Have
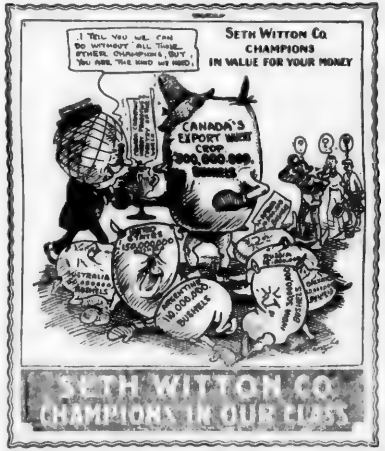
We Hold



STETTLER Has a Twelve-Roomed School. Six Hundred Pupils Attending. No other School in the Province has as good an equipment to finish the boys and girls when they have passed out of the Rural Schools, better look this matter up if the need for higher education turns up in your district.

STETTLER has a Cigar Factory where the EL VERNO and RED SEAL CIGARS are made. This Factory is owned by Stettler men and a Cigar of the first quality is the product. When you wish to try a Free Sample, come in Our Store and get one.

WE HAVE THE TOWN COMING OUR WAY NOW

STETTLER OWNS ITS ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER PLANT

It is Sure to be a Manufacturing Centre and a Distributing Point as we have three lines of Railways entering our Town, Canadian Pacific Railway, East and West; Canadian National Railway, North and South; The Brazeau and Rocky Mountain Railway from the West. This line will be extended East from Stettler this summer, thus giving us Shipping Facilities on three through lines of Railway. Low Priced Power is offered for Manufacturing Plants that are expected to come here this next year. STETTLER has six Churches which hold Services every Sunday. STETTLER will eventually be Your Trading Centre. BRAN

A certain town had bought a vast fire-engine, and the superintendent, after gazing at all his vast together, suggested that an appropriate motto should be placed over the station.

The choice was accepted at once, bright and cheery suggestions were made. Finally one man rose and said:

"I have the idea of a motto. May this fire-engine be the all the all needs in our village always empty but never rusted for."—Punch.

GADSBY

Last week two more funerals took place in our little cemetery and it began to take on an appearance of population larger than it is and it seem to warrant, or that we would wish to see. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Davies of Rosebrug buried their little son of 5 years old on Thursday afternoon. The little boy had had a bad case of appendicitis, and was on his way to the hospital when rupture took place with fatal results. It is so hard to diagnose these troubles in these warrior stages with patients of such tender years. Much sympathy was shown the afflicted parents by the people of Rosebrug district, and in town.

On Sunday afternoon Mrs. Martin, mother of Mrs. Cecil McWilliam, was laid to rest by her sorrowing relatives. A short service was conducted at the grave and carried her off rather suddenly. In these two cases we are reminded that Death is no respecter of persons—the youthful or the aged find before his sickle. Funeral from the church before interment.

It came rather as a surprise to town when it was learned that Mr. J. Sanderson had sold his Gadsby business to [illegible] have assumed charge. Mr. Sanderson and the other from Canada. The new firm is Cockrell and Pearce. The former gentleman is one time managed a large grocery business in Camrose—the latter is a Knight of the Grip, working out of Calgary. Both gentlemen are good boost business men and hope to still further develop the Ramsden store business, which they consider as a good one. Mr. Ramsden is leaving Gadsby unless no excipient as to his business there, which has always been good. He left his other place needed but much of his attention to give his business here. Cook with This Wood
It Uses Less Fuel

Save money by using SMP Enamel Ware cooking utensils. They use less fuel. To satisfy yourself, try this cooking test in your kitchen. Take your SMP-enamelled Sauce Pan and one of equal size made of aluminum, tin or other base metal. Into each pour two quarts of cold water. Place each sauce pan over the fire. The water in the SMP enamelled Sauce Pan will be boiling merrily when the water in the other is just beginning to simmer. Save your money. Use

SMP Enamelled WARE

"A Face of Porcelain and a Heart of Steel"

Three finishes: Pearl White, Blue mottle, and Brown mottle. Ask your dealer for SMP ware. Insist on seeing the SMP trade mark. Imperial White, Green mottle and Red mottle. Look for the SMP trade mark.

IF YOU want your next Job Printing Order to present an up-to-date appearance let us set the type on Model 5 Linotype.

This will give you a new, clean face of type. No worn or battered letters, all yellow-ing and shrinking up sharp and clean. THE LAIRS IN THE FLOOD

Buttercups rule the roost. Long Jaw sent word to that there bloomin' pest don't breed muskrat or muskrat rat home the bull valley's past' to be used about rat. I'll have to be gittin' home. Reckon all I'll have to do is to git a few traps an' muskrat bait an' I'll be in the money. Reckon I'll have to git a few guns a' winter bark to put on 'em."

From his hunt in the dark corner beyond the shore, Bruenigan lifted his stomach low and peered cautiously out into the sunshine with custom test shining eyes.

"What I'm sayin', Cousin's a powerful freshet after this long spell o' nice soup of all that rain. Long, an' all the most layin' as deep in the woods when water. I wouldn't be one bit surprised an' lay me by the door in the sun for a bit, Long, if the water was roaring over the fire. The water in the SMP enamelled Sauce Pan will be boiling merrily when the water in the other is just beginning to simmer. Save your money. Use

"Ay, I'm a-thinkin' so myself," grumbled Long Jaw, "but I'm not down agreein on his reasons. "Ye're right, anyhow, Tom," he continued, after a moment's consideration. "What's the good o' spekin' good about the weather when we know it? What's he hungry, they kin eat the muskrat, anyhow, afore the carcajou or pesky mgh pose. Come along, Hi. Hurry, or we'll be gittin' our pit ye."

As if in response to this invitation, the bears all scrambled a little, each whining uneasily and glancing back over their shoulders, and none of them could now be seen gloams of the swiftly up-creeping flood, where the water-line was already out in through the bayfloor basswood trees. But Bruenigan refused to be left and the rear of the cabin the trees were down overgrown, and the bears of Tuscarora whose shade the flood came on steam.

As the worried bears approached, they found the water already lapping at the edges of the clearing, the timber of which seemed to be rising higher and higher over them. Then, fearing the open water, they turned and headed for the camp, tired to regain shelter by keeping back over the bends of those who had passed them. It was then they found that answering human figure they feared to be hurrying toward the island, pur-sang flood. Be in a very few minutes the whole camp was the open hopping about uneasily and waving their long ears, a few of them swimming from one hummock to another only or fifty feet of the cabin to stare, perplexedly and disconsolately from under them.

Round the Country

The W.C.T.U. District Association of Stettler, and the "Independent", before pleasure is welcomed, before pleasure is welcomed, however we are aware that they combine nothing with good habits, as well as a strong desire to do some service to their any and generation.

There was one thing in the annual photo of the convention, which was somewhat marred by President Hellaway and several open by other speakers—that is that they had not a dollar of the late prohibition election, but that they were not disheartened and they hoped in the near future that the former Prohibition law would appear in its force.

We doubt if that is the best way of looking at the question. A great many people will now be living in Alberta, and it will be brought with the coming campaign, if the ladies are in opposition with it.

Because we are not alone are many people for combatting different— that does not necessarily mean that we are unwilling to submit to what it may quite possibly mean that the province is taking a forward step, especially if the new Act is strongly and sympathetically administered.

With every respect for the ladies of the W.C.T.U., we think that there have still much control of they take an unreasonable position because the new legislation does not go as far as their own preconceived ends we are, certainly on record as the side of any sensible government course as a compromise government course as a sensible one, and we think that the majority of people in this province under their solemn, especially before it has even been tried out in Alberta.

Some of the ladies had the idea that the election that if government control came into play, the sale of liquor would be only legal to stay around town because there could be bad-boats in every province, and if they were not a point of, yes, they can have, a "Whiskey" store opened with a sign "Whiskey will be sold on every corner; in restaurants, every public place and between each." We are quoting from letters and speeches made before the election.

The fact of the matter is that whiskey will be sold at no public place except at the vendor's store, and we venture to say that those who do not want to take them have bought the stuff any time during the prohibition era, and had no trouble in doing so. The fact of having whiskey in the house is not strangely up to the average, and they will have complete control over those children if they have by it, as they ought to have, instead of putting the burden on the state.

If there will be sold in no restaurant or public place in town except one— that is reasonably at the Alberta Hotel There will be no bar and no room; and the town will be served at tables, entirely without fear of any kind because the people of Stettler are not going to be subjected to the temptation of drinking. If they want to drink anywhere except in the home it is not strangely up to the average, and they will have complete control over those children if they have by it, as they ought to have, instead of putting the burden on the state.

Fenn News

Reeding operations are proceeding in this district. The weather continues favorable at this writing although local reports are disquieting. If we have not had enough rain to start the crops growing, we have had enough to prevent the soil from drying out. Some fields have been reseeded, and others are being worked for the second time.

Mr. Jessop, of the Massey-Harris Company, was in Fenn during the past week.

Major Strange gave another successful radio speech over the television broadcast last Friday night, broadcasted by LSCA of the Edmonton Journal. The chairman with which this name through to all radio fans who happened to be listening in. Major Strange is the Alberta Provincial Telephone System and the broadcast was sponsored by the Alberta Government Telephones.

Don't forget the U.F.A. meeting at Mrs. Burns Collins' on Wednesday, May 16th.

Mrs. Dan Wallace is raffling a doll on her part in the Fenn Fund scheme. The writer has seen this doll and would recommend everyone to take a good supply of tickets, which are to be purchased from Mrs. Wallace or the rink. The doll is dressed-painted and provide a pleasant and would delight the heart of almost any small girl. The winning number will be announced at a later date. Luckily, get your books working. If you have not already started, get busy on some scheme for multiplying your dollar, so that when we call in the Fenn you may have plenty to contribute to your share.

Mr. Sharpe and Mrs. Sim, of Stettler, were visitors in this district last week.

CHAMPION OF WORLD AT GROWING WHEAT GIVES CKA ADDRESS

How Is the Time to Stay and Hand On Major H. G. L. Strange Tells Stettler Audience Country Offers An Good Future As Ever Existed

The following is an address delivered by Major H. G. L. Strange from Station Telephone, Edmonton, through Edmonton Journal Broadcasting Station, CKCA, on Friday, May 3rd:—

Fellow farmers and all who are interested in agriculture, which I take it comprises pretty nearly everybody in Alberta.

I have been requested by the Edmonton Journal to speak to you tonight on the Farm Broadcast in arrangement with the town of Stettler. I am speaking from Stettler by ordinary telephone. My voice is travelling over one hundred miles of telephone line to the Journal Building, Edmonton, from where it is being broadcasted to you.

If my voice reaches you plainly, I am sure it speaks a great deal for the efficiency not only of the broadcasting arrangements of the Edmonton Journal, but also for our good Alberta Government's telephone system.

Opens Tremendous Field

It does seem to me that this method of speaking to you opens a tremendous field for the future. Instead of speaking over the telephone to a broadcasting station open up a tremendous field for possible recreation and instruction at very little cost, and I am sure I have offered the idea to many of you at one of us mentally together that we have in our hands a great possibility.

If you agree with me in this, I suggest that you should write to the Edmonton Journal and to other broadcasting stations and tell them that you enjoy this kind of thing and ask them to arrange for more of it.

I know, for instance, that the splendid work of the agricultural delegates that Professor Cotter and others of the University of Alberta have been broadcasting through the air has been extremely instructive to me, and I wish to pay you this.

This little town of Stettler that I have chosen to speak from has one hundred miles south of Edmonton on the Canadian Pacific Railway and is in the midst of an area of fertile soil and there is usually sufficient moisture to produce a reasonably assured farming.

Most people in this area in Central Alberta, while they are not becoming suddenly rich, are living happily for the most part. This in itself speaks a lot for the country.

Why Be Down It

I think perhaps the reason that the Edmonton Journal has asked me to speak to you is that they know I have recently been traveling around, gave a little after-dinner speeches and giving little talks. You know, when a man wins a world's prize, lots of people want to hear him speak and to hear him talk. I don't mind them, I enjoy it, and I am always glad to meet people and to talk to them. I have had the privilege of meeting many of them and I have found them to be a very fine lot of people. I have also had the opportunity of meeting many of the people who have written to me, and I have found them to be a very fine lot of people.

Now, I am not going to talk to you about wheat growing, but I am going to talk to you about the future of agriculture in this country, and I am going to talk to you about the future of agriculture in this country.

I am sure that if we use our brains we can do this.

One method is to try and raise the quality of our products by the use of the best fertilization stock we can afford to buy, and the other method is by means of applying our farming brains to the idea of reducing our farming operations and so reducing our costs.

Forced Them Out.

We have in Alberta a lot of keen practical farmers, of whom we are proud. Lots of these fellows are getting to practical use some bright and money making ideas. Some of them I know that I have spoken. We have, unfortunately, at the moment, a tendency to drive these people out of the country. I believe that we can do a lot to better out these people and make them stay here, and I believe that we can benefit to all of us.

One excellent method that has already proved useful is for our U.F.A. annual convention to spend perhaps a day or two on discussion as to how the government can help us and how we can help ourselves by forming ourselves into co-operative groups and our own methods of production. If we could get at each convention a report of all of the things that we have done in the past year and "links" they have discovered, I am sure we should all be very much helped by this practical discussion.

I heard a good deal of talk last year about Alberta farmers' harvest for the Station. It would surprise you to find the many letters I have received from farmers in the States asking me about the possibilities of coming over to see what wheat and oats and clover each as they saw at the Chicago Exposition. Some of them grown on land worth only $30 an acre. I have had to write to them to say to you that is my carefully studied opinion no country in the world offers quite as good a future to its citizens as does our Canada—so all you have to do is keep a good heart, get your teeth, and carry on.

Can you do that? Well, I had the privilege and honor during the war on several occasions of going into battle with the Canadian Corps, and I have seen good Canadian lads go to what they knew was their certain death without flinching and with a grim determination. I guess if our own kith and kin could do in this manner, then all at events you and I can live with this same courageous spirit.

GADSBY NEWS

With favorable weather prevailing seeding operations are rapidly nearing completion. By the end of present week most of the wheat will be in the ground, and off to a good start. A much more optimistic aspect prevails this time than last year despite the later start. We had practically no moisture in sight last year till the last week in three days in May. There is now on hand a splendid acreage sown to wheat this year.

Gadsby committees are making a big step in town improvements which they decided to put in the form of cement sidewalks in town. Tenders have been asked for this work, and we hope to see some of the sidewalks in use this summer. Don't forget we also have a Golf Course and a Golf Club. Why not go on the way.

Mr. Caldwell, our new grocery man, has purchased a new Ford and intends our pastful agent, Bill Mc-Taggart. He will motor to his home at Camrose for a few months before resuming Mrs. Caldwell and the family to Gadsby.

Mrs. Baldridge has been to Calgary and brought her little boy home from the Red Cross Hospital where he has been a patient for some weeks. The optimistic report given by the surgeons when he was first operated on by their better consciousness and as the lad was not improving Mrs. Baldridge thought it best to bring him home. We sympathize very much with Mrs. Baldridge and also with Mr. and Mrs. Baldridge who have had a sad time trying to restore him to health.

Sunday first is "Mothers' Day" May 11th, and Mr. Steele has arranged some special and appropriate features for the services in church that night. It is obviously hoped there a record congregation will be present. This public tribute to "Mother" has been increasing in public favor, and rightly so, every year. Even if you do not renew a carnation—many in church. The Ladies' Aid have ordered a large number of carnations and these will be sold on Saturday afternoon in the Stevens Store by members of the Aid.

Mrs. W. D. Rich has gone to Edmonton and will be treated at the Royal Alexandra Hospital there for an ailment that has been troubling her for some time. We trust the treatment will be effective and that Mrs. Rich will soon return home completely cured.

Mr. Harry Hennessy has returned from Banff where he had gone to take up a position now that town. I understand that Mr. Hennessy Sr. found he needed Harry in the livery barn to have no exchange was made. Harry has returned home and Tom Conibis has gone to Banff in his place.

With two letters from Gadsby you may to show our "Editor" the error of his ways in thinking there is no news items as if we were trying to cancel friendship in the same way immediately. I say that I had no idea Mr Steele had written to extended writing, a letter to the Independent, or otherwise dreams, nor have I discovered the matter with him since I received the letter in question. My letter was sent in last week, too late for insertion in that issue.

The Women's Institute had a good meeting last Saturday and the members gave their president, Mrs. Alex Brady, a very cordial welcome. She has been on the sick list for quite a while and appeared at this meeting with the aid of crutches. This is only one of many proofs she has given of her enthusiasm in W. I. matters. The meeting appointed Mrs. C. H. Ritchie and Mrs. Gerlick to be delegates to the big convention at the Palliser, Calgary, on the 27th inst.

At the church service on Sunday morning the congregation was large. The true by Mrs. Rogers, Miss Beatty and Mr. Shaw was well rendered and was very much enjoyed. Mr. Steele gave us a good sermon.

I am indebted to Mr McGillivray for a report on the standings of the pupils in Grades VIII, IX and X at the Easter exams. They are very good on the whole and we hope the young folks represented will work harder yet for better results at the end of the school year. The report is as follows:

MURDER OF NATHAN REMAINS A MYSTERY

No branch of generally accepted belief is so frequently falsified by facts as those proverbs that are not platitudes. The saying that "murder will out" is general commonplace. Nevertheless many and yet people keep repeating it. The most consistent of murders remain undiscovered, and the guilty escape with. As long as any of the principals in the case remain alive the mystery of a confession and those who believe in the old saying may comfort themselves with the hope that many consecutively recent murders open which have been long since forgotten, but yet seem to be listed with the insolvable mysteries. That fact has hardly ceased with regard to the Sackville murder in New York which, according to the New York Herald, which is publishing a series of articles dealing with the unsolved crimes in New York's darkest territory. It was committed in 1871, and nobody has ever arrested and placed on trial for the crime.

In many cases it was one of those supposedly simple, featureless cases that Sherlock Holmes would have made short work of. Nathan was not unpopularly in the front room on the second floor, and lay on a couch, covered with Mrs. Kelly slept in a room on the floor below. Mrs. Kelly was awakened on the third floor and William Kelly on the fourth floor.

Botha News

The Botha High School ball team went to Stettler on Monday evening and came home with the short end of a 9-6 score. The game was rather interesting in lack of runs as there was repeated errors early in the season. The Botha boys are hoping to retrieve their lost laurels when they entertain a return game here this coming Friday evening.

A lot of people are suffering with bad colds these days. That extreme summer weather that we had last Friday and Saturday hasn't seemed to have agreed with the climate of Alberta.

THE CAMP IN THE FLOOD

A silent pressing over the rain, the moon grew shortly red in the sky. Long Tread sank into the ooze of the bank, and stood motionless, with head lifted and nostrils wide, like a creature of the wild. Then he turned and crept back to the others.

"Brothers," he said, "the water has risen. It has come over the ground where we slept. We must go to the high land. Let each one gather up his load. Let each one make ready to go. Let no one forget his weapons. Let no one leave behind him anything that he will want. Let no one make any noise. Let no one speak a word. Follow me, and do as I do."

Then he went back to the edge of the water, and stepped in. The others followed him. Each one carried his load on his head. Each one carried his weapons in his hand. Each one moved as silently as a shadow. Not a word was spoken. Not a sound was heard. Only the water lapped softly against the trees, and the trees stood in the water, and the water was deep around them.

Then Long Tread stopped. He had come to the high land. He had left the water behind him. He had left the trees behind him. He had left the flood behind him. He had left the danger behind him. He had left the fear behind him. He had left the darkness behind him. He had left the night behind him. He had left the day behind him. He had left the sun behind him. Round the Country

Weather conditions for 1924 are apparent but it is not likely that we will have the bumper crop of 1923. That was an exceptional year. It is quite likely, however, that we will have sufficient moisture this year to grow a wheat crop of from 20 to 30 bushels per acre.

The variation in the amount of moisture received from year to year in this district has been from 21.66 inches in 1921 to 15.63 in 1923, just about the same in 1922. The average for fifteen years has been 17.75 inches.

During the first four months of 1924 there has been a fall of moisture amounting to 4.44 inches, made up of .4 for January .67 for February, 1.09 for March, and 1.68 for April.

Taking that from the average yearly rainfall for 15 years of 17.202 inches, we have yet to come for this year a total of 12.75 inches, most of which will come during May, June, July and August. Or let us look at the matter from the most pessimistic standpoint. Take our driest year when only 12.615 inches fell, and let us suppose 1924 will be somewhat similar. Taking away the rainfall of 4.4 inches we already have from this total, we still have among a rainfall of 8.015 inches, most of which will come in the next three months.

On account of the small supply of moisture already received for 1924, prospects are bright that we will have the usual total in the year to see the growing season of May June July and August. If the rainfall of April 1924 had been less than 1.68 inches prospects would have been still brighter; but the very weather during the first part of May has partly made up for this and has allowed seeding to be completed under very favorable auspices. Rain could come a great any time now and do a lot of good. There is one thing certain, and that is that it will come in due time, and one single rainfall will mean a big year, while a dry year will still carry us through with over eight inches of rain still to come.

FISH NEWS

Ducks is showing well above the ground in many parts of this district. Muskrats are also very much in evidence this season, and unfortunately in a few with disastrous results. Mr. Ahrens has informed a reporter how through a few which got away from him the damage. Other fires have been noticed which appear to have swept their bounds.

We are pleased to note that Hon. Bob Wilson has now entered help and the rest she has been able to answer has already done her much good. Betty is still with her auntie, Mrs. Ben Wallace, and will remain there until her mother is herself again.

Social affairs are few just now on account of the busy season, but there are, however, we shall be having one soon. Rev. Chas. and Mrs. Stanley are leaving Mrs. Ewing's Arrangements are being made for a social evening to bid them farewell before they leave for Edmonton. The Piano Fund Picnic will be subsequent later.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

"Consistency, Thou Art a Jewel"

In replying to the Editor's article of last week, which was largely concerned with the (in him) unreliable news and attitude of the W.C.T.U., we would call attention to the headings of this article and strive to prove our consistency and the Editor's inconsistency.

It is true we met with temporary defeat last November, but is that any reason why we should turn traitor to our great purpose as an organization? Our purpose, tense in exception in 1874 (and not trying to keep abreast of the enthusiasm all at once) has been the vanquishing of the liquor traffic, whether it comes under the open bar, the tonic, or pulls the wool over the eyes of the public by appearing under one of its numerous vote-catching names—and to abolish the public menace. A man with any other name would smell as sweet, and a poison as malodorous, and we with this liquor traffic. Therefore it up in its "temporarily innocuous" or harmless (quoting the Ed.) cloak of beer, and it is "just a crash," for the manufacturers of the evasions that has been outlawed, time and again, put always come back with the boomerang effect of increased activity and its own hurt, breed.

We have been deluded, as a people, long enough by this arch-enemy of childhood, womanhood, manhood and home, and we say it reverently: for God's sake let us wake up. What has the traffic ever done for the better mentioned but ever defined and defying them? The only object in existence has ever been graved. So long as it is prolonged, what control it that the prohibitions there and now living and those yet unborn should be devastated with it curse a thousand times, worse than war?

And as we hear when military give themselves the loopholes of militarism, so we hear when the traffic is dorate, but we trust and pray not. By calling it comparatively harmless, that they have not been taking a leaf as to speak, out of the traffic's book on the subject in the same guise. What shall it profit, etc.?

Before we leave the subject of so-called harmlessness(?) of beer, which by the way is drunk just like other alcoholic drinks for the "kick" that is in it, let us give the evidence of a few who are authorities in the matter and their name is legion if we but look for them—Science and the paper trade towards the Piano Fund Picnic will be strengthened later garbs, is a dangerous narcotic poison, and alcoholism a mental poison, which, with or without other dangerous narcotics, will utterly destroy any race of any individual.

Sir Wm. Hervey Wiley, chief chemist of the Federal Dept. of Agriculture, said in playing abuse of his druth a single grain of flour he was sure to have, and it was his belief that "one of the most dangerous to health of all the prize exhibitors."

Take again this conclusion of a Michigan murderer of his own little girl, just before he was hanged, "Do what a prize we pay for drink! Two years ago I was sober. Now I am. I did it, but I was drunk. I bought a bag of beer and it made me crazy."

A prominent policeman, speaking to the Pres. of the International Police Association, declared, "I am ready to say that the return of light wine and beer would be only a forerunner of the open saloons, and two might just as well permit and license the "red light district."

All the statutes before us tell us that prior to National Prohibition in the States, 59% of all the alcoholic liquor consumed was beer, and that cases of "drunken" men filled the police courts and so we claim the falsity of the other nonconsistency of the statement that beer is either comparatively harmless or non-intoxicating.

If, as the advocates of the legislation of beer affirm, that a man can drunk not for the alcohol it contains, why not make it non-alcoholic and so remove the cause of beer consumption at the market?

We have been interested for some time in the reasoning of the term "beer" as applied to liquor. We are told, To be exact, the wearing given to the various kinds of liquor are served." Now if under stress of reasoners are the phrase whose bent is to be served, they will be served in the same spirit of "a rose by any other name."

And the traffic has soured a new lease of power when it has put off all responsibility to its business in having set-down-to-bars, where it might with its customers and girls quaff in the proper thing to sat down and drink in the proper way. Now it has to be a hostage in a public place to stand up and drink.

And more especially as if the tables happen to be in a dive, as they are in hundreds of localities in Canada and we have been condemned by the Editor by great proofs of this is our W.C.T.U. solemn declaration of the waiting tall after, and then saying "I told you so."

We have all the proof we need that the traffic cannot control and a controlled environment.

However, we quite agree with the Editor when he says—"it is impossible of any other traffic—such as poker, or any other game, such as baseball, track sports, wrestling and boxing."

A. A. Bennett the veteran road of Lacombe, has never been placed in the Red Deer, Alta., Mayor, manager of the Royal Bank, as secretary. The municipal council by a dozen or more committees headed by experienced men who have in the past years by hard be make this event Calder's big success.

Still crowning of the May Queen and the Maypole Dance by a score or more beautiful little girls, prettily costumed and dressed for the occasion, will be an attractive feature. The band will play and the May Queen crowning will be specially arranged and planned for the evening proceedings.

Caster extends to all a hearty welcome. No admission charge for school children; older folks and automobiles will be limited to 25 cents each. The money and time spent on this event by persons will be used to purchase suitable mementos of the occasion for the occasion in the sports, the inside of the band and May Queen as in former years.

Special invitations is given amateur sports people from neighboring towns, one hour right to liberty of speech to agree all women to pass forward and join the ranks of those Empire Builders of our land.

And so, Mr. Editor, in thanking you for the space in your correspondence column, which I trust you will grant, and realize that this is not written at all in a spirit of carping criticism, but rather in a desire to prove the loathsome and destructive tents and enormity, to take part in the contest.

All matters should be in the hands of the secretary, Mr. G. L. Camp, by Thursday evening, May 22nd.

BASEBALL

A meeting was held in the Town Hall Monday night for the purpose of organizing a baseball team for the season. A large crowd of enthusiastic fans was present and there is every evidence of good material for a team, there is every indication that Stettler will not have any trouble in the near future The following officers were elected:

President, A. G. Fox, Vice President, Jas. Smith, Jas. Thompson, H. L. Bethell; Manager, W. G. Beal Secretary-Treasurer, Lorne Ellis; Executive, G. G. Greene and R. Purnell, Official Scorer, Edward Jacobsen.

Arrangements are being made to form a league and as the weather clerk kindly loaned the baseball team fifty degrees, the organization is able to get under way without any further assistance.

Profits from Liquor Trade

A detailed statement shows that of $21,200,000 received by the Government liquor stores of British Columbia between June 15th, 1921, and September 30th, 1923, only $6,000,000 remained in the province. The Dominion Government and the transportation companies got $6,000,000, brewers and distillers $8,200,000.

Will Investigate Methods

The Canadian system for the placing of immigrants on the land will be brought to the Dominion from the United Kingdom under the Overseas Settlement Committee, it has been reported this summer by a delegation to be named by the British Government.

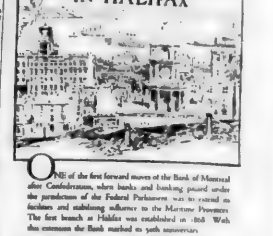
of the series dealing with the establishment of the Bank of Montreal at representative points in Canada and elsewhere.

IN HALIFAX



One of the first forward moves of the Bank of Montreal after Confederation, when banks and banking passed under the jurisdiction of the Federal Parliament was to extend its facilities and influence to the Maritime Provinces. The first branch at Halifax was established in 1868. With this extension the Bank marched its 50th anniversary.

Today the Bank has 15 Branches in Nova Scotia and a total of more than 350 Branches throughout Canada and Newfoundland, as well as Branches in the leading financial centres of the world.

GADSBY NEWS

News was received here, from Stettler, of the death of Dr. B W Averill, whose services illness was of short duration, he having been confronted on lately. He has been in Stettler for some time, being employed with Brydak's drug store, which he latterly died. Dr Averill had been prominent for two weeks prior to the end. A man of splendid integrity, a gentleman in every sense of the word, Mr. Averill will be much missed by an unusually large circle of friends, who sympathize with the bereaved family in their sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. John Opets have returned from Macleod where they have been spending a few days with sons-in-law Mr. Opets's father. They travelled by car and report a very pleasant trip both ways. During their absence Mr. Chas. Goodall was in charge of the hotel and kept things going in good shape. Charlie is a good man to fit in anywhere in an emergency.

Gadsby girls' basketball team played their first match last Wednesday night against a team from Half Mile. The game was fast and well contested and ended in a draw—6 all being each. Our girls are only just on the game, and with a little more practice should make the Edmonton Grain watch Cost step. The line-up was composed of Misses Hallie Jones, Helen Porter, Viola Hastings, Margaret Bradshaw, Violet Hodgins, Winnie Fleming and Mrs. Bradshaw, a return game at Half Mile has been arranged.

We had a number of old friends from the small town to turn work in Gadsby Saturday night was a busy time in Gadsby, and I never saw so many farmers in town. Some Hustler was a pup. The sidewalks were dotted all over with groups, swapping experiences and talking prospects, mostly optimistically. All the stores were doing big business.

Mr and Mrs. R. S. Drake motored down from Edmonton on Saturday and ran into town about 7 p.m. They were very warmly welcomed by their many friends here, and at least by so many as were favored by a glimpse of them. Their stay day did not permit of much visiting but we hope they may come often. Roy was looking for us a fiddle and Mrs. Drake—well I could write but they never saw a one whereby same the joke on

The Ladies Aid had a most successful tea on Saturday when they served an excellent supper and provided a splendid entertainment. The afternoon was spent in a social way, the time being beautified and the hours very lively indeed. It would be a great thing for the church, a great prestige for the congregation, if it could be made permanent. Why shouldn't it? Mr Steele spoke very highly on the great benefits derived on the lives of the world's greatest men by their mothers, and paid her personal tribute to their unselfishness, encouragement and help in days gone. It was a very enjoyable affair all through and the large congregation felt it had been good to be there.

The young people of Gadsby, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid, and the management of Mr Todd, are organizing a Basket Social and "Dance Dublin," which will be presented in Gadsby on May 24th. It is expected that Amo and in Balkan on June 6th. The cast is as follows:

Dunca Dublin	Mr J Todd
Anna Coleman	Miss Ida Parr
Brendan Crawley	Mr. R. Jones
Major McNeil	Mr. R. Stovell
Boatswoney Jones	Mr. H. Stovell
Miss Rose Mitchell	Miss Mine
Miss Philippens Fagan	Miss Beatty
Miss Emily Jones	Miss Pearl Anderson
Tommy Tomson	Miss Estella Boyd
Mrs. Mitchell	Mrs. Bradshaw

The theatre is a genial old farmer who assisted on a visit to his relatives in Ireland, and who returns from being sold at auction. He tells us frankly, with a rich brogue, of the Canadian Century, State of West Virginia, Anna Coleman is the heroine and an admirer of Miss Rose Mitchell, the school teacher. Brendan Crawley is the villain and a long-lost wolf to Mitchell's brother, and the returned Major McNeil is the hero. Mrs. Todd is the practical and businesslike housekeeper who sells the farm and incidentally loses some valuable bottles down the well. Tommy Tomson is an overgrown young lady, newly arrived from Dundee, who thinks she would like Donkeyscamp for her husband and who has her son at auction in spite of his protests. Miss Philippens Pepover is a kind-hearted, out-spoken old maid, and a leader in everything at the Dancer's, who owns more automobiles than she has attractions. Emily Dale is a city girl, a friend of the family, and a great fun Amos Coleman's attentions, who remains true to Miss Raleigh. Prince Coleman is the village cut-up and plays some misbehaving tricks on the middle-aged Deacon and Miss Philippens.

The cast is worth out in a very interesting plot, full of comedy and tragedy, and the cast of characters of a whole is very entertaining. The players are putting no time or trouble to make it a success, and we expect a large crowd on May 24th. The proceeds are to be devoted to furthering social activities. Mrs. Todd is the producer and Miss Jones the accompanist.

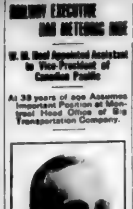
RAILWAY EXECUTIVE HAS RETIRING RISE

W. R. Reed Appointed Assistant to Vice-President of Canadian Pacific

At 39 years of age Assistant Important Position at Montreal Head Office of Big Transportation Company.



W. R. Reed

Announcement was made recently by Grant Hall, vice president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, of the appointment of W. R. Reed as assistant to the vice-president, with headquarters at Montreal. The position is an important one, and the appointment of Mr. Reed is regarded as one of the most capable and promising of the younger men of affiliation in the service of the Canadian Pacific. He rose in the railway service from the ranks of men with the company, and has been little less than a meteor in the rapidity of his promotion, owing to his capacity for hard work and his ability as a leader in men.

Mr. Reed entered the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway in January, 1905, as a clerk in the superintendent's office at Fort William. He was promoted to the position of trainmaster at Toronto in November, 1906, and to that of superintendent of transportation in the Winnipeg offices in September, 1908, as assistant superintendent of transportation at Toronto in November, 1910, and to the position of superintendent of transportation at Winnipeg, and in May, 1913, he was transferred to the same position at Calgary.

In January, 1916, Mr Reed was appointed general superintendent of the Eastern Division, with offices at Montreal, which position he held until last year he was promoted assistant superintendent of the Montreal Terminals. In November, 1916, he became acting superintendent of the car service department at Montreal.

He was appointed general secretary of the Canadian Railway Association for Overseas Service, with headquarters in London, and in this work made a record for efficiency which resulted in his appointment to deal with the important department during the war.

In December, 1918, he was appointed assistant to the vice-president at Montreal.

Mr. Reed was married in Montreal to J. Scott of Renfrew.

FARM NEWS

RAPE PASTURE FOR SHEEP AND SWINE

(Experimental Farms Note)

During the summer of 1923 the second week on the Dominion Experimental Station at Scott, Saskatchewan, were devoted to rape pasture as good condition for some time without being fed any grain. The rape has a laxative effect but seems to keep the digestive organs in good condition. Experiments conducted in 1923 it has been calculated that an average acre of rape is enough to pasture ten sufficient pasture for at least thirty head of ewes and lambs for one week fed. In an experiment where spring pigs were fed on rape pasture 70 pounds of grain for 100 pounds gain, and by charging the feed at 2½ cents per pound and the value of the pigs placed at $12.50 per cwt., it will be found that the value of the rape per acre was $17.50. This is a very profitable crop for fattening pigs and is especially desirable, as the fattening pigs do not require any valuable pasture crops in the summer time. The sowing of these also is a comparatively simple matter. A seed bed should be prepared in the same manner as for turnips, and the seed sown in drills 24 inches apart at the rate of 3 pounds per acre. The seed may be sown with the grain drill, all spouts except the two outside ones being plugged. The seed should be sown as early in the spring as possible, as the plants are more succulent and palatable before the hot weather sets in. Rape may be pastured off in the autumn after the grain crops are cleared. The plants will withstand several degrees of frost without injury. The seed of rape is very small and a pound contains about 65,000 seeds. It is not necessary to cover the seed deeply, as it will germinate when only covered with a thin layer of soil. Rape should be sown in rows rather than broadcast, as it is then easier to keep down weeds. The plants should be thinned out to stand about 6 inches apart in the rows. Rape may be sown in succession every two or three weeks, so that a supply of green feed may be had throughout the season. Rape should not be pastured off when it is in bloom, as it is then liable to cause scours in sheep and lambs. Rape is not a good crop to plough down for green manure, as it is very difficult to get a good catch of grain after it.

SPRING PREPARATION FOR THE CORN CROP

(Experimental Farms Note)

Corn this year is finding an increased use as a substitute for part of the summerfallow and in view of its growing importance the following suggestions, based on several years' experimental work at the Experimental Farm, Indian Head, may be found useful.

If possible, barnyard manure—preferably rotted—should be ploughed under in the first crop in preparation for growing the crop. With rotted manure there is much less danger of the corn "firing" in dry weather and it is likely if unrotted manure were used. Following the ploughing, sufficient cultivation should be given to get a suitable seed bed. The cultivation of weed seeds [illegible] and the soil [illegible] to take up [illegible] moisture [illegible] for the crop. [illegible] any after the crop. One Flies to the North

Cranwell, England.—The last possible work between pilot and engineer was carried out with successful results when Squadron Leader Cave-Brown-Cave and Flight Lieutenant Wilcockson left Cranwell aerodrome in a Fairey IIID machine for a flight to the Victoria Viking, an airship now in course of construction at Howden, Yorkshire. The machine was fitted with a special cockpit for the pilot and navigator, and a long tube from the latter to the pilot's cockpit. The navigator, who was in charge of the machine, sat in the cockpit with a map on his knee. The route to be followed was from Cranwell to Howden, and then to Leuchars, Scotland, and back to Cranwell. The navigator had to direct the pilot from the tube in the cockpit, and the machine was flown over one of the intermediate towns at a height of 1,000 feet. Then it was flown at 5,000 feet, and finally at 10,000 feet. The machine was flown above the best result it stops within a half a mile of the point aimed at. Each journey took about two hours to complete. The navigator had to direct the pilot from the tube in each case. But there is every reason to believe that the experiment will be successful, and that in the near future pilots will be able to fly to any part of the country in all weathers, without regular stops where they are required and accommodation is available.

Necessity the Mother of Invention

The secret of making rain must, in fact, necessary, the difference between and the ability to hold it. Inventors are always trying to find out how to make it rain, and they have succeeded to a certain extent. But they have not succeeded in making it rain when they want it to. And, however we have, at times, Inventors are "born" as well as made.

An inventor has the ability to step off, into space as it were, and take the plunge" to quote the man in the street, and forget reality for some considered time.

Then the every-day cares of the domestic life do not bother, and he has a desire for better service. But an even more fundamental object than both of these. The period in man's life, if that is the correct word to use, is that which has come down to us from the Stone Age, when the art of painting Truths was always the policy of the Master Minds. Progress is the keynote of success.

The Age of Necessity, is therefore the Age Before in Invention. The invention of a fundamental must flow from necessity, and not from intention, rather than those that appeal to the mind.

Recorded from 1910 inventors from the Stone Age to the present time, the "Why" of the invention, the reason for the invention, the "What" of the invention, the "How" of the invention, the "When" of the invention, the "Where" of the invention, the "Who" of the invention, the "Why" of

(Vegreville Observer)

Variety for the benefit of our esteemed contemporaries in Alberta and not from any desire to pose as a critic ourselves, the Observer feels it necessary to announce that we are not objecting to any advertisements of "hard" liquors, meaning thereby whiskey, brandy, gin or other distilled spirits intended for beverage purposes, whose alcoholic content is over 2.5% by volume. Compare for mere advertising have been removed recently and we have banned them for years.

Lastly, of course, we were entitled to take them out was the advertising as instructed. But, in our opinion, such advertising, though legal, is a direct encouragement of the spirit of the new Liquor Control Act. Under the rules from November, the vendor of the principle was for "hard" liquors to remain under strict control. As we understand it, the government vendors are not supposed to introduce any new lines, selling methods for the liquors they handle. Without trying to dictate to our brethren of the press, we do not even how any one of them can conscientiously accept this sort of advertising, which is obviously intended to boost the sale of the advertised brands of liquor.

The Stettler Independent, the only other newspaper in Central Alberta which was associated with the Vegreville Observer in supporting Thomas D. Bell Stettler, is taking an identical stand with us on this matter of liquor advertising.

Both the Independent and the Observer have doubtless been accused of commercial motives in taking the stand we did in the plebiscite. It was to be with feeling better advertising it should effectively dispose of any such accusation.

The Observer notices particularly that one of the dailies which was strong for Clause A last November is now publishing a series of liquor advertisements. This newspaper is quite within its rights; but it must be great to have an ex-ante conscience.

In merrily tossing the harpoon into our good friend A. E. Hall, of the H.L.A., a few weeks ago on this matter of liquor advertising, the Observer was well aware that Mr. Hall's son's contentions were quite sound but his method of endeavoring to put them good intentions into effect was all wrong. He will probably see by this time that legislation in the matter was not necessary; the mere publicity of its being ill-advised and a direct infringement on press privileges and rights) since it is more than likely that nearly per cent of the weekly newspapers of Alberta are refusing the liquor advertising.

And every one of them needs the cash money obtainable thereby. As many as 7 weeks ago a war with the monthly Alberta paper broke here

Mahomet could have sold your merchandise

You know the old story of Mahomet and the Mountain—when the mountain wouldn't come to him he, like a sensible man, grabbed his Panama off the hall rack and went to the mountain—he wanted it badly enough to go after it.

IF IT'S PRINTING WE CAN DO IT.

That is precisely the situation today—the mountain—BUSINESS—will not come to you—you will have to go after it and go after it hard. YOU have one great advantage over the prophet—he had to take the going as he found it—you can pave the way with advertising.

It was owing to the terrible weather that the Club was not called on May 1 for their job in Earl Penfold's charge and the caretaker with the President called the meeting on Friday. Present were Stephen Penfold, Earl Penfold and C. J. Morton as trustee of the district, who had been first farming in Oregon for the past few years, but returned back again and is booked to stay. I understand he has traded places with Bill Hemingway, who will have for Oregon with his wife and family in a week's time. We are glad to have Mr. Bartlemeyer back, but hate to lose Bill and Mrs. Hemingway as the Morton-ity's have proved themselves to be. Bill was a good mixer to the U. F. and a great booster for the Wheat Pool being very successful as a marketing agency. The meeting was called to order by the President and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and passed. Mr. Morton was then asked to take the chair and the following business was transacted:

Less Pot-washing

SMP Enameled Ware has the smooth surface and polish of fine crockery—without the breakage. And it is no very easy to clean—just like china, and therefore makes light work of pot washing.

Try this test. Take an SMP Enameled Ware sauce pan and an all-metal sauce pan of equal size, into each pour a quart of cold water. Put on the fire at the same time. The SMP sauce pan will be boiling merrily when the water in the other is just beginning to simmer.

AN APPRECIATION

By H. Harding

Dr Creighton is out short in the middle of a most useful life—only 59 years old, not burning a lot long and prosperity of a man of seventy—in the midst of the broad lines of usefulness opened by the ravages of overwork and the strains upon his assimilation due to his warmest and keen sympathies with the sufferings of the sick. An ideal physician ranking and sacrificing his own rest and comforts in his keenness to alleviate and remedy the diseases and the pains of his suffering and numerous patients.

No matter what the call came, by daylight or in the dead hour of night, he, unsparing habit was to rush to the bedside and if necessary home from that midnight visit, whether well rested, morning sleep he would start on his labors for the day's work with all the enthusiasm of a young practitioner.

And if the day or the night was to be made between the rush men able to, ranging weather and the poor man or the helpless person, it was ever his choice to lend his help to one who needed find an abode to suit upon.

His life and practices were the highest expression of the most consistent and consummately ethical profession. He was generously ethical profession. He followed through the hard-breaking toil that professional mentality which is the lofty standard of medical practice from bottom to dust and charity.

He was a great man—he and member after other minority of approval—to unassuming in fact and to ostent as regard to his own merit that it would almost appear as though his Friends without fear of his appreciation and sympathy because he did not is any way express it or afford, ask for them.

But he sometimes seemed to be crushed with the feeling of a great melancholy as if for the want of some expression otherwise appreciation of his arduous work, and an apprehension of the great host he served, and the many gifts of healing he was capable of by study, distributing.

But Oh! when a sudden and open, tender fate, tragic and compelling, struck him down with unwelcome blow, and finally separated him from us, and how universal was the cry, and how silent the tears of those who knew and understood!

One moment but weep that to others this note and call and unknowledge of the very great mourning that is being shadowed over the land, could not have been cheered and heightened in his hard and strenuous life by of such a little of that sympathy which is now so lavishly poured out. Why is it that we talk a hesitate to say heavy burden of shame, when so much a lift, and the easy burden of a hard would ideas and tangle even his wholly torn parcel burdened? Never on to "Him" so withheld that which is so needful to shared and so blissfully rapturous!

One thing here, at all events, here very clearly shown, and that is that a life of unselfish kindness and charity with touch the hearts and draw the love of all men.

Let the people of this small Town learn this lesson that it all men were like him the lonely world and sad deserts of this vale of tears would turn into gardens of roses and it would be proved that Love is still the greatest thing in the world.

And so for the sleep Doctor, whose earnest away at the flood-tide of his career may we not treasure his as a happy end? It is well with him—

Botha News

In the death of Dr Creighton, what has been lost Tuesday very suddenly at his home in Stettler, this community has suffered a loss that is not easily expressed.

The Creighton will be moved forth today from a very large extent, but the fact that it is from this community perhaps that has will be moved most of all, for it was in the neighborhood that he first began practicing in the West, nearly nineteen years ago and during all that time we have always known that no matter how bad the weather might be nor how busy and tired he might be himself, a call would always bring him hurrying to see and

The Doctor was in Botha at 9:30 the evening before he died and seemed in unusually good spirits, a matter of mind and visit with him and little thought as we rode home practically that it was to be our last visit with him.

It is a very sad thing to have to record the loss and loss.

GADSBY NEWS

The big crowd that turned out for the surprise party of Chas. Mercer's home last Thursday night was a booming proof of the esteem in which they are held in their community. Bertha Bond sponsored on the event and it required a fair interlocutor outside, by how real served the house was jam full of neighbors, and it was certainly something of a record for early attendance. The Bond idea prevented Mr Mercer's until a tangible token of the esteem in which he was held in the district, of which he has always been a faithful member, as has also been his fellow men. On all counts the party will be much missed, and we hope the chosen will be to their advantage.

Our Junior basketball team made their bow in public for the first time on Saturday at the Canoe Lake station. They were matched a little from "stage fright," evidently, but big amateur endeavor does and they were badly beaten, 15—4. I think, they can do better than that and will prove it in the near future.

Quite a bunch of Gadsby sports went to Castor on Saturday. They had the pleasure of seeing the Castorites in a Castor uniform assuming them to win the ball Tournament. Good boy, Jimmy

We would like to record our regret at the sudden and untimely death of Mr. Creighton, of Jordan. It does make a few pastures, and more friends in this neighborhood. It is a real pity to learn his age, he certainly looked 10 years older. Undoubtedly he had spent himself in giving service to his community, and his name will be held in grateful and loving remembrance by those privileged to know him. He was an ornament to a noble profession.

Our gophers are making progress but the record for the counter has not been reduced to 54. Not bad for one year and a difficult course. Bloom Bill's shotgun seems to need lots to know what Dan is up to. When an elegible bachelor buys a car it usually affords a feature of excitement. Mr. Ashcot Gray informs me he would have an expert rodeo along with Dan see this appears in print. He does not like to race with the devil and that is likely to be for and just as soon as needing is over, and the old reliable Gray's hack and the local owners of supply if conditions of trade warrant there will be two owners there all summer, but should the business not warrant it the latter may be closed down until after harvest. Better get your supply in.

Mr. Ed. Overbaugh had a trip to Edmonton last week and had a slight corporal operation for a growth on his left ear. Under both and skilful ministrations our friend has been feeling a little bought on, we venture. We trust he will soon be as good as ever again.

A VALUABLE PROFESSION

Custodians of Historical Tobacco Box Are Heavily Bonded

In Canton Hall, Westminster, London is a doubly barred safe, in a strong room reposes what is claimed to be the most wonderful tobacco box in the world.

More than 300 years ago it was bought for 8 cents at the Barn Fair Charing Cross, and members of the City Company of Pipemakers and Tobacco Blenders, who used it then, have been its custodians ever since.

Probably the most amazing coin in the world is to be found on Dog Island, among the Caroline group.

Here they use stones of the size, with a hole in the centre through which a pole is passed to hold it up. Stones stones vary in size from inches to twelve feet. Of course, a large amount of energy has to be expended to produce these, in fact, they are cut from a quarry on an island about hundred miles away, and transported by canoe! It must mine in good quality quarry.

This must mean changes hands. She method used is this: A deal is made from a friend, who takes him stone and comes into the family stones, the friend disposes one, and it is his, but his family still trade on it as readily as if it were on shore. It would have been the biggest Fat on the island.

In regard to such a usual article, that one would be surprised to find a people without it, and a people who did not understand the use of it. Yet there are hundreds of races who have very different ideas of the use of money from our own.

In Borneo there is a peculiar way of reducing a man's wealth, a rich man is a large number of cylinders. A poor man to be who has none, he makes his small estate by the number of possessions he may have. They also use small mantels for currency

The Ibans people are broken rice for currency thus losing a fairly constant percentage of their stock of rice. The Chinese in some parts use compressed blocks of tea.

Other interesting coins are whales' teeth in Fiji, tiger's eye in Sumatra, and feathers in New Ireland. Cow, goats in Indonesia, and arrows in the Torres Straits. In Africa the shells on a string are used by the natives. On the Duke of York Island we find many at 10 per cent. The strongest man on the island is the head.

ACROSS CANADA IN 1760

The First Surveyor to Reach the Pacific Came by Land

One of the most distinguished Canadian explorers of his time, a man of his time in board, was Sir Alexander Mackenzie—the first European to reach the Pacific Coast by land. He was in 1789 that a dozen years after Cabot had first set foot on this continent. When Mackenzie started on his great adventure, he ascended the Peace River to the head of navigation, and then he mounted the Columbia. From there he went by trail to the coast after he can imagine with what feelings he was in his diary on May 17, 1793:

"At four in the afternoon the Rocky Mountains appeared in sight, with their summits covered with snow. His ascension on spring days, exhilarated by fragrant and small, remaining there reveal him to have been a keen naturalist. On May 31 he noted that the mountains were all around there, and so eagerly they pressed on, leaving the Columbia behind them, and the familiar ranges, until at last Mackenzie's Bay, on the Pacific coast, was reached. He had reached the end

We are very sorry indeed to learn of the very sudden death of Dr. Creighton, of Hughenden, who passed away in his eternal reward early Tuesday morning. He was a stentorian, faithful and efficient servant, read and known by many in this district, and his departure will be deeply felt by all. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the sorrow bereaved. By Creighton was formerly a resident of Red Willow.

A very successful business meeting was held in Hesers. Porter and Dempsey's office last Monday evening when nearly every man turned out to consider the establishment of a creamery in town. Directors were appointed to receive, if possible, sufficient shares to start the business on the project. To do the job up right the members of the meeting subscribed to the extent of $600.00. The rural community will get on Saturday, and we hope that every man will put himself of the opportunity to assist this most needed improvement. Let us get together and build up a clean and prosperous town Every one to a booster.

Reports from Fairview state that it has been universally conceded that Canada's pavilion was in the best condition when the King opened the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley on April 23rd. It was the Canadian Pacific Railway's job to get the exhibit "open and clean and complete to the last detail," and this it did, even to the move to the finish in time for the day's official opening.

Over 2,000 settlers left Liverpool for Canada on April 24th. Thirteen hundred of these sailed on the Canadian Pacific liner "Montclare," including a party of 200 coal workers from Manchester. Model 200—Curved—For average to stout figure. The none-inch clasp extends three inches above the waistline at the front, graduating to a slightly higher inch to care for excess flesh at the shoulder blades. The medium length skirt has ample fullness for hips and thighs, and the very flat back terminates in a two-inch elastic section. Four hooks and two sets of hose supporters. Plain coutil, pink and white. Sizes 20 to 34.

Model 202—Average—A very attractive corset designed for the medium to slight figures. The short front clasp extends two and one-half inches above the waistline. The graceful top effect is emphasized by the slightly turned over corset at the bust. The medium length skirt slopes to longer line over the hips and terminates in a three-inch elastic section at the back. Four hose supporters. Figured batiste pink. Sizes 20 to 32.

Model 211—Average—For the medium to average figure. The top is three inches above the waistline. The skirt is medium length at the front, extends a long hip line, and then graduates to a medium length back with two elastic sections. Four hose supporters. Figured batiste pink. Sizes 20 to 32. Pink 20 to 36.

Model 382—Average—A lightly boned corset for the average figure, has a long comfortable elastic top, rib and one-half inches above the waistline. The medium length skirt is cut straight around the figure, has three hooks and extra long elastic clasp, three sets of hose supporters, and a two-inch elastic section at the back. Fancy brocade, pink sizes 20 to 36.

Model 386—Average—A lightly boned corset for the average figure. The top, which measures seven inches above the waistline at the front and graduates to a medium high back is reinforced with bone at the top of the section under the bust. The skirt which is medium length has four hooks and fasteners at the front and a three-inch elastic section across the back. Four hose supporters. Figured batiste pink. Sizes 20 to 36.

Model 795—Average—For the stout figure. The front clasp measures three and one-half inches above the waistline and the full top slopes over the bust with a four-inch elastic section and has high back supporting section at the shoulder blades. A two-inch elastic section at the thigh is reinforced at a strip of the same material starting at the waistline and sloping to a V shape at the front of the skirt where it terminates in a looped hose supporter. It has a four-inch elastic section across the back and three sets of hose supporters. This corset is firmly boned. Everlast batiste pink. Sizes 24 to 42.

Model 814—Average-Lightly boned for the slender to medium figures. The top of this corset reaches three inches above the waistline. The medium length skirt slopes to longer line over the hips and terminates in a three-inch elastic section at the back. Four hose supporters. Figured batiste pink. Sizes 20 to 32.

Model 816—Average—A lightly boned corset for the average to stout figure. The four-inch elastic top measures one and one-half inches above the waistline, terminating at the medium front waistline which measures two inches above the waistline. The long skirt is straight across with extra length added to front, and is fitted in below the hips, which gives a long graceful effect. The back is medium length and has four hooks and fasteners. Two sets of hose supporters. Figured batiste pink. Sizes 22 to 32.

GOSSARD CORSETS
VALUES UP TO $7.50
FOR $2.95

These are discontinued models that are being cleared. Don't miss this bargain. Every Pair Guaranteed.

Model 520—Average—A pink fancy batiste corset designed for the slight to average figure, especially recommended for the college girl or the active business woman. The ample full top has a two-inch elastic section under the bust and is trimmed with pink satin ribbon and fancy French braid. The skirt is long over the thighs. Elastic gussets in the flesh accomodated from going without a corset or even wearing too short a one. Medium length section at front gives necessary allowance when seated. The slightest figure will find comfort in these models. Pendant hose supporters fitted. Figured batiste pink. Sizes 20 to 32.

Model 521—Average—[illegible] Figured batiste pink. Sizes 22 to 32.

Model 570—Average—A lightly boned corset for the slender to medium figures. The top is three and one-half inches above the waistline. The medium length skirt is sloped to slightly longer lines over the hips and has a three-inch section of elastic at the back. There are three sets of hose supporters. Fancy silk striped batiste pink. Sizes 20 to 30.

Model 735—Long-Around—An excellent clasp-around of fancy brocade with a two-inch elastic top. The elastic sections over the hip are joined together with a pointed section of material which is wider at the top. The elastic is shaped so that it is narrow at the top and widens through the hip and at the bottom, where the added fullness is necessary. Finished across the top with ribbon and trimmed at the front with dainty blue bead. Three pairs of hose supporters. Pink. Sizes 24 to 36.

Model 1030—Curved—A curved corset for the stout figure with a low top measuring three inches above the waistline at front, curving under the bust and tapering to a higher back that is designed with ample fullness that will not raise the flesh at shoulders. The skirt is long and has ample fullness to care for large hip and thigh. It is cut out in front to give necessary freedom. The back is boned heavily to give a flat appearance. Figured brocke, pink. Sizes 24 to 40

Model 3102—Straight—An unusual corset fashioned of satin and trimmed in shades to contrast [illegible] Figured batiste pink. Sizes 20 to 32.

[illegible] LE BELLA IDEAL Non-Elastic

Model 550—Long-Around—A fourteen inch clasp-around with wide sections over the hips and two-inch elastic top. The cloth back slopes to a greater length at the points where the hose supporters are attached. Two pairs of hose supporters. Pink figured brocke. Sizes 24 to 36

Model 525—Long-Around—This is a thirteen-inch garment with a seven-inch frilled elastic top. The cloth section over the hip is cut so that it is wider at the top and the elastic section narrower, making the garment snug at the waistline so that it will not stand away from the body when figure is seated. The cloth back forms two points to which supporters are attached. Three sets of hose supporters. Pink, fancy batiste and surgical elastic. Sizes 21 to 36

Model 584—Average—[illegible] dium or stout figure. The top is turned and half inches above the waistline and curves under the bust to a medium high back. The long skirt has enough fullness to care for a good size thigh and has a four-inch elastic section across the back. There are three sets of hose supporters. Figured brocke, pink. Sizes 21 to 40.

Prices of these Gossard Corsets range from $1.95 to $10.00. Every Pair Guaranteed

THE HOPE OF HUMANITY

By Paul L. Parcells, Bullitch.

During the Great War we were told several times that we were fighting a war to end war, and a great army of us believed it, or at least we tried to believe it, as it seemed to us about the only thing that could excuse any possibly such a horrible and senseless exhibition of brutality on the part of mankind. The Great War has been ended long enough now so that we should be able to get some idea of what, if anything, of any, we have made towards that ends to be desired ends, and as a result of a country of confusion in the world today it must seem surprising to those who had hoped for some real improvement in man's national attitude toward his neighbors.

Shortly after the close of the war there seemed to be a tendency at times to realize in a practical way the great ideal for which the nations of the people supposed that they were fighting in that war, but there was an overwhelming tide toward the grabbing of the victors as to be almost last night of, and while the conference at Washington for the reduction of armaments seemed at the time to be a great step in the right direction, one is almost tempted to believe that, in the light of what has happened since that the nations taking part might have been influenced in their decision to ring their battleships with the thought that most would be advantageous if most of them were destroyed.

The Christian religion is founded upon principles that, correctly understood and applied to our international relations, would solve all problems, but it is a fundamental element in the [illegible]

[illegible] fast to drive it. The ship is to be driven by [illegible] which show that while in 1914 British investments in China amounted [illegible] £60,000,000 and the United States invest- ments more less than £15,000,000, in 1920 the figures read British £250. 000,000, United States $400,000,000 [illegible] unofficial figures for 1923 show a balance of 25% in favor of the United States. The professor, however, loses sight of one thing, and that is the rapid recovery of Great Britain as an investor in Canada. The years immediately following the war were left practically America's years, but the fact that London still holds pride of place as the financial hub of the world, shows then United States financiers are losing ground.

DAILY AND WEEKLY PAPERS

An observant and philosophical reader contrasts the prosperity and order of the city and country papers thusly: Turning from the city daily paper to the rural weekly which comes to our home in the country with the news of the whole wide world—and the doings of the good old neighborhood—we find the contrast startling and forcible.

The pages of the dailies are as full of murder, criminal insanity, the swearing up of honest men by infamous and pathological liars that the heart is shocked. One puts the paper aside with a feeling of depression and lamentable that the world is so "all of most sensitive and unhappy beings.

Then picking up the papers that record the happenings of the smaller towns around us one finds a different path to tell. Here are set forth only such things as are worthy a record—the activities of the business men, the church news, the civic good works piloted by women, the school items, the happy social gatherings of the people, the marriages, births and deaths, farmers' items and all the interesting and non daily entertainment that make up the simple annals of the great community people who are really the foundation of this broad country of ours.

Sensible are outdoor published in the country newspapers, but if it so happens that decency demands it, the rather persons are omitted, or are given a county term that is widely different from the unfeeling publicity of the city press.

No wonder The offenders may be our neighbors, or people we have talked about—it will not be known. They are real human beings, while to the great dailies they are merely grains of a sort that are ground out hourly in their sewerall.

April 30th, 1921

Mr. Willis,
Editor Stettler Independent.
Dear Sir:

Enclosed please find letter from Gen. Martin, Editor of Farm and Ranch, Pincher Creek, Alta. He had recently a lot of championship farmers and although one or two in Ontario were mentioned nothing was said about May, 21 acres or the man who put first prize, and also at the Chicago International nothing about our Western Canada farmers.

Would you please return letter I cleared to me when you are through with it.

Sincerely,
H. B. Sullivan

P.S.—I have answered Mr Martin's letter and in my answer mentioned your name and paper. Maybe Mr. Martin may write to you but I would not allow them to remove entirely Manitoba, Sask., Alta., and B.C., as I am down and write him about some of the prizes that Major Stuart's son took work done in love, will open doors and break down opposition far and near.

Mr McLennan accomplished his ambition and in 1905, 1906, 1907, 1908, 1909, of being as very busy "Calls to all men to hear the Word" made a beginning, although there were but seven men commissioned in the whole of the United States, and the first of the small beginning, when we read of the splendid work which has since been accomplished in the Kingdom in that nation, we recognize that Mr. McLennan's faith in God was not in vain—that the small seed sown bounce inured the mighty tree. Mr. Hector, agent of the Bible Society, writes from Korea, "that so many are becoming interested—that the sun has been hoping the Scriptures as the Koreans have, at the rate the Bible is now circulating, it will be years."

"Eighty-nine years ago there may have been half a dozen Christians in the land. Now there are more than 200,000 enrolled on church records and the given 3000 churches and groups, and there are 20,000 pupils in the mission school being trained in know Jesus and his love."

So let us take heart of grace—dear friends—bringing that while we may only creep as yet, as sacrificial, in further Christ's Kingdom may be advancing—and we may also be "run, and not be weary."

Yours truly,
Wm. F. Hector.

CASTOR NEWS

SHIRE ANNUAL SPORTS ON VIC. VICTORIA DAY BIG SUCCESS

Pretty Girls and Boys Participate in Bicycle Races—Presents for May Queen and Her Attendants—Fine Athletic Program

Castor, May 26.—Castor's ninth annual children's sports on Victoria Day were again a huge success, this together being perfect and late in the afternoon when a nasty rain fell the events were things decidedly unpleasant. Record crowds [illegible] numerous in attendance. Be [illegible] being possible that last year by Alliance, all other events were held where they came from were admitted free. The baseball and basketball games mentioned at ten in the morning and continued until about eight in the evening, three games being played at once at each race.

The big event this year was again the crowning of the May Queen and her Maypole dance by forty girls and boys. The May Queen, Miss Margaret Coppock, accompanied by her maids of honor, Misses Gladys Warnock and Jessie Johnston, and two little girls as pages, left the Metropolitan hotel at 12.30 followed by the Happy-Gamers, all on three local fords draped motor floats with the [illegible] Citizens' band leading the way to the grounds, where they paraded around the race track, afterwards lining up in front of the grand stand, the children singing "O Canada." There [illegible] address was given by Rev. R. J. Stewart, who pointed out the good influences that such proceedings would have on the young girls. He also reminded them that among the many beautiful children taking part were many future May Queens. In crowning the May Queen, as "Recipient the Blessed" Mr. Coppock [illegible] that last year he had crowned Miss Margaret McLaren as the first May Queen. On behalf of the committee and sponsors he made suitable presents to the May Queen and her attendants.

The May Queen handed a written reply to the children which was read by Rev. Stewart.

Following this came the Maypole dance, under the supervision of Mrs. Bower and Mrs. Gathercole.

The afternoon's entertainment was taking part two judges were used. The dances which were splendidly done by the crowds of spectators from the big audience and reflected great credit upon the teachers who had trained the girls. The Castor Citizens' band played at intervals during the day, while the Castor orchestra, assisted by members of the band, played for the Maypole dance. During the whole of the day some form of amusement was going on for the benefit of the public as a result of which everyone had a good time.

About eleven in the evening was announced to fall and kept up all day Sunday changing to snow in the afternoon. A few of those who stayed for the dance had to stay over Sunday owing to the rain.

Following was a list of the day's sports day, no less than nine-teen teams taking part. During the day the Castor band, 13 and under, Chas. Campbell, Castor

GADSBY NEWS

Gadsby Town Hall was all too small for the crowd that came on Friday night to see the Gadsby Players put on "Dear Dutchie." Before the advertised hour of starting the hall was packed to the doors and standing room was all that could be found in the remaining space. The performance was well worth travelling a long distance to see and by unanimous vote of the audience it ranked as one of the best shows staged in Gadsby amateur or professional. Mr. Jas. Todd, who has had the duty of training the actors must have felt extremely gratified at the elegant way in which every character was without exception, portrayed the part—all set the example by a splendid portrayal of the "Dutchie" from Bergthaus Center, West Virginia by Beck." It would be a very difficult task, where all did so well, to pick out the star. Miss Winona Williamson was excellent as "Dutchie"—natural, spontaneous, was charming, and altogether likable. A very clever little lady Miss Hadley as "Phoenebe" had a big part and entered into the spirit of it, also was in happy good. Miss Rosella Boyd, as the Bowdy maid, had a difficult character to portray and was very successful indeed. She is some comedian. Mrs. Todd, though the heroine of the piece as "Dear Rolanda", did not occupy the stage as much as some of the other characters, and it remarkably true, I was glad of it—not that I don't like to see Mrs. Todd on the stage, but I like to see her in a character part, and not as the heroine. Mr. Todd as "Jeff Bowdy" was a scream, and Mr. Todd as "Jeff Bowdy" was a scream, and Mr. Todd as "Jeff Bowdy" was a scream, and

Round the Country

The editor had occasion to call a little while this spring and in the course of the proceedings he paid his wife $4 to improve the time. Instead expenditure she invested a bushel of wheat, sowed it in the garden and got back two bushels of wheat which she sowed and the second harvest she got two bushels of wheat for a dollar. Now there is a profit of 100 per cent. Some one suggested that the editor should be elected to the legislature. Any one who can make $4 grow into $8 in a single season is a man we want in the legislature. Let's elect him.

A Canadian who has a farm back in the old country writes to a friend here that he has been offered a million dollars for it. He says he is not selling. He is going to stay right where he is. Which is a pretty good indication that he is getting more than a million dollars worth of satisfaction out of life on the farm.

Of course we can't know what is going to happen in the future but we do not make a prophet of any one if we say we may hope that the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railways will be operated in the future as they have been operated in the past. Which is to say that they will be operated by the best men that can be secured for the purpose

Mahomet could have sold your merchandise

You know the old story of Mahomet and the Mountain—when the mountain wouldn't come to him he, like a sensible man, grabbed his Panama off the hall rack and went to the mountain—he wanted it badly enough to go after it.

IF IT'S PRINTING WE CAN DOIT.

That is precisely the situation today—the mountain—BUSINESS—will not come to you—you will have to go after it and go after it hard. YOU have one great advantage over the prophet—he had to take the going as he found it—you can pave the way with advertising.

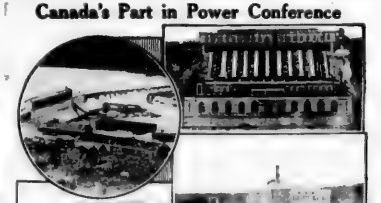
Canada's Part in Power Conference



1. Entrance of Niagara gorge from above—Note the power stations of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario on the Canadian side. 2. Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada, showing the Horseshoe Falls and the Canadian power stations. 3. Canadian Niagara Falls, showing the Canadian power stations. 4. Another scenic shot on the upper reaches of the Niagara river showing the Canadian power stations. 5. Niagara Falls, Ontario, showing the Canadian side of the U. S. Niagara Falls power projects. The operations of the Canadian Hydro-Electric Power Commission have been on an area of 80 square miles, and have developed 400,000 horsepower. The Commission has also constructed 1,000 miles of transmission lines which is corresponding favorably to the power transmission systems of the United States. 6. Aerial view of Niagara Falls, showing the Canadian Hydro-Electric Power Commission's power house, Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada. The plant has an ultimate developed capacity of 400,000 horsepower. 7. Niagara Falls, Ontario, showing the Canadian power stations and subject to the Canadian Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

Canada will play an important part in the first World Power Conference that is to be held in London, England, from June 30th to July 7th, 1924. Canada and the United States, she has the greatest potential water powers than any other country and is second only to the United States in the development of water power, already almost at the head of all nations, her production. In this respect Canada is many times greater than that of the United States.

This is rapidly becoming the electric age, a fact which the Imperial Conference, which is being held under the auspices of the British Empire Union, in London, England, from June 9th to 14th, with several of the most technical, scientific and industrial organizations of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, is fully appreciative of the leading members of the Canadian delegation, Sir Charles Gordon, K.B.E., C.M.G., deputy Minister of Mines as chairman.

In the year 1919 the total hydro-electric development in a twenty-six country divisions. A total of 19,000,000 h.p. was developed. Of this total hydro-electric development in Canada in 1919 the turbine installation was 1,500,000 h.p., in 1920 it was 1,600,000 h.p., in 1921 it was 1,700,000 h.p., in 1922 it was 1,800,000 h.p., in 1923 it was 2,333,000 h.p., and it is expected to be 4,000,000 h.p., the difference being that 1,666,000 h.p. will be reached by 1930.

In Canada the water power for importance from the standpoint of industry alone is the most important country close to the coal fields. Canada has coal fields, but they are not close to the water powers. Canada's water powers are in the northern part of the country and it is the intention of the Canadian Government to develop these water powers and transmit the power to the industrial centres of the country. Canada has 10,000,000 h.p. developed and 30,000,000 h.p. undeveloped. Of the developed power 1,500,000 h.p. is used by the pulp and paper industry, 1,000,000 h.p. by the mining industry, 1,000,000 h.p. by the electric railways, 1,000,000 h.p. by the electro-chemical industry, 1,000,000 h.p. by the electro-metallurgical industry, 1,000,000 h.p. by the textile industry, 1,000,000 h.p. by the flour mills, 1,000,000 h.p. by the municipalities and 1,000,000 h.p. by the miscellaneous industries.

Canada's water powers are developed by the Dominion's part in the Conference will be to show the delegates the water powers that are developed and undeveloped, and to give information as to the best methods to be employed to gain control of the water powers. It is proposed to make it clear that the Canadian Government is not in the power business, but that it is in the business of developing power for the industries of the country and it is the intention of the Canadian Government to develop the water powers as rapidly as the industries of the country require the power.

Laurentian Shield, there are available water powers exceeding 5,000,000 horse power. As it is through the development of water power that other operations are made cheaper, capital for it can be more readily secured, and it is for this reason that the power possibilities of Canada are developed more rapidly than any other in Canada or the United States.

Briefly, the object of the Power Conference are to consider how the industrial and scientific aspects of power may be safeguarded and better promoted, by considering the potential resources of each country in hydro-electric power, all coal deposits, your engineering experiences in the development of scientific applications, transmission of power by water and coal, and performance of civil, mechanical, marine and mining engineering works, and the economic questions involved therein.

The Canadian delegation is headed by Sir Charles Gordon, K.B.E., C.M.G., deputy Minister of Mines as chairman.

MRS. NEILL'S LETTER TO GOVERNMENT SAILS IN RO

Mrs. McNeill was chosen a delegate to the Imperial Conference by the Women's Institutes of British Columbia and has therefore all the necessary credentials. Government Sails In

Mrs. McNeill's letter to the Government is as follows:

"Better Have Us Out Here

"I have been asked by the Women's Institutes of British Columbia to go to England to represent them at the Imperial Conference. I have been asked by the Women's Institutes of British Columbia to go to England to represent them at the Imperial Conference. I have been asked by the Women's Institutes of British Columbia to go to England to represent them at the Imperial Conference.

"I have been asked by the Women's Institutes of British Columbia to go to England to represent them at the Imperial Conference. I have been asked by the Women's Institutes of British Columbia to go to England to represent them at the Imperial Conference.

"In brief—like any other system of government the Canadian Government spends $4.00 on itself, in order to get $1.00 back.

"It has not escaped the Press of the world and terrible tales of hasty drinking.

"It has not discovered the Drug evil.

"Hand in hand with exclusion of the Drink Act, go vacations of the Narcotic Drug Act—until it does look as though seldom are people can be aroused to the danger, the Anglo-Saxon race is doomed."

Beyond the Facts

Let every Canadian woman spread the information she gathers, amongst her friends. There are no neutrals in this war. One must be for, or against.—(Can. Statesman.)

Nicopana Sickness in Britain

During the past three or four years there has been a gradual increase in England of the number of cases of sleeping sickness. During the past two months there has been a weekly average of 250 to 300 cases, with a mortality of from 12 to 21 per cent.

WESTERN CATTLE IN EXPORT

Special Press United Farmers' Cooperative Sales Limited of Alberta, Sept. Cal.

Montreal.—Shipping a note of the continued confidence which the agricultural interests of the west repose in Western canada Cattle and H. A. Hutchings, secretary-manager of the Prairie Pioneer, Medicine Hat, who arrived in Montreal on Friday last en route to an overseas holiday.

"The co-operative movement is rapidly improving the material in Western Canada and the future prospects are encouraging. Moreover, many of these men in receipt of good prices for what they are returning. I remember in 1921 a Western farmer who had been in town recently drove from the station to his farm with a team of horses and a load of hay. He was in receipt of a good future, and, if the two directions is going to their parents, and the realization of that future cannot be long delayed.

Asked to mention some of the improvements which, in his opinion, would tend to hasten the Golden Age for Western Canada the visitor mentioned greatly needed first for a better understanding between East and West.

"The Western farmer can also do a great deal to help himself," he added, "I occasionally advocate some that are considered radical, but should go in for raising livestock on a large scale, and co-operatively for mutton and wool. Take the case of that game shrewd self-made man, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, who said to me: 'Hutchings, you and your fellows have to diversify your crops and raise more cattle.' Sir Thomas has since retired from active business, but I am sure he would find himself well repaid if he were to go to Medicine Hat and start farming as well."

Despite many recent setbacks there is the fullest confidence in a spirit of optimism in the future of the Dominion and the Empire, and Mr. Hutchings said that the people of the West are looking forward with keen interest to the visit of that game shrewd self-made man, the Prince of Wales. He also mentioned that Sir Thomas Shaughnessy had in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway, Chateau and many other enterprises, and many others have been established in the West since the days of the railway was built. The shipment of cattle from Medicine Hat to Montreal was the first in which he had handled his consignment, and he was pleased to say that he was very much better than they were in Montreal. This experience and the inspection of these cattle had convinced me more than ever that they were quite the Canadian Pacific for with confidence that they will be absolutely and rapidly handled."

THREE WONDERFUL NATIONS
What Lies Behind the Budget

(London Truth)

Today's event in the House of Lords seems to me unlike an annual meeting of shareholders to receive the directors report on the affairs of a great concern and to give a forecast of the year ahead. We are all aware that dividends are not declared by profits. But how many investors ever trouble themselves to find out the details of the accounts the chance of gain. Taking it all in all, however, we wait to see what there have been many "bear" movements on the Stock Exchange of Britain, but we have refused to panic. There have been many false bargain-of-the-century in the present one, but there was never a more wonderful group of shares to be had for forty cents on the dollar. Those stripped down to the bone, while America shrug to her gold reserves, and there are enough in Europe's chaos—while all this went on Great Britain piled to the very limit of her resources.

As at the war, when she was the rock on which all the Allies leaned, so in the tempestuous period that has followed she stood four-square to the winds of disruption, unmoved, immovable. Even when the land crying injustice of a separate and unjustifiable peace of the American debt was added to her burdens, she did not whine although it meant the end of her hope of a reasonable relief British integrity held the wavering line of European credit itself just as surely as British courage held the line in Flanders when the weight of Germany was crushing Europe to death. Here and There

British Columbia's agricultural production last year amounted to a value $4,000,000 over the 1927 period, figures compiled by the provincial department of agriculture indicate.

A steady increase in the volume of business from Canada is recommended in the monthly statement just issued by the Bank of British North America. In April, 1926, 6,000,000 pounds of Canadian goods were exported as against $4,284 in April, 1925.

It is anticipated that hundreds and thousands of visitors to the Dominion Annapolis Valley, Nova Scotia, will help to celebrate the Dominion Day district's "Apple Blossom Festival" which falls on June 30th this year. The entire orchard belt, the Annapolis Valley, from Digby to Windsor, is dotted with apple trees, starting to shower white and pink blossom in the front part of June

Hon. Ramsay Mc-D. Mackenzie, Leader of the Liberal Party in the Commons, is now in the province for a short visit from Ottawa. He is expected to leave for Edmonton on Friday. A really interesting week-end is anticipated, as Premier Greenfield will motor to Edmonton to meet Mr. Mackenzie and will remain there over Sunday. Mr. Mackenzie is expected to be the guest of honor at a dinner to be tendered him by the Liberal Association of Edmonton.

The report of the steel situation in the world of given rather encouraging reports during the month of April, recently issued, records that April was a very good month for the steel industry, being the second best month on record. The report says that the steel industry is not the surprise of the modern era, but it will be used to a large extent in the future. Canada's output, it is stated, was 2,000 tons less than in March, and all seven tons less than in April, 1925. For May and June, however, reports suggest, as we have said before, a fully normal

Seventh Sunday in the way of railway mileage, and the Canadian Pacific Railway has now approved of the construction of 1,000 miles of railway in the Province of Saskatchewan.

Interviewed in Vancouver as to the success of the recent visit of the Empress of Australia on May 26th by the Empress of Canada, Mr. W. Grant Morden said:

"We engaged the services of the Empress of Canada's round-the-world cruise and she has put it up to the passengers the opinion of the service. I have had numerous letters coming from Victoria and without exception they all speak highly of the complete satisfaction with the ship, its officers and the entertainment provided and set out since the day left Vancouver, almost five months ago.

"That is good enough for me. It is simply a confirmation that the Canadian Pacific can successfully operate cruises in competition with any organization in the world and establish that company's standing as a credit to Canada. The 'Empress of Canada' has carried the Canadian flag over the seven seas and into most of the world's great ports, and the missionary work the has done for Canada in the various countries touched should not be lost sight of. As one result of the splendid success of this cruise, we have been approached with renewed interest by the Canadian Pacific cruises of next season. They include the West Indies, the Mediterranean and the Norway and Baltic. The Empress of Canada is being overhauled and fitted for the cruises, and will be in the greatest possible condition for her duties next year. The experience gained this year will greatly help in enabling us to make these cruises even more successful than those recently completed."

NORTH POLE NOT COLDEST PLACE and OSTRICHES DON'T BURY HEADS

Wilhelmr Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, writing to the London Spectator, sets out to demolish an enormous mass of hoary popular errors, to which most of us still cling, though we have vestiges of ignorance and suspected rags. The universal acceptance of the average individual as almost wholly ignorant is perhaps unfairly reviewed by the number of preposterous notions which these Britannic articles have ejected from men who are indignant that their time-honored beliefs should be attacked.

Stefansson's most striking assault on accepted notions is his denial that the North Pole is the coldest place on earth, and that the farther north one is the colder it becomes. He reminds his readers that the temperature of a climate depends not only on the distance north of the equator, but also on the altitude and the distance from the sea. Greenn always not an endearing refinement on temperature. Since the North Pole is in the sea, and since there is no land there to give altitude, it becomes possible that other regions away from the sea and even distance above sea-level should experience more extreme cold. This is found to be the case. There are regions in the United States and Canada where the cold is greater than at the North Pole. The lowest temperature that has ever been recorded in the northern hemisphere is in Asiatica in 84 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit; reasonable comparisons that at the Pole the mercury never falls below —50 degrees. But in Hammon Greenwood have registered —63 degrees; and in New York temperatures have been recorded almost to —40 degrees.

Stefansson's most striking assault on accepted notions is his denial that the North Pole is the coldest place on earth, and that the farther north one is the colder it becomes. He reminds his readers that the temperature of a climate depends not only on the distance north of the equator, but also on the altitude and the distance from the sea. But in Hammon Greenwood have registered —63 degrees; and in New York temperatures have been recorded almost to —40 degrees.

Mr. Stefansson's paper testified that Scandinavian scouts in the Canadian Arctic reported that Eskimos were in the habit of sweating before going out in the cold, and that they would drink oil. The Eskimos," he writes, "undoubtedly would be fond of fat, and might even drink oil if it were hot, but they have enough sense to cook that the rest of us. But the Eskimos are really supposed to heat cold their bodies by consuming fat [illegible]." He supports this supposition by information from Greenland to the effect that Eskimos houses in winter are so supercooled that the inmates suffer frequently all naked around their open fires, with the heat striking full upon their bodies. When they go outdoors they are obliged to vigorously rub it in all through their bodies to keep from freezing. Stefansson also refers to the fact that in the interior of Alaska, where the temperature is often 70 and 80 degrees below zero are not uncommon, and one of these has supported and 10 degrees, which is 22 degrees below the extreme cold at the North Pole.

Another popular belief that Stefansson counts in the familiar notion that ostriches bury their heads in the sand to escape being seen. The superstition, he says, is thousands of years old, but exists only among persons unfamiliar with ostrich habits. Dr. Caldwell Antinori, who has observed ostriches about 2,000 different words and phrases, and perhaps 12,000 when he counts them. But the Greenlander uses practically none. Even the Eskimo and English dictionaries contain many more words than an Eskimo dictionary would. But it is because we preserve great quantities of dead words in our books and learned science has given its highly specialized vocabularies with which only the scientist [illegible] is familiar. The Eskimo have no written language at all, we are told, in that every word combined in an Eskimo dictionary is in use today; and since it is constantly changing, they have no dead words known only to a few persons.

MEDICAL DIAGNOSIS BY RADIO IS NOW A POSSIBILITY SAYS ALBERTAN

Medical diagnosis by wireless telephone is the prospect held out by Professor Guglielmo Marconi in connection with the recent successful demonstration of the sound of the heart-beat of a man in Pittsburg to London, England.

"It is too much to suggest," Senator Marconi declared, "as in the present data a doctor will be able to diagnose by telephone." But this possibility may arise very naturally. A man in London, let us say, may receive exactly the sounds of a particular doctor who at that moment is in Montreal, or perhaps thousands of miles away. To get the doctor to the

Hilsebeck Must Pay the Extreme Penalty at the Fort Saskatchewan Jail on Tuesday, September 30

Condemned Man Takes Verdict Calmly

(Hanna Herald)

The verdict of murder was returned by the jury in the Hilsebeck case at 5.30 p.m. Thursday evening, June 19th, at Hanna. When the court opened the jury filed in and the foreman of the jury, A. L. Bowman, rose and read the verdict as given above etc., stated they had reached the verdict of murder. Each of the jurymen in answer to a call answered affirmative, stating that they had reached the verdict of murder. Then

If you can think of anything that can be done to beautify the town you love, go to it. Keep your eyeglass clear, patronize home industries, help your merchants so they can help you, clean up your trash once a year, pave your streets, if possible, subscribe for the local paper, don't borrow or lend it from your neighbor, if you differ from your neighbors and others like them, and your town does not improve, it will not be your fault.

It does not cost much to own a home in this town. Lots, splendidly located and of ample size, can be purchased for little money, while building lots sell at less than half their value. We have also good cooperative here, so that to own your own home is quite within the range of possibility. There are too many people who rent the home they live in, and as a result, little improvement is done from year to year. Make an attempt to be an owner, have and apply the rent you pay on the purchase price.

Youngs are usually savvy but when a young couple to your front door and begins to borrow your coffee mill, coffee for a chaser and the use of your frying pan and five to cook a meal, then you feel like handing him the whole house as a reward for his splendid "nerve."

A newspaper's dollars—where are they? A dollar here and a dollar there, scattered over nineteen small towns and countryside, all around the district. One man owes for his paper here, another there. The sum total would buy a new auto and we would invite the editor to spend the winter in California. We are poor men, but a newspaper out of its dollars, but some people are awful slow.

There is nothing wrong with Canada, when the mother of twelve children who spends her life in building up the nation, is entitled to all the mental evil by the subsidy cash advancing wrong, when a father of twelve, after more individual drudgery of the practical kind and a little less club exercise, would obviate conditions of that kind.

The young people depend on their fathers' money instead of through this world and their mother's means nothing everything right for the best.

In nine years out of ten in Alberta there is a race between the crops and dry weather. But this crops always get on in these nine years and perhaps less out in the tenth. This is because the soil in Alberta is of such a quality that crops can make a rapid come-back from unfavorable conditions. Alberta will have a fine crop this year, ranging from twenty bushels upwards, and the new season has opened, and the sun warmer than last year. This is not a dry year, even though sun is needed at the present time. In 1919, there was not enough rain to start the crop growing, but moisture had an average of two bushels per acre. Crops for the rain as central fall crops for June will range from an inch to two inches. July will come down with a smaller if not larger rainfall. If it is larger the crop will be above the average, and if it is about the same, the crop will be an average one. Prospects for a good price for wheat this year are bright. Twenty-eight bushels per acre in 1920 at 75 cents per bushel or thereabouts the farmer no bigger returns than 21 bushels per acre at $2 bushels per acre at $1.50.

No paper can be published without some patronage, and every man who has been in town is interested in keeping up the home paper if a running and for history is wanted, the home paper is expected to work for them. If a public meeting is called for any purpose the newspaper is expected to furnish a free notice. If any of the churches or societies have meetings the newspaper is called upon to give the necessary publicity. The news paper must pay the schools, and every man who is to advance the interests of the citizens and then give them a free notice when they purchase. And yet there is always a poor portion of subscribers who do not keep paid up.

CELEBRATION OF GOLDEN WEDDING

(Special to the Independent)

Invermere, B.C., June...—In the early part of the month Mr and Mrs. Andrew Ballantyne celebrated their golden wedding at the home of their daughter, Mrs. James W. Morland, Premier Ranch, Windermere. Mr and Mrs. Ballantyne are now well over the age of seventy years. Mr. Ballantyne is the last surviving member of a family of thirteen brothers and sisters, one of the last to predecease him having passed away a few months back. In addition to Mrs. Morland, eldest children and eldest son, Mr. Robert of Stettler, Alberta; at Britannia Beach, B.C.; and not far from Edmonton.

Before marriage Mrs. Ballantyne was Miss Isabella Sandilands, Robert Dick of Flocker, Scotland. The marriage was celebrated in Hamilton, Scotland. In his younger days Mr. Ballantyne was a noted all-round athlete and has many evidences of his prowess among those lines.

Weather conditions are some too cool so far, and crops are not coming on as well as could be wished. This has been the coldest June in the record books, we remember, there was a touch of frost in June but not enough to actually cool weather. Frost has been in evidence three nights during the past week; 4 degrees on 17th, 12 degrees on 21st, and 6 degrees on 23rd. Despite this the crops in the district look pretty healthy, although rather short. Grass good where moisture was and on cultivated fallow is now full have a good crop at harvest time.—If frost does not appear again. Garden crops have suffered badly through these frosts and some will have to be re-sown.

The golf competition is coming a lot of interest, and on the end up-to-date a little pottery as it is entered now at the moment. The second round must be played off before next week. They town all very favorably impressed with the north end, and some new players will be seen on the work, which should be of benefit to the district. The ladies are to furnish the delegates and committees have responded in the event which this added a little enjoyment to the place here of duty.

Under the auspices of the Gadsby Ladies' Aid there will be a Cooking Demonstration in the Town Rink on Saturday afternoon and evening, June 28th. The demonstration will be conducted by Mr. White, who is representing the Wear-Ever Aluminum Co., and he will cook meat, potatoes, cake and pancakes with a combination steam cooking utensil. The Ladies' Aid will serve the results of the demonstration, also a cup of coffee to each lady present. We understand Mr. White intends to put on a little comedy during supper, and the women will receive an aluminum pudding dish as a prize. We have to see a large turnout to-night at 8. Whilst he will have to steer speed on a coal to do some of the Gadsby ladies.

Though the initiative was taken by the Women's Institute for the meeting on Friday last, the bulk of the work of arranging for program, etc., fell to Mr. Jas. Todd and he did his part in his usual thorough fashion. The women folk were anxious he should get the credit for it and he made him the wise.

California Conditions Poor for Canadians Seeking Work and Likely to Become Worse

This article was written by H. G. Scott of Red Deer; it will show that Alberta journalist who is now making a tour of the United States and Pacific coast.

The occupation of Canadians from Western Canada in the United states has been a noticeable feature of recent years. In Canada the spirit of depression entered many Canadians to seek a livelihood in the States. Others of all the countries engaged in the war, came out of the struggle without being crippled. On the contrary the States, and portions largely the Western States, have enjoyed great prosperity during the last few years. Many have gone to the States as to get a start over and it is supposed to be considered as an unpleasant experience. Many Canadians may have to be fined in the near future.

Prosperity Not Shared

Let it be said at once that for our many hundred types of worker there is not that prosperity which is per se—and—hand with fast time. Every town and city has its unemployed and seasoned mannered workers. For a time number of highly organized trades are practically quiet, but are paralleled by practical expansion in other trades than mentioned so that there is still good employment for those who are prepared to do other work. Some of the trades which are quiet seem to be those which are highly organized already in excess of the demand. Those trades which are not highly organized or wholly organized, people, those who are organized, but are not in a position to demand the wages they would like to get. Those who are organized and in a position to demand the wages they would like to get, are all in city offices there is no unemployment. Those who are not organized, or who are not

Round the Country

Once in awhile we reproduce an editorial in the Toronto Globe, written by A. L. Borden, the editor, on a subject which is of interest to the whole country in the best shape to touch on agriculture, politicians and economics all in one. Sometimes and usually we disagree with Mr. Borden. However, we think our Eastern friends are entitled to know what is going on in this country from a country editor's point of view. Mr. Borden is a keen newspaper man, is not pretending to be a local newspaper editor, but is instilling into his readers ideas about that corner that Western land is supposed to be a heaven for all practical purposes and that the development of the country depends on permanent settlement, the success of will largely depend on whether is going to starve to death to satisfy the ambition of a limited few, or whether there is any opportunity to make a good living on a business proposition.

Speaking of the Calgary Industrial Exhibition they undoubtedly handled the agricultural end of the show in a creditable manner, but they sometimes make mistakes. Mr. Borden said they had no more than big vintage now-a-days. Outside the handful of those are only they seem to have little trouble and less knowledge into actual competition. For example, a reader would be foolhardy to depend on them for information about the prospects of wheat in Alberta—then pour on any pans. As we said in 1922 we were responsible for the first pans placed at any exhibition in the province—a Montreal writer was that showed the wheat to be 64 pounds. Since which has seen

The U.F.A. and the town are jointly hewer for the celebration on the 12th inst., and a splendid programme of sports and contests will be put on. So the prizes will be of more than the usual kind. We trust the winners to play this 24th in the evening. Everyone come and will play Gadsby a return game of baseball, etc., etc. Ballard there will be a dance.

We regret to hear that Mr. Hiner Underwood had the misfortune to lose his house and garage by fire last Wednesday night. It developed into a total loss and he had to have it opened up by the doctor. It is now recovering slowly.

Mr. W. J. Allen is enjoying a visit from his mother, Mrs. Foster, from Saskatoon, who is accompanied by a sister, Miss Allen, and a friend of the latter, Mr. Flynn, who drove them down in a car all the way from Saskatoon. They were up at the campsite on the river on Saturday and enjoyed a very much 24th hour to have them with him for a good long visit.

The pool tournament has been postponed down to the first part of July. Total playing J. H. Dresser. Mr. Yeld tried with Mr. Cockroft — three hundred rubbers to see who could play in the final. It should have been played out, long.

Mr. Dick Ellis had a rather serious misstep last week when his team ran away when hitched and the runaway stampede. Dick was thrown off and the wheel went over his leg. His broken bone, but considerable bruises. Lucky for Dick.

It was noticed a couple of tents on Cap. Beatty's place last week and they have imagined Cappy was rehearsing his old stuff very classic again. It was only a couple of "Reds" who were visiting friends for Cap. and Bill Allen, and they had their wives along. It's an interesting week of the weeds up there anyway, a deer being seen on Section 3 the other day, one of several that have been spotted round there in the last year or two.

Another member of our friend Jacob Beery's family has joined the matrimonial ranks. Miss Mabel being married in Stettler last week to one of the Hiner family of Red Willow. Raymond Hiner, to be precise. We wish the young couple much happiness.

I hear Sadie Collins is the latest to acquire a car and he is now speculating on a new Ford Touring. Be sure of those who drive to town, eh.

Mr. Harold Spencer has been named a lot of pain and discomfort through a bad tooth. It developed into a bad tooth and he had to have it opened up by the doctor. It is now recovering slowly.

Mr. A. E. Warren spoke in Gadsby Town Hall last Tuesday night to a fair sized audience. The general impression was that there is no room for Farmers' Organization in Alberta.

Mr. Dick Ellis had a rather serious misstep last week when his team ran away when hitched and the runaway stampede. Dick was thrown off and the wheel went over his leg. His broken bone, but considerable bruises. Lucky for Dick.

We have now finished two very interesting games of golf, one first contest yesterday and the overlapping of our Farmers' elevator. The latter was a big proposition and cost between three and four thousand dollars. We maintain this a thoroughly equipped, up-to-date institution, and we Told our patrons when given it fast as it can be weighed—delivering and they had their wives along. It's an interesting week of the weeds up

Presented President with Steel Spike

George Mann, pioneer track layer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has received a further appointment from Sir Edward Beatty, during the latter's recent visit in Vancouver. This meeting between one of the oldest employees and the executive head of the railway, which marked the forty-sixth anniversary of the turning of the first sod on the construction at Port William in 1872, on event at which George Mann was present.

Another interesting re-incidence in connection with the meeting is the fact that the S. S. Quebec, which carried the initial construction party, including Sir Hearn, from Sarnia to Port William, in May 1872, was owned and operated by the Beatty Steamship Line, of which Sir Beatty's father, the late Sir Henry Beatty, was president.

In 1881 when construction was begun on the last leg of the transcontinental line between Yale, B. C. and the Coast, Sir Hearn was given charge of the work, with headquarters at Emory, B. C. and when the last spike was driven at Craigellachie by Lord Strathcona in 1885 he took pleasure in presenting the spike to Sir Hearn, who in turn presented it to Sir Beatty as a souvenir of the part he had played in the building of the railway.

Mahomet could have sold your merchandise

You know the old story of Mahomet and the Mountain—when the mountain wouldn't come to him he, like a sensible man, grabbed his Panama off the hall rack and went to the mountain—he wanted it badly enough to go after it.

IF IT'S PRINTING WE CAN DO IT.

That is precisely the situation today—the mountain—BUSINESS—will not come to you—you will have to go after it and go after it hard. YOU have one great advantage over the prophet—he had to take the going as he found it—you can pave the way with advertising.

Round the Country

The "Independent" thought a month ago that the appointment of a railway commissioner by the Canadian Government of the Senate was tantamount to its passage in the near future. Later events have proved that this was not necessarily believed by the Senate at any rate. At present there is no sign of the measure coming up for discussion at this term. Consequently Independent readers will have to wait a little longer yet before they can get their new Hudson Bay line. Others in Alberta may be interested in the news that the Senate has also refused to consider the Alberta Natural Resources Act at present. The Senate has evidently decided to wait until the Dominion Government has come to some definite decision as to what it is going to do with the Crow's Nest Pass agreement. Then the Senate will be in a position to deal with the whole question of railway legislation in the West. Why were they thrown out and by whom? Some one please tell us.

We believe there were two reasons for this. First, the Hanna-Warland line was not only a farmers' line but a real line. It meant as much to the Dominion Railway by route as did those of Saskatchewan, and it meant also a big cost anything lower than the Premier with consequent saving in rail bills for the railway itself. The second reason was that the farmers' side of the case was persistently hid from the Senate members as far as possible way Newspaper reports claim that the honesty of the Senate chamber breathes loud as a "false contrary." They thought that those who had studied the bills going through, and home rested on their knowledge of the bills, were not in a position to answer any questions that there was not sufficient information regarding these bills, or what they had was not sufficient to warrant the "recommended." The worst part of the case in the matter of the Hudson Bay Railway branch. Partly because of ignorance and partly because of the line, a matter which would not be of any great benefit to the Senate and officials of the Board of Trade never rested on their oars. They got up a big petition signed by all the farmers along the proposed line. They got facts and figures on the amount of grain, livestock, and other products that would be shipped along the line. They interviewed the members of the Senate, and the Hon. Mr. Meighen. They got Senator Gouin to present a petition to the line be opened ears in the Senate, and the Senator wrote the local secretary that the information supplied by your Board was extensive information, and wholly satisfactory, and was precisely what was required for the purpose of interest to the attention of the Senate the merits of the bill."

Of course we are not reviewing the action of the Senate in throwing out the Saskatchewan bill. The Senate is a reactionary body and the members are not directly responsible to the people. But we have to take our chances as we find them and there was a method in the Senate's madness if they got a good bill, properly presented, and with much to recommend it, we do not fancy they would throw it out. Not unless they had no sense at all. Event reasonableness will win its way even with the Senate, and the foremost along the proposed Hudson Bay line should give the Senate Board of Trade due credit for their share of the work in putting the bill through.

LITTLE BREEZE OF WATER

It seems difficult for the average person to realize the enormous value of water that one small stream such as Big Valley creek can produce. Most people never think that every bit of water rushing down the creek must under uniform borders on the prairie, and that this enormous commodity never ceases the water users not to be watched, and that as a whole there is no need to control this stream of economy.

An expert recently investigated the water power of this drainage; his findings given below are amazing:

"The average horsepower person is therefore the water that can reach a turbine having an easy small clearance rating, a Matheson (30.) meter of considerable equipment has control of water power existing a twenty-dollar gold coin. Of these tiny holes in Section 9, the largest is only one-eighth of an inch in diameter; yet that little pinhole passes the largest flow in a day of twenty-four hours 1,650 gallons of water could be wasted through the aperture.

From an economy of this sort—"Another hole, so small that it will not impede the insertion of a pencil point, is said to be the potential wealth of 1,000 gallons a day, while a third hole, just large enough to receive a pin, nevertheless is being wasted to the tune of 100 gallons daily, or more than three and a half barrels. This corresponds to about 140 cubic feet of water a week."

(By C. C. Scallett)

What does a good land mean to a man? Is it a question of how much acres lands in particular, we sometimes hear people carelessly say. What does it mean to a town anyway? Well, first take inventory of the fellow who makes the remark. You may have reason to affirm the land question to go unanswered. But regarding the remark more seriously, let us say that a good land is one of the most useful things a town or community can possess. It is one of the best advertisements a town can have. Observers may something about the land when making a tourist path. Well, a good land will make all the roads leading to the town hottest paths, and thereby the town's other attractions is not uncertain. Every merchant is benefited by a good land. Many people come to town to attend the high-class entertainments and they somtime shoppers with this glimpses. The promoters of business enterprises and newspaper always have the satisfaction of knowing that their advertisements from their big town will be successful, because they have a first-class land to lead the parade and attract the crowd. A band composed of able players is a tower of strength to any town or section of country. It cultivates the public ear and the public eye; it must, and does it tickle at your coat lapel. Every enterprising citizen s d boost the land wherever he goes.

We are still waiting for that rain that has appeared so often to be just on the offing, but always escaped us. The crop situation has been made more critical by the scorching heat of last week, when the thermometer read 100 in the shade on two days, and even reall on in the night kept over 70. This is especially noticed in this district and it has had a very severe effect on all growing stuff, field or garden. If we get a good rain before the week, we may yet get a fair crop, otherwise it will be a disaster. The same condition exists in large portion of the province, north, east and west, despite the "optimistic reports" from Calgary Heart of us will agree with the editor of the "Independent" that these reports are far from reliable. It is like rubbing salt into our wounds. The best rain to amount to anything around here was on Thursday, June 9th. It came a very night also. There's hoping

I notice that Hallett has been entering his home in order; they have erected the gas' on a former found sites! Since then there have had two sports on opposite to beginning a couple of visitors who had been trimming but not but two well. We know not the length of appointing a fellow councillor and the authorities are concerned that contractor who came here and stake a number of homesteads will be unencumbered in the Fort Saskatchewan.

Some of our lads are making desperate attempts to get a ball team going but are finding it hard sledding. They played a Lee team yesterday and got badly used. Times were when we could hold our own, and then some with the best of them. We remember almost any month can trump our records with ingenuity Kong Hong, Stettler, Amphion.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hansel have opened a considerable addition to their neat little bungalow on the hill. They are busy now painting it a rich cream basement on which they will build a larger kitchen and modern bedrooms, the extension being 16 x 20. This will give them a very comfortable and comfortable home.

Quite a number of our citizens are talking of "calgary" excursion, Mayor and Mrs. Bankton have gone in their new sedan and may embark a trip to Banff or as well. The Mayor read of challenges to walk cold notes and stick bombs by mayors of other little hamps like Calgary and Edmonton and is willing to take a hand in the game. We would be prepared to bank him to the limit even if it meant vending a new debenture. Fred Draper, Fred Hoover, and the two Gaffney boys make up a little party that I would like to tie to for the big dodge. Where the two Fords are there is sure to be a good time We hope they all have a pleasant time.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett had a visit from their nephew, E. G. Gould, and wife, who motored up last week from Minneapolis. Ted was looking well here as he spent a year with the Canadian Forces in France. He is now married—and happy. The young couple have gone to Banff to Medicine where Mrs. Gould's parents reside. They have already been to Portland, Ore. Some tour to quite a long one

Don't forget Gadsby - Stampede on the 12th. A little smaller, maybe, but more exclusive. You take in chance here—a good time guaranteed.

Mr. Proc Twinten will look after Mr Hamilton's oil tank business while Friend Nish is savorting around Calgary

The golf tournament has been finished now, Mr J M. Drinnon winning the cup from Mr Todd. I believe a handicap is on the topic, to be launched soon. It promotes interest, and is good fun.

We hope to be able to announce the tourist campaign at of a modest sum in next week's news. Dr Bragner, Alfred Dorr, and Mrs Brayton are looking over the district and seem very favorably impressed We hope to have them as permanent residents.

Mr. H A. Burt is taking in the Calgary show and will also attend the Druggists' Convention Dave Pretty-cross is in the drug store as usual. Mr and Mrs Gramly are taking a rest on account of Wednesday.

WITH IS BUT DON'T KNOW IT.

The sober day there was an election on a measure as to say off of a big state in the Northwest. One candidate was well known as a dry and had served acceptably in office for the past term, but the gallonity who were appear only almost unanimous in predicting that he would be defeated and his rural carry off the honors. To their great surprise he was the only majority What was the explanation? The most candidate has voted in the state legislature, and a few days before election every woman voter in every ward was given by the which showed that he had voted almost every dry measure up for passage. A certain proportion of these women would doubtless have remained out probablebefore, but when it came to casting their ballot for a man who stood for the things that menaced their home and their children they unhesitatingly voted against him.

The moral to us of the rather stiff but suggestive mode by Kathleen Nestle, the novelist, at the recent Women's National Convention for Law Enforcement "Go out after the women. Get them to help and then keep it. Never up every single one of them. They outnumber the opponents ten to one. The results will be more full of them."

"The woman who is with us and does not know it" is the woman we are now going to work for by bringing in our membership campaign in the next few weeks—the woman who imagines she has a peculiar mental prohibition, who may declare she would not be a "fanatical dry," but who, after she is given a tactful, clear, eloquent explanation of what the W.C.T.U. stands for, and its program and plan, will give her membership fee, become an active working member, and wonder why she never has joined before.

The woman who thought she wasn't interested in prohibition and law enforcement, citizenship and politics, but talks—up a short but illuminating address with a radiant face who discovered that she has developed a keen interest in one of the most fascinating activities of life by neglecting to join the W.C.T.U. can be interested but time

Many a woman who is with us and doesn't know it" is living right on local level and is busy with her children, her home, and although not unmindful of civic, county and state affairs, is not actively interested before her. In

Unfortunate local officials on town councils and boards of trade, who have become slaves to their environment, and who, for some reason or other, have lost their sensitiveness to the moral issues involved in the liquor traffic and the saloon, are in dire need of the W.C.T.U. to help them find their consciences and save the reputation of their communities.

To the socially decent drinkers who never consider that every drop of liquor they buy illegally robs some of them instead with some man's purse, sorrow, and heartbreak, and perhaps with all of these elements. Do they never realize that they pay him for committing these crimes when they pay an exorbitant price for beer, whiskey, or whatever it may be? —Hon. Gifford Pinchot

Sunday Ban on Dancing

The Methodist ban upon amusements, except those "which cannot be indulged in the name of the Lord Jesus" was lifted by a five to one vote of the General Conference of Methodists in session at Springfield, Mass., on May 27. A minority report, forbidding dancing attendance on Sunday theatres, card playing and immoral amusements, was tabled by a 400 votes to 205. There was no debate. Dr. George Elliott, of Detroit, presented the majority report of a standing committee on the state of the church, and W. H. Short, of Fort Worth, Texas, spoke for the minority report. The adoption of the former removed restrictions against dancing, games of chance and all theatre attendance, in force since the Church's inception.

Constantly Improved

BUT NO YEARLY MODELS

Dodge Brothers Motor Car retains its basic design year after year.

Improvements are made constantly, but there are no radical, annual changes.

This policy protects owners from the rapid depreciation-loss which invariably attends the periodic announcement of new types.

It also enables Dodge Brothers to effect an appreciable saving in manufacture and this saving is faithfully returned to the buyer in the form of surplus value.

CROP REPORT

(July 15th.)

Below will be found a brief synopsis of telegraphic reports received at the Head Office of the Bank of Montreal from its Branches. The branch managers have complete and accurate knowledge of each local situation and are in close touch at all times with all sections of the surrounding country.

General

Rains, following a week of exceptionally hot weather, have improved the situation in the Province generally in East and South-west Alberta and a few parts of Saskatchewan, but conditions in Central West are in the shot blade, and while the season is backward, the conditions in the Peace Province on the whole are fairly satisfactory. In Ontario the crops are looking well, but good growth is now being made. In Quebec the outlook on average hay crop is reported. In some parts of the Maritime Provinces rain is needed, but crops look forward generally. In British Columbia hot dry weather continues, and rain is badly needed.

Prairie Provinces

Edmonton District—The whole district has been benefitted by heavy rains in the past week, which has given a spread of the hottest weather experienced in this district. Calgary District—Rain is needed in northeastern area, but generally speaking prospects continue good; wheat well in short blade and full eye headed out. Lethbridge District—Recent rains in south crops prospering favourably; conditions somewhat improved in Rain fell [illegible] this week; crops in fine condition. Saskatoon District—Exceptionally hot weather with insufficient rain has been experienced in this district this week. While backing rains, prospects still look fair to good. Harvesting in earliest crops may now expected in about two weeks. Moose Jaw District—Temperatures continue nearly to last preceding. Favourable rains past and the week. Prince Albert District—Crops rapidly ripening as well; conditions good. Saskatchewan—Winnipeg District—Local and south-eastern districts have had copious rains during the past week. The condition of country points is [illegible] generally.

Province of Quebec

Intense heat generally all week of pasture; an average crop; hay is expected. Roots are looking well, but will require rain soon. Corn is backward, but is looking well. Harvesting will begin in a few weeks. Fall wheat is looking fine; crops are growing rapidly. Oats are looking well generally. Potatoes are looking fine; crops promising. Pasture is generally fair; fruit prospects are good.

Province of New Brunswick—Crops are looking well, but crops generally are suffering from lack of rain. Hay, Swede and Fruit are looking well. Pasture conditions are excellent. The August apple crop is promising. Grain varieties are plentiful everywhere.

Province of British Columbia

Haying is well under way; the yield will be a little below average. A good grain crop is expected in the Fraser Valley, more here than. Grain prospects are causing serious damage in the Okanagan and dry belt. Potatoes are also suffering from drought; fair yield. Apples and pears are rising up well, but will be a short crop. Small fruits are giving a fair yield. Hops are in good condition. Pasturage poor. Good crops indicated in northern district.

British Premier Favors Cross-Channel Tunnel

(Daily Telegram)

The railroad tunnel under the English Channel, linking England with the European mainland, which is the present engineering feat of its kind in the world, has at last shown signs of entering the sphere of practical politics. In turn of the statesmen who in the House of Commons on Thursday in the House of Commons. The British Government will be able to make definite credit for assuming this plan for the development of work—on representations which has been under discussion for at least half a century by Premier MacDonald announced he had undertaken to receive a representative deputation on the subject in the near future. He is willing to do everything he can, the Premier added, but first should have unanimous reports on the matter, says the London correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune.

Asked whether the Government proposed to go on and [illegible] reports on the project, the Premier replied that the financial supply and Government circumstances have changed completely, and it is impossible for him to express an opinion on this proposition in view of the "modern conditions." If the Government should change its attitude the channel scheme there will be no difficulty in getting financial support for it, as a recent eminence among all parties in favor of it. There were 400 members of the House supporting the project, as a result of which a report was decided on their attitude, and only 73 in the opposition. Of these 73 three-fourths were against the scheme on financial grounds. Since then great progress has been made in the construction of the channel tunn

The Alberta Legislature is a plodding place. He has to be from constituency and has to bathe the dear old lady in the same philanthropical manner that he took the corp contract at noon.

The C.N.R. authorities should somehow stop the practice of the Hamilton-Weston line night owner in order to get the record in the world. In the meantime, will who will lose their crops this year. Two months' wait will tell them over the winter, and the Hamilton-Weston scientist about ten days away from better seen, in the form of extension from the farmers, than by the present construction at once. Many of those that have been approved, if the C.N.R. officials' failure to do the grading of this road, the public will come to the conclusion that it didn't matter anyway if the road was built this year or not.

Let us remember that a general average of 25 bushels of wheat for 1924 is the average of many of the States of the Union, and those times the average of some of them. It is only more than double the average of Manitoba. If we get two crops in one in 1925, we may get about during 1924, and work with the ambition of getting two crops in one in 1925. In the meantime let us remember that there is nothing to prevent anyone farming this year or any other year, provided we conserve the feed surplus of one year to make up the deficit of another year Farming, like every other business, rests on the law of averages, and the worst can be met with the worst year.

Indian Treasure Hidden at Ben Echo

Chief Ben Echo, who is said to be hidden ...

[illegible] ... the Indian Chief Ben Echo, who is said to have buried a large amount of his treasure in the vicinity of Ben Echo Lake, a few miles south of Stettler. Many years ago, when the Indians were still living in the district, they were in the habit of burying their valuables in the ground, and it is said that Ben Echo buried a large amount of his treasure in the vicinity of the lake which bears his name. Many years ago, when the white men began to settle in the district, Ben Echo left his camping ground and went to the north, and for many years he was not seen in the district. Then, one day, he appeared on the scene, and remained for a few days, and the streams were the favored resorts for the Indians, and he was observed to be engaged in some activity which left them somewhat mystified.

It was not known for a long time what Ben Echo was doing, but it is now believed that he came back to the district for the purpose of digging up some of the treasure which he had buried there many years before. It is said that he was successful in finding a large quantity of silver carried in the pouches of the saddles of the horses, and also a number of valuable articles of jewelry, which he had buried in the same way for protection. It is said that he left the district with a large quantity of silver carried in the pouches of the saddles of his horses, and that he was never seen in the district again. Whether he ever reached his destination with his treasure, although some people believe that he did, they record a great victory of the Iroquois over the Hurons, the details of which have been written in some ancient myths and.

Another interesting interpretation claims that the carvings of the Big Horn are trail marks, records of the journeys of individuals, families and nations of the Iroquois who had built the mound in the locality. Some of the carvings, and that the entire mound was known in the Iroquois language as the "Big Horn" and that the entire mound was known in the Iroquois language as the "Big Horn" and that the entire mound was known in the Iroquois language as the "Big Horn"

Ninety Per Cent of Business Section Destroyed or Damaged

Castor Alta., July 21—Damage estimated at $250,000 was done by fire which destroyed or damaged more than 90 per cent. of the business district of the town of Castor, 175 miles east of Calgary early Sunday morning. Eight residences, including that of the Boys Town Band, were also consumed, bringing the total number of buildings destroyed to 40. Only the residences escaped a fire that started in a restaurant on the east side of the main street and the property destroyed is practically all on that street. Three pipes were completely destroyed. National Bank of Canada, Bank of Montreal, Imperial Bank, Lee Bros. laundry, Mc... hardware store, Mc... Co., Ltd., general store, ... Co., general store, ... REAL CHIVALRY

Somewhere there was laid upon the writer's desk an editorial entitled "The National W.C.T.U." Some portions of this letter, written by a gentleman friend, out of the full sense of the heart of a lad away from home and well versed in the ways of the world, are worthy of reproduction. We are sharing with you, our mother hearted constituency. His appeal begins "Dear Women" and continues: "I have just finished reading four long pages headed 'Real Chivalry.' I was glad to read those four pages. I am a Caucasian—five and one half feet in height, (as I came from a farm) I am surrounded with all kinds of girls—some whom I adore, some whom I if I were not living in a clergyman's family, I might think I might but as it is I just keep aloof, toward others I am as courteous as one can be one to another as they appear to us I have always thought girls' ways beyond did not belong to the same world with myself. I have gone over the leaflet 'Real Chivalry' I did not intend to look at it, but—you see the result is in my heart I feel that I am being what you would call real chivalry to me and I know that my mother trusts me with girls. —Perhaps I am foolish, but I am sure I am only one among millions in the United States who feel as I do. I do not feel that I am a 'prig' though I have heard that name attached to many others as well as my life; but I believe that comes to every one sometimes. Thanking [illegible] for the leaflet I am—

Evidently the leaflet of which that correspondence is the illustrious author is in common circulation, also to our readers.

Dr. PARKER DEFENDS NEW GENERATION

The younger generation, often the target of attack by reformers and moralists, was defended by speakers at the recent convention of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations. Among those who spoke in their defense was Dr. Valeria H Parker, National W.C.T.U. director of Social Morality. "If with the greater freedom of youth, and opportunity calling them on every hand, they seem to show a false idea

July 17 Up to noon today 1,500 polls had reported the result of yesterday's prohibition plebiscite out of 1,561 polls in Saskatchewan bringing the majority against prohibition to Rs. 1.35 The figures showed 64,139 for prohibition. 39,202 against; 62,136 for the "A" clause and 54,000 for "B."

Regina Beach, July 17 — By a majority which early had advanced to 25,000 and promised to go to 30,000 when the 1,000 unreported polls had been heard from, prohibition was renounced by Saskatchewan yesterday after four years' experience with the Saskatchewan Temperance Act. At the same time electors answered by their preference for straight government control of the sale of liquor through official vendors, as opposed to such control announced by provincial government, by a majority of 9,845.

TEN YEARS OF A TOUR

What are the qualifications of a democratic leader?

The chairman of the department of journalism of the University of Kansas has recently conducted the following contest: to name the ten most democratic leaders of the country. Here is a community with the idea of possibly settling in Kan.

1. Administrative. Is it pretty well legal?
2. Establishment. Is it well managed?
3. Progressive. What are its principles?
4. Free. Is it free from boss rule?
5. Economical. Is it economical?
6. Active. Is it active?
7. Beautiful. Is it beautiful?
8. Business. Is it a good business?
9. Democratic. Is it democratic?
10. Progressive. Is it progressive ahead?

A business man who is not interested in his community, who is not willing to support all movements for its betterment, who is not willing to boost for the town in which he lives, who is not willing to do his share in making it a better place in which to live, is a poor citizen, and a community composed of such citizens will soon die.

Are you a booster or a knocker? Are you for your town or against it? Are you willing to do your share in making it a better place in which to live? Are you willing to do your share in making it a better place in which to live? Are you willing to do your share in making it a better place in which to live?

REPORT OF VANCOUVER LABOR RIOT BY PROVINCE ALBERTA GOVERNMENT CONTENTIONS

A varied variety for the Alberta Government and those who supported it in the demand for investigation by the Royal Grain Enquiry Board into certain conditions surrounding the administration of the Government elevator facilities at Vancouver, to the extent to which the report of the said enquiry is described in an official statement issued by the Government at Edmonton.

The report of the enquiry board, in the opinion of the Government, reveals full justification for its enquiry, and justifies particularly the contention of the Government and others that conditions with respect to grain handling facilities at Vancouver were in an unhealthy state, and that certain skilled charges were made by members of policy of the control and operation of the grain elevators at the coast, if the interests of the grain producers, as those most vitally concerned, were to be fully protected.

The report makes certain valuable recommendations, many have suggested by the Alberta Government Council, and the Government will proceed to press the federal authorities to put these recommendations into immediate effect. The Government is being supported in this by the Edmonton Board of Trade and other civic organizations.

Eighth Fortnightly Crop Report

Issued by Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, Alta., July 30th, 1924

It is now established as a practical certainty that Alberta's grain crop will be below average, taking the province as a whole. Farmers' fields will yield from a half to a two thirds crop in most districts, with a few localities producing a better yield. So far as the remainder of the crop goes is concerned, the yield will be less than fifty per cent., and in certain districts the failure will be very light [illegible]

The most favourable reports now received are from the more central and northern districts, and [illegible] these reports are cautiously optimistic as compared with the pessimism of a fortnight ago. Very late rains have considerably improved the prospects, and the grain crops have benefitted to a certain extent, while the feed situation has been greatly improved.

The extension with a radius of 10 to 20 miles of Edmonton and especially along the Canadian National lines is satisfactory, and some very good grain crops will be harvested in this territory, particularly from the summerfallow. The prospects are improved and the prospects for good feed crops are much brighter. The rains have come too late, however, to save the hay crop, which is very light.

In the south-eastern district, where the grain crops gave promise of heavy yields a few weeks ago, there has been a period of hot, dry weather, attended by any appreciable extent by rains, with the result that the yield will be considerably reduced. The crops on the irrigated areas are doing well.

In the south-eastern district there will be very little grain crop harvested, and the most cursory observation there has been no precipitation to speak of for some considerable time, and the grass yields will be light.

Late rains have improved the feed situation in the Peace River and Grande Prairie districts and have brought along later sown grain fairly well.

Wheat, oats and barley over practically all the province are heading out. Harvesting is reported to commence about August 20th in southern districts and a week earlier in central and northern districts.

GADSBY NEWS

With a few moderate showers, Saturday so far the last two weeks, things seem to look more hopeful and men as I write we are having a real good rain—it's now nothing. It is too late for the crops but lots seem to be getting a second crop of weeds. Some fields we have seen look like a forest of weeds.

DONALDA

The Agricultural Society surely has had no highest hopes gratified by the splendid patronage of their sports. The day was all that could be expected from the standpoint of both weather and crowd. A splendid variety of sports keenly contested by many entries were run off and the prizes well distributed. The ladies' dining hall was well patronized and will realize a neat sum for their magnificent work, and they wish to thank very heartily all those who have helped so generously and smilingly in their appreciated services. We have not gathered all the facts regarding the results of the sports but they will appear in the next issue. The refreshment booth, though ordering a heavy supply, was almost to vanishing point early in the afternoon.

The basketball game played between the girls of Hastings Coulee and Donalda girls was won by the latter with a good margin.

The baseball tourney in more ways than one has come and gone. Revd H. Hill who officiated the Baptist organization. All voted having the best time yet and were home tired and happy.

The proceeds from the Ladies' Aid department and the Agricultural Society will be announced later.

The new grandstand is well under way and it will not be long until they will be moving into larger and more suitable quarters.

The school teaching staff will consist of all lady teachers—Miss Fleming of Camrose, principal; Misses Person, of Edmonton; and Miss Cavelier, of Red Deer.

Red Cross contribution boxes have been placed and will soon count your kind and generous gift to this very deserving society.

Wedding services, Aug. 16th, will be held at Red Willow, Salems Hoomi and the Union Church. Everybody cordially invited.

WEDDING

A very pretty home wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Vankleek on Monday, August 4th, when their daughter Treasa Livina was united in marriage with Mr. Frederick George Newbery, of the Imperial Oil Co., Calgary. The ceremony was performed at 10.30 a.m. by Rev. A. A. Lytle, Miss Alice Vankleek acted as bridesmaid while Mr. Carl Vankleek assisted the groom. Numerous gifts for the bride, an elaborate wedding dinner, the usual toast to the bride and response by the groom and Mr. and Mrs. Newbery left on the afternoon train for Calgary, where they will reside. Before leaving for the best wishes of a host of friends go with them.

STETTLER'S BIG FAIR WAS VERY WELL PATRONIZED IN SPITE OF BAD WEATHER

SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL FAIR NOT A SUCCESS FINANCIALLY OWING TO DISMAL RAIN DISPOSITION ON SATURDAY

The Seventeenth Annual Fair would have been a pronounced success had the weather permitted. An expenditure on the Fair Association that is consigned and pledged for the welfare of the people a founder on a platform that deserves success and all institutions that are organized to benefit or entertain the people, seems are framed on more commercial lines than our Agricultural Society as prime purpose being to adopt the people to raise more and better domestic animals of all breeds as well as to promote the growth of better field grains. There is no other allotment doing more to foster the one and the other.

Stettler is adjoining a locality as a centre for a good district fair without having good to say to-day in the future of a large agricultural people, both with premiums and buildings conveniently located and so arranged that the department do not conflict with each other giving those interested an opportunity to readily find the locations of the features which they particularly desire to see. Fairs often are complements in physical arrangement, thus causing dissatisfaction to patrons.

The active management of the exhibition was most efficient under F. T. Colby, who with his assistants and associates worked in a fair in keeping with the importance of the city community from which it received its name. It is pleasing to note that worthy of outside aides. Much time in mind the arrangements were made and surrounded in obtain no attractions for the main-stay and the late course and it is to be regretted that the inclemency of rain prevented so many people from being entertained.

The first day's entertainment was under the auspices of the local Elk's Club, who so worthily entertained the soldiers. At 11 o'clock the largest parade ever seen in Stettler, in which about seven hundred children took part, under the direction of H. A. Blair and assistants and led by Kindred Baker Goodfield, proceeded from the school grounds to Alberta Avenue and Main Street, thence to the fairgrounds, the music being furnished by the Scotia Band. A large number of cars gaily decorated for the occasion took part in the parade, noticeably the Central Garage Team, decorated with the elk's head in front and rear, which said idea taking. Over one hundred tickets were given to the children, as well as ice cream, pop-corn, candy, and soft drinks. Ice cream and cotcets were engaged in, every child entering being given a ticket. H. A. Blair, Jos. McElhorn, E. Hogue, J. Thompson and Jack Bradley were assisting in this work. The day was concluded with a boxing tournament at the rink, on account of which no games elsewhere in this paper.

The Ladies' Cricket Club at the fair, when approximately 1200 people entered the grounds. A splendid lunch counter was displayed in the cookery and articles exhibited as well as in the Women's Institute and the Red Cross Society exhibits.

It is the result at the entrance to the grounds were limited the show horses, cattle, sheep and swine, the division of this stock being provided with commodious accommodation. Accommodation was also provided for poultry and the speed horses.

The fair was officially opened by Major Hanson, who spoke in words of encouragement to the people and predicted the early return of more prosperous conditions for the agriculturist.

At the evening session Mr. Speakman, secretary of the Red Deer exhibition, reciting as an example the Fair Association and its efforts.

Host among those who won the high character and quality of the horses and cattle exhibited, and increased in the number and class of the entries of stamps prevalent in the district, is the latter class commendable being taken by Jasper Service, a competitive young man, resident in this district. Brother of Joseph Lonergan, Stettler

Portage la Prairie Man., July 31 — The death took place suddenly last night of a well-known Portage young business man, in the person of Hamilton Lonergan, son of the late John and Mrs. Conlon, of this city. The funeral will take place on Saturday morning from St. John's Catholic Church.

Deceased was born in this city in 1895 and after receiving his education in the Portage schools, entered business with his father and, a couple of years ago, with his brother John, took over the business.

He was on his usual health yesterday and last night went to a restaurant for a light lunch before returning. While there he was taken with a coughing spell and was taken home and, not being able to stop it, a physician was called, but he expired in about fifteen minutes death being caused by the bursting of a blood vessel.

Deceased in early life was very active in sports and was one of the local boosters for the sporting fraternity. He was a member of the Elk's Club. Besides his mother he is survived by five brothers and one sister, they being Joseph of Stettler Alta., Anthony J. of Winnipeg, Mrs. A. Berton, of Glenboro and John, Louis and William all of Portage

Gordon Buckle Passes Away

Sympathies are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Buckle in their sorrow caused by the death of their son and brother Gordon, after a short illness on August 2nd at the age of nearly eight.

Early in the World War Gordon heard the sounds of preparation, returned to the Seventy-eighth Battalion, and accepted the overseas call assumed twice on the gory fields of France, the last time having to the left lung from which he never fully recovered.

Early last spring he developed paralysis of the left arm and leg due to exhaustion caused by a vegetation off the heart valve. He was removed to the University Hospital at Edmonton where he received the best and kindest attention by the military authorities, but could not recover

BOB FOX OF STETTLER PUNCHES HIS WAY TO VICTORY OVER STOKES

Under the auspices of the local Elk's Club a boxing tournament with a highly entertaining program was staged at the rink on Thursday night, in which it was clearly demonstrated that there was a spart and exercise needs no apology, and any criticism of the game has been brought about by the doings of unscrupulous persons connected with the sport and not by the sport itself. Other games, wrestling, football, hockey or LaCrosse are no more than boxing, and it is practically impossible for two well trained athletes in a properly staged ring to seriously injure each other.

The main bout to decide the light heavyweight championship proved a big surprise to the fans, as Bobby Fox, a local boy, proved a strong favorite. Fox clearly demonstrated in every round that he was in much better physical condition and showed the result of his training in every bout fought, and at the end of the bout showed no signs of distress whatever. Fox fights at 165 pounds and is a boy with Jim Gorman and the Stettler team looks forward to him gaining a good account of himself.

The first bout after the grade was a whirlwind affair between the grade boy in which non fought in the pool, just as other fittings were done in a grade way, but as the general day it was developed into a rather interesting bout of limited skill and will continue to grow in sport and sportsmanship.

Fred vs. Stebbins

Referee—Tom Gormly, Cudely.

In Fox's Corner—J. C. Stebbins and Fred Fox.

In Stokes' Corner—Clarence and Harry Stokes.

Fox weighed 175 pounds; Stokes weighed 160 pounds.

Bobby won the first to enter the ring, closely followed by Fox. Both men were given a good reception by a large and orderly crowd estimated at about five hundred and fifty. After the preliminary announcements of time given by the seconds, the men were called to the centre of the ring by the referee for a conference and the explaining of instructions.

Round 1

They shake hands in the centre of the ring. Stokes leads a left to the face, both miss, but was fleeted in his own corner by a right from Fox to the side of the head. Stokes was quick on his feet, falling into a clinch using Fox's blocks for the body. Fox and Stokes was short with a left to the jaw. They fell into a clinch in which both blows were exchanged. The referee breaks them, they fight for corners of the ring with Fox effectively using some severe punishment. Fox and Stokes. They were sparring at the bell. Fox's round.

Round 2

Fox rushes from his corner taking the aggressive. Fox misses a left swing. Stokes attempts to a right to hold Fox, who hammers him about the body. They break and Fox misses a right which Stokes cleverly ducks, but he landed Stokes on the jaw with another right. They clinch Stokes to clinch. Fox misses Stokes with a left to the jaw. Fox then lands Fox and a right, and Stokes pins round from falling to the canvas by the

The Value of Ready Money

WHEN the Dominion of Canada Loan was offered to the public in October, 1923, most of the $300,000,000 worth of bonds were purchased in a few days.

The investment was eagerly desired by everyone—but reserved by those who had ready money.

Ready money shows foresight and determination, the two most important qualities necessary for success.

Electricity Runs Everything

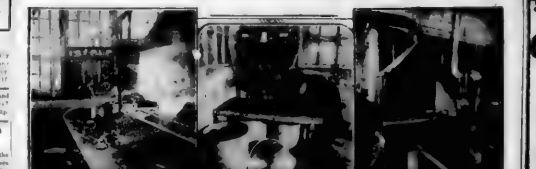
A dredge which is a wonder, from the standpoint of electricity, is the newest possession of the United States mint. Electricity drives the propellers, operates the dredge mechanism, opens and shuts the hopper doors, pumps water and fuel oil, compresses air for blowing the whistle, makes ice and maintains cold storage, heats the cabins and engine rooms, keeps the fuel oil at proper temperature, ventilates every part of the ship, runs the machine shop tools, raises and lowers the anchors, operates the winches and capstans, heats and cools the water. Every movement of the ship is controlled in the pilot house. The navigating officer steps, starts, changes the speed and reverses the ship without signalling the engine room.

Electro-plating a Canadian Railway Operation



Photograph No. 1 shows the first step in the process of electro-plating. The parts to be plated are suspended in the solution of copper sulphate, and the electric current passed through the solution. Photograph No. 2 shows the next step in the treatment of the rods. The parts are now suspended in a solution of cyanide of copper and zinc. This is heated by steam coils, and the electric current flows through the solution in the same manner as in photograph No. 1. Photograph No. 3 shows the next step in the treatment of the rods. The parts are now suspended in a solution of cyanide of copper and tin. This is heated by steam coils, and the electric current flows through the solution in the same manner as in photograph No. 1. Photograph No. 4 shows the rods in the process of being rinsed in a solution of cyanide of potash, which is maintained in the container shown in No. 4. Photograph No. 5 shows the rods in the process of being rinsed in hot water. Photograph No. 6 shows the rods in the process of being dried in sawdust. Photograph No. 7 shows the rods in the process of being inspected and polished. Photograph No. 8 shows the rods in the process of being assembled. Photograph No. 9 shows the rods in the process of being packed in boxes ready for shipping.

Equipment on the Trans-Canada and other Canadian trains have often been electro-plated in Canada, but the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has now completely free of the traveling public an operation the smell of which has been responsible for many complaints. The new plant, which is located at Angus shops, Montreal, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has quite an extensive plant where the metal and woodwork is put together and painted. The method used by this Company is a unique one but seems very effective.

The articles to be plated are first chemically cleaned, after which they are usually dried in a hot room, but when they are discovered in a chemical solution which varies with the metal to be deposited. The electric current, which is of low voltage, is connected to the positive pole to the metal plate or plates, and the negative to the bar from which the articles to be plated are suspended. As the electric current flows from the positive metal to the negative, it carries with it the metal dissolved in the solution, and deposits it in a thin coating on the articles suspended from the negative bar. The thickness of the coating is governed by the length of time the articles are left in the solution. The articles are then rinsed in hot water, dried in sawdust and polished on revolving brushes. The operations are carried out in a series of tanks, which are arranged conveniently with the articles to be plated in the order in which they are to be treated. Each tank is provided with a steam coil for heating the solution, and the tanks are covered with hoods to carry away the fumes. CHINA AND HER HAIR NET INDUSTRY

Few people realize that China is one of the world's centres of the hair net industry. Those who do not, can reason why this part of the globe has attained such distinction. Investigations have shown that the Chinese, both men and women, grow more hair per capita than the natives of other countries, and as there are many millions of industrious living in China the natural production is tremendous. Experience has also shown that Chinese hair is stronger and readier to receive the necessary treatment with chemicals better than the hair of most other races. In addition, labor can be obtained so cheaply that this factor in addition to those mentioned makes China an unusually suitable country in which to develop the hair net industry.

But Chinese hair is not unique. Strength of Chinese bonds and made into nets for the mass-operating public. Not all of it is sorted or graded according to length and quality As it is coarser than that grown by other races, its use is reduced by certain chemicals so that the finished nets will be of sufficient fineness. Bleaching is necessary as the greatest demand is for the various shades of brown, but even for black nets the hair is bleached dyed. A visit to any store will reveal the fact that nets are made in many colors from brown and black. The processes through which the hair go from the beginning to the end are carefully kept out to render it perfectly safe for wear on any Canadian head.

Until comparatively recently the various steps following the grading and sorting had to be performed in Europe as on this continent, which entailed double the cost of labor, as many thousands of miles before it got back again to China. Even with such great disadvantages it paid manufacturers to follow this plan as labor is so cheap in the Orient. However, it is now possible for the entire process to be carried on in China. This achievement of modern industry should have the effect of reducing the cost of hair nets to the consumer.

When once the fibre has been properly treated, the making of the nets presents little difficulty. The [illegible] are largely employed and are paid very little for their labor as far as our standards go. They receive only an equivalent of one cent for each net which often contains as many as a thousand knots so they have to work pretty hard in order to make a living. A skilful girl can turn out about ten nets a day, which will bring her enough on which to live and possibly a little to save.

Manufacturers have found from long experience that nothing is quite so satisfactory for nets as human hair. Several attempts have been made to find a substitute for this fibre, but the products have never possessed the same pliability and power to blend with the hair.

ICE CREAM MAKING A BIG INDUSTRY

There were 6,163 barrels of flour used in making ice cream alone in Canada in a single year, according to a report just published by the Dominion bureau of statistics. The other material used in the industry during the year 1922 were: 86,586 pounds of sugar, 11,260 pounds of gluccose and 25,000 of shortening. The value of all the materials, including containers, was $136,411. Total value of the product was $383,

THE BEAVER WATERPROOFS HIS OWN COAT

We do not wonder much at the fact that fish can stand it to be wet all the time; they are strictly aquatic creatures. But how about those animals that are organized for a dry land existence, yet spend a large part of their time in water? How, in the polar bear, the mink, muskrat, otter and beaver manages to keep the internal arguments dry and warm enough to prevent fatal chilling?

Nature takes care of these problems in various ways. Perhaps the most interesting thing of its kind—positively astonishing, if you have not known it—is the way the waterproofing methods of beavers. Everyone is more or less familiar with the "beaver" hat and its clothing articles of the beaver, and we know how it is the water a great deal endured. The fact is that the beaver is found in the nature of his coat and his method of using it. His fur is of two kinds—coarse, reddish-brown hair outside and underneath, an inner fur of soft down.

The inner fur provides warmth, and the outer hair is intended to keep the outer fur dry. Let us tell you in the words of Professor Thompson, how this oiling is done: The front feet of the beaver are much like human hands, having long slender fingers. The nails are long and slightly curved, so as to be serviceable diggers and in the handling the trees, sod and stones which he uses in his work. The hind feet, on the other hand, are very large and strong and are fully webbed for swimming. The nails on the hind toes are rather short and stubby, in comparison to those of the fore feet, as they are not used for any especial purpose. The beaver's hind feet have five toes. On the next to the outside toe the nail is slit or divided and at the first consideration one would naturally suppose that to be a fault. However, this split toe-nail really explains the animal's waterproofing process. Connecting with this separated toe-nail are tiny ducts which lead from the oil sacs. In waterproofing his coat the beaver simply scratches the toe-nail for a moment or two, and the oil flows from the ducts and is distributed over the entire surface of the beautiful coat. The beaver is very particular about the condition of his coat, and is constantly combing it over the entire surface of the beautiful coat. The beaver is very particular about the condition of his coat, and is constantly combing it over the entire surface of the beautiful coat.

HOMES LOSING THEIR PERFUME

Californians Use Produced Exquisite Flowers but Scent Is Fatal

Although the most beautiful roses in the world are grown in England people are saying that the delicious old scent is gradually departing. No doubt the modern rose has suffered by fragrance owing to the special attention that has been paid in recent years to shape, size and color. Exquisite flowers have been produced, but it is asserted that in many cases the scent is now so faint that it would be impossible for gentlewomen of the old school, once so gifted in the arts of the conservatory, to distil perfume from them. We have many a sweet variety—such, of course, A Surrey garden was aflame with fire coral M. Arthur and its ravishing perfume penetrated every nook and corner, but a quite new English strain with a fragrance that marked the old "fashioned type would be welcomed by those who are always eager to add another variety to their gallery of fine beauties.

It appears that the rose is not the only flower that has lost some fragrance of the fashioned smell and magnetic are indicated, although there has been no special effort apparently to obtain flowers of great size and striking appearance in their case. The curator of the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew has described as a mystery the disappearance of scent in the British plant which, he says, occurred so far back as 1880.—From the Overseas Daily Mail.

IOWA FARMERS ARE WATCHING ALBERTA LAND

"You have a lot more to be thankful for up here in Alberta than many of you seem to think," said C. L. Hedley, of Des Moines, Iowa, a real estate agent of that city, who was in conjunction with the immigration department of the Canadian Pacific Railways, and who is a visitor to Calgary, staying at the home of his sister, Mrs. C. Reddon, of 218 seventeenth Avenue West.

Mr. Hedley is not confined here on a trip in the northern part of the province, and has just had time to run a man from Des Moines, whom he had brought with him, and had great opportunities of seeing what is to be developed through the country. He has been struck with the great deal of land bearing crops which are good for fattening cattle.

"A lot of the crops I saw are going to produce a good average yield, I can warn," he said, "though of course there are places which have missed the rain and have been damaged by the heat. I am in a good position to judge crops," said Mr. Hedley, "as I have seen the conditions existing in the States, and I myself farmed at Liberty for four years some twenty-four years ago."

Mr. Hedley said that the corn crop in Iowa was estimated to be a normal per cent crop, but doubted whether it would go over sixty per cent.

"With land there, which has been sold in the past for $400 to $700 an acre and selling today under the hammer for $250, it means there are many men looking toward Canada for another start," he said. "We have been reserving as many as thirty to forty enquiries a day about Alberta, and I think the fall, or at latest next spring, should see immigration boom to normal, and I see no reason why it should not be in Alberta. They are mostly farmers who have been renting land there, and perhaps have bought land out of their savings at the high prices, which now look for northern to this country, for they understand raising cattle on the one-crop man."

Mr. Hedley said that last small the Chicago market received $50,000 hogs which he considered a fair price of corn, the farmers figuring they could not afford to feed their hogs at that price.

FARMING CO-OPERATIVES

The man who thinks co-operation in the United States is a one-horse affair will get a first-class shock when he reads the report recently issued by the United States Department of Agriculture on the success of farmers' co-operative enterprises during 1923. There are over 10,000 of these co-operatives in the United States, and the 5,512 of them reporting transacted a business of $1,700,000,000. The government's report says that the business of 1,500 associations was not reported, and that the grand total well up over $2,000,000,000.

The farmers' co-operative movement rather fear man limit of marketing besides a large amount of collective purchasing, says the All-American Co-operative Commission. Purpose is compiled by the government shows that there are 2,600 co-operators for the handling and marketing of grain, 1,351 for dairy products, 1,182 for livestock, and 966 for the grain for handling and marketing of fruits and vegetables. The three [illegible] are not almost an even half billion dollars' worth of business during the year with dairy products and fruit and vegetable co-operatives each handled around $250,000,000 for the same period.

The farmers are not only learning to get more for their crops through co-operative producers' services, but they are also saving down there and [illegible] by the co-operative purchase of farm and home supplies. There are about 1,000 such co-operative now serving the farmers of the country, doing a business of $50,000,000 a year. While politicians are fooling or refusing to give the farmers needed legislative relief thousands of them are [illegible] out their own salvation through the co-operative movement.

GADSBY NEWS

A special meeting of shareholders in the Gadsby Co-operative Association, called on request of some shareholders, was held on Thursday last in the Town Hall. Mr. J. B. Pickup was invited to the chair. The directors' report of operations up to date was read by Mr. Rushton, of the finance committee. It showed that enough money had been collected to started there was still a large amount of bush debts still outstanding, and it was therefore impossible to finally wind up the affairs of the Association. It was decided that all debtors be asked either to pay up or give their notes, payable on the 1st of November. Parties refusing to give such notes will be sued. Mr. J. F. Hamel, who has been president since the association started business, has tendered his resignation but was induced by the shareholders to withdraw it and remain on his board. The next public meeting will be held on 1st of December.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Stovell left for Vancouver on Friday and will be gone for two weeks.

Going to the rain on Saturday it was found impossible to have the baseball game between the Hoof and Mouth played as arranged. Both teams are anxious for a meeting to decide the question of supremacy so they have agreed to play in two weeks' time. It will be some game.

Andy Pinsonneault and his merry men had a game of ball arranged for the week-end, but being the wrong week, but again the weather spoiled a good sporting event.

Mr. Roland Billings is visiting his parents here while on vacation from Camrose.

Mr. Tom Cassidy returned to the mining country again on Monday last. Tom is a respected authority on living and breathing and has been called on to locate a number of claims. His decisions have always been well received.

Mrs. G. M. Bateman has been quite sick for the past week or so and has had to have the services of a doctor. She is now making good progress and recovery though still confined to bed.

Mr. Ald. Chamberlain took a trip to Calgary and has an operation on his throat performed by Dr. Gunn. He returned on Monday, nominally to pay his fair share. Our popular member of the Dublin Municipality had also to have some serving done on him last week, and he is now passed on as satisfactory pair of tonsils. He was a little grossly on the attendance and got some of it in his lungs; and for a day or two he was pretty sick, having a chest call for pneumonia. We are glad to hear he is now much better.

The Women's Institute have arranged for a Sale of Home Baking and Cookbay to be held on Saturday next from 2 p.m. in Mr Gravely's Meat Store. Their goods always find a ready sale and if you want to be tempted up in good sale at a very moderate price my advice is to call early

Mr. C. P. Garvin, of Vulcan, and Cassidy called on-returned, was in town on Monday on his way home from a holiday at Gull Lake.

I suspect very much to hear that Mrs. Field is progressing well ill in the Calgary hospital and likely to be a long time before she can return home. Todd reports to be back to the office notice some day this week.

The Women's Institute have arranged for a meeting to have Miss Brigley, a well-known nurse and lecturer, speak on nursing, gave some talks on the "Care of the Sick" and "Infant Mortality" in Gadsby Town Hall, 3rd, at 8 p.m. Sharp. Further announcements will be made as to time and place. Miss Brigley is coming to Gadsby connected with the Health Department of Alberta Government and these lectures are given under their auspices. The subject is of great interest and importance to women-folks especially and we are sure the lectures will be well attended.

I hear our Fishing Trippers have returned in the no man' hours of this morning, Tuesday, after a tedious and hazardous trip home in the track of the severe week-end storm. They had a big time and our readers will be glad to know that we have secured full details and results in the publication of their adventures and fishing stories.

Mr. C. R. Reeve is busy breaking on the 3rd three days, with a triple gang and an outfit of 16 horses. He is making a dandy job of it, too.

Mr. Lionel Farrell, of the Hotel Oxford's early days but now ranching at Gull Lake, has been shipping out a lot of cattle from Gadsby lately.

Mahomet could have sold your merchandise

You know the old story of Mahomet and the Mountain—when the mountain wouldn't come to him he, like a sensible man, grabbed his Panama off the half rack and went to the mountain—he wanted it badly enough to go after it.

That is precisely the situation today—the mountain—BUSINESS—will not come to you—you will have to go after it and go after it hard. YOU have one great advantage over the prophet—he had to take the going as he found it—you can pave the way with advertising.

Women as 'Hiring and Firing' Experts

The women have intruded herself every-where, but in no place more than as an employer. It has proven that there are places for them that were never visited for man, that were so days ago.

Now the advent of women into business has given them proofs of the efficiency of specialists in various lines. For women are, and have always been specialists.

One of the positions the men ably fill in that which may be called the "Hiring and Firing Expert." At least, that is the term applied to Elizabeth Dilke in a recent issue of "Everywoman's World." She says:

"Anyone who has made a study of industrial conditions knows only too well that employees who are 'hired and fired' by every large business during a year, and especially by one of the reasons for this repeated hiring and firing.

"The ordinary employer have for one of these reasons: good inefficiency, the applicant's own assurance, the appearance that 'looks as if he would do well.' None of these reasons is reliable.

"How, then, does the average employer judge? He doesn't. He makes a bit at it and trusts to luck. And, unfortunately, luck' exists in many offices.

"A few of the longer firms are already employing Vocational Experts to do all their hiring and firing; to relieve the employer of the burden of responsibility for the efficiency of each employee, and of dissatisfaction and ungenuine feeling among employees. Each head also notifies the expert of what sort of staff he needs, and the expert, after a most exhaustive examination of the position to be filled, finds the right man for the hiring and firing is cut down to a minimum, the employer's mind is free, efficiency of each department is raised to a very high degree.

"Business is expected to have turned the corner. Let it be hoped that it has turned in the right direction.—Boston Transcript."

CANADIAN BRIEFS

Boundary Marked

One of the features of the Alberta Centennial celebrations this year at the Inc. to Mount Robson the Canadian Pacific Railway has had a monument erected at the point where the provinces of Alberta and British Columbia meet. The monument is of Rubble stone, with bronze tablets on each side, and is situated on the summit of the pass, and at the highest point reached by the railway in the Rocky Mountains. The monument was erected by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, and the British Columbia Government co-operated in the matter.

Business Students Visit Pen

A party of forty members of the Canadian Teachers' Federation spent a day in Winnipeg this week on their way over National lines to the Federation Convention in Vancouver, and they will stay a long or shorter time as made of the Manitoba Agricultural College, with which the party was much impressed.

Increase in Exports

Assessments in statistics received by the Canadian National Railways at Winnipeg, reports from the first part of November during the six months ending June 30th show a large increase over that for the same period last year. Lumber shipments out of Canada for the first half of 1924 were 1 per cent. greater than for the same period last year; canned salmon showed a decrease of 20 per cent., turnips, 7 per cent.; exports were four times as great; 725,000 barrels of flour were exported during the first half of 1924 (but six months of last year); and nearly 2,000,000 bushels of oats went out of Canada the year compared with 1,000,000 bushels for the same period of 1923.

Whitefish Conservation

Previous section depletion of the whitefish in Lake Winnipeg, which some is noted in the final report of the Provincial Fisheries Commission, that 270,317,200 artificially raised young whitefish have been distributed in the waters between Lake of Ontario, Southern Manitoba.

$75,000,000 Bailed Crop

Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, during his recent visit to the Canadian West, has predicted that the prairies will produce a $75,000,000 bale this year.

Goose Bag Increased

In the new provincial government game regulations for the guidance of sportsmen in the province of Manitoba, the shooting season for prairie chicken and partridge the bag has been increased from 15 to 20 birds. This means that every day an individual may go out and shoot their many of these birds.

New Radio Call Letters

Through the courtesy of the Postal Telegraph offices and the courtesy of Marconi, the Canadian National Railways have come into possession of the radio call letters of the Marconi government, "CM." These letters have been adopted by all the radio stations owned or used by the National Railways, when the new plan is brought running. To the Moncton call has been added the letter "R", together with the first letter of the city from which the broadcast is being made. For example, the Canadian National broadcasting station in Ottawa, which was formerly known as "CKCK", now has the call letters "CNRO"; Winnipeg is "CNRW", and so on.

Trade with Japan

That there are possibilities of trade for Alberta in Japan in livestock and other products is the declaration of H. A. Craig, deputy minister of agriculture, who returned recently after experimenting a trial shipment of cattle by Canadian National Railways and Canadian Government Merchant Marine to Japan. Mr. Craig made a thorough investigation into market conditions there, and finds that there is considerable demand for beef cattle and also for wool, leather, timothy seed, bales, flour, wheat, barley, butter and cheese.

17,000 Harvesters Required

An estimate of 17,000 harvesters for Western Canada was arrived at by Harvey and employment officers at a meeting held a few days ago in the Canadian National Railways offices in Winnipeg. It is reported that 10,000 men will be available locally and from British Columbia, the remaining 10,000 to be brought from Eastern Canada.

Export Large Cattle Exports

Already this year the figures for cattle exports from Canada to Great Britain are far ahead of last year, according to H. S. Arkell, Dominion Livestock Commissioner, in an interview at the Fort Garry hotel during his recent visit to Winnipeg. Mr. Arkell said he had it from the leading cattle exporters throughout the Dominion that they expect a very steady export trade in cattle right up to the end of the year. He had been happy to learn that the market situation had not settle to the 25th October, when

The secret of its manufacture was guarded by the Chinese with jealous care. Their people were forbidden to export the silkworm eggs or the mulberry leaves on which they fed, under penalty of death. Those were the days when the Chinese were the only people in the world who knew how to make silk. Then, as now, the Japanese were imitators. They were determined to get the secret of silk manufacture, and they did. Two Japanese monks, who had been sent to China to study the religion of Buddha, were entrusted with the task. They were told that they must not return without the secret. They were told that they must not return without the secret. They were told that they must not return without the secret

Another prosperative farmer-pantryman has been added to the district. Mrs. Leslie Lane has presented her husband with a second small son and both mother and baby are doing fine, and are expected home from Stettler in the near future We hear that Mr. Lane's baby son is running short in the shoes but are sorry to report that Mrs. Bob hasn't learned to take things easily and is not as well as could be desired. All our good wishes go out to Mrs. Wallace for a speedy recovery.

Mr. J. Gough has erected a new building on the site of the old post-office, which was recently burnt out. Business is now proceeding as usual and we congratulate Mr. Gough in carrying on as well under the difficulties in which he was subjected during the building of the new office.

Mr. Cossey has returned after a short while ago from his farm down south, where he has been for several weeks past.

Mrs. Wallace, Sr., has been under the weather for the first time in many years. Mrs. Wallace has had an attack of jaundice and was confined to bed for several days but we are glad to report that she is now on the mend and trust that she will soon be her usual sprightly self again. Mrs. Wallace has always enjoyed such splendid health, that it is very strange to hear to report her as being on the sick list.

The ball game which was to decide the championship for the $100 put up by Big Valley was not played on Saturday night owing to the fact that the Copher Head team did not turn up. Robert Strange, one of the umpire's of the Penn team, has been chosen by Big Valley to play for the Provincial championship with the Big Valley boys, and Bob is now in Big Valley getting into practice for the Calgary trip. The boys will visit Drumheller first and then proceed to Calgary to play in a series of games that will decide the championship.

BIG BILLING FIRE INVESTS IN ALBERTA

Negotiations have been concluded by the Spillers milling interests of Great Britain to take over the interests of the Alberta Flour Mill in Calgary, and complete the large mill now under way by that company. The cost of completing this mill will be about $1,500,000. The daily capacity is to be 4,000 barrels per day, and the payroll will be upwards of a quarter of a million dollars yearly It is stated that the Spillers interests eventually plan investments totalling $10,000,000 in Alberta. Large investments are also being made at Vancouver in connection with the handling of grain. Premier Alberta met with Jobs the directorate of the new Alberta company.

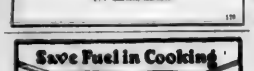
Save Fuel in Cooking



Boils in 5 minutes — Boils in 5 minutes

The illustration shows an interesting test you should try in your own kitchen. It proves the superiority of good enameled ware for cooking purposes. Take an SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan, and a sauce pan of equal size made of aluminum, tin or other metal. Into each pour a quart of cold water — not both sauce pans over the fire. The water in the SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan will be boiling merrily in about five minutes, while the water in the all-metal sauce pan will come to the boil in about eight minutes—three minutes longer save fuel in cooking. Round the Country

In an effort to save Richard A Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., self confessed slayers of Bobby Franks, Mr. Bullivant, Chicago alienist, declared that abnormal activities of certain of Leopold's glands had advanced his intellectual powers, while at the same time retarding his emotional development.

This brutal murder appears discussed from psychological and psychiatric view, and would gain the impression that the discussants believe that there was something refined and superior about this startling act of entertainment.

The emotional traits of the ardent but fair to become boiled under sporadic flame from mental slumps and eminent summits, who are striving to cover every recognizable feature of its case, as well as some features difficult to imagine. All of which goes to show that the advantages or disadvantages of modern life over the old fashioned times, before psychology had been brought to the stage of development where ruffianism is a reaction and nowadays composed of nervous parts.

CANADA'S OUTPUT OF PRECIOUS METALS

To the end of 1923 Canada had produced over $612,000,000 in gold. The prospect of rapid increase in the present rate of production is good, and there is reason to expect that Canada will soon become the second largest gold producing country in the world.

Gold is found on every province of Canada, with the exception of Prince Edward Island, and, in point of value, must be read, in the most important mineral product of the Dominion. Present interests indeed point to the possibility of the values of Canada's gold output surpassing even that of her coal during the next few years.

The opening up of the Porcupine and Kirkland Lake gold camps marked the beginning of a new epoch in the history of gold mining in Canada, which is now one of the world's great gold producing countries. In the world's production of gold, Canada now ranks fifth, being exceeded only by South Africa, the United States, Australia and Russia. Of these four countries, however, Russia is the only one which can compare with Canada in point of value of gold produced, and the latter country's output is now within $20,000,000 of that of Russia.

Canada's total gold production in 1923 was a little under $22,000,000, which should 20 per cent. was produced by bullion.

Silver comes second only to gold among the metals produced in the Dominion, in point of value of annual production, and among the silver producing countries of the world Canada ranks third.

Developments at Cobalt have made Canada one of the principal producing countries of the world. To the close of 1922, this and other northern Ontario silver camps have contributed a total of about 325,000,000 ounces, or nearly 11 full tons of fine silver to the world's stock. The maximum annual production of 30,500,000 ounces was reached in 1911.

For many years the silver output of British Columbia ranged between two and four million ounces annually.

Vision as Applied to Railroading

Are you color-blind? Short- or near-sighted? Slightly deaf? You may be one of two persons who have never heard of it.

These physical deficiencies, unknown trade of life are little to the person. But in railroading certain occupations require registered vision, color-sense and hearing.

The examination of applicants for positions as engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen, watchmen and others directly concerned with the safety of trains and the property, is recommendation of successful candidates, in these vital branches of the railroads. In the Canadian Pacific Railway system an illustrative example of the care with which this work is carried out is a special department staffed with this work. This department is under the Hearing Department. The Chief Examiner of Eyesight and Hearing and the Western area, each with a separate office.

An application for a position is already filled out, the applicant is then asked to call at the office of the Chief Examiner of Eyesight and Hearing, and is given a thorough examination.

Most interesting of the examinations is that for colour-vision. The man is asked to identify certain coloured lights at a distance of 20 feet. A lantern is used, and the applicant is asked to name the colour of the light shown. Then he is asked to name the colour of the light shown. A number of coloured lights are shown in succession, and the applicant is asked to name the colour of each light shown. A number of coloured lights are shown in succession, and the applicant is asked to name the colour of each light shown.

All classes must be approved by the company and every employee using them is obliged to carry a second pair for emergency.

The hearing test is by the Acoustimeter, which measures the acuteness of the hearing organs, in terms of so many tones. A number of tones are sounded, and the applicant is asked to name the tone. CHILDREN MUST PLAY SOMEWHERE
Toronto Telegram: New York has ordered the appointment of playing centres in densely populated districts in all motor traffic during certain hours. Toronto has battled with the traffic problem and has made some progress, but conditions are not far from satisfactory. Eternal vigilance on the part of the driver of a car will reduce the number of accidents, but a child who dares in front of a car travelling even fifteen miles an hour is almost certain to suffer serious if not fatal injuries as the price of a moment's disregard of the imperils of a city street. As the children have at least as much right on the streets as the automobiles, through motor traffic on certain streets might well be prohibited during prescribed hours.

HOPS IN ITS YOUTH
Brandon Sun: It is also, of course, natural that some Germans went to Vancouver. Some English settlers have found hopeful signs among young Germans that are rather surprising. It is true. There is a youth movement largely from silver-lead mines in the Kootenays, but in 1922 this was increased to over 7,000,000 ounces, due principally to the increased production from the Premier mine near Stewart.

To the end of 1923 Canada had produced over 450,000,000 ounces of silver. The present rate of production is about 17,000,000 ounces.

The enormous territory over which mineral deposits have been found; the comparatively recent development of many metalliferous areas; the discovery of new, and the electric metallurgical operations, bid fair to show a vast increase in the production of these two important metals.

The mines department of the Dominion government is developing a keen interest in the mining development throughout the country, which is essential to the national wealth and at the same time providing a considerable amount of traffic revenue to the Canadian railway systems.

A party of old-timers and friends from the Bashaw district, while picnicking at Buffalo Lake last week, were surprised at the appearances of a new moose on Stettler Island. A number of the party headed by Charles Shipley crossed over to the island in a boat, but the moose immediately took to the water and they gave chase for a couple of miles, the moose finally turning back to the island. Many expect the presence of the moose on the island for from its hounds on being evicted by the appearance of forest fires in the north west.

GADSBY NEWS

The question of adventurers who went prospecting in the North Country looking for good homestead land never returned, after having an unpleasant experience. They give a very optimistic report of what there was and what the future holds for that particular part which lies north of Mt. Peal de Horle, from 60 to 80 miles. The land is lovely and much prospectively non-timbered, but our hay-and not territories have all land and no water they will prove very valuable. To go into such country now again with no hope or prospect of making any more money years to come and to have a team out of their limited cash for a year's special brand of boredom—or something else.

The football match between Rye Bloor and Westwood teams had to be called off owing to rain but it is hoped to play off on Saturday evening first week of July. This is a real contest; both teams are keyed up for a fight to a finish and you want to be there to see it.

Mrs. James Gallion had the misfortune about two years ago to fall through the trap-door on the barn loft, when trying to help her husband in a push, and sprained one ankle very badly and suffering several bruises. During last to that time she has had some concern over a small growth on her throat and lately decided, on medical advice to have it removed. Dr. Brayton accompanied her to Cochrane hospital last week and operated at the removal, a very successful operation being done for her heart the general condition. Several of our acquaintances have any much for our old friends plenty and never. Latest reports are very satisfactory and Mrs. Gallion is expected home in a day or two.

Dan Gillis, one of the most appreciated by Mr. Gadsby lately had a bad time of it. He was taken with a severe attack of appendicitis and had to be operated on. Latest reports are very favorable and Dan is expected to be around again in a few days.

I like it fine here, only I often get very homesome for the familiar faces on the little streets of Gadsby. Crops look fine.

Mr. Gadsby sold a horse lately—the only one he has sold for some time, by the way—and reports that selling it would also sell about 20 head of cattle.

This is the Great County. I have been in it for 13 years and have never regretted it for a moment.

Mrs. Violet Holgrave (nee Jones) is expected at the end of July.

Just a few lines to let you know I am still in the land of the living and have not forgotten any of my old friends.

I often think of those strawberries you gave me when I am working in my one-acre patch here. It took me a long time to clean up the logs off them with a spade. Then after that every year time they are through picking They will grow new logs and they shortly die and will bear nothing.

Mounted Mountaineers Pow-Wow at Yoho

Mrs. Dunlop on the two horses, Mrs. Colonel Hutchinson, Mrs. Colonel Sanford, Mrs. Colonel Thompson, Mrs. Colonel Wilson.

Early last July a small party of riders was encamped on the plateau which lies between Twinkling Creek Glacier and the gap in the Continental Range of the Canadian Rockies known as the Vicarious Pass. The day was warm and conducive to sleep, and, because on this account none of the party stirred and dressed as early as usual, the other members of the party to emerge from their tents found that Mrs. Vicarious Pass, Colonel Wilson, Mrs. Colonel Wilson, Mrs. Colonel Thompson, Mrs. Colonel Hutchinson and Mrs. Colonel Sanford, all of the Canadian Rockies, had qualified for membership in the Order by riding at one time or another not less than fifty miles through the Rockies on horseback.

This unique gathering, recording as it did the first attempt to form an association of mounted mountaineers was characterized by Dr. Charles D. Walcott, head of the Smithsonian Institute of Washington, and honorary president of the Trail Riders, as a step of world importance in the history of mountaineering. The inauguration of the First Annual Ride of the Trail Riders succeeded by far the most congenial hoops of the season. Mrs. Colonel Wilson, Mrs. Colonel Thompson, Mrs. Colonel Sanford and Mrs. Colonel Hutchinson, all of whom have ridden more than 100 miles on horseback, with twenty Indian horses and a huge Sam Peaver-Ledge which the latter erected as camp headquarters, were the hostesses under the supervision of Chief Walking-in-the-rain.

Only one trail rider left this camp with what could be termed a legitimate grouch. This was Dr. Walcott, who believes that hours under the side of the saddle are hanging at the back of his shoulders when he has not.

Riding was, of course, the order of the day, and many of the riders, as indicated by the scenery, fell far behind the main party, and indulged in the privilege of riding at the trailings of a single trail.

The most entertaining sights in Field are the bears in the vicinity of the Burgess Pass trail. Reliable reports have it that the dog "nations and peoples are so close to the trail that they can be seen from the mountains who are awakened by the sound of the singing of a single bell."

Melbourne Australia, Aug 9—Mrs. Hayes and her children, with an aboriginal Scottish soldier, set out to walk across a thousand miles from Western Australia to the eastern part of the country.

The climate will be on the Perim Peninsula, which is said to be very hot. Mrs. Hayes has arranged to have her husband meet her at Norseman, Western Australia, on Sunday, and it is expected that the party will reach there in about a week.

Mrs. Hayes has applied to the government for help and the government refuses, packed up all her belongings, puts on her hat and with her family sets out on the long journey to Western Australia.

Greater Control Of Venereal Diseases

Ottawa, August 9—In order to give greater control over the treatment of venereal diseases, and to assist in their prevention, and greater co-operation between the provinces and the Dominion Government in the campaign against these diseases, the Federal Government has decided to extend to the provinces the assistance which has been given to the Province of Ontario during the past two years.

The plan has been the same in either province. Legislation has recently been passed in Ontario, providing that certain diseases, commonly known as venereal diseases, are made notifiable to the Provincial Board of Health, and that persons suffering from these diseases must submit themselves to treatment by a physician or at a clinic approved by the Provincial Government. Arrangements have been made with druggists and others in connection with the dispensing of drugs, and for securing extensive arrangements for the greater economy in the purchase of drugs and supplies. Arrangements have also been made for the establishment of clinics in connection with the various hospitals throughout the province

A Coming Development

Great Industrial Movement May Be Expected in the Western Provinces

A few weeks ago a report emanated from Edmonton that negotiations were under way for the establishment of a woollen mill at a point some miles from the Alberta capital. Still more recently it has been reported from Winnipeg that work on Manitoba's first sugar beet factory will be started this fall. There has been a report recently that an extensive pulping plant is to be established in Saskatoon. The milling industry is already represented on the prairies by a number of important establishments. In this good era, it would be natural development may be expected to take place in these provinces.

Wisconsin, a state situated not unlike the prairie provinces, supplies a third of all the peas canned in the United States. There is no reason why Saskatchewan, possessing a large proportion of all the agricultural products suited to the canning industry, should not be encouraged to establish a similar industry of her own on which a prosperous community could be founded.

Then there is the question of separate the farmers on the prairies from the markets to which they now dispose of their produce excepts there to bear a heavy loss in freight charges which could be materially lessened if freight had to be paid only on the finished or manufactured products. The portability of many kinds of farm products also precludes the possibility of many kinds of manufacturing from establishing themselves centrally to the territory of the prairies, but a farming district not residing easy access to a cannery or packing plant, the prairie provinces have shown by their prize winnings at international exhibitions that they can enter a great variety of vegetables in competition with other parts of the continent. Were it possible for the farmers in these provinces to diversify their cropsbelow is somewhat as is already represented on the prairies by a number of important centres of industry. In this good era, a great industrial development may be expected to take place in these provinces.

PRELIMINARY HEARING OF FIRE TRIAL AT CASTOR

Star Witness for the Crown Gives Interesting Evidence in Regard to the Big Fire

(Castor Advance)

Messrs. Sheridan and Semple, Castor citizens, were arrested last week charged with arson in connection with the big fire at that point which recently destroyed the better part of the business section. Semple who is a bartender in the Cosmopolitan Hotel was arrested first, and Sheridan who is a butcher turned King's Evidence against him at the preliminary hearing. J. McKinley Cameron of Calgary conducted the defence for Semple while the hearing took place before Magistrate R. H. Hamilton.

After hearing the evidence of Mr. Sherf, V. R. Smith, Sheridan and Mr. Pierson, J. Parr, and James Stafford, the accused, W. Semple, was sent up for trial at the next sitting of the district court. R. H. Hamilton, last after a lively argument by McKinley Cameron, the hearing took place before Magistrate R. H. Hamilton.

After hearing the evidence of Mr. Sherf, V. R. Smith, Sheridan and Mr. Pierson, J. Parr, and James Stafford, the accused, W. Semple, was sent up for trial at the next sitting of the district court. R. H. Hamilton, last after a lively argument by McKinley Cameron, counsel for the defence, the hearing took place before Magistrate R. H. Hamilton.

The preliminary hearing of W. Semple charged on information of having fire to a tenant building at the corner of J. L. Bryant's office and Avenue took place on Friday, August 8th, before Police Magistrate R. H. Hamilton and G. Butterfield, J.P.

Junior A Dressman appeared for the prosecution and J. McKinley Cameron of Calgary for the defence.

The information and complaint of Thomas Pilkington of Castor, in Alberta, sworn this 30th day of July in the year 1924, before the undersigned, George L. Rutherford, one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace, in and for the same province, who says that William Semple of Castor aforesaid, on the 30th day of July, A.D. 1924, at Castor, in the same province, did wilfully set fire to a certain building, to wit: a tenant building at the rear of the Bryant-Sheridan Block, contrary to section 511 of the Criminal Code of Canada.

Magistrate of Information—"Further Evidence."

Dress before me today in the year first above mentioned at Castor, in the same province.

"George L. Rutherford,"
Justice of the Peace in and for the Province of Alberta.

Hamilton Hall, sworn, examined by Mr. Dressman, intime as follows:

"Where do you live?—Castor."

"At Castor, at the Cosmopolitan Hotel."

"And your occupation at the present time?"

"Nothing right now.

"I was night clerk at the Cosmopolitan Hotel on the 30th of July.

"I attended the dance at the Rink Theatre on that evening."

Mr. Cameron—"Are the witnesses in court?"

Mr. Acting—"Some of them, I think."

Mr. Cameron—"I would ask them to be excluded."

Witnesses excluded.

"The first time I went down to the dance was about 11 o'clock. I came back to the hotel about 12 o'clock or a little later. I went back to the dance about 12:30 or a little later. I came down from the hotel to the dance the second time. Mr. Sheridan was in the lobby of the hotel on that occasion.

"How many had finished lunch at the dance when I arrived there. I remained at the dance and I saw the accused (W. Semple). He was then standing at the west window of the dance hall, outside, looking out of the window eating lunch.

I saw him later in the evening in the lobby of the hotel about 2:30 or 2:15.

When I saw him at the dance it was a little after one.

The dance had resumed and I noticed him there about two minutes after supper.

I never saw him again until the time when I returned to the hotel.

When I saw him at the dance the last time he told he was going to bed and said that he had been at it all o'clock.

We were standing behind the desk at the office when he said this.

There are two exits to the second floor from upstairs, one outside and one downstairs.

There are three exits without going through the main office.

I was in the lobby all the time that evening after the accused left me till at the next morning.

I heard the fire-alarm bell ring about 2.10 or a little after three.

I left Mr. Sheridan in the office of the hotel the second time I went down to the dance.

Mr. Sheridan, sworn, examined by Mr. Acting-Sgt. as follows:

"My full name is Victor M. Sheridan.

I have lived in Castor since the first of February.

I was in the meat market business here for a time.

I know the accused here, William Semple.

I saw him on the night of July 30th and early in the morning of July 30th.

I saw him in the Cosmopolitan Hotel between half-past one and a quarter to two.

When I first saw him I was coming out of the south room of the hotel.

The south room is just across the hall from the office in the rear of the hotel.

There was no one else there.

Semple came to the door and I had a drink of rum—my partner. We had been playing cards and I was just finishing a letter and I asked him for a stamp. He gave me a per cent and he got it for me and he was wandering around. I was sitting at the table towards the south room and he said to me, 'Let's start something or words to that effect.

I said "What—you propose to do?" "Well," he said, "let's set fire to some outside shed or rubbish pile," and I said "All right, go ahead," so he had the way out the back through the south room and took up a couple of bottles.

He pulled up the bottles right around the back door of the south room and I followed him outside, close to the door. He went over to the coalshed or garage on the west lying at the steps up from the entire outside the buildings. He turned the top and I thought he was going to gasoline or coalsel or whatever was in the barrel.

He then put them in his pocket and he came in the back and went out the front door of the hotel to the east. When we got outside the door he said, "Guess you got any matches" and I said yes.

We started down the sidewalk towards the depot and then I took the last of number out of my pocket and put them on the windowsill of Mr. Stevenson's office. We walked over to the lane to the rear of the Bank of Montreal and then up the lane on former Bryant's premises. We stopped there and Monty said to me, "Where's that match-box?" (I mean Mr. Semple when I say Semple), and he walked across the street to the new house. He took a bottle of coalsel or whatever it was out of his pocket and poured it down on his edge of the little gas building, and I said "For God's sake don't set fire to that," to him he went around and I followed him down the lane and we came to another small empty building at the rear of Mr. Bryant's office. He took the other bottle of coalsel or contents in this bottle and poured it down the north side of that building. Then he asked me for a match. I said I did not have any, so he got his box of matches, and he could not find any so he said, "What did you do with the matches," and I told him I left them over on the ledge of Stevenson's office.

Crown Witness Charged with Arson on Himself

V. R. Sheridan, star witness for the Crown in the Semple arson case, was arrested on a charge of arson on a separate arson by W. J. Harris.

This is an account of the evidence given in the Semple trial on Friday, August 8th.

The preliminary hearing took place Monday and after hearing the evidence of Dr. J. D. McPherson, A. C. Chevalier, T. J. Harris and J. Knowlton, the accused was sent up for trial by Police Magistrate R. H. Hamilton. Bail was set at $5,000, which was put up by Mr. Wilson, of Castor.

V. J. Morris, the first witness sworn.

"On Friday last I attended court and heard Mr. Sheridan say and admit while under oath that in the early morning hours of July 30th, in the year, he entered into an agreement with W. Semple to go out and start a fire in town, and that Mr. Sheridan filled two or three bottles with coalsel or gasoline and they started to carry out their plans.

This agreement took place in the Cosmopolitan Hotel. They walked up the alley heading in a south-easterly direction of the hotel, and when they reached the Bryant corner Semple asked where that chemical ice-house was, to Sheridan, to which Sheridan exclaimed, "For God's sake don't burn that down!"

They then went down to the building that was first. Semple poured some oil at the lower edge of the building and asked Sheridan if he had the matches. He replied he had some, and Semple then went up down and put a fire he had left on the windowsill of Mr. Stevenson's office, which is located in the Cosmopolitan Hotel building. He returned and gave the matches to Semple, who lighted the oil which had been put on the ground. The oil ignited and blazed up two or three feet and semple then seemed to be dying down and they stood there long enough to see it start up there. They left the building and then walked up past the Ladies' Rest Room, crossing the main street, up to the back of Morgan's barn and over to the Alberta Hotel. During this walk from the time they left the fire Semple said to Sheridan: "I guess you got scared." At the appearance of Semple Sheridan took off his collar and tie. They stopped at the corner of the Alberta Hotel. Semple left Sheridan there, and told him to stay there until he returned. Sheridan remained on the corner, until the fire gained sufficient headway so that he saw the reflection in the sky for short distance. He then went to the fire hall, crying fire, and then went down and rang the fire bell. Then went up and assisted in fighting the fire."

Cross-examined by Mr. Dressman:

"Is your hearing good?"

"Yes, quite good."

"Have you ever had an operation on your ears?"

"No, there were sometimes that he could not hear me, but I spoke into the gramaphone, and the attorney even had to repeat it to the stenographer. Apart from those occasions I did not hear all the evidence as well as others have."

"Did you hear all that was said?"

"Mr. and Sheridan after the witnesses had received a part which was not here excluded, I didn't pay no close attention as my thoughts were occupied more in what had been said than what was to be said after the fire alarm had been turned in."

"How far away were you from Sheridan?"

"I was in the front row of the chairs and Sheridan was behind about 6 feet away."

"Did you hear Sheridan give any explanation of him going with Semple to set the fire?"

"No."

"Were you paying close attention to the evidence?"

"I was at the time he gave the evidence."

"What was the explanation?"

"He said it for the benefit of the town of Castor."

"Do you mean Sheridan give any explanation of him going with Semple to set the fire?"

"Yes."

"Were you paying close attention to the evidence?"

"I was at the time he gave the explanation."

"What was the explanation?"

"He said it for the benefit of the town of Castor."

"Do you mean Sheridan give any explanation of him going with Semple to set the fire?"

"Yes, to expose the coal fire-bug or the party that may have set fire to the National Hotel."

"Did he give any further explanation?"

"Not that I can remember. I might have forgotten it in the meantime."

"Mr. Morris, were you talking to Mr. Cameron before you left?"

"I was not on Semple's case either time about the fire. That conversation took place on Friday evening in the court room."

"When did you lay this charge against Sheridan?"

"I laid this charge on Saturday, the day following Semple's preliminary hearing."

C. P. Chevalier, sworn, said:

"The only thing I heard Mr. Sheridan say was that he was going to start this fire. The other statement I heard was, that he was running down the street shouting fire. The rest of his evidence was given as how I could hear it."

Q. "You heard this evidence at the preliminary hearing on Friday?"

A. "Yes."

Q. "How close to Sheridan were you?"

A. "15 to 20 feet I would judge."

Q. "Were you back of the chair in front?"

A. "I was on the right-hand side of [illegible]."

Dr. J. S. McPherson, sworn, said:

"Several bottles were filled with coalsel to what I understood from Sheridan's evidence. I don't know whether Beatty filled them or whether they filled them together. They went to the south-east of Segert's and when they got back of Segert's floor Sheridan and Beatty said, "There's that damn ice-house." The coalsel was sprinkled on the building back of Bryant's office and Beatty asked him for some matches.

He said he had none.

Sheridan said he left his matches on the windowsill at Stevenson's office. Sheridan went back and got the matches.

Beatty got the matches and set fire to the coalsel; they vanished in for awhile to see if it would burn. Then after it started to burn, they started towards the street by a vacant lot and came out near the bank of Alberta House. They stood for a time to see if they could see any fire and Beatty told him to take off his collar and tie.

Beatty went home and when Sheridan came into the fire blowing up he ran to the fire hall, shouting fire and then went out and rang the fire bell."

"Did you hear his motive for going with Semple?"

"He said he was trying to protect the citizens and catch the fire-bug."

"The fire-bug that set fire to the National Hotel several weeks ago?"

"Yes."

"You were quite close to Sheridan when he was giving his evidence?"

"Yes."

Round the Country

If war is held there are a few people in Alberta who should go to war—principally those who pay down their share of subsidies.

Almost daily discoveries have been the rule during the past two weeks, and the pastures and gardens show a very lovely growth. In fact the best question to set a more favorable estimate now than for some time. The crops are fair in some sections of the country but were too far gone to indicate to get any benefit from the belated rains. Some good fields are reported towards the north. Mr. S. F. Hoath figures a yield of around 60 bushels per acre in a field of Marquis that he is cutting now. Mr Reardon has a good field on the road to Buffalo Lake. Mr. VanBlaek has some good wheat on his farm five miles north. His seed having been obtained from Major Strange. There are several good fields shown on the farms of J. H. Clay, H. S. Magee, W. Barnett, L. H. Walty, and others in that vicinity. The Red Willow country also reports many good stands, and the oats and barley are doing well in many parts of the district. The weeds are also showing a rapid growth since the wet weather, and they have got a start on many crops which would have otherwise been headed in our results. We note The school field for the whole district will be held in Stettler and it is to give any estimate at present. Olds and barley are better.

Crop reports in P.P. from farmers in Stettler are not as favorable as those around Botrel. Many fields are reported to be worse than those planted at any rate, is one where the stand is poor, etc. or eight weeks holding the promise short pasture in period stretch the season previous just at the time did a great deal of harm in Alberta and the hailstorms that have come to the province good but patchy, and Mr. Baker reports the failure of a good

Many British Vessels Salvaged

Underwriting Work Conducted During War Period by British Government

Five hundred merchant vessels, valued at $250,000,000, were salvaged by operations during the war, Captain Sir Frederick William Young, K.B.E., chief director of naval salvage during the war for the British Government, stated in an interview at Vancouver.

During the entire war period Sir Frederick was director of salvage and headed to the Grand Fleet under Lord Jellicoe, and had personal jurisdiction over all salvage operations, vessels, auxiliary and merchantmen. Some of the outstanding results of these salvage efforts are now published for the first time.

"On more than one occasion," declared Sir Frederick, "we were able to salvage torpedoed food ships in time to use the food, and on one particular ship from Canada, 12,000 parcels of foodstuff, were recovered perfectly fit for use. The salvaging was not confined to British ships, but included ships of all allied nations."

Recovery of many hard and yet wonderful experiment in dealing with the salvage of battleships, when Frederick said, in answer to a question, that the raising of the Vanguard, sunk in Scapa Flow in 1919, was the biggest salvage operation. This warship was [illegible] and was raised by Sir Frederick and his staff in a period of only 134 days.

Raising and repairing of the Vanguard and Thetis, which had been sunk purposely in Bruges Canal to counterbalance the enemy, Sir Frederick said, was one of the finest pieces of work performed by the Lord Admiral Beatty's flagship, when it went into Rosyth for repairs after the battle of Jutland, and salvaged the first captured German submarine, the U.C.5, at Harwich, with all mines set in her tubes ready for spreading.

Alberta Straw Good Substitute For Pulp Wood

Will Manufacture Paper from Surplus Quantities of Straw

Steward Stansbury Provincial Trade Commissioner, is optimistic of early and favorable report from the Government Laboratories at Ottawa, regarding the suitability of straw from Alberta wheat crops, which were forwarded a few weeks ago.

Alberta straw has proved to be a highly economical and satisfactory substitute for wood pulp in the manufacture of paper, and as soon as a report is received from the east, it is anticipated that the product will be placed on the market.

Several capitalists have, it is said, are prepared to finance the new manufacture, which should eventually utilize the vast surplus quantities of straw in the province, and also release large tracts of timber from the certainty of destruction.—Edmonton Bulletin.

Beef Scrap Versus Skim Milk For Hens

It is an accepted fact that hens will have some form of animal protein in their feeding ration and this is usually supplied by beef scrap. Two years ago an experiment was started at the Experimental Farm, Nappan, N.S., to determine the relative value of beef scrap as dehie milk when added to the laying ration. Two pens were made up of ten birds each, as uniform in breeding, age and type as it was possible to select. The rations fed to each pen were alike and consisted enough that Pen 1 received beef scrap and Pen 2 skim milk. The results obtained show the possibilities there are of realizing good value for skim milk by feeding more of it to hens.

The average production from the ten birds receiving beef scrap for the two six-months feeding periods (Nov. 1 to April 30 each year) was 63.5 eggs at a feed cost of $13.75 or 26.5 cents per dozen, leaving a profit over cost of 47.2 cents per bird. In Pen 2 the ten birds receiving skim milk over the same period had an average production of 63.4 eggs at a feed cost of $15.95 or 30.3 cents per dozen, leaving a profit over feed cost of 47.69 per bird.

By taking the average of two years the skim milk was thus $50.7 pounds skim milk valued at 20 cents per hundred and thus costing $1.30 gave greater returns than 20 pounds beef scrap at a market price of $7.50 per hundred thus costing $0.65. If as believed at the Experimental Farm, the increase in production from the pens receiving milk can be attributed to the value of skim milk as a food for laying hens, it would only be fair to state that this former had received slightly better than one dollar per hundredweight for the skim milk when he marketed it through his eggs.

As this feeding test has only been carried on for two years it does not pretend to be conclusive, but additional tests yet. However, the results to date would lead one to believe that a part of the skim milk available on the farm can be very profitably marketed through the egg and would seem to be a more profitable proposition than paying $7 per hundred beef scrap in order to supply the amount of protein so essential for profitable egg production.

Journey Took Three Years

Only One Ship Completed Voyage Around World 400 Years Ago

Man's first voyage around the globe was made a little more than four hundred years ago.

The first voyage took three years; and they were years of great privation and discomfort. The nearly successful navigator was J. S. del Cano, a Spaniard. He returned to port Sept. 6th, 1522.

The expedition numbered five vessels, and of the 265 persons who set out, only 21 returned—ragged and broken. One of the objects of the adventurers was to test the theory that the earth was round, and the ships took a westward course to discover a passage to the Indies.

Ferdinando Magellan, a Portuguese, after whom the straits are named, was a leading spirit in the expedition. When the fleet was divided, he pushed on and all others were killed by natives in the Philippine Islands. Only one ship, the Victoria, under del Cano, completed the journey.

Where Divorce Is Cheap

Dominican Can Obtain Them for $1.20 in Four Minutes

Soviet Russia offers for more advantages to persons seeking easy and quick divorces than perhaps any place in the world. Under a new decree a divorce can be had within five minutes at a cost of $1.20, provided both parties agree to the dissolution of the marriage ties. If, however, one party objects to dissolution, the case may be referred to the courts, which will decide the question on its merits.

Misconduct does not constitute a valid reason for the annulment of married ties, but desertion, religious superstition, excessive religious piety, incompatibility of temperament and divergence in political views are held to be sufficient reasons. No Russian may obtain a divorce after he or she has been married more than three times within one year.

In consequence of the flexibility of the Soviet civil code covering divorce in relations, divorces in the Moscow district increased by 45 per cent. during the first six months of 1924 as compared with 1923.

From Errand Boy To Cabinet

British Colonial Secretary Received Exception in Native Town

Standing within a few yards of the spot where a young man's body not a little errand boy, J. H. Thomas, the British Colonial Secretary, at Newport, his native town, has been presented with the freedom of the borough. The honor he now enjoys with but three other persons.

In the place of the customary casket he was given a silver casket-piece, consisting of three fruit bowls, on one of which bears the borough arms. Mr. Thomas, who was accompanied by his wife, had an enthusiastic reception from thousands of people.

Later Mr. Thomas was presented by the old pupils of St. Paul's School, which he attended, with an illuminated address, while Mrs. Thomas, who was a scholar at a local council school, received a beautiful diamond pendant from her old schoolmates and teachers. Back to Work

Mr Thomas, speaking at the presentation of the freedom, said the British Constitution which enabled him, from a little errand boy, to find himself entrusted with the responsibility and charge of one-fourth of the globe was a constitution of which they should be proud, and which they should be jealous to preserve.

He wished that the spirit of the great war manifest could be applied to the problems of today, for, as one word, it meant confidence. Confidence in Europe as in America would bring about peace; confidence between capital and labor would solve that problem.

He would say to them: "Fight as hard as you like for the things you believe to be right, but don't say to those that disagree with you the same heresy of purpose and the same unwillingness to do the right thing as yourselves."

Germany's production of coal in the first three months of this year exceeded that of any other post-war quarter.

Sad Death of Boy At Big Valley

Mr. E. Bassett, manager of the Big Valley Collieries had the misfortune to lose his five year-old boy in the shaft of an old mine on Tuesday. The boy was reported missing and after a prolonged search he was found dead at the bottom of the shaft which was not in use. He had evidently crawled down the ladder and being overcome by the gas, fell to the bottom of the shaft.

Mr Burns, the fore boss went down to get the body, but after descending a short distance he was overcome and fell backwards into the hole and had to be assisted to the top. Another party then put on a mask to get the boy in Burns, the overseer also called but pronounced life extinct and decided that an inquest was not necessary, the cause of death being asphyxia and a broken neck.

STETTLER 'PHONE CENTRAL WINS HORTICULTURAL PRIZE

The Stettler Telephone Central has won first prize in the competition staged each year by the Alberta Telephone Department. This competition covers the appearance of both the interior and the exterior of telephone buildings, and the Stettler central won the prize for the best looking exterior consisting of flowers, trees and garden. This prize is quite a distinction, coming as many centrals in Alberta and those that come in a close second are the splendid buildings in this district.

OBITUARY

Died on August 18th, at 726—3rd Ave., San Mateo, California, Wm. J. son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. MacDonald of Red Willow, Drumheller district, in his 32nd year. Deceased had been in poor health for some time and had undergone a surgical operation a few days before his death. He is survived by his parents, one brother and one sister.—Calgary News.

Over 500 Gallons Gasoline Wasted At Red Willow

Two men by the names of Clint Wilson and Harry Grubb broke into the Imperial Oil warehouse at Red Willow early Sunday morning and filled up their Ford car with gasoline. Unfortunately they left the valve open connected with the tank and by the time the leakage was discovered over 500 gallons of gasoline had been wasted on the ground. Corp. MacPherson traced the men to Drumheller owing to peculiar marked tires they used on the back wheels, and arrested them there They were committed for trial before Judge Gray and will appear before Judge Morrison next Tuesday.

A very creditable showing has been made by the children in the district in their examinations this year Local children graduating include Elsie Crawford, from tenth to seventh; Lula Penley, Hanna Rerbin, John Rerbin and Harry Rerbin, from eighth to sixth Congratulations to both teachers and pupils for this splendid percentages of passes. The problem of how parents can interest themselves, and which is a very vital problem in most country areas where there is no rural-ided school can be dealt with; also with in each district, is how to give the children an opportunity of sustaining their enthusiasm without undue expense and inconvenience to the parents This is a subject that might very well be given discussion and consideration by the U.F.A. and U.F.W.A.

175,000 Miles Is Local Car Record

For those who want a new car every year the new will be interesting that of N. R. McGillivray, of Stettler has had a mileage of 175,000 miles from his Hupmobile, which he purchased from H. A. Blair and Co., in 1918. Mr. McGillivray had the engine overhauled last year and the mechanic stated that it was in as good condition then as when it left the factory. He has also had only two sets of tires for the above mileage and his care and management of the car is an object lesson to those who run through a car after the first 25,000 miles or so. The initial cost of $1300 for the car has served long ago and each additional mile of travel has been made with only the cost of gasoline and oil. Transportation with Mr. McGillivray has been cheaper than with any other car owner that we know of.

CANADIAN REFUNDING LOAN

The Dominion of Canada is likely to float a loan of from $170,000,000 to $200,000,000 in August 15th, for the purpose of redeeming an issue of similar amount of war loan bonds issued in 1915.

Gadsby Pioneer Pays 18th Subscription

Mr. J. F. Bassett, of Gadsby, was a visitor to town on Tuesday last and has 18th subscription to the Independent. Mr Bassett came to Gadsby district in 1906, before there was any town there and for the first two years he hauled his grain and other farm produce to Stettler. With the appearance of 18 years behind him Mr. Bassett considers that Alberta is as good a country as any to live in, provided a man works and lives in a right manner. He thinks the temperance laws to be extravagant and rather unnecessary, both to the Government and public bodies, as a saving effects many ways of spending money for improvements which should visit Gadsby some day, but which seem to be unreliable. Many people try to do in a few years what takes fifty to other and more settled communities. Mr. Bassett will have from ten to fifteen tenants on his homestead before the year's prospect which looks exceedingly better than it did a month ago.

CANADA'S WHEAT CROP PROSPECT

Canada's wheat crop this year is estimated at 282,942,000 bushels by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This estimate by the Government is based on definite estimates of the yield of fall wheat and the latest report of condition of spring wheat throughout Canada. The final estimate of last year's wheat crop was 474,189,000. The average yield per acre of fall wheat is estimated to be 25.1 bushels on a harvested area of 705,370 acres, or a total of 17,243,000 bushels, as compared with 19,215,000 bushels from 815,300 acres last year. The majority of fall wheat is in Ontario where the crop will average 26.8 bushels per acre as against 27.1 bushels last year. In Alberta, on a small acreage, the acreage has dropped from 26 bushels to 16 bushels to the acre. In the three Prairie Provinces there is a drop in the averages of all wheat. At the end of July it appeared that there would be a total wheat harvest of about 256,972,000 bushels from a seven acres of 21,545,787 acres. In 1923 the Reeves were 452,260,000 bushels from 21,605,276 acres

Hard Liquor Stores Fail to Bring in Large Profits

Early Returns Indicate that Albertans Generally Prefer Beer

TOTAL YEAR'S TEST IS TO BE GIVEN

No Curtailment of Vending System by Government Hoped Efficiency

Edmonton, Aug. 21.—With the first three months of the government control and sale of liquor completed this week, the officials in charge of the administration have been brought to the conclusion that the government stores for the sale of hard liquors are not to be the money-makers that some believed they would be. In fact, to those who thought that liquor profits would be a means of quick reduction of taxation the disappointment will be keen, if the financial records of the first three months are any criterion of what the year's profits will be.

Commissioner Very Light

Commissioner Dinning admitted that the business in the government stores was very small after the first few weeks, when the novelty of the new experience had worn off.

"We have reduced the staffs of the stores when the business began to drop," he said, "but the report that any of the stores are to be closed is false."

May Sell More in Winter

The commissioner said that the intention of the board was to save the beer for a fall period, when, it is there was an abundance of the barley. It was quite possible, he thought, that when the summer months there would be considerable storage in the demand for the hard liquors.

While the business in hard liquors is disappointing to those who were looking for considerable revenue from that source, on the other hand, the surprising conditions being met in the contentions of those who took the view that the sale of beer would lessen the demand for the stronger beverages.

Round the Country

EARLY ALBERTA A PLACE OF CONTRASTS

I was speaking to a pioneer Ontario farmer who lives about four miles from town in an old hotel house with modern ease and thoroughness possessed of the finest, and asked him how it was that during his forty years residence in the same house and on the same farm, he was not affected or affiliated with the movement that swept over the country-side and town-ship and region. He replied that long ago he had come to the conclusion that all a farmer can reasonably expect in this world is that he can make a day and a place to sleep, so why concern to somewhere else.

Of course he had more in it than he states the reason and elements over the most were typical of the common sense way that characterized that kind of a man. He seemed "the garden of Eden a place of contrasts."

But Alberta, too, as a very young country and the Alberta farmer, not quite random might well ask himself whether emigration to another country still living in the days that is not the long run obtain here. This is a real question and it is worthy of numerous every day by men who profited not to some state of the Union and returned at the first opportunity as could return. If they had enough funds to come back. Of course, for a farm, farmer cannot have been obtained over the prairie provinces, but for a little extra outlay he can have standing room and opportunity, which and short farming, and a little more a home, and a little money to spare for the tendency to go back. Why do we strain a bad year? Because the better plan is to cop on as many other men is doing.

Some of our politicians recently Mr. Garland, M.P., has said that the tax is bringing trade to a standstill. Alberta when there is a real depression, but none is living. In reply we would say that we could mention many things more than a living. We could mention the fact that Alberta is growing with no other province in the Dominion to compete with in its best years, and about one cattle.

The problems of Alberta present themselves are not any more than more populous. The land is here, the climate is here, the soil is here and the marketing question is being solved. We have of no more sensible propaganda among our members of parliament than the attitude of hopelessly against more population. An attitude like that would eventually doom any country but on account of the common sense of the people it will doubtless the politicians who maintain it. Just as possibly however we might remark that if seniors of the rest of that kind of the chief contributors to our patriotism to the life and development of the province we are in a bad way. The wheat pool today notwithstanding its initial success would be better as strong if we had twice the present population, and the condition of the farmer is getting better and better with more population, as we can easily see by comparing present conditions with those of the rudest and farming methods of livelihood of pioneer days.

GOOD BOARD IN ALBERTA

Every once in awhile tourists from the States complain of the conditions in the hotels and say that they have not better than the hotels they have encountered anywhere in the republic. No complimentary hotel ever been paid to Alberta hotels by tourists from other states, except by the Dominion Government roads in the National Parks.

The question of good roads is one of the most important in this province, inherited from time to time by the people, but only in a fragmentary way. In Ontario, which the writer recently visited, good roads are always good and a motorist will never hold up a motor car on a journey. In actual test Alberta roads are the best and excellent of roads in Ontario count a hopeless thing in the harvest time, when they can do all the mess in all seasons. Alberta roads are generally good, except in spots of time, the west and west on regions, and even these are not bad, the loss of opportunity to take advantage of high markets and the time and the roads even in the present conditions are appalling to contemplate. And the former is not the only loser. The public roads are of enormous interest to the people at large, they belong to the province and should be systematically built and kept up by the province at large. The great volume of business in the province is carried over the public highways. The trade travels by thousands of miles of roads, a mileage of the railways. And here in losing millions of dollars every year through bad roads, through the loss of time, the inconvenience and suffering, here not to speak of the effort on the part of motorists and the destruction of our motor cars of our main highways during or after a spell of wet weather.

For this reason we note with pleasure the work now being done on the highway between Stettler and Nevis. There is much to be done in the district between here and Nevis before it is in a creditable condition, but the work now being done on the Stettler-Nevis road is a step in the right direction. The road is being graded and drained with concrete ditches, and when completed will be a credit to the district. The Stettler Board of Trade is responsible for the work, and the people are to be congratulated on the energy shown in securing the road.

Britain's Oldest Trees

Although the Tolldan Oak and the Cowthorpe Oak are both about a thousand years old the only unanimity about of holding the prefer position for holding qualities among British trees. The distinction belongs to the yew.

In a road for instance, that a pre at Battle, in Sussex, must have been a very old one indeed, for Battle Abbey dates back to 1066. It is close on 30 feet in girth.

The yews at Norbury Park are said to be 2,000 years old—"Mature" they were called by Evelyn, but he believed that the famous yew in Borrow district, Surrey, was as old as the crypt of which good work dates back to Saxon times, and of yew are many yews along the Pilgrims' Way between Winchester and Canterbury which, could they speak, could describe the scenes which are the subjects of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales.

Youngest Hostess At 10 Downing Street

"Mabel, the Conqueror," is the name the eldest daughter of Ramsay Macdonald has won for herself, as mistress of the famous old house in Downing Street, who contributes an article on the girl to the New York Times. The article, called upon at the moment of the country's supreme anxiety, is to be offered features of 10 Downing Street for an unprecedented audience, but the Premier's daughter is the ordeal and is hailed as a success. Mabel has been the chief adviser and helper from the head of his mother's household for several years. Before her father's election to power he had a home at Hampstead which helped to make it a meeting place for many of the leaders of the Labor party. At the same time she continued her studies at domestic science at King's College, London, and did odds and ends of journalism in Fleet Street. About all the training she had in domestic economy would be of small help to solve the problems of 10 Downing Street, but Mabel, no doubt the young lady was equal to the occasion. She is described as unassuming and natural for a small family, but there is every doubt that the duties of looking after the two most distinguished visitors to London were overlooked.

But Miss Macdonald is probably dowered with common sense, and good nature. She inherited both from her father and mother, who are both highly esteemed and wonderfully won the hearts of those with whom she came in contact. It is said that particularly she assisted the support of Queen Mary by the way in which her husband, and who is an competent judge of character, has come to be a great favorite with the Queen. There is a rumor that the Queen could even there is no opposition to the Premier's views if the occasion arose. At any rate her father and her father were most highly favored by the guests of the King and Queen at Windsor and the chats between the girl and the Queen were quite as important as those between the King and the first Labor Prime Minister. It is said that the Queen loved Miss MacDonald quite as much as her taste as the daughter of any aristocrat who might have occupied her position, and was delighted to find her so eager to receive hints that would prove helpful. But Miss Macdonald does not always take kindly to hints. Her Scottish blood resents any suggestion of patronage and she had quarrels to put, such is the case, that she has undertaken to condescend to her.

This lady, a highly planned hostess, raising over one of the smartest Liberal sets in London, was delighted to Miss MacDonald a few days after her father had become Prime Minister to place herself at her disposal; rather to direct Miss Macdonald at her disposal the offered to help her choose her frocks like the other courts and ornaments that she would need. Miss MacDonald's progressive left much to be desired the results of her first efforts in the direction of self-adornment were not encouraging. Her self-confidence when she was first presented at Court by Lady Oxford To all of that Miss MacDonald replied that she was very serene and that she thought she knew what she was doing. I think I shall dress like an instead of court," Rosalie Queen Mary's lady-in-waiting neighbor, to, Mrs. Clynes, wife of the Lord Privy Seal, the home life Miss Clynes began at a lower level than Miss MacDonald, but she worked with a will, and soon became a rather splendid mistress of the home, and a most successful hostess. She had visited a large family as a governess before she married, and had gained experience quoted by the eminent of his husband, and proved to help Mabel. Both seemed to triumph as regularly at the sphere as Ramsay MacDonald has triumphed on the platform. Between the Queen and Mrs. Clynes Miss MacDonald has a new friendship of value.

Yet she has more difficult problems to solve, or at least in the prospect of more difficult problems, than either of the other two. Some other years at 10 Downing Street have had the most curious and unexpected guests. Mabel will have the people breathtaking or dining at the people of many classes, generally speaking, of the same class.

They were all people born or long used to the purple, and they were not always easy to please. Mabel will have to be very tactful and the magnitude of the task before her has not helped. This began with everybody's sympathy and she has not alienated it, and every week that goes by will increase the rightful blunder distresses the probability that there will be one.

Lloyd George at 10 Downing Street had two remarkable women to help him. One was his wife, who did the household work, and the other was Miss Megan, who stepped into the spotlight when her mother retired. She had her father's constant companion, a charming and brilliant girl, who was of great advantage to him certainly. Mabel Lloyd George at 10 Downing Street had no Dorothy Asquith quite the most brilliant woman who ever stepped in that famous place Mrs. Asquith was equal to any everybody, but in one a favored position. It was not part of her task to prognosticate those who were to be the guests of the future. It was not her part to be a fortune-telling programs or associate with the guests before the event took Miss MacDonald has some of the advantages of Miss Lloyd George, in that she has a home of her own, Mrs. Clynes, wife of the Lord Privy Seal, the home life Miss Clynes began at a lower level than Miss MacDonald, but she worked with a will, and soon became a rather splendid mistress of the home, and a most successful hostess. She had visited a large family as a governess before she married, and had gained experience quoted by the eminent of his husband, and proved to help Mabel. Harvesting commenced this week in this district. Some few combines are now under the binder. The work will be general next week.

Mrs. Geo. Hall and daughters Helen and Alleen, of Provost, are visitors with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bedford.

Mr. William Thom, of Munson, is visiting his parents in town. Miss F. Thom is also spending her holidays in town.

We are pleased to report that Mrs. Castigan, wife of Sergt.-Major of the Canadian exhibit at Wembley, was the last of Mrs. Ist, and brought much credit to the Dominion.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hare are enjoying a holiday in Washington State. Mrs. Hare is expected back in town this week, but Mr. Hare will remain for a couple of weeks longer.

Mr. Wright is making a number of improvements on his residence north of the Dr. Creighton Hospital. Besides painting the exterior he is having the interior overhauled, and some time-saving conveniences installed.

An auto of Ford, consisting of Dr. Goodwin, Mr. McCormick, Mr. Barnett, and Mr. McFadzean journeyed to Innisfail on Wednesday evening to assist in the installation of a club at that place.

Mr. Caldwell and Mr. Dunmore, of Carmangay, were visitors in town on Saturday last. Mr. Caldwell is the owner Carmangay post-office for a number of years and he considers that the Main-Wayne district should have run closer to his district instead of following along Gough Lake This is no doubt due to the line of hills in Eastern, and probably also to avoid crossing into the territory south of Gadsby and Rumsey.

A number of farmers served Mr. Harley Gaetz on Friday night on his arrival at the farm with his bride. The word that aroused him at mid-night was conspicuous more for its absence than for its natural value. The visit evidently was not unexpected, for there was a preparation for the event in the matter of cake and cakes, cigars and music. After a pleasant time the visiting bands up to the small hours of the morning, with three hearty cheers to Harley and his wife—being proud of him as a neighbor and confident in their good judgment in their selection of a life partner.

Mrs. ADSHEAD is now preparing her schedule for the new season and will be glad to have all her pupils call upon her to arrange for regular hours of lessons. ALSO, she begs to notify all members of her ORCHESTRA, as well as any new applicants, that the first practice will be held on TUESDAY, SEPT. 16th, AT 7.00 p.m., and continued on each succeeding Tuesday during the autumn season.

The Presbyterian Sunday School Picnic will be held on Friday August 26th, at Mr. Thompson's grove, east of town. The cars will leave the church at one o'clock

Mr and Mrs. S. Price and Mr. John McRae returned from Rumsey last week, where they had spent the last two months. They report that the Canadian exhibit at Wembley was the best of the lot, and brought much credit to the Dominion.

Mr. Gilbank has returned from Edmonton hospital much improved in health and feeling very well but dought his trip was premature.

Mrs. J. C. McIntosh has purchased one of the finest residences in Innisfail, making further improvements and surrounding her home.

Mr. Jas. Mather, of Les Angeles, has returned to Stettler and may be found at the Stettler Hotel. He is now leader of the Turlock band in Les Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke and family, of Calgary, have taken the Magee residence on Taylor Street. Mr. Clarke will be in charge of operations at the C.P.R. in place of Mr. Hovell.

Crop prospects look more favorable this week than they did a week ago. The weather has turned dry and warm and the wheat is ripening, with the cut coming in late. The district north of town can show many good wheat fields and many farmers report a prospective yield of 20 to 25 bushels per acre. The average will no doubt be a little lower, but it will probably go around 15 bushels. Oats and barley will show an average yield, which—out of town the wheat yield on summerfallow will be around 30 bushels, oats and barley coming along good.

Miss Mabel Griffith wishes to announce to all former pupils that no lessons will be received from her here term. It will therefore be necessary for pupils desiring to start at the beginning of the fall term to call and arrange for lesson hours at their earliest convenience.

ENFORCING THE O. T. A.

Replying to Hon. W. E. Raney, Hon. W. F. Nickle vigorously denies that there has been any laxity in the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act. Mr. Nickle said: "Mr. Raney knows quite well that the Ontario Temperance Act, with results that refound to the credit of the province, is the responsibility He knows, because in the House of Commons he tried in vain to enforce the provisions absolutely, that the Dominion Act and the efforts of the department's officials to meet the exigency of those who would evade the terms of the law have further the manifold difficulties greatly augmented in that the province has control over wines, manufactures and importation, and I have no letter by the Prime Minister which is so refreshing as it is immediately to forgotten the enactment of the last session of the legislature of which he openly approved and publicly declared to be a great advance!"

BRANDED BY KLAN ENEMIES

A fight between two negroes in a highway between Ranlon and Paxton, while a fourth member of the party, a woman, looked on, resulted in the death of K. " Ralph Aaron, 18, son of Mr and Mrs. Frank Aaron, of Ranlon, ready to report of the attack for several days until he was compelled to visit a physician, it was learned recently. He had been branded over a week, he said, by four night assailants. He stated, he met three men who asked if he was a member of the klan. He replied that he expected to become one, at which one of the men said: "We'll get you if you do."

GADSBY NEWS

The executive of the Women's Institute in Gadsby met to commend all the women of the district that Miss Brighty will be here for two or three days delivering lectures and giving demonstrations of Home Nursing of the first. Miss Brighty is on the staff of the Provincial Department of Health and is an acknowledged authority on these matters. The subject is of such vast interest to mothers that we especially that I am sure there will be a big crowd at the Town Hall on Saturday afternoon when she lectures on "Mothers." The hour is 2 p.m. and admission will be free to all. In the evening, in the same hall, she will again speak, and give some practical demonstrations on the baby, living of the sick. The hall should be filled to capacity for both occasions.

I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Percy McMillan last week, just on their honeymoon, and intended to give them my official blessing in last week's "News" but it all got my memory I don't suppose they would have anyway, as each pressmen there's no newspapers were of little interest to them then. They are home now and down to the ordinary duties of life, and no wish them much happiness together as Mr. Mac of them. The honeymoon need not necessarily end when they begin

Mrs. Jas. Gallion is making good progress toward recovery From her operation but is still attending By Stephen a week or intervals, to have the wounds dressed.

Buffalo Lake is the Mecca at the week-ends for a host of our neighbors who swim and fish and have a good time generally All the fish are not caught in the water, either, for Allen had caught a great one and coming to land one of his passengers he decided to make it in the same, and he came back with more. He did not other two, but when he went to reviews his first capture found that someone else had caught it, the same for keeps. Hard to 9. Bill

Westwood footies! teams are a popular bunch When they get started to take a load leaving they park up and refuse to move. I don't want and then when they have a supper-off, out thing on they fall down Lastly

The hotter zone happened on Saturday when they played Gadsby. a be rustled up a round collection to play Westwood on home territory The game was late starting, owing to the difficulty in getting a line-up for Gadsby, and play finished in semi-darkness. There could be no question about the superiority of both teams as they went at it hammer and tongs, and cases of the bruises were plentiful occurrences. The spectators enjoyed it immensely when a man went down, and more so when it was two, as happened on one occasion, and at least on one occasion when both men sported the same colors. Westwood did most of the pressing in the first half and might have scored two or three, with a little better judgment in front of goal, and also providing Jimmy Watson had been agreeable. He was a veritable rock of defense for Gadsby and against him the invading Westwood forwards broke again and again, "Sandy" and Fred Pickup were unyielding, hard for a goal, and were always dangerous. Latterly Pickup scored a couple of goals, one of which was the opponent's head, out of reach of Keeper Nevin. In the second half Gadsby seemed to had the game under her and the Westwood backs were always defending, three centres being practically frequent. In a scrimmage 25 yards out Dave Donovan let drive at a center, and the teams were level, the goal-keeper having no chance. Gadsby rested on her oars, Bert Hall had having a fine long shot that just went over, a matter of inches. Both ends were visited in turn but no further scoring took place—the game ending in a draw. 1 goal each.

For Westwood Pickup was the most dangerous man, ably assisted by "Sandy" Hamed emptoyes with every center. He got off some nice runs and is learning to pave the ball when tackled. Dan Anderson, Bull and Hay, stood worked hard but the defense generally was shakier than usual. For Gadsby I might say Andy Fraser's wants was best, but that might not be due to lack of fare, as I will just say he was an outstanding man I saw Dan played as did the Burton boys, good centre-forward, and Dave Donovan scored a good goal, substituting a bit in the defence Watson was O.K. just one unusual one of the best games I have seen in Gadsby. Referee Mr. Pedersen of the Pedersen-a Ba Inod Rosters: I did not also between Gadsby and Nordish with the idea of developing fans of similar design for Gadsby.

There will be a meeting of the U.F.A. on Friday night at 8:00 in town. The principal business will be to hear a report from Mr. Albert Bent regarding the Crown Rest. Everyone is possibly can should be present—ladies also welcome.

The ties in the golf tournament have created some excitement, and good games to be had. Messrs. Smith and Todd have been the "dark horses" and have come in the final, where they meet last night in Cockcroft and Chamberlain.

Mr. Hugh McTaggart, of Content, who is visiting his brother George and neighbors this week.

The newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. Percy McMillan, had a rousing reception from their neighbors last Monday night. From the house the party adjourned to Stephen schoolhouse where they had a very enjoyable dance. Mrs. McMillan, whom Miss McLeod, taught at Stephen school at one time.

Queer Cattle Will Be Raised In North

Sir Robert Greig Optimistic as to Result of Experiments with Buffalo

NEW KIND OF COW

Sure Tender of Far North Country Caused Sale of Livestock

Queer cattle with hairy manes and double noses, which even will soon be grazing on the relatively barren Arctic tundra 1,000 miles to the north, according to Sir Robert Greig, chairman of the Scottish Board of Agriculture, and authority on livestock, who predicted success for Dominion experimental work at Wainwright in remarks considered extra, in his address to the agricultural section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science which met at the University of Alberta on August 20th.

"Generally, the plough is 20 times as efficient as the animal in producing food from a given area," Sir Robert Greig said. "But animals can make available territory which is of little use for crop growing. The present tendency in animal husbandry is to view animals from the standpoint of their efficiency for turning raw food materials into products fit for human consumption."

Working on the principle, the Department of Interior is developing a half-buffalo, half-cattle that will withstand severe northern climatic conditions. Some 7,000 animals are being used in the experiments.

"As soon as we get some buffalo blood into the cow, there will be extensive livestock development in the northern areas," Sir Robert told the scientists. "The experiments are being carried on at a large scale, and success seems imminent."

Change Anatomy

The anatomy of the cow will have to be altered to the extent of providing the hair and fine coats of hair of the game animals, so that we may freeze on the longer hours without chilling the heart, which has the short hair for protection "cow's turn tail to the wind as" frequently ask ex-hamsted on a hillside When they try to fix-fat again, they get up on their head legs fine and then somersault. Many cows dance that action.

"The buffalo knows better. He knows the world. Through the ages which the cow will have to learn. The second object is the breeding work in cattle, which is now being carried on at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Fort Vermilion, on the Peace River, and also between there and Norfolk with the idea of developing fans of similar design for Gadsby.

Hairy cattle in America are fairly common, not only by reason of being propelled by electricity but also by the fact that the pilot directly controls the propelling machinery as well as the steering apparatus, instead of transmitting signals calling for full speed ahead, stop, astern, etc. directly controls the propelling motor by means of levers in exactly the same manner as the motorman of an electric car controls its speed.

The car is 146 feet in length with a beam of 24 feet 6 inches and draws 12 feet at the stern. It will be used exclusively on the Pontchartrain Railroad Harbor, including the handling of car floats between the Pontchartrain Railroad Harbor, Industrial Canal and Algiers yards on the west bank of the Mississippi river.

First Diesel Electric Tug Proves Successful

The first Diesel electrically propelled tugboat ever built was completed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at Camden. The diminutive vessels of the propelling mechanism consists of two Winton Diesel oil engines, each driving a Westinghouse generator to supply the electric current which is then utilized by a Westinghouse 225 shaft horsepower motor to drive the screw propeller 125 revolutions a minute.

Herschel Island Pastor Has Long Trip to Edmonton

Rev. W. E. Geddes Comes to City from Arctic Circle, Where He Is in Charge of Missions at Shingle Point and Herschel Island

Having accompanied his eldest—Stanley Stronger—form the Yukon to Arctic coast, the Rev. W. E. Geddes, in charge of the church of England missions in the Eskimo at Shingle Point and Herschel Island, is a visitor in the city after four years spent at the far north.

Mr. Geddes' congregation is of the floating variety. The natives come and go on their hunting expeditions and are entirely nomadic. It is estimated that there are about 500 Eskimos who make the Mackenzie delta points their base-quarters, and most of these have accepted the Protestant faith and are rival Christians in the accepted sense of the term, he says.

Meet at River Mouth.

The frontiers of the Yukon and the North-west Territories converge at the Mackenzie's mouth with the result that that is limited area in that is remembered from the Yukon circles headquarters and with the exception of the two ports mentioned, the other settlements are under the care of Bishop Lomas of the Mackenzie diocese.

Keeping him in the far north Mr Geddes has been assisted by a lay-man in the person of W. D. Young who has been 20 years in the Arctic, but was recently transferred to the less remote post of Solbuk. While Mr Geddes is away on his vacation this work is being looked after by a native Eskimo—one Thomas Umaok—who has been independent on Herschel Island, is a devout Christian and deeply interested in the spiritual welfare of his countrymen.

Shipping Headquarters

At Shingle Point the Church of England mission has one of the finest log churches in the north. The material for the edifice came to hand in the shape of an uprooted trees, which arrived down by the Mackenzie's mighty flood were thrown up on the Arctic beach and salvaged by the Eskimos. The logs are large, from the clearing of hundreds of miles down stream they have been polished smooth and as a result very admirably suited for building in addition to the church there is also a substantial house, also built from logs.

Possessing the only harbor in hundreds of miles along the northern coast, Herschel Island is the headquarters for most of the Arctic shipping, and as a result here Mr Geddes is able to get in touch with most of the natives, Eskimos and whites.

This is the latest season known in the month; when the ebbtr left the Arctic ice was still a hindrance to navigation, and in general the season is fully twenty days later than last year, which is a serious matter for the whalers, shipping exported by the residents.

It is stated that the mission at Shingle Point is well supplied with many necessaries but lacks others, which when it has of its other posts and the advent of the annual delayed supply ship—expt., awaited by the people of Canada's furthest north settlement.

Tuesday, Sept. 2nd IS THE LAST DAY FOR THE DISCOUNT ON TAXES.

OFFICIAL ROUTE OF THE HANNA-WARDEN LINE

Seven Stations, located at Mile 6, Mile 15, Mile 22, Mile 29, Mile 34, Mile 44 and Mile 54

The "Independent" has been able to secure from Mr Bryson, the contractor in charge of the building of the Hanna-Warden railway, the complete route of the line through the various townships from Warden to Hanna. A study of the route shows that it was surveyed for only one purpose—that is to get as much business as possible. The line skirts the south end of Gough and travels from there in an almost southerly direction. It then passes to the east of Warden, a reasonable trading distance of Hanna-Strassburg, and enters Hanna from the south. It then takes an easterly course for five miles in order to reach the Hanna district, and then travels south-easterly to the south end of Sullivan Lake and on to Derwent Lake to reach the settlements in that vicinity. The contractors have planned fairly close together, the first to the district south-east of Warden, the second between Zenith and Rosalind, the third in Lee district, the fourth between Rosalind and Lake, the fifth at Goldwyn, the sixth at Derwent and the seventh at Derwent Lake, the mile-posts being 6, 15, 22, 29, 34, 44 and 54 respectively from Warden.

The Western Construction Co have been given the contract for the 54 miles of Warden and Hanna-Strassburg branch. The next line mile have been divided among five sub-contractors from the district to Hanna. The contractor, Mr. Humphreys, Mr Annable, Mr McAlister and Mr Thos. Thompson. Mr Annable has Talt's Siding west of Lee, but the grading set up in Mile 29 before the winter, and the grading at the north end of Lake will also be completed by this fall as it is liable to be wet in the spring. The total distance by the new way is sixty-two miles

Since the above was written we learn that Mr. C. Porter has also taken a contract for two miles.

Bought A Title Then Sued Hospital

The historical of titles and other "honors" for political services, for contributions to campaign funds, and so on, was much discussed at the English press and Parliament last year; and a commission investigated the subject and made mostly harmless recommendations. The matter has come up in a rather crude but amusing form in a London court. Colonel George Parkinson, a builder and engineer and director of a company, sued the Duke of Marlborough and its managing secretary, Mr. Ernest Harrison, for $7,000, which, he alleged, had been obtained from him by the fraudulent representations of the defendants that they could procure a knighthood for him. The Colonel has a good war record and several cronies. In the fall of 1931, not more than two years after he had told his friends he would try to be made Sir George, forcibly introduced him to the secretary of the college. He had never heard of it before, but the late Princess Christian, its president, must give a "call" upon certain "royal personages" before a candidate is invested.

Mr. Harrison happened, at the very moment of the interview, to be arranging for sale of a peerage for £10,000, a baronetcy for £30,000. He could furnish a knighthood for £20,000. Although the Colonel has a non-hereditary handle to one's name in the Colonel's case, he might, he gave as much as £50,000, if it was a "clean thing." On October 30th he went back to the college, in the company of his solicitor, and paid the £20,000 and the promised secretary. The supposed Colonel wasn't going to put his money in a "mug's" game, and had come to buy a knighthood. The party of the other part was there to sell. If the knighthood was genuine, he would pay £20,000 more. He got it, and on the purchase of certain premises at Rotherhead, where the college was to have its new home. The charge for £2,000 was acknowledged by Harrison as "cash on the executive letter New Year's, the time of honors, was drawing up. There were various hitches in the negotiations. A Mrs. Bolden, a lady of lovely ladies, came into the case. Here is a specimen of her communications. Colonel Parkinson, enraged from the New York Times:

"I regret to say that your very important mail a port who is over and above the usual, has refused to the matter for you and have it as a special favor" put through on ten days but it will involve trouble, that the honest they will consider when you are entitled and to be paid over to me (Sir of January 1st, Colonel Parkinson or any word of [illegible] to send me the necessary documents in his e matters are almost requested.

Smokeless Locomotive

Some of wood at C. Angus Sheep, the full sized model of one of the latest type of locomotives used on the Canadian National Railways, was on exhibition at the Chateau Frontenac on the occasion of the Quebec tercentenary celebrations of the Canadian Pacific Railway officers. Equipped with oil burners and electric lights, and a bell or bar is lacking to mar the illusion of reality, the model is a replica of the 6400 class locomotive of the C.N.R. This engine is widely used on the Montreal-Toronto run. The model was built by the railway's own workmen at the Transcona Shops. At the Toronto Exhibition, August 25th to September 3rd, the model will be on view in a transcontinental train in the Commerce's exhibit.

Fanning Mills And How To Use Them

In addition to cleaning seed grain one first, proper air blast, second, right size and combination of sieves, third right speed, and fourth, correct feed right speed, and finally over the sieves.

The supply or air blast in all machines is provided by means as much as the latter, and the latter provide. If the air blast is not sufficiently strong the chaff and light seeds will not be blown out. The air blast is controlled by the position of the valve which is part of the latter material then allowing them to be more thinned. If the air blast is too strong much will be made with each new lot of seed to be cleaned in order to find out the correct amount of air to being supplied.

It also may be found necessary to change or readjust the sieves to get the best results. A good assortment of sieves is inspective and a test should be made with different types before undertaking to clean seed in order to ascertain which are best suited the best work. The top sieves should be large enough to allow the seed to pass through, the remainder of the sample, such as chaff and pieces of straw, running over the top and out at the end the mill. Sometimes it is expedient to deliver the good grain at the back of the mill instead of at the usual feed point in order to get rid of a certain impurity that cannot otherwise be removed. The lower sieve or sieves should be large enough to allow the wood seeds or broken kernels to escape but fine enough to carry the good kernels over the top. If wild oats have been present, a sieve with triangular 3 64 inch holes slightly larger will be found a handy one to have.

The following sieves will be found useful for the cleaning of seed grain:

Wheat and Barley—The upper sieve should be a size or lat perforated sheet with round holes thirteen 64 inches in diameter. The lower sieve should be either a perforated sheet with round holes seven 64 inches in diameter or a wire cloth with meshes which will retain the right or same size kernels of wheat or barley, but allow smaller kernels, weed seeds, etc., to pass through. Such a sieve is known as a No. 7 wire sieve, that is, one having seven wires to the inch, or, using metric wire cloth, one having seven squares to the inch.

Oats—Upper sieves, nine eleven with slots seven, eight or nine sixty-fourths inch wide by three-quarters inch long. Lower sieves, perforated with slots one tenth to one thirty-second inch wide by one-half inch long.

The feed should be adjusted to allow a thin, even flow of material over the top sieve, with no crowding. A large quantity of impurities will be found to pass through when given over the sieves when running quickly over them.

The makers of good fanning mills always are always willing to give their advice as to what sieves to use. Should any particular problem arise and in case of trouble, it is often advisable to send a pound sample of the seed to be cleaned to the fanning mill manufacturer for suggestions as to sieves.

Teath Fortnightly Crop Report

Issued by Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

Aug. 28, 1934

Harvesting of the wheat crop is proceeding now in Alberta under varied conditions. In southern portions of the province, where yields run from 16 to 25 per cent. completed while in the central and northern districts harvesting operations have just commenced, and will not be general for a fortnight. In the latter areas late rains have improved the grain crops somewhat, and more could be added the filling process to such an extent that yields in some districts noted. Notwithstanding the late rains, however, there is very large area in south-eastern part of Alberta, that the yields will be extremely light, and many fields of what grain there is will be cut with headers. This portion is also the area which has been somewhat hampered in many districts by a heavy growth of weeds, which has developed as a result of the late rains.

In the central and northern districts, chiefly in the districts adjacent to and north of Edmonton, heavy rains in the past week or two have completed retarded the ripening process, and harvesting will consequently be delayed another week or two. In these districts the rain was somewhat needed has no material and in the other areas it will have improved the crop. Nevertheless, with a short period of warm weather and freedom of damage from frosts these areas will yield some very satisfactory crops of grain.

Two very satisfactory features of the situation during the past few days has been the fact that the weather has been ideal for the cutting of the crop, and the indications are that the grain harvested will be of a very good quality, both as regards grade, weight, plump condition.

The Peace River has been no damage from frosts and very little damage from rust and over the greater part of the province now free from drought.

The recent rains have been great benefit to the later maturing crops, and the pastures have filled to the first time. Even in the southern districts there is the great prospect of a fall pasture, and the cattle are in fairly good condition. Stock water is plentiful and the feed crops promise well. The root crops are also making good growth, and there is an acreage to be put under the plow this fall. Fall plowing and seeding is practically finished in the north and central districts

CENTRAL DISTRICT TO HOLD CHRISTMAS FAIR

Stettler will be located in the centre from north and of the most thickly populated constituency of Camrose, and the date, what is then deemed off on a sliding scale as it was or is to find final consideration.

For a number of years Stettler has served as an appendage to Red Deer constituency. Red Deer, the centre, is 60 miles away, and for a period of time what is known as Stettler district has been developing to a number never represented by the districts along the Calgary and Edmonton railway. Yet so far as any practical relief is concerned we have been too far away to receive much benefit from any Federal representative.

Once in a long while when Dr. Ward was our member he would pay us a visit and play humanics in the harvest shop, but that was so far as his constituency went, and the issue on the street seldom cost him at all. He was heartily impressed with the individual farmer and met at all acquainted with the individual farm. Dr. Clark was elected member as the successor to "Ted Duke" and probably developed a considerable interest in the district, but by his prominent absence and ignorance of the issues part of his constituency that the largest part of his Red Deer town.

Alfred Speakman has been the Liberal member since 1921 and his headquarters are also at Red Deer with the same geographical area. Here Mr Speakman is a more acceptable representative than Dr Clark, but not so good a speaker nor well versed on questions of the day? He has stated that part of his constituency formed from Dr Clark, but we think have been confirmed to meetings of the U.F.A., which is good as far as it goes. Like Mr Bandeen, the Provincial member, his interests are bound up with the welfare of the community due to future welfare of his people through his Land he will know that this would be a great thing for both, and would like to represent us.

Personally Mr Speakman is a good constructive man member and if we called him a representative he would be due to endeavor to keep his constituency informed. Should Stettler district be represented by Mr Speakman or Dr Clark? Let us hear from you.

THINGS WE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW

How about the rural memorial hospital question which was a few years ago? Every year there are four or five rural municipal hospitals erected, and this district should be so progressive as any in health affairs.

Whether, in addition to individual drinking cups and individual towels, we will in a short time have to endure obstacles for the need of cash citizens of the town? How would it do to have individual glasses and more bibles?

Whether the high school pupils who are being financed through school by their parents are going to attend classes this year?

Now that the town taxes are paid how would it do to lay a little aside to pay subscriptions of the Agricultural Society?

How would an early closing by-law do for the meetings of the town council this fall?

How is the fall fair question progressing in town?

Whether the man who cuts down every native tree on his farm expects no more to thinking simply in terms of grain or is a plain fool?

Whether any more rural schools are like the one near Stevens where it took a year to persuade the trustees to put a basin on the school door?

Why not drag the new road work as soon as possible after a rain?

What Other Editors Are Saying

TWO COLLARDS

Probably no other Canadian gathering had the importance which centred when the Prime Minister of Canada went to address a low-citation meeting out in a field on the outskirts of Regina. Fortunately the only serious consequence possible was confined to the body that any governmental worthy of the name should occasionally give a representative who lives his own quite on advantage to one who lives many miles away. He would be in touch with facts proper throughout the district. He would be accompanied with the progress made by individual farmers and he would consequently be offered that at a meeting which he addressed at Lacon, Ontario, in the 1911 campaign. The hall was badly overcrowded and while the premier was being one of the gathered guests.

When order was restored, Sir Wilfrid said with his shrewdness, "Gentlemen, my friends," he said, beaming per audience, which was largely composed of Bonnet Canadians, "I a prudent reminds me of a friend of mine, at Orangeport, who was passing the road one day when he saw upon a cylinder front.

Wall Lake

A social was held at the Wall Lake school Friday evening, August 31st, when the new teacher, Miss Ethel Jarvis, of Stettler. The chair was taken by Mr. C. G. Brown and a pleasant time given which was enjoyed by all present. Items rendered were by Gardener, Lambert, Humphries and Gillies, Misses Lambert and Cooper, and Mr. Gardener, the latter, in connection by Mr. Adshead. Addresses of welcome were given by Messrs. Brown and Gillies on behalf of the district, and Miss Jarvis thanked for responded to by Mr. E. Roberts, on behalf of Miss Jarvis. The Miss Jarvis games and selections during the evening. Not the least interesting part of the entertainment were the refreshments and cream. Everyone in the district hopes that the may be the prelude to a most successful term for teacher and scholars alike.

An appreciated remark made by the chairman during the evening was that all pupils from Wall Lake school who wrote on the departmental examinations (Grades VIII and IX) this year had been successful. This is a tribute to the high standard of work done in the school.

Dates to remember in September are the 11th, 18th, and 19th. Don't forget them.

GADSBY NEWS

Two young men named Kenney and Greene were charged before Magistrate Gilling in Gadsby on Thursday with beating stolen a tire from the car of Mr. H. J. Jenkins, which was parked at the rear of his house. They were arrested shortly after and Kenney was sentenced to pay $10 and costs—or, failing payment, one month in the guardhouse—or less 2 hrs. The case against Greene was dismissed after their stories at last as they went down to Drumheller on Friday night and played part of a game with the local team there. At half time a fight was called owing to the storm and Wainwood had a comfortable bed of 2-0 lead. However the storm was nothing of stake, but they arranged a meeting to be staged in Gadsby on Friday, Sept. 12th—look-off sharp at 8 p.m.—when a considerable amount of money will go to the winner. Those who saw these teams play before will be sure to be there, and all others who like to see a good, clean, stiff contest should visit Gadsby on the 12th.

Six three notes appear in print one subscription will all be in full swing again. Gadsby's consolidated school will begin their old-time principal, Mr. Reese, in charge again and Misses Reilly and Miles make up the staff. They are all excellent teachers and we hope to see a large attendance of their earnest by our pupils. After all it's up to you, boys and girls.

Miss Hattie Drinnan returned from Edmonton today, where she spent the past week-end at her summer with her aunt, Mrs. A. P. Wilson.

Mrs. Charlotte Scott is one of the many suffering fellow who will study at Gadsby school this fall.

The Crown Pool meeting called for Thursday night got washed out by the storm. It has been therefore postponed till Thursday evening, 6th inst., at 8:30 p.m.

Seymour are good hosts and showed Wainwood a fine time at the supper and dance after the game.

The fourscore promoted by the Gadsby Golf Club was productive of a very successful garden and Dinner. Cockrell and Chamberlain had to play off a tie before they knew it. The runners-up were Messrs. Scott and Todd.

AMBASSADOR SAFE FENCE THE POLICE

Ambassadors enjoy many privileges. For instance, an ambassador can be legally compelled to pay rates or taxes to the country to which he is accredited.

In 1708 Bothmann-Hollweg, then German ambassador in London, took a cleverly conceived step to avoid Thames, where he used to spend his week-ends.

The rate collector sent in his claim in due course, but Bethmann-Hollweg declined to pay, and the treasury, to whom the Walton authorities appealed, upheld him in his refusal.

Similarly, an ambassador cannot be sued for debt, nor can he be legally arrested for any crime whatsoever, but this privilege extends also to all his servants.

In 1900 the magisterial sitting at Marylebone police court felt himself obliged to discharge a footman charged with a street offence on his pleading that he was an ambassador's servant.

H. W. Wood and Co-operative Marketing

In addressing a meeting held at Olds, H. W. Wood, president of the board of trustees of the Alberta Wheat Pool, said there had been no attempt on the part of the farmers to apply effective co-operation with the result that up to the present time no individual farmer had ever even benefited of wheat except to his neighbor or bought a pair of shoes. He illustrated this point very forcibly, showing that the farmer had always had his wheat bought from him and the shoes sold to him. So far as prices were concerned he had no say whatever. He took what was given him for his wheat and he paid what was asked for the shoes.

The Wheat Pool

Mr. Wood then dealt with the wheat pool as a step toward the efficient marketing of the farmers' grain products. In mentioning what had already been accomplished he mentioned the increase in the farmer during 1928 as amounted two million dollars, which value in wealth had to be added to the general triangle for a long period of years considering the difference in the cost of production. He also mentioned the fact that the farmer who brought in his own self-sufficient enough to sell his wheat in the fall, and consequently was able to get the benefit of the early season's prices in connection with the pool. He also mentioned the fact that some farmers who were fortunate enough to be able to sell their wheat on a rising market and received a much better return than their neighbors who were puffed up on one and failed to see that through co-operation with their neighbors they stood to gain dollars instead of cents.

Mr. Wood thanked the members of the pool for their patience with the management of the pool during the first year's operation, when many problems were made. This year would see the abolishment of many of the old mistakes in the endeavor to give efficient service.

DONALDA

Harvest now is in full swing and the busy housewives are canning fruit and vegetables.

Mrs. P. Erickson was taken to Camrose hospital for medical treatment for infection from a tooth extraction. She has been in a critical condition for some time and one new physician, Dr. Scott-Moncrieff, was rushed her for special hospital nursing. We trust she will be home in a few days, wishing good health.

Rev. Sydney Bainbridge, of Bashaw, will exchange pulpits with the pastor, Rev. J. R. Hughson, and will take the service at Donna Vista, Solomon House and the Union church, Donalda, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dempsey are celebrating their 50th anniversary of wedding day with their many friends. Congratulations.

Rally Day will be held this year on the 23th of September. Special programmes are now out and by co-operation should be a very bright and inspiring service.

The Pleasant District Meeting held at Stettler this week will be attended by Mr. Walter McCarthy of Red Willow, delegate, and the pastor.

Mrs. V. E. Anderson, of Bittern, was in town last week-end, visiting relatives and friends.

Rev. J. E. Green and family, of Parkland, Alta., are spending a few days' vacation with friends at Forestburg and Solomon Mound.

The Epworth League night of Science Mound has been changed from Monday to Friday evening.

Fenn News

Mr. C. Green is progressing favorably, we are pleased to report, after being operated on last week for appendicitis.

Harvesting operations are now in full swing in this area, but we are not experiencing the ideal conditions that could be desired. The weather continues to be uncertain, slight rain showers and cold winds threatening every day. Quite a much delayed and all efforts are being made to get all the grain cut and stooked before rain.

Mr. and Mrs. Lahay and family of Strathcona motored by Mr. Thomas of Austrodale, were visitors in this district last Sunday.

Several members are having their bubbles intercepted against the chicken by rough epidemic which continues unabated. Quite a large area is under quarantine.

Meeting Held In Stettler To Protest Against The Proposed C.P.R. Service

A special meeting was held in the Town Hall, Stettler, on Monday, Sept. 1924 at 8 o'clock. H. L. Sharpe, president, presided over the meeting, and in the chair, and a large number of representatives were present from the following towns: G. G. Norris, J. B. Mackie, G. A. Thompson, W. H. Bellair, Aldo; Lewis B. James, Gadsby; Fraser, Launcelot, C. A. Molander, D. C. Anderson, H. E. Reynolds, Donalda; A. L. Morrison, W. T. Ferguson, Chas. Dunn, Erskine; A. B. Clark, Kansas; A. H. Prudden, H. J. Reid, Botha; Paul J. Farnell, C. J. Wescott, J. A. Patterson, Halkirk; Jos. Brennan, M. H. Scott, Strome; A. C. Rawlins, Lacombe; A. E. Wilson, Edberg; C. L. Wells, L. J. Rowlands, J. Wilkinson, J. Cobb, J. W. White, Mr. Gourlay, James McKibbon, Mr. McLellan, M. McLeod, D. B. Rice, D. B. Rice, R. W. Dupree, A. B. Angus, J. H. Duckworth, J. F. Miller, Geo. Ross, Stettler; Frank Burns, A. G. Thomas, Lougheed.

Mr. Blair explained the purpose of the meeting, it being called to discuss the proposed service to be given by the Time Table which, on September 11th, will replace that given daily service with a tri-weekly schedule—Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday.

The meeting was then addressed by Mr. Burns mayor of Coronation who outlined the inconvenience the proposed alteration would cause to the district affected, particularly to the towns east of Coronation. He referred to the fact that during the past twelve years the district had grown to enjoy the benefit of a large volume of business created by the district, and he considers it unjust that now, at a time when the district is developing rapidly at a lower rate, the railway service should be curtailed. He also emphasized the adverse effect it would have upon the district from the town point of view—subject to changes or correction.

Mr. A. G. Thomas, barrister of Lougheed, was then called upon to present his views. Mr. Thomas referred to the fact that the proposed alteration would cause to the district affected, particularly to the towns east of Coronation. He referred to the fact that during the past twelve years the district had grown to enjoy the benefit of a large volume of business created by the district, and he considers it unjust that now, at a time when the district is developing rapidly at a lower rate, the railway service should be curtailed. He also emphasized the adverse effect it would have upon the district from the town point of view—subject to changes or correction.

Mr. R. Nesbitt, mayor of Gadsby spoke in favor of sending a delegation including our own local member, Mr. Sanders.

At this point a telephone message was received from Clive, stating that they were unable to be present but offered any assistance in their power

Mr. G. G. Norris, barrister of Alix, addressed the meeting and stressed the importance of maintaining a daily mail service. He also pledged the full support of the town of Alix.

Mr. Edwin H. James, barrister of Gadsby, also pledged the support of his town and stressed the importance of maintaining a daily express service.

Mr. E. Matthias, former mayor of Castor, in pledging the support of Castor suggested that we obtain the assistance of the Retail Merchants' Association.

Mr. Westcott, merchant of Rumsey, moved the meeting of the town and district, which was seconded by Mr. Reynolds of Donalda and carried unanimously.

On motion of Mr. R. Bankton, seconded by Mr. E. Matthias, it was decided that the delegation be elected from this meeting and that the three local members (Mrs. Rose Purdy, Mr. Sanders, and Mr. Johnson) be requested to accompany them in Calgary to interview the railway officials, and that all expenses be met by the towns affected.

On motion of Mr. McCoy, seconded by Mr. White, it was decided that the two members from each town be appointed as a Resolution Committee.

The meeting adjourned for lunch at 12:15 p.m.

The meeting was called to order at 2:15 p.m.

The special committee submitted a draft of telegram for transmission to the Minister of Railways, Postmaster-General, and the Honorable Charles Stewart. On motion of C. J. Wilkinson, seconded by G. G. Norris, this was accepted.

The committee also submitted the following:

DOES NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING PAY?

From Mr. Kelly's Talk Before the Canton Ohio Merchants Association, Memphis, Tenn., August 28th.

A few weeks before my initiation nothing, which was several years ago, my wife handed me a post-card bunch of letters she said she had been having addressed and mailed, expressing that I drop in the store I had been on my way to some where I never answered them, but happened to be passing that way, and upon arriving, found a number of people, the most they looked anxious for all when I entered. I asked what was all there was about, and was told that a bargain sale was started.

These letters happened to be written in my fortieth birthday party. The evening of the party came, the last to call and The Almighty saw fit to pass on to us at 6:00 p.m., and nobody knew of it. We waited until seven, but my friends failed to arrive, then I sat out, behold, my wife said to me, "Do you recall a certain some-one's name who I gave you those letters to write?" They were the invitations to your party." Immediately the thought struck me. By golly, those letters are in the mail box at the corner of the office."

That incident reminds me of an old friend of mine who was on to see me some days ago, and told me about a recent trip he had taken driving from Minneapolis to Seattle via Yellowstone Park. He reported to be on it Saturday. He visited several towns on his trip, calling on all those whom he had recommended to me. Do you know there were only about three out of each one of the town I went through, and they were the only ones that had ever heard of the store—don't say a word about the merchandise they had to be doing much of anything.

This started him to thinking why, as a matter of curiosity, so I asked him the names of the towns he visited. I then went to the newspapers in each of the towns and ordered them sent me their copies of Thursday and Friday, 10 days before the Saturday I was here myself. Each of these stores. I then receipt of the newspapers I found that in four out of five papers, all the store advertising was missing. That included the publication of the sale.

The retail merchants had failed to advertise, a few newspapers nothing for paper to make good on the extravagant claims I was talking about.

Newspapers, however, are not to the habit of publishing misleading advertisements, for that reason the public has unlimited confidence in newspaper advertising.

The retail merchant who will focus on opening newspaper space for display advertising and use it consistently, and not depend upon circulars, cards, etc., will be the merchant who will be the most successful in his line. He will be the merchant who will be the most successful in his line. He will be the merchant who will be the most successful in his line.

You may think, Mr. Chairman, I digress, but I am not. I have had many successful campaigns which have resulted in increased business, and thereby resulting in studying most every publication which published splendid articles on every one. In one case my newspaper advertising for the year amounted to after the sale we made a big profit. Then we started a campaign of education and sometimes by opportunity, sometimes by subscription, and in many cases, by both, and experience and time.

Like the salesman and manufacturer a short time ago, who originated a picture of a beautiful young lady sitting on a moon and he had a big actual photograph done in colors and it was one of the most attractive that I have ever noticed. He arranged a few advertisements of these advertisements, and sent them to merchants in small towns, and in a very few days he received orders from every one. He had a successful town advertising campaign that was built on the principle of getting a lot of free advertising to his newspapers. Upon his return to the New York merchants to pay people he writes letters to the town and to the newspaper editors, telling about New York. He explains about the various newspapers that there have been in place since his last visit—he tells about the Hippodrome, the theatre, the opera, even goes so far as to give a brief history of the entertainment, as well as the economic side of New York life. Hundreds of families in his territory have formed the habit of coming to New York. He has created a personality with the people in his territory that is unequalled by any other newspaper in the country. He has the right to say very about the fact that it does not economically take money to do things—in what sounds.

VANCOUVER GRAIN RATES

Two more telegrams have been exchanged in the Edmonton-Ottawa conversation on the new grain cargo rates at Vancouver, the answer of the Federal authorities to Premier Greenfield's protests having come to hand Thursday afternoon. It was of such a nature as to draw out another protest from the Provincial Government, for it goes to show that the increased rates are being put into effect with full approval from Ottawa but without any consideration for the Alberta producers to be heard or for an investigation.

Hon. Arthur Cardin, the new minister of Marine and Fisheries, wires Premier Greenfield as follows:

"Your telegram re rates Vancouver. Representations contained therein are well on those in telegram to prime Minister fully considered. Before rates were approved we found they were lower than rates obtained at any of the ports on Pacific. We also found that they are as low if not lower than obtained at any port in the east. They are reasonable rates for services rendered, and they will be maintained until it will be found that conditions warrant a re-vision."

To the Hon. George Headley, acting premier in the absence from the city of Premier Greenfield, has sent the following reply:

"Yours re increased rates Vancouver. Understand representatives province will make representations to you. I desire to protest against increase being allowed at this time. Grain growers are entirely dissatisfied with present rates and consider increase unwarranted. Any consideration of request for increase should be withheld until after harvest."

To the Hon. George Headley, acting premier in the absence from the city of Premier Greenfield, has sent the following reply:

MOTION TO RENT TRAFFIC

Remarkable increase in the number counted traffic to Alberta's Provincial Parks has been reported. The registration of cars entering the Rocky Mountains Park gate is 50 per cent. ahead of that of the year previous. In the entire 1923 season 11500 passengers were registered at the many while up to the end of July this year a total of 7337 visitors had been registered.

Rail transit traffic into the province has also shown very heavy boosts in both Jasper and Banff Parks.

Cream Pool For Alberta is Next

50 Co-operators in Alberta—25 Branch Pools Speaker at Stettler

A meeting was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening, September 3rd, to organize a Cream Pool. The speaker was Albert Hoult, of Gadsby, who explained the proposed pool in detail and also had with him a number of contracts for signature in the course of his remarks. Mr Hoult said there were ninety co-operative operating in Alberta and twenty co-operative could easily handle all the cream business of the province. The aim is to have a big central pool and one of the large cities is not today as a selling agency, and the province would be divided up into a number of local district pools or associations to purchase the cream, and make butter.

Farmers would ship their cream to the nearest pool creamery and get cash for it, the rates as they do at present from the other companies. For Central Alberta, Mr. Hoult advocated that there should be only four creameries as follows. One at Red Deer to catch cream coming north and south, one at Alix to serve the district surrounding and C N R line north and south, one at Munster to handle the district west of Stettler and Edmonton as with another creamery at Hoi Hoi to handle the Vermilion district. Mr Hoult then got up to Mr R. D Ballantyne at par and accrued interest to the date be ratified. Carried.

Moved by Councillor Ballantyne and seconded by Councillor McElhone that the following be added to the Fire Limits: Lots 1 to 6 inclusive, Block 1, Plan 1, Sunset Addition. Carried.

BYE MOOR

Mr. and Mrs. John Jamieson entertained a few friends on Thursday evening and a most enjoyable time is reported. Music predominated.

I. D. Taylor made all the G.P.A. meeting in Gough Lake school September 5th, when Mr. Taylor gave a talk on the economic problems of the day and always interesting.

The usual complimentaries held at the Manson under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid was most successful and instructive. The district is lucky in having Geo. Moffat, who opened the time on everything from the viewpoint and knowledge, and we hope to see him again.

The occasional correspondent is an Irishman—"Pat" never went away Westwood on Friday, Sept. 12th, in Saturday. A large crowd is expected and it is to be hoped we will have the Bye Moor team there.

Leo Bowen and Fee Helm went to Rosina last Monday and received their first taste of the real Canadian country town to win the cup. The banquet, we understand, was very good.

The principle topic these days is the railway and the new town. The boys think they should call it by the name "Bye Moor." The powers that be have not been approached of the name opinion of the people.

Leo Bowen and Fee Helm started driving a set for Kaye Dunne. Leo understands his job and Edgar has got a new Dunne car.

Mr and Mrs. E. T Reilly and Mr and Mrs. Wood motored to Edmonton on auto trip to Edmonton, camping out during the journey. They found the auto camps at Camrose and Edmonton two of the most valuable conveniences of the trip. The camps at Camrose is well located among a grove of trees and water is supplied with pipes from the town system. Electric lighting is also furnished to the town, with good showers and conveniences. At Edmonton the camp is equipped in even more elaborate manner, as there are electric lights and hot and cold water with showers. They have an additional luxury. The camp is located right on the river bank and the bathing facilities there leaves nothing to be desired. Mr. and Mrs. Reilly were entertained with a number of musical selections, such as silver and linen wear, and other things handy for her new career as a housekeeper. An interesting program was also given by those in charge, including the guest of the evening. Luncheon was served about 10:30 and the party broke up at mid night.

The weather has been very unfavorable for harvesting during the past week as conditions have been wet with rain nearly every day. This rain postpone quite cutting for another week and as it is getting late there is more danger of frost. Apart from that the rain would be welcome if it had occurred at another time, either earlier or later. A number of farmers towards the south where the rains

GADSBY NEWS

The tragic accident which caused the death of Malcolm Donald McMillan, the little 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McMillan, who are well known residents of the Rapidan district, is one of the saddest things that ever happened in the community. He was seemingly bright and healthy for so young a child and joked nothing better than to tag along after "Dad" as he has found his way into the engine several times and at one of possible time which he took a boy with the position getting directly into his lungs, is supposed to have caused his death. Mr. and Mrs. McMillan rushed him to Stettler the first on the car round to see if he survived there it was found too late to afford effective aid. The poor little fellow died in a few hours. The sad incidence has been a terrible blow to his parents—Mrs. McMillan was quite prostrated—and the grief of parents, who made much of the little fellow, feel it just keenly. The sympathy of the entire community has been shown to the bereaved parents very strongly, and the friends, which have been place to Gadsby cemetery, was very large and especially sensitive of the district.

The postponed 4 room Pool meeting was held in the Town Hall last Thursday night, and Mr. Albert Scott gave a very clear and concise report of the work done in organizing the pool. The attendance was not as large as it might have been but the sentiment was strongly in favor of going on with the project and several contracts were signed right there.

The Rev. A. Lees and Mrs. Lees, pastor of the Church of England at Warren parish, visited their neighbor, Mrs. Low, who is the stenographer at the Rural Bank and spent a few days in town. They motored up from Warren Wednesday and had company to supper and to some concert in the evening. Rev. Lees is accompanied them home on Friday morning next week end.

We never very much like our old friend Bill Bath has been called to some ways with a heart attack and a stomach trouble. He is a married veteran now and must expect it.

I am sure all who had the pleasure of seeing "Peaches Hall" in the picture "Peaches" in the Grand Theatre, Stettler, last week will be pleased to hear that they are already lining up another show for us to see early in the coming winter. The play which they are at present considering is one of much higher order than the last, on that has always given all over the world, and will be a real treat to their patrons. When Mr. Roscoe Teale, the energetic manager and director, was in Calgary last month he interviewed some of the theatrical friends, and has been promised very assistance with scenery and props. In this work he is performing a boon on the community, and we appreciate the work of the Players and the manager in their efforts to provide us with such a fine class of entertainment.

A large number of our new-supply took the trip to Stettler on Friday and Saturday to see "The Covered Wagon." They all agree it was a fine picture. It has the unfortunate feeling monitor who got into the ditch, and tried to beat a culvert, on his way back. In a Dodge car not supposed to "dodge" all such impediments, and if not, why the name? We have the authority of the young lady of the party to deny the report that the driver was exhibiting his skill at the time handed staff.

That is precisely the situation today—the mountain—BUSINESS—will not come to you—you will have to go after it and go after it hard. YOU have one great advantage over the prophet—he had to take the going as he found it—you can pave the way with advertising.

BROCKVILLE FARMER SUFFERED 20 YEARS

"Lee" Booth Finally Got Relief Through Taking Tanlac

"Some time Tanlac, I feel as fit as sometimes seems like a dream for there was hardly a day in 20 years that I did not suffer in the worst way. Sickness of Lee L. Booth, Rural Route No. 1, Perth St., Brockville, Ont., one of the best known farmers in Ontario.

"For 20 years," he says, "I suffered from chronic indigestion. Sometimes I would get so bad I could not eat a thing and I got heaped almost like a cripple. Many a night it looked like I would not live to see daybreak and even I was laid up six months unable to do a lick of work.

"Home I could not buy the good Tan so has done me. It makes every meal a pleasure and I can eat anything I want. I gained and since then I have not had a moment's ache or pain. I feel body sound. I have taken Tanlac just before on the Booth."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitutes. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Insect World Gunners Use Explosive Bullets

The latest arrivals better known as the "Buck Fever" which has proved to be a source of considerable trouble to sportsmen for the early part of the season, is the discovery that the Canadian Pacific Railway has been using explosive bullets in the mountains to kill the insects which have been destroying the forests. The bullets are fired from rifles and explode when they strike the insects, which are usually found in the tops of the trees.

Crops Not Too Bad Stock Does Well

Nothing Especially Favorable But Outlook Is Not Discouraging

(Market Examiner)

Trade is therefore cause for some ... Nothing especially favorable has developed in the crop situation, but on the other hand there is nothing unfavorable to report. Harvesting operations are now in full swing in all districts, and the weather has been ideal for the work. Threshing returns are coming in, and while they are not up to the expectations of some, they are not as bad as others had feared. Taken as a whole, the situation is not discouraging.

Live stock is in good condition, and the movement to market is heavy. Prices are not as high as they were a year ago, but the cost of production is also lower, and the margin of profit is about the same. HALKIRK NEWS

A meeting of far ers interested in organizing a cream pool in Central Alberta is to be held in the hall above the Halkirk Stores on Saturday night, Mr Scott of Shooting Lake, south of Gadsby, who is one of the promoters of the district, addressed the meeting, outlining the proposal and answering the questions of those interested.

A large hall Rev. Mr. Scott said that there was a much greater interest among Alberta farmers as well as Ontario and the co-operative movement in Alberta had been the salvation of many who were involved in the recession.

In com pany with six provincial directors, Mr. Scott has worked out this new scheme to eliminate the unmarketable features. The work began early in the year but has been delayed through several causes, so that it is only now getting well under way. Asked how the movement was to be financed, Mr. Scott said that he had not seen any town boards with the other provincial directors with whom he was joining the other parts of the territory which is prospering in clude in the Central Alberta pool, but that so far he had heard the prospects of cream were coming up nicely.

Mr. Scott said that it was recommended by the provincial directors as a start they be pledged to the pool for one month cream to make three pounds of butter, and pounds of butter to a week as a minimum beginning could be made.

The number present at the meeting was not large, but some valuable points were secured. The fact that this work is being done during such a busy season as that was taken into consideration by the directors in their attendance.

Dr. R. E. Woods has the sympathy of the district in the loss of his family with—oh well, he didn't say who.

We are all for [illegible] but my disappointment [illegible] a left for town Mrs Duncan called the children for school and the little boy was sent for the cows and never returned. Upon going to the pasture the sad fact that the little fellow had passed away became plain to the mother. There was no evidence of a struggle. The child was notified as soon as possible, and the doctor called, but he was unable to do more than pronounce the cause of death. A post mortem examination will be held today (Sept. 9th) The funeral will be held from Rose church on Wednesday, Sept. 14th, at 2 p.m., Rev. J. V. Harvey officiating

You who are reading this must do your share in seeing that the last is secured and that no one who should be placed on this list is omitted. The G.W.V.A. is making every effort to have a record of last and you who were at home during the war are in a better position to know who should be on this Roll. Please help.

The district to be included in the district from which we draw will be bounded on the west by Buffalo Lake, Tail Creek and the Red Deer River; on the south by the line between Townships 35 and 36; on the east by the line between Ranges 16 and 15; on the north by Battle River, and south-west on the river mail it crosses the township line between 37 and 38, then west on this line to a point north of the east end of Buffalo Lake, then south to join the north end of Buffalo Lake.

Send in your list or canvassers at once to Dr. C. A. Hughes, Secretary-Treasurer.

To Aid Sugar Beet Industry

Having in mind the encouragement of the sugar beet industry on the irrigated lands of Alberta, particularly those of the Lethbridge Northern district, and in the hope that the Utah-Idaho Sugar Co. will erect a more factory next spring, the Minister in charge of Agriculture has purchased a machine recently manufactured and designed to reduce to a minimum the labor of harvesting of the beet. The machine is a one-horse plough, and the other side is a flat-bladed digger that lifts the beets from the ground and delivers to the attachment which can be adjusted to lift the beets and load them into a wagon. The machine is so adjusted that in the process of gathering the tops of the beets, the beet itself is separated from the ground.

The machine will be rented to farmers that have put in trial crops of beets this year, and if proved satisfactory it is expected that groups of farmers growing beets will join in the purchase of further machines.

There is another feature of the machine this machine and that is the use of the beet tops left lying on the ground after the loading process. It will be possible to also load these tops into small flocks of sheep on the staff, which is ideal food for fat purposes. Mr. Hedges, Minister of Agriculture, has already arranged for the trying out of the machine.

WEDDINGS

Honeywell—Fisher

At the Methodist parsonage on Tuesday, September 10th, Rev. A. A. Lyle united in marriage Mr. Lome Fisher and Mr. Charles Warden Honeywell, both of the Gough Lake district, east of Big Valley. Both Mr. and Mrs. Honeywell are well known and popular young people in their community and their many friends wish them their heartiest good wishes. The register was signed by Mrs. Bond and Mrs. Lyle.

Barker—Barnes

At the Methodist parsonage, Stettler, on Wednesday, September 17th, Rev. A. A. Lyle united in marriage Mr. Albert Barker, of Castor, and Miss Barnes, of Castor, were united in marriage. Rev. A. A. Lyle performed the ceremony.

Experience points the way

RECENTLY a man left his son a portion of his estate on condition that he save $500 out of his own earnings within five years.

Why? Because he knew from experience that one must first learn to save before he is capable of handling either money or affairs successfully. Systematic saving develops responsibility and careful judgment, and gives that confidence which leads to success.

GADSBY NEWS

The boards of trade, councils and business men generally acted with commendable promptitude in making a combined protest to the C.P.R., the Board of Railway Commissioners, and the Federal and Provincial Governments against the proposed to haul the passenger train service on the Lacombe branch to 3 trains per week. The morning hold-up Stettler was very representative and a strong committee was organized to take the matter in hand, and a deputation appointed to go to Calgary and interview the Western manager of the C.P.R. I have not heard what that official said to the deputation but the hotel was a very busy place and the service will be resumed. Whether this is merely a temporary arrangement I cannot say, it is to be hoped it is permanent, but even a 3-day through passenger train service per week and a 5-day mixed train service would be an improvement on what the company intended. The fight must be kept up nonetheless until this matter is settled definitely.

At the meeting in Stettler, Gadsby was represented by Mayor Boulton (who is married), Dudley Hare (a patsy by Baron P. L. Parnell) and Roy (David Brennan.

Mr. Geo. Tyler an old-time farmer in the district, has been visiting his old neighbors in town and the country immediately south. Geo. is now living around up north at Bruce, near Vilna; I believe He has entered one half in all for all purposes and of a very fine kind. It is quite an advantage Bruce is where any old baseball and hockey star Hugh Rhys, was transferred to from the Royal Bank at this point by hope others are said to be very good.

Mr and Mrs. W. F. Cudmore have returned to town again after about 3 months' journeying in the East and in the States. It is a busy business man, and one who is also directly interested in farming Mr Cudmore's observations on what he saw and heard are very interesting and very valuable. I feel he was exhaustively glad to be back here again and on talk or sitting up talks.

Mr. Wilson Dean, has returned to Calgary from the Peace River country of course it is only a temporary stay. He has left his household goods in storage in the district and has come to give them personal attention. It is good to see he brought part home. I don't think there is any truth in the report that "Billy" intends starting a Watering Cart on Gadsby this winter but he may have, now of Edmonton, is visiting members of her family in this district.

Miss McKay of Lacombe arrived here on Thursday to take up her duties as teacher at Little Valley school. Mrs. Berry has been departing for her many school opened on Sept 2nd. Miss McKay is an experienced teacher 1st class, and I believe has quite a talent for music. We are all very glad to add to our list of newcomers who are able and willing to give the community the benefit and pleasure of sharing in their special gifts, we have many such in our midst and are profoundly grateful.

I understand that Mr Francis Hoover will open a practice of chiropractic treatment at Stettler, which is "just the thing at home." We wish him good luck.

Rally Sunday for this year will be held in Gadsby church on Sunday, 28th and Rev. G. A. Steele announces a special program of music and a very attractive service. Come to church that day, sure.

It is those quiet fellows that are always putting things over. Mr. Ben Potter announced one day last week he had to go to Calgary about repairs for his binder. When he returns I daresay he is accompanied by his bride. It was an binder business all right, but not quite the type understood by his neighbors. We hope, however, that the kind will be more satisfactory than some of the local machines are trying these days. Good luck Sam.

Hurwood and Ryc Moore met on a keen football struggle at Gadsby last Friday night to decide the question of local supremacy—and a stake of $100—a-piece to take the pot. The game was advertised to start at 8:30 to enable a full-time game to be played but some of Wetaweka's team failed to appear in time and at 8 p.m. they had to start with two professional substitutes, D. Drennan and Erich Dreyer serving you ten. Rye Moor got off to play and had the best of matters for some time, scoring a fine goal through Byers in about 5 minutes. Early in the game Rye Moor lost the services of their clever young back, Elgie, who received a bad kick in the stomach—partly accidental. Despite the handicap Rye Moor scored another good goal, through their centre, Brown, after some fine combination work. The shot struck the side of the goal and went outside. The visiting keeper having no chance. At half time Hurwood took Elgie's place at left back and Rye Moor played more as one combination. Before coming over Wetaweka had very hard luck at failing to score from a splendid run and shot by Pelzer, the ball striking the upright and rebounding into the field where it finally was cleared.

Wetaweka has much the best of the second half but failed to score, though they had many runs. Helm in goal played a great game, clearing in fine style repeatedly. He was lucky in escaping being penalized for carrying at one point—it is not often that fellows Walker overlooks anything. Brown was always very active in keeping the centre men away at times forwards of Wetaweka at half. The game ended 4 to 3 in favor of Rye Moor by 2 to 1 I think the score was not, but also what they were before them Wetaweka. It was a good, hard, clean game and the log created success by using it. Though Wetaweka accepted the result without question, I am glad to report a very graceful and sporty action on the part of Rye Moor who voluntarily decided to split the purse with their opponents 50-50, both for the game and the previous one in which Rye Moor won by a penalty goal. It shows that with those boys "the play's the thing." We hope to see much more of such action in the future. The line-ups were as follows:

Rye Moor: Goal: Helm; Backs—E. Hurwood and Elgie; Half Backs—Hurwood, Ball and Brown; Forwards—Bush and Jamieson; Extra Wing—J. Tedford and W. Lane; Centre—Brown. Left Wing—Alexander and Bush.

Mr. IRVINE AND CO-OPERATION

The leaders of political labor in Alberta are chiefly back-to-the-land "industrials" and Socialists. The labor party in the province is not strong enough in the city of Calgary, where it is represented in parliament by Mr. William Irvine, member of the Dominion house.

It is unfortunate in some ways that Mr. Irvine is also the principal spokesman for the U.F.A. government of Alberta. Mr. Irvine is a fluent and entertaining speaker and as the real brain propagandist of the province whether his propagandas take the form of speeches or of newspaper articles. As there is a good deal of agricultural discontent it is very doubtful that this article could find utterance anywhere and as Mr. Irvine can present the case in a more attractive and convincing form than anyone else in the province of Alberta, what is more natural than that he should take advantage of the situation and act as the "Official Spokesman" of such labor and farm unrest as there is in the province. Mr. Irvine is the one of such men in the province who knows about the grievances of the agricultural worker. Mr. Irvine has no real sympathy for the farmer as a tiller of the soil. He does need to have it. He is a farmer himself and does not realize that the farmer is more than a mere employee and contending front

Below will be found a brief synopsis of telegraphic reports received at the Head Office of the Bank of Montreal from its Branches. The branch managers have complete and intimate knowledge of each local situation and are in close touch with crop conditions in all sections of the districts each week.

General

Harvesting operations in the Prairie Provinces are proceeding under favorable weather conditions, yields and grades show non-uniform variation. In Ontario and Eastern Provinces rains have delayed harvesting, and crops show need of superweather. In Quebec four crops are abundant but potatoes are being damaged by moisture. In Ontario fruit, corn, roots and buckwheat need two weeks of warm bright weather In the Maritime Provinces prospects generally are favorable. In British Columbia harvesting is proceeding under favorable weather conditions.

FINANCING THE FARMER ON FIRST MORTGAGES

I often contemplate with pleasure the advantageous and happy time when farmers will use their bank deposits as a backing for the economic production during their normal or extending periods and hand-hold financing partnership between farmer and bank, to their mutual benefit and profit, with much credit to the former. To state the proposition categorically, would be considered nonsense and no wide experience in financial affairs. Any level-headed business man, manager of ordinary or unpredisposed farmer of ordinary intelligence can readily see for himself just where the problem lies. Reasons are, he should get busy with his member and insist upon same being done to correct the situation.

The Saskatchewan Economic Conference

At the Economic Conference held in Regina recently, Mr. Edwards, President of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, during his opening address, said as follows:

"We have also in this Western country the handicap of having had to pay rates for the money that we have required to develop our farms that are either agricultural or commercial in the world. We claim we cannot afford to pay 8% interest on either short or long period loans, and we believe that nothing must be done, and done very quickly, to secure the Western application of money at as low rates of interest as the American continent. I cannot emphasize too strongly the absolute necessity of immediate relief, and possibly the most outstanding thing that I believe will flow from this Conference will be the result that may be obtained in the way of relief for lower interest rates until we reach a point in agricultural stability where the present high rates will be materially reduced."

Reduction of Interest

As to an examination of farms and farm owning a period of twenty-five years or more, if I am not mistaken there is a Federal law which makes this impossible. It is provided under the Bankruptcy Act that a debtor shall lose the privilege of paying off his mortgage on certain conditions, namely after the expiration of five years from the date of the agreement. Obviously, this makes long-term loans impracticable. During a conversation with the late Sir Edmund Walker, then President of the Bank of Commerce, he remarked on a number of occasions that he would be acted on if there was a fully secured loan company and had always pointed out the absurdity of the present short term loans. He was fully convinced of the desirability of longer loans on farm mortgages than ours. Doubtless the loan companies would have to obtain legislation to re-establish the period of loans to meet Mr Edwards' suggestion. It would save a great deal of expense and much worry all around. The first step is to amend the present Federal Act. But the farmer will then be told that this law was "framed in the interest" of his interest. The fact of the matter is, that we can't have both promissory and cold cash. That is a lesson we all have to learn. When any contract tends to encourage borrowers to repay with interest in full. Any "protection" that proves an obstacle to this reasonable expectation is apt to prove very unpopular with the lending public. The interest question, as that in the end of the Federal law, is another one that will provide money at a more reasonable rate of interest, and which will make it necessary for the loan companies, if they expect to continue doing business in this country, to reduce their rates also. The Federal farm loan system in the United States had the effect of reducing the rate of interest on farm loans, and also of making provision for the borrower to pay a long-term loan on the amortization plan, even before the Federal government came to bring into operation some measure of relief. BENEFIT FROM TANLAC LASTING, HE ASSERTS

Gainsville Man Says It Put Him in Such Fine Condition I Never Felt Better in My Life—Tanlac Has Wonderful Appetizing Influence

"Well, sir, it looked like I was going to have to give up my job, but Tanlac kept me on the payroll and, of course I'm strong for it," is the emphatic statement of Wm. Chumbler, 44 Lamb St., Brantford, Ont., who for 20 years past has been employed by the Canadian National railroad.

"My stomach went wrong 16 years ago and then I gradually got out of line in lots of ways. I couldn't eat or sleep to do any good for nervousness and indigestion and had put in whole days at street growth! The area was planted in the fall, and then opened up to the fall rains which brought the seed, and remaining off as was the case with the other plot.

Timber Growth in Bay Spoke

This same man planted a second time this spring, at the same time as the other plot, and then I took him to Mr. Bennett additional water that has maintained growth right through the dry period, farmers farmers are finding that it pays to let the land that they have to grow to corn rank fall, and then to plow in the spring. The losing of the moisture in the soil, by gradually sinking in, becomes a consequent of water supply the following season.

Fall plowing on the colder regions, and where there is any long bound light to hard freezing, is beneficial because it shocks the fall rains into this water reservoir of the soil. Snow and ice, as they melt, flow off the soil, not into it. Summer water is a problem in the snow and we nurture about as to the proportion of it is in the snow-bound portions of the Green Fields district.

Where soils are reasonably well tilled with vegetable matter and proper contours are taken to set water into the soil and keep before a summer crop is planted, the risk of water shortage is reduced and a generous harvest may be anticipated with naturally added to the year's revenue.

GADSBY NEWS

As one of the oldest settlers in this district, Mr. T. E. Hillman has a wide circle of friends and well-wishers who will be pleased to learn that he has sold his farm and sold chattily leave into Gadsby. The death of Mrs. Hillman a little over a year ago was a severe blow to Mr Hillman. The hope that all his attached farms and homes of their own and we do not blame him for wishing to change his surroundings at times. When he goes, and wherever he goes, our earnest best wishes will go with him for his future welfare and prosperity. Mr. Hillman's portion of his section farm has been bought by two young Englishmen, who will work it on a partnership basis. They are Mr Greenstone and Mr Hoffler. They appeared to use when introduced to two good types of citizens, and both appeared to hope to get acquainted with their neighbors and make themselves useful in the community. Mr. Hillman was a little behind with his field work and they will dig in and help him to catch up.

Only Women Who Ever Ran For Presidency

What would happen if a woman ran for the presidency of the United States?

Mrs. Victoria Claflin Woodhull, in 1872, as the nominee of the Equal Rights party, was the first woman to dash for the White House. That she was defeated by a large majority did not jail her about the time the country elevated upon Ulysses S. Grant for his second term, and she was hooted at the picturesque story of one of the most picturesque figures in early New York.

Her career as a series of dramatic high lights. She was the first woman broker in Wall Street, and she made $700,000 in a few years. She was considered one of the most sensational public speakers of her day. She published rapid rates for printing details of the Gadsby Fall Fair Association has preached radical free how destroyers throughout the country to themselves that the Gadsby Fall Fair is a real appliance she repeatedly defied newspaper. Hall and Wrigley's York pre-department. And baby, Mr. Gray is a daughter, and the interesting circumstance that was ugly with the news that two servants, and women at that, had had the temerity to presumption to imagine that they could survive more than a week in the competitive conditions of Wall Street. It was considered ridiculous, not caste nice.

Contemporary newspaper estimates of the number of visitors at the new headquarter office on the opening day vary for 4,000 to 10,000. Within six weeks the new floor had taken $750,000. To the practised speculators this was an unspeakable insult to their masculine vanity. And the newspapers only made things worse by printing pictures of the Misses Claflin, Victoria, and Tennie drawing a chariot which was supposed to be one of the most prominent operators of the Street.

"Woodhull and Claflin's Weekly" came out in May 1870, and, like its prosperity, was considerably of the unconventional. Its circulation jumped to 20,000 copies—during the first week.

In the spring of 1872 came Victoria Claflin Woodhull's great triumph, the publication of the political career. On the 11th and 12th of May at Apollo Hall in New York she was nominated for the presidency of the United States on the Equal Rights ticket by a convention of 500 delegates representing twenty-six states and forty-four women. The acceptance speech was a model of eloquence and brilliancy. The crowd cheered and roared and waved flags, three bats and handkerchiefs—but the air and applause carried the presidential candidate from the platform even there enthusiasm was at its height. Then she was about to down. Women had come into her own. She was home to the White House. It was glorious, inspiring, tremendous!

Then—and the crowd stopped cheering and the movement dissolved into a twenty-six cornered fight—the conspirators fell with a dull thud. Victoria Woodhull dropped from the political limelight forever. Tennie C. Claflin Chapman which had carried her to the White House, and the fact that the name for the presidency was dissipated apparently by internal party strife and bickering.

When election time came the dramatic Victoria was in jail, charged with the Ludlow Street jail pending the trial. Her sister Tennie was in court, and someone threatened to poison them or burn them alive in their cells. All the newspapers were full of their story of using the mails for the circulation of obscene literature. Finally, When they were finally brought to trial the case was dismissed on a technicality.

In the years that followed she was a prominent figure in England, but after preaching a but she conceived no more of the political movement. She died in 1927, at the age of 89.

A Timely Invention

An invention which would have been of great benefit this harvest has recently been patented by the Alberta Department of Agriculture, through the efforts of Hon. George Hoadley, minister of agriculture. It is a combination of a grain sweeper and a cleaner, designed to clean wheat of all seed weeds without interfering with existing seed cleaning apparatus at the separator.

The improvements with this attachment has been in the hands of W. H. Boyden, of Calgary, for some years, and has been brought to such a satisfactory stage that several are being manufactured for next year's season. The machine is designed with the ultimate purpose of freeing the province of the weed menace with the eventual saving of millions of dollars that should also have the effect of freeing for use in feeding the screenings which can only now be used under strictest regulations because of their weed seeds.

Mr. Hoadley's chief hope is eventually to see a machine in every farm will make it possible to deal with weed seeds in grain once and for all on the very farm on which they are grown. This will be a great aid to weed seeds travelling about in the grain after it leaves the farm.

PLEASED WITH TAM BANKS

Alberta's tar sands near Waterways have been attracting considerable attention from experts this season. The latest to visit the deposits was Roland T. Day, prominent mining engineer of New York City, who recently returned from the north expressing the confident opinion that there was no question as to the richness and extent of the bituminous zones on a large scale.

Less Pot-washing

SMP Enamelled Ware has the smooth surface and polish of the creamery—and the brush! Age. And it is so very easy to clean—just like china, and therefore takes light work of pot washing.

Try this test. Take an SMP Enamelled pail or pan and an all-metal saucy pan of equal size. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Put an icy in the same time. The SMP sauce pan will be clean, and all the water will be hot. On the other is just beginning to simmer.

Deep Plowing Repays With Greater Yield

Toronto Soil to Full Furrow Runs to Record for the Following Season

There is more to plowing than merely turning the soil. By means of the plow, the grass, weeds and trash are put into the soil where they rot and soon give more nourishment to the surrounding crop, and the vegetable matter loosens, mellows and improves the physical texture of the soil. Vegetable matter is what gives "heart" to the soil.

But plowing spares the compacted earth to the rainfall. Water is one of the most important factors of a good harvest. In areas of limited rainfall there often is not enough water that falls during the growing season to develop a crop to its maximum growth. This is true also in regions of much rain. Lack of water in the soil and a small rainfall means a light crop yields. It has ever been so and will always to be.

The effect of getting water into the soil is shown by comparing two plots. One of these plots was plowed for corn as ordinarily done in the spring and not enough water has been available to carry the crop through the season. How different with the plot

When Albert Edward Visited United States

Sixty-four years ago the following letters were exchanged, the first dated from Osborne, Whit. Sunday, September, and the second from Buckingham Palace:

"To Her Majesty, Queen Victoria: We have learned from the public journals that Prince Albert of Wales is about to visit Your Majesty's North American Colonies. Should it be the intention of His Royal Highness to extend his visit to the United States, I need not say how happy I should be to give him a cordial welcome to Washington. I feel sure that everywhere in this country he will be received by the American people in such manner as cannot fail to be agreeable to Your Majesty. In this they will manifest their deep sense of your domestic virtues, as well as their conviction of your merit as a wise, patriotic and constitutional sovereign. Your Majesty's obedient servant, James Buchanan."

"His Good Friend: I have long been satisfied that the grandson of the illustrious Washington would be received in the New York Times, who had a fast-growing circulation, would be thought suitable to the occasion, the Prince of Wales visited the American society attended. After giving the descendants of the dauntless floor he would have "The ocean, with its brilliant decorations, was magnificent throughout. There was a sea of heads in a sea of colors—the light flashing back from the gayest and richest of dresses, from pearly white shoulders and brilliant uniforms, and from the jewels and crowning the story in bright-hued flame. Never have families shown themselves to St. Petersburg, for although a single Tsarevitch parent would have driven any particular danger or damn before you quite knew what was worry, yet the diadems of diamonds was so wide that, glanced from a distance, they looked like an effective element in the coup d'oeil of the ball like splendid review which they recently astounded the city in the czars of Tiffany's was most charmingly and tastefully arranged by the taste of Mrs. Belmont, and those who even have seen the wonderful room in private place on the right of the stage, a reception, by the way, much affected during the troublous months of 1917 by numerous fair ladies, partly perhaps from shame and partly from its subsistence as a capital setting to its natural strength.

Walks and Talks on The Farm

The Harvest Is Over

Well, we are all through with the harvest now, and I guess we are all glad of it. To-day I was talking to a farmer who has been threshing for a week, and he told me that he had 1,000 bushels of wheat from 40 acres. That is a pretty good yield, but it is not the best I have heard of this year. I have heard of 50 bushels to the acre from several districts, and I have no doubt that there are many more that I have not heard of.

Of course, the yield is not the only thing to consider. The quality is very important, and I am glad to say that the quality of the grain this year is very good indeed. The wheat is plump and bright, and will grade high. The oats are also very good, and the barley is fine. Of course, there are some fields that are poor, but on the whole the crop is very satisfactory.

Now that the harvest is over, we can look around and see what we can do to improve the farm. Are we growing better crops of corn and roots and clover? Are we raising more pure-bred stock than our parents? What do you think?

HALKIRK NEWS

Mr George Rider, whose has returned France, Germany, Austria, Italy at the war has been giving him a good deal of trouble recently, has gone to the Colonel Belcher Hospital at Calgary for treatment. It is hoped that recovery will be speedy and complete.

The correspondence having spent some time with the boys in the trenches in this hospital is able to the war left them sore for Halkirk's deceased friend, also others on efforts to cover her wounds with old flowers and other vegetation. The graves of several friends were sought and found. The wooden crosses erected at the time of burial are now being replaced by marble slabs in all the British burial grounds this cemetery visited contained the graves of forty-eight thousand German dead. Asked regarding the damage in Europe today, Mr Hervey said he would not care to make any very sweeping statements, but remarked he believed that France and Belgium were improving while a spirit of depression was very noticeable in England due to the heavy tax burden and the labor situation.

Miss McKay, of Leduc is teaching in the Little Knife school south-west of town.

We learn from the Lousley correspondence in the Bowker Independent that Mr Francis Bowery, of the Susquehanna district, north-west of here, is setting up his shingle as a Chiropractor at Bowker.

Mrs. Ambrose, wife of the garage-man who recently moved here from Wetaskiwin has been ill for some days. Mrs. McColeman is assisting with the household duties.

Mr. Gregg Biles, who is in the employ of the C.P.R., working on the section, has been forced to lay off on account of trouble with one of his legs. Mr Biles had the misfortune to have broken some years ago in the car, but thought the recovery was quite complete. The only explanation of the present trouble is that the work on the section is too heavy for his limb.

Prompt use of chamberlain fire extinguishers resulted in putting out a fire in Mr. Hoffmann's barn on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. V. J. Rowe was looking at a small building used by Dr. R. H. Walsh as a shop with a view to purchasing it for a granary when he smelled smoke. Upon making further investigation, it was found that the log in Mr. Walsh's shop, which is right up against the coal house, was smouldering about eighteen inches below the surface. A few minutes were warned of the fire and chemical extinguishers were brought into action in a few minutes flame of the logs was showered and soon the smouldering wood was removed to ensure its smothing. There is not a replacement of the shop of the Dr. Walsh.

The correspondent had his first taste of smoking on Tuesday and was sorry to be able to get over it so soon. Proceed to so does it take. The owner of the grain seed it was his best friend. If the Hunter is any judge of

DONALDA

The month of October is coming in stormy, and threshing operations will be in full swing in a few days.

Among the visitors whom we welcome, and hope will stay a long time, are Mr. and Mrs. Chester and Mrs. Hervey Congratulations.

Mr. Mark Pickering is renting an well as can be expected after the results of a painful fall from a load of wheat thus sustaining a broken leg just above the ankle.

Robert Finch, of Belmore Mound, and his friend man, Mr. Hutchinson, motored into Donalda last Saturday to have the car put into thresh a defective electric circuit. Mr. Finch is a motor and other motor trouble, and Mr. Chaffee also suffers a motor complex.

The Rally Day services were well attended at all points and the program rendered by the young choirs and also collections were very well appreciated. The poster gave a very impressive address on the subject, "Our Neighbor," taking the word "Neighbor" and using each letter to represent a real and vital quality essential to the realization of a Christian neighbor. The special offering which was very generously given will be sent to the General S. S. Fund. The Union Church was very beautifully decorated with a leafy arch and a lovely display of flowers.

Messrs. R. H. Harmon and Rev. L. N. Houlton motored on Monday to Innisfree, returning Tuesday. Mr. Harmon's son, Warren, returned with them.

We are glad to know that Mrs. Rae Lennox is convalescing splendidly after a most serious operation We certainly hope that she will soon return home and enjoy much better health.

Do not fail to mark on your calendar that dates of our Harvest Thanksgiving Tea and Supper and Concert, Friday, October 10th, and the following Sunday, October 12th, as services of special interest. May we show our gratitude by making a real contribution. Parents, Pastorates and Personality to our church and community

There will be a combined Rally Service at Bell Willow this Sunday with the regular services at Sorrento Mound and the Union Church. Sunday school will be held in the Union S. S. at 11:30 a.m. All are cordially invited to these services. Rev. L. N. Houlton, Pastor.

There is a great deal to be said for young people lecturing old people, and old people lecturing young, provided that in every case the lecturer has insight and sympathy, just a touch of humor and something vital to say.—Sir Michael Sadler.

The Olds School of Agriculture opens on October 28th. Its Provincial Schools, Extension and Experimental Farms are a necessity whose importance is rapidly increasing.

In view the need being considered that students may attend, preparatory classes are very necessary. Already one hundred applications for entrance have been received and more are coming in daily. This shows that the work of the School is being appreciated, and is directly due to the energetic and far-seeing policy of the school Authorities. Lots of more students would well be accommodated this year, but owing to lack of room it is impossible to do so.

The residence for girls was completed and is very practical and convenient. The attention given to the physical welfare of the students this year is essential, in order that the best results may be obtained in their studies. Technical work will then be of more value. Those who have had experience in actual farming will prove an asset to the class.

The location for boys' residence is also very practical and convenient. Walking will then be a pleasure instead of a task. Those who have had years of experience to give you the same information! Talk with any ex-student regarding the value of the Olds S.A.

BYE MOOR

Sam Telford took a bunch of Bye Bottles to see the Exhibition in Stettler on September 22nd and 23rd. Sam says he got first prize for bottle—but it's stands to reason that Sam's bottles would be exhibited by Sam's cows. Anyway, Sam's bottles are appreciated by the hospitable folks who attended to them on many occasions.

The Bye Bottles finished up the season by beating Heart Lake in the Post Heart Lake. The match is reported to have been a very close one throughout, and Sam Telford, Jack McNeil, and Ben Jamieson are to be congratulated on their splendid performance. They accompanied Cavalcanian is the secret to success in this water world. The Cavalcanian and Jim Telford, Les Brees and Fen Hobbs, play just to help the game along.

Brave Statesman with His Roy of Headwear, Says Wooley's Worth

(By Isabel G. Armstrong)

"By the — well, New Yorkers are wearing the derbs not by the Princes, anyway, so when his headgear and his pants," chortled Harry Bannon of the South Parks Trading Company and owner of one of the finest establishments of ladies' furs and crafts in the west country, was taking his ease on his horse's back in Red River after a strenuous day in Calgary He had sailed for the hunting grounds and upon entering his castle, and followed by the specially constructed 10-gallon high-hats by discarding his suit, collar and vest.

"Wonder what they'd say," he continued, "if they knew it took old Harry Bannon to show that kid how to put on a Stetson hat. And to sell him one, too. What, you never heard about that?" turning almost belligerently to the tenderfoot from the East. "Well, kid all you say? Who do you think I'm talking about, anyway? The Prince. Who else is there?"

Pays Friendly Visit.

Early next morning Harry Bannon would be on his way through the Alberta ranch country with piles of colored Indian blankets and other furnishing supplies, to call the south of the South Parks Trading Company, which looks out to the foothills and the snow-capped Rockies. Perhaps that very day he would be seen doubling up in his car and ware his hand on — usually, Perhaps he would even soon and pay a visit! Round the Country

The daily newspapers have been filled recently with reports of the sitting of the court or commission on the Crows Nest Pass Agreement.

Probably a lot of people don't know what the Agreement is about. Briefly, very briefly, some years before the war, when the C.P.R. was building the Crows Nest Pass railway, they secured a loan from the Dominion government under the arrangement that certain rates west of Fort William should not go above a certain schedule. At that time the rate from Montreal to Fort William and to the C.P.R. was cash in advance. But the rates were fixed at that time by the Canal rates, and while they are considerably lower than they were when the agreement was made, they are still much above the schedule for the other lines, on account of the higher expenses in connection with the C.P.R. lines, and the C.P.R. are the only one of the C.P.R. in this part of the country that they can't make the government reduce any of their rates as compared to carrying out the good old principle "all that the traffic will bear."

The dispute is another instance of the thought of the country being centred in Ottawa. Whether the board considers or not the fact that the railways are to be all there present and future—that the country is being settled rapidly and that the Agreement was made in the first place.

Chaos is going through a phase of strong Governor and cabinet. Parliamentarism is not based on personal government, but on party rule by party cabinets. Group organization based on interest and farm as it is in China, Russia and Italy is full-fledged dictatorship and chaos.

The hundreds of years Great war a Parliament and the Chinese were held together by a personality, a man who was the object of worship and who was given personal privileges and extra personal powers. Parliamentary and monetary and bureaucratic would prove more profitable to them than personal government. The people generally figured that if the whole system of emperor worship could be overthrown by might that system must be right, and hence government by business men a matter of principle but of force. Democracy is the only system, we think, with rival mandarins or bureaucrats warring with each other.

Russia used to say that the world is not governed by reason but by the acts and habits of thought. When Russia, reason and, lastly, China grew up the business of centuries, chaos resulted. Settled government will come later and a revolution is the most expensive and ineffective method to bring about salvage of system.

Half a billion dollars is being spent each year on foreign travel by Americans we are told, and the sum is increasing. The present rapacity should mean one-fifth of this amount is supposed to be spent in Canada, which is the nearest to the most densely populated centre of the United States, and whose provinces seem suitable situations for the U.S. inhabitants—namely, cannery, climate, and considerably more freedom from red tape government. The American visitor to Alberta can go on driving on the same side of the road, he can go on eating his own money, can go on keeping his own papers and magazines and future to his own country in his own general plans. He can drink his own coffee, and some kind of beverages that years ago he not see his no longer. He can also go in Alberta the greatest cosmopolitan country of the world.

If Canada is getting one hundred million dollars from this source per year it will be a fairly good thing.

Alberta is getting just what it deserves to get. Hungry has given up the best economy in the Dominion and the best climate. Nevertheless, the Province is taken in hand by men the best of the Dominion are not to be admired. Alberta needs have to be admired. Alberta needs have to be admired. Alberta needs have

You know the old story of Mahomet and the Mountain—when the mountain wouldn't come to him he, like a sensible man, grabbed his Panama off the hall rack and went to the mountain—he wanted it badly enough to go after it.

IF ITS PRINTING WE CAN DO IT.

That is precisely the situation today—the mountain—BUSINESS—will not come to you—you will have to go after it and go after it hard. YOU have one great advantage over the prophet—he had to take the going as he found it—you can pave the way with adver-[illegible]

EDMONTON BYE-ELECTION

The West for the Edmonton Bye-Election made necessary by the elevation of Hon. J. E. Boyle to the bench has been issued, setting October 17th as nomination day, and October 27th as polling day.

Victoria Union, Edmonton captured the Banner for 1923-24, and made a donation of $100 at the last session to help carry out our missionary and organization work.

There was a deficit of $600.00 in our Methodist Missionary Budget, and Stettler did not measure up fully on this work. "Sisters, think it through! If we think this work is not important, let's drop it. But if, on the other hand, we feel our responsibility, our obligation as our brother's keeper, then go

HALKIRK NEWS

Halkirk, Alta., Oct. 8th.—Rally Day was observed in Presbyterian Church on Sunday, October 5th, the regular Rally Day exercises were taken up with the introduction of the Harvest Festival by Rev. Mr. Copeland. The special exercises on the occasion were an extra duet was rendered by Misses Hackett and Bennett also a chorus by the choir. Rev. Mr. Bovey, whose call until last month was the only pastor of his circuit and on Sunday school, was present and gave the address. Mr. Bovey sought the title of the word "neighbor" in various and then asked the school to tell the kind of neighbour they liked. The evening was first with words bearing with the letter "N" then with words beginning with "L", and so on until all the letters were filled in with adjectives concerning the desirable qualities in a neighbour. One lesson which we may learn from the whole thing is that we should endeavour to be the kind of a neighbour we would like to have. The Rally services were held on the Sabbath Sunday school on September 28th, at 2 p.m. The children of the school had their parts very well and Mr. Bovey spoke on the parable of the Good Samaritan.

Both the services were quite well attended. The offerings for the Home Mission Fund amounted to $19.00.

Rev. Logan left on Wednesday on his way to Edmonton, where he will attend Presbytery meeting which will be held on Thursday and Friday. All his meetings and preaching appointments are at a standstill and it is not expected that they will resume general meetings until the latter part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hackett returned to the Morgan Brothers' and has made a start at running a threshing outfit.

Mr. J. Brunton Wade has arrived at the Morgan Brothers' and has made a start at running a threshing outfit.

Mr. Macnaughtan (whose name has escaped us at present) is also running a threshing outfit.

Some have the whooping cough. Mr. Macnaughtan is engaged with Mr. and Mr. Hugh Brown on the Lauderdale district and says that the whooping cough is the fourth occasion in that district since he has been there.

Mrs. Jean Murray (nee Miss Mary Reed) is having a great deal of trouble with her tooth at late. When quite a young girl, Miss Murray met with the accident which is believed to be the cause of the present trouble. She is taking treatment in Stettler.

The last two regular services were one refused, as a house-to-door to give information to the horror of visitors within a mile of a north of a birth. We wonder if the Board should not be obliged to inform the correspondent within a week where he has left his last parcel. We understand that no one was left at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ferguson on Sunday, September 7th. We hope the little girl will not feel slighted at not being mentioned in the press report!

Mr. A. Bodwig is acting as foreman for Jens Olsen this winter.

Mr. James Teller, who was recently in the employ of the C.P.R. at Carmangay, has returned home.

Rev. George Steele, of Lethbridge, will occupy the pulpit of Rev. Mr. Copeland on Sunday. Mr. Steele will also preach at Bungalow on the evening of the 11 a.m. and at Rosebank in the afternoon at 3 p.m. Rev. J. S. Henry, pastor of the Union church will be supplying on the Sunday previous on this date. The usual meeting will be held in the Methodist church, as the date is being observed throughout Canada as Missionary Anniversary Day. The Rosebank choir will be present to render the music on this occasion.

Mr. Bert Lowe left on Wednesday for Edmonton, where he will attend Normal School during the winter months.

Mr. Sharpe reports that Mr. Williams is not expected to recover from the stroke of paralysis.

The Halkirk Women's Institute met at the church on Saturday, October 4th, and transacted routine and other business. The more important matters considered were the adoption of a motto, "Service," and joining a "take-all" basket for the year to one hundred dollars.

HALKIRK NEWS

Halkirk, Alta., Oct. 10th.—The funeral of the late Eleanor Lillian May Pollock, who died on Wednesday, October 8th, at her home south-west of town, took place from the Endeavour Hall on Friday, October 10th, at 2 p.m., the Rev. J. V. Bovey officiating. A large number of the friends of the deceased women were present. She leaves to mourn her a husband and one small child.

Mr. Stewart, a representative of the Lethbridge Herald, was in town on Friday securing a number for its Thanksgiving issue. The circulation of the Herald is very small.

The girls of the Halkirk school, assisted by a course of practice in the efficiency tests in athletics, which have been recommended by Inspector Thomlinson for use in schools of his inspectorate. A goodly number of the larger pupils were able to meet the tests, but the smaller ones frequently found them too difficult. The tests were carried out under the direction of Mrs. Campbell, primary teacher, and Mr. J. Victor Bovey.

Miss Florence Brett, daughter of Mr. R. B. Brett, former postmaster in Halkirk, is now teaching school in the Prairie Grove school, north-west of Gadsby.

Rev. Geo. A. Steele preached in the various appointments of the Halkirk Mission last Sunday, while the pastor, Rev. J. V. Bovey, was on the Gadsby Mission.

Teddy Daniels met with a painful accident on Tuesday, October 14th, when he had the end taken off the second finger of the right hand by a circular saw. The finger was severed by Dr. R. S. Wells.

Threshing has become quite general in the district, and if he had been ordered at present and all are having their fill in the absence of the crews that he could have been at just, but very painful the position of the Court as well.

Mr. Semple, he had not People (the accused) in the hotel during Hall's absence where they had a drinks and conversed said he knew.

"Let us start something start a fire we have enlisted and get the fire department out," whereupon witness and Hall left, explaining that he wished to discover the accused's motive and learn who the fire bug was in the town of Cochrane, as they already had fires started, and the tax bugs was Bengali of.

The regular session of the Supreme Court opened at the Court House on Monday and was presided over by Judge Boyle, who was elevated to the bench on the death of Chief Justice Scott.

The first case heard before the court was that of the Crown vs. William A. Semple of Castor, who is being tried for arson arising out of the attack took place at Castor on the night of July 29th.

Crown Prosecutor J. T. Costigan of Stettler, was assisted by Annear and Brennan of Castor, while the defence was looked after by J. McKenzie Cameron of Calgary and H. H. Hunter of Stettler.

Monday afternoon was taken up with the empanelling of a jury, resulting in the following being chosen: Harvey Page and Jack Keep, of Castor; J. Hall, of Big Valley; Jas. Hall, of Gadsby; Jas. Hall, of Big Valley; and Walter Hall, of Big Valley.

The first witness called on the part of the Crown was McKenzie Brothers of Castor Before his examination was proceeded with, the defence objected to some notes that immediately as a Mr. Hall who was under the influence of liquor at the preliminary hearing at Castor, not available at the trial as Mr. Hall had left the country, and that he might have to be recalled. Mr. Costigan in evidence given at the preliminary hearing was allowed to read the notes to witness. This was agreed upon between counsel.

The examination of Witness Brothers was then proceeded with and was carried on by Mr. Annear Witness had co-ished for some time at Castor's, having left there on the night of the fire. He had been in the employ of the village. He was also a member of the village and Boy's to the Red Cross Movement. Having dispensed of his interest, he moved to Castor about the 1st of February 1924, entering into business with Mr. Hall as partner in the new, carrying on a meat trade. He was acquainted with the accused Mr. Semple, who was an employee of Mr. Conrad, the proprietor of the Castor Pavilion Hotel, and was in attendance in the Beer Parlor. The witness stated he had supper at the hotel and takes place the night of July 29th, and he was having with People in the hotel, where he had been spending the evening with Wilcox and Hunter, and Constantinople from Consort. The time had been occupied in the Beer Parlor with the accused Semple and Mr. Hall, and Mr. Semple, going to the telephone office and left a while, returning to the room and remaining until about 11.30, at which time he came downstairs with the intention of going home but was asked by Hall, the night clerk, if he would not remain and help him as he was alone.

Mr. Hall was gone for over an hour and the witness had no opportunity of Mr. Semple while was writing a letter in his absence in the examination the witness asked for the production of the letter, which was by Defence Cameron, however, pointed out that he already had the production of the Crown, and did not quite see why he should ask for production. Mr. Annear upheld the ruling that if he requested that he was legally entitled to it, and that such was the case. Mr. Justice should be taken to this, whereupon Mr. Cameron withdrew his objection, immediately adding that the witness was a Hugh Pretentious and that he had the production of the Crown that he would have been in jail, but very painful the position of the Court as well.

William Semple Acquitted On Charge of Arson

Trial at Stettler Court House

William A. Semple was acquitted by the jury at the conclusion of the Castor Fire Trial at noon today (Thursday). The jury were out about two minutes and brought in the verdict "Not Guilty." The case for the Crown collapsed on Wednesday owing to lack of evidence against the accused.

Fox Will Fight Rogiers Here Next Monday

In Boxing Commission next Monday evening in Stettler Arena promises to be the most interesting contest that has ever been staged in Central Alberta. The fixture between Bob Fox of Stettler and Alphons Rogiers of Belgium is alone worth the price of admission, but the preliminary events will be just as interesting in themselves, and are also worth the admission price. When the Stettler Elks are fostering the event, put on Bob Fox and Stettler the same crowd that filled the rink event and the other for a special exhibition—the patrons of the fight card must be assured that no better program could be devised anywhere in Alberta.

Information in regard to Rogiers, who only recently came to Canada, has been obtained by the Independent from the city dailies and shows that he represented one of the best of his profession in Europe and only came to Canada and the States for the purpose of having a little more money than he could get in his native country. The following from the Calgary Herald gives a description of his record:

Alphons Rogiers, heavy-weight boxer of Belgium, is at present making Calgary his home, and is at present training for a contest before leaving for an American engagement, where he will meet Jack Dempsey, world's champion. Rogiers has not been in the ring for the past month, but is now getting back into shape to take up fighting in Alberta. He has won the big event in Belgium, Richard to boasting out in New York, the "city of the bank," brought the fighting boy to this country. At present he is being handled by James Hall, who is also looking after the interests of Jack Renault, who is now in Calgary. Rogiers is a big fellow, weighing 190 pounds, and is 6 feet 1 inch tall. This prospector weighs 191 pounds, and is 6 feet 2 inches tall. It is likely that Rogiers will be matched with Jack Renault, when the Medicine Fox bout is held at Stettler on Monday, Sept. 22 next.

The Good Samaritan

Following is the record of Rogiers, the Belgian heavyweight:

1920—Antwerp, bout on points to Hendricks at Belgium, 10 rounds.

1921—Brussels, bout on points from Johnny Chris, Belgium, 10 rounds.

1921—Brussels, k.o. Johnny Clois in 10 rounds.

1921—Brussels, k.o. Johnny Clois in 10 rounds.

1922—Liege, k.o. Carriol, heavyweight champion of Liege, 10 rounds.

1922—Brussels, k.o. Dasse, champion of Algeria, in 1st round.

1922—Brussels, k.o. Downey in 5th round.

1923—Paris, k.o. Pige, champion of north France, in 1st round.

1923—Milan, Italy, bout to Emile Spada, who k.o.'d in 7th round on account of having wrist sprained and unable to defend.

Amsterdam, Holland—Fought to a draw with Kreyger in Circus Carre.

1922—Brussels, won on points from Lequeux of France, 10 rounds.

1923—Brussels, fought 12 rounds with Battling Siki, but on points.

1923—Brussels, rematch battle with Downey, k.o. in 6th round.

1923—Was disqualified in a fight with Battling Siki for hitting Siki when he was down on one knee. Siki turned around. Was only barred for one day, but therefore decided to go to Canada.

Rogiers' Measurements

Measurements of A. Rogiers (boxer, Belgium), 24 years, champion of Belgium, heavyweight, 13 in.; biceps, normal, 13 in.; biceps, expanded, 15 in.; forearm, 12½ in.; thigh, 23¾ in.; calf, 16¼ in.; ankle, 10 in.; neck, 17½ in.; waist, 33 in.; chest, normal, 37 in.; chest, expanded, 39 in.; weight, 191 pounds; height, 6 ft. 2 in.; born, 25th May, 1896.

WEDDING

A well known and very popular young couple from Red Willow, Mr. Forest Allen Young and Miss Lottie Mildred Anderson, were united in marriage at the Methodist parsonage, Stettler, on Wednesday afternoon, October 15th. Rev. A. A. Lyle performing the ceremony. The bride was attended by Miss Inez Young sister of the groom, and the groom was supported by Mr. Ernest Anderson, brother of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Young will reside on Mr. Young's farm near Red Willow. Their many friends extend good wishes.

Popular Bachelor Joins Benedicts

Another gap has been made in the ranks of Stettler's popular business bachelors by the marriage at Stettler on Tuesday, October 14th, of Mr. Thomas Richardson of Rocks to Mr. Allen Richards, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Mr. Lyle, at the Methodist parsonage. The bride is well known to many Stettler people, having resided near Pleet, and dwellers along the road between here and Pleet will be sorry to lose this little coupe that, run or shine, made the journey between the two points in the interest of Alex's centralship.

The happy couple are spending the honeymoon at Banff and Calgary and are expected to return here on Friday, when they will take up housekeeping in the residence formerly occupied by H. Fitzpatrick.

Their many friends join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Richards a long and happy life together.—Coronation Review.

School Notes

Owing to the great demand for playing grounds this term, it has been found necessary to make a third court. This has been erected somewhat to the regulations and will judge of the demand for this line of sport. The boys are putting their energy into soccer and football also rugby, and some fine tennis courts are pulled off by the girls.

The Aunger Spelling Cup is being competed for by Grades V, VI and VIII. The standard of spelling in the weekly contests reduces talks before Mr. Scott's Form being about 90% over Out of 85 pupils with 11 words each, a total of 935 words, there were 8 mistakes. This is only one instance. We have been in a similar struggle and Grade VI at present holds the Cup, having won it from Grade VIII. Grade VI will entertain Grade V at a Halloween party in the Assembly Hall on Friday evening, October 31st.

Round the Country

The Independent has no axe to grind for any political party, and the ebb and flow of the political tide has no worry for us. In recommending editorial what the Farmers' Parliament stands of provincial affairs in 1921. For the thing, the late Liberal Government was getting too easy with a certain class of men who supported governments and for all sorts of reasons which should depend on merchant and manufacturer. From the farmer, the small grain to the logging of trees. The U.F.A. by the annual grist of its resolutions and demands, were partly responsible for this system of government by caucus, and when the U.F.A. Party took charge they dispensed with much of this pernicious form of government. They severed their banks on the "government said" item in their own minds, and treated the majority of the annual resolutions about the way they should be dealt with as material to make a good fire or a cold chamber.

The situation at present is in some respects one of awakening and reaction. Many of the political issues which were paramount a few years ago have been considerably modified, and the love for the pretty Liberal has not been entirely so much as a definite program of reconstruction could have called for. Building, railway, irrigation, development, etc., are now dominating issues on a political platform. The railway of trunk roads is the subject of investment and is all very well. In the meantime, Canada received $136,000,000 of immigrants during the past year, and Alberta with its unrivalled agricultural land only a small share of it.

Every Liberal is either in public office or is a candidate. It does not stop there one platform writers and political economists stand upon in Alberta it is what they call liquidity of Opportunity, an equal chance for every man to make a living and carve out a career. Yet the only way in which this happy state of affairs can be brought about is by giving equality of opportunity to education to the children. Without monetary aiding the old system there is no chance for the spread of democracy in the most communities. But purely from motives of "economy" the government instituted the supposedly policy of reducing school grants to the rural schools, and cut the staff of public school inspectors in two thus placing the country children at a disadvantage compared to the children in the towns. Is this economy? Is it democracy? Is it fair? Is it just?

Botha News

Botha, Alta., Oct. 18th.—The Women's Missionary Society have made special arrangements for their District Convention to be held here on Wednesday, October 22nd, in the Community Hall. It has been arranged for Miss Ward, one of the missionaries on furlough, to visit Botha at that time. Miss Ward has spent five years in China and should prove of great interest to the convention proceedings. Mrs. W. J. Ash, of Edmonton, is also to be one of the speakers. Delegates from the Stettler and Carnegie branches will participate in the afternoon meetings and a record attendance is anticipated. Mrs. J. F. Mathieson is making all the arrangements.

The attendance at the evening services of the Canonicity church continues to be gratifying. Last Sunday services were in the interest of the missionary work of the church and the special speaker for the day was the Rev. J. H. Hepburn of Dunedin. Mr. Hepburn delighted the Sunday school in the morning with a talk on Jewish and in the evening delivered a stirring address on the work of missions in the world. For one hundred years no service on by the Methodist church. The address was illustrated in many lines, telling of the heroic work in the great mission fields of the world. In the afternoon a service was held at Zenith school and was also well attended.

The sale at the Kerrison home on Saturday afternoon was well attended and was very successful, the proceeds of over $100 being realized. The Kerrison home is a most delightful location, which assisted greatly in help ing the sale.

The Kelchen family, consisting of Mrs. D. G. Kelchen, Maurice and Irvine, left on Tuesday morning's train for their new home in Los Angeles, California. Their many friends in Botha and district wish them the best of luck in their long journey, incidentally most of them hope the coming of the delightful trip by way of approaching winter.

Threshing has been resumed after the rainy spell and it will not be long before the end will be in sight. With two yards' pond weather all threshing should be completed.

A pageant will be given by the Stettler ladies during the evening session of the District Convention on Wednesday, October 22nd.

Mr. W. L. Petit of Aden, agent for the San Life Assurance Co., paid a business visit to town this week. Mr. Petit reports a deal done.

Rev. H. S. McDonald preached in Stettler Methodist church last Sunday in the absence of Rev. Mr. Hepburn.

Plans are under way for a social evening in the Community Hall in the near future, the young people of the district are responding splendidly.

The dance in Botha on Friday evening of this week and it is hoped that C.G.I.T. and Team groups will be formed.

Hallowe'en will see the Women's Missionary Society in their annual get-together in connection with the Red Cross. It is almost a chicken pie for the social but to plan for annual get-together is that night.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society will be held at the home of Mrs. G. Hamel on Friday afternoon next, at 2 p.m.

Miss May Brown has taken a position for the winter with Mrs. Jas. McKay. Miss Brown comes to Botha from Edinburgh, Scotland, after making a short stay in Surrey.

WHITE OR BLACK IN S. AFRICA

The next twenty-five years will probably decide the question, once for all, whether the white race is to have any part in the effective development of South Africa, or be crowded out by the aborigines. Banquet Tendered Father Leconte At Castor

Left Wednesday for Saskatchewan

(Castor Advocate)

Rev. Father Leconte, who has been the priest in charge of the Castor Mission for the past 16 years, left yesterday for Prince Albert, where he will do missionary work.

Father Leconte was well and favorably known by a very large circle of friends who regretted his departure. Last Tuesday Father Leconte was given a banquet by the Castor Board of Trade, at which he was presented with a well-filled purse of gold. Last Sunday, Oct. 12th, a very large representation gathered at the Lady of Grace church to bid Father Leconte's last service here. It was quite visible that Father Leconte regretted leaving the community where he had made so many friends.

During his many years' residence here he helped build up a large hospital and the brick church in Castor and several in the surrounding district.

On Tuesday evening a banquet was tendered Father Leconte and Father Vitu in the Community Hall, which the ladies were told for some 60 guests. During the evening speeches were given by a few of the prominent men of the town, who all voiced their regret at the departure of the priests.

At the close of the banquet, Mr. L. Bourgeois presented Father Leconte with a purse of gold. The Father left Wednesday morning's train for Prince Albert.

WEDDING

Mrs. Mary Irene Bens of Airdrie, Alta., and Mr. Gordon Lloyd Sarmont of Edmonton were quietly married at the Methodist parsonage, Stettler, on Saturday 18th, Rev. A. A. Little performing the ceremony. The register was signed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lambert. Mr. and Mrs. Sarmont will reside on the groom's farm near Erskine. Their many friends will wish them a happy and long journey through life.

BOB FOX OF STETTLER WINS OVER ROGIERS LAST MONDAY NIGHT

The boxing competition staged in the Stettler Rink at the home on Monday evening last pack attracted a crowd estimated at about 1600 people drawn from all parts of Central Alberta. All the towns as far as Red Deer, Lacombe, Innisfail, Lacombe, Castor, etc., were represented, and the countryside was out in full force. A night of any kind in a strange place is full of keen excitement and the fight bill of three preliminaries and the main bout between Fox and Rogers the event of the evening to the shorter, getting the worth of their money. A number of ladies were present and the affair was conducted in a way that brought credit to the sponsors of the competition.

The program started at eight o'clock with a preliminary between two boys of 14. Cook of Stettler and Bull of Red Deer for the fourteen year old championship of the district. They proved to be the centre best boys in their class. Rogers was there at it hammer and tongs of four rounds, Cook finally getting the decision. They showed some real skill as well as a willingness to mix it and made a splendid exhibition. Referee Mr. McKeen was appointed to the job and made a capable one.

The second bout was between Billy Gilbert of Stettler and Bert Parker of Innisfail. Parker showed a lot of cleverness in the ring, perhaps, and gave the spectators the impression that he was the better boy, and better as the fight progressed. Gilbert was willing enough but he was not as well trained for the encounter as Parker, and showed a lack of condition. The fight went the full speed of four rounds, and was a good one. Referee Mr. Mackenzie appointed as his men of outstanding fighting to succeed the decision Parker. Referee Mr. Kerr and was unanimously applauded by his men posters.

The final and most interesting preliminary was between Stokes of Drumheller and Gibbs of Stettler. This bout proved a surprise to the crowd as to Stokes' ability as a boxer and the fact that he had never up to Fox for seven rounds of fast work he would have no difficulty with his opponent, who was unknown here. Whitcomb, Drumheller, proved a dangerous fighter, and kept Stokes guessing all the time he was in the ring. Whitcomb weighed 160 pounds to Stokes' 150, and had the advantage in the latter showed the value of experience in getting away from tight corners and in avoiding the full force of the fight was the full six rounds and Referee Mr. Mackenzie appointed as his men with the fists.

The main bout was roofed at last o'clock, and when the big Bolgian-Rogiers, came on the platform he got a great hand from the crowd, and was followed immediately after by Fox, who also received boisterous applause on creation. The Belgian stripped at 170 pounds and Fox at 173.

Both men were finely developed types, but Fox appeared to be in better condition and had a better color like trainer, J. C. McIntosh, and Rogiers was in his corner, while Rogiers was attended by a Belgian lad. The latter had introduced quite a few years of gold. The Father left Wednesday morning's train for Prince Albert.

Rogiers came to the ring with a determination to put over a knockout in the first round, and he made a desperate attempt to do so, but Fox was equal to the occasion and warded off the blows. Rogiers was the aggressor throughout the bout, and Fox's cleverness in the ring was the deciding factor. Rogiers is a willing fighter with a good deal of natural ability, but he lacks the finish that comes from experience. Fox showed to good advantage in the first round, and was the cleverer of the two throughout the bout

WHAT WILL PLAGUE ALBERTA ON A STUPENDOUS PUNISHMENT?

Those who lived here from the early days will recall the tumultuous times in that time. Up to 1911 Red Deer had been the terminus of the C.P.R. railway that now extends to Moosejaw and further east. Every man who wished to settle in the country by the sea passed off at Red Deer to buy his supplies, and make up his waggon load for the east-ward trek. The streets of the town at that time were cluttered up with waggons, prairie schooners, farm goods, machinery and factory effects of all kinds. The hotels were always crowded to the doors and could not contain after the influx went on. Here that time there has been a perfect of good business and periods of bad business in accordance with the ups and down of farm progress in the locality.

The fact is that we are passing through the transition stage from ox-team to tractor farming. The transformation has taken a long time, and is still going on. It has got to continue if we are to survive as a prosperous and agricultural community. We do not mean that there is no future for wheat growing. On the contrary there is a great future for that department of farming particularly with the open leg up of the western roots. But we question wheat growing next year. In other years we have been inclined on hoping to get away with crops that run the hazards of dry weather, frost, hail, and grasshoppers. On the other hand there has been only one year (1918) out of the last eighteen when there was not sufficient feed in some parts of the district to feed the stock without depending on resources from the former year.

Seventeen years out of eighteen have been favorable for extensive wheat growing, without having to depend on the elements, pipe and cows.

We believe that a distinct advance has been made in methods of mixed farming during the past three years. The poor wheat crops of 1922 and 1923 have helped the good reason along, while the great prosperity and prosperity of our feed grains and pastures have made the mixed farmer smile. Of course, we have been favored on the whole with good seasons for the growing of feed crops, but where conditions did not prove favorable for wheat growing, mixed farming has stood up to the situation

Never Invited To Private Parties In England

If a person were cold enough to ask the Prince of Wales how he spends his leisure, His Royal Highness could probably reply, with that charming smile of his: "The answer is simple—I have none to spend!"

In times like these, when money is so much in arranging his engagements the Prince's advisers always endeavor to leave him a certain amount of leisure. The Prince is so conscientious that he is continually overworking in the small margins of time allotted to himself. He generally spends a week-end for his residence, Fort Belvedere, in Surrey, and he is a keen golfer, but he is a downright bad one, for he takes golf much too seriously. He is also fond of polo, and occasionally motors—he is a skilful driver—but he rarely goes to a theatre, and he has only been to a music-hall once in his life. He is not a great reader, and has never been known to read a novel. He is, however, a keen student of history, and has a fine collection of books relating to the subject.

The Prince, as such, completely, like to stroll casually into a theatre and see what is on at a cinema. Light, sparkling music is to him a torture, and this is one thing that the people who have never been invited to a private party in England will probably envy. Higher, more intellectual music he loves, and he is a regular attendant at the Queen's Hall Promenade Concerts, but he is not displeased if his presence is not noticed.

The Prince, on such occasions, likes to stroll casually into a theatre and see what is on at a cinema. Higher, more intellectual music he loves, and he is a regular attendant at the Queen's Hall Promenade Concerts, but he is not displeased if his presence is not noticed.

[illegible] Prince may be supposed to dance if he is not ready to do so, but he is not a keen dancer, and he is not fond of dancing. He is, however, a good host, and he likes to see his guests enjoying themselves.

Nevertheless, there are delightful evenings when he has no engagement on his diary. For such happy periods he is indebted to a much-discussed servant to his lawful secretaries, who combine with remarkable skill, to prevent the outside world from bothering them the Prince all his spare-time moments of ease, and who have so dissuaded the Prince from sacrificing those hours, when he could.

On such evenings he may dine at one of the more exclusive hotels, but it must be remembered that the Prince is so frequently "dining out" as a duty that it is a pleasurable change for him to take his evening meal in his own humble home. Here the menu will be simple for, after so many banquets and luncheons of a ponderous kind, it is a joy for him to sit down at his own table and to take a meal designed by Master who knows him better than and who can provide just those dishes that which he had a "craving" for.

On such occasions dinner will be served early, so that the Prince may catch a theatre if he so desires. But frequently no plans are made in advance. The Prince will wait out with his equerry or one of his household officers and they will dawdle on their walk along what they will do. This habit, apparently, means it difficult for the detectives who watch him to keep track of his movements, but he has always had the finest services of secret service men in the world.

Sometimes during the theatre he may drop into one of the clubs and become a member for the evening. He is very fond of billiards, and he is a keen player. He is also a good golfer, and he is a keen player. He is also a good golfer, and he is a keen player.

The Value of Ready Money

WHEN the Dominion of Canada Loan was offered to the public in October, 1918, most of the $300,000,000 worth of bonds were purchased in a few days.

This investment was eagerly desired by everyone—but one secured by those who had ready money.

Ford's Hospital Has Some Radical Ideas

It is impossible for Henry Ford to throw his personality into anything without producing tremendous excitement. It is impossible, with this man, to see theories about history, his interpretation in the way, his purchase of a railroad and his effort to get hold of Muscle Shoals. It is notably true of his hospital in Detroit. In this hospital he has upset all medical traditions and has aroused the hostility of the profession generally, though there are doctors who defend him and his methods and thousands of grateful patients who bless him for having found them when it was impossible to find elsewhere. Ford has applied business principles to the hospital, or rather, business principles as understood in the motor industry. All hospitals are run on what are deemed business principles, that is to say, hospital business principles. Ford disapproved of them and set out to prove that other business principles were better. One of the results has been a discovery which has raged ever since the Henry Ford Hospital was built.

Ten years ago several Detroit doctors, believing that the hospital accommodations in the city was inadequate, tried to interest wealthy men and build a new one. They did not have much success, for they were able to collect only about a quarter of the necessary capital. Then they went to Ford. He declined to become an additional subscriber himself and that if the doctors could repay the other subscribers what they had contributed he would lease the whole expense, and private enterprise "completed the medical hospital." There was but one condition Ford must run it. The doctors were not at all pleased with the surprising result of the Henry Ford Hospital, which represents a private investment of $4,000,000 on the part of the owner, fortune to date. Today Henry and Edsel Ford and their wives constitute the board of governors of the hospital and Edsel Ford is the representative of what Henry Ford thinks a hospital should be as the Ford car is of what he thinks best for the public in the way of fitwears. It is a closed institution; physicians not on the staff are not permitted to care for patients. This is the principle adopted by Johns Hopkins and some other important hospitals in the East.

In two major respects a differs from other hospitals. It treats no free patients, and it makes a flat charge for its services. There is no question of the former rule which is likely to be temporary, and which is made in favor of patients sent by the American Legion. They are presumably war heroes. The latter-named principle of medical men has been to gauge their fees according to the ability of the patient to pay. The rich man paid many and of his accommodation. He paid the hospital business of those who are not able to pay any thing. Ford does not touch the medical staff, as observed. He simply takes the cream of the service. At the best times of appointing internes and doctors applied for the twenty-four position which were available. Also interne is a recognized of the medical profession to derive some profit from the institution. It has recommended that the fifty patients, at last year cared for more than 15,000, while no out-patient department is only one of about 200 a day. At the present time a number of hopeless and serious is being built, and this, the other opportunists in the hospital, will have the highest standard of equipment.

BASHAW NEWS

Bashaw, Alta., Oct. 18.—School is closed, owing to an outbreak of measles' fever. The outbreak is limited to three cases, but it has been thought advisable to thoroughly disinfect the school premises.

A requisition for good sporting in the district has attracted a number of outside sportsmen. Bags, however, have not been very heavy, although the ducks are very plentiful; their feeding grounds appear to be hard to locate. Prairie chicken, willow grouse and Hungarian partridge are also plentiful, but they are very wily and by no means easy to shoot.

A number of local sports journeyed to Buffalo a few days ago to see the prize fight there. They reported a good show, but very long hours.

Threshing is nearing completion, though there is still some grain out in the stook. Yields have not improved any and the general average remains about seven or eight bushels to the acre.

Hon. W. W. Smith was a visitor to Bashaw last Monday and Tuesday. On Monday night a reception in his honor was held at the home of G. D. Atkin. Quite a number of prominent citizens and farmers were invited and a very genial evening was spent.

I have very little patience with the women who insists to leave husband and children to the care of paid help while she herself seeks outside work because it is more "intellectual"—Mrs. Margaret Bondfield.

Above—The Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of Britain is seen leaving the Canadian Big round the world in 1920. Right—The latest addition of one of our sisters showed the trend

One of the most important of the many interesting features of the Canadian Pacific Railway's round the world cruise of the Empress of Britain is the visit to the Taj Mahal at Agra, India. This is one of the most beautiful buildings in the world and is considered by many people to be the most perfect example of Mohammedan architecture in existence. It is a tomb erected by Shah Jehan in memory of his favorite wife, Mumtaz-i-Mahal, who died in 1629. It took twenty-two years to complete and is said to have cost $15,000,000. The Taj is built entirely of white marble and is surrounded by a wall of red sandstone. The Empress of Britain is now making a round the world cruise, leaving Montreal on January 7th, 1922, and will visit many interesting places in Europe, Asia and Africa. Opportunity to participate in the cruise is offered to a limited number of intending travellers who desire to see the world under the most favorable conditions. Full particulars may be obtained from any Canadian Pacific agent.

$600,000 Fine Is A Joint Affair States The Judge

Peter Smith and Amelia Jarvis Stay in Jail Until Paid

APPEAL TO BE MADE

Case Will Go To SUPREME COURT

Effort Being Made to Get Two Prisoners Out on Bail

London, Ont., Oct. 18.—Mr. Justice Meredith stated here this morning that the $600,000 fine imposed on Peter Smith and Amelia Jarvis, Sr., was a collective one.

"I do not care who pays it," he said, "Smith or Miss Jarvis."

Toronto, Oct. 18.—Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer of Ontario, and Amelia Jarvis, Sr., proprietress of the hotel of the same name bearing his name, spent the night in the county jail, before the sentence by Chief Justice Meredith of fines totalling $600,000 imposed for the former provincial treasurer and six months for the brother, following their conviction by an entire single jury last week on charges of conspiracy to defraud the province. The charge came out of the investigation of the Provincial Treasurer by the province of Ontario. Peter Smith was provincial treasurer, and the Jarvis firm.

This morning an attempt is being made to secure the freedom of Smith and Jarvis on bail, while an appeal is being taken in the case to the appellate division of the supreme court of Ontario on the question of misdirection to the jury by the trial judge.

W. H. Tilley, K.C., quoted precedents, on behalf of the province in opposing the motion.

T. Herbert Lennox, K.C., is prosecuting the case on behalf of H. Bruce Smith, and L.F. Heilbronn, K.C., is appearing for the defence.

It is understood this morning that the "fine" imposed on the suspected men by Chief Justice Meredith was $600,000 in all, not $600,000 each as reported in some quarters last night. This amount is to be paid, according to the judge's sentence, before either man is freed after the expiration of the prison term imposed in each case. His lordship's sentence was for the return to the province of the money alleged to have been lost in the illegal transactions.

Bail Sum for Receiving

Chief Justice Latchford this morning fixed Tuesday next at eleven o'clock in the morning as the day and time for hearing to application for the release on bail of Peter Smith, former provincial secretary-treasurer, and Amelia Jarvis, Sr., head of the bond brokerage house, pending the appeal of their cases to the appellate division.

The prisoners will remain in the county jail till Tuesday. It is understood that the counsel for the defendants in addition to the appeal on the presiding judge misdirected the jury will say that the court had no power to impose the fine under the law.

Amelia Jarvis, Jr., son of the convicted brother, and Harry G. Pepall, vice-president and general manager respectively, of the bond firm, were both found not guilty of conspiracy to defraud the province.

The chief charges against all four were laid.

The four men were tried before Chief Justice R. M. Meredith and a jury in the criminal assize court at the city hall commencing last Monday morning with the conduct of the jury at 8:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

After the jury had returned their verdict of guilty in the charges against the former provincial treasurer and Amelia Jarvis, Sr., Mr. Justice Meredith asked them if they had anything to say before sentence was passed over them.

"I am not guilty of conspiracy. I only saw Amelia Jarvis once or twice in my life, and only once in connection with the deal. At the time the cabinet made the arrangements, I was not in the cabinet room," said Mr. Smith, "which is not very much. As I said when I came into the court and was asked to plead, I pleaded not guilty. I still adhere to that statement."

"I am not guilty of conspiracy. I only saw Amelia Jarvis once or twice in my life, and only once in connection with the deal. At the time the cabinet made the arrangements, I was not in the cabinet room," said Mr. Smith, "which is not very much.

"The jury have found me guilty of conspiracy. I can consent to abide by their decision. But I will say this, I will take it to a higher court than this where I will get redress."

At this point the former treasurer of the province completely broke down. Tears came to his eyes and he could scarcely control his voice. Making a supreme effort to control his feelings, he then pleaded. "I would like to have time enough to arrange my affairs at home. I have a wife and family at home. I have not made any provision for their future.

That is all I have to say."

Jarvis Indignant

Assistance Jarvis, Jr., in a few caustic sentences, addressed the court. He said that he had never had any conspiracy or connection with the deal. He had had no conspiracy or connection with it. Neither he directly or indirectly or in any other way.

"I never discuss this thing with Peter Smith or with ... or with any one else," he said, "and with him in the cabinet room."

Chief Justice Meredith: "May I not say my pen took the half million dollars or more for petty expenses you performed?"

"I do not call them petty sums when a man stakes his whole fortune signing an hypothecation in London which you do not put up collateral in, when you have become liable for eight million dollars and stake your life's fortune."

As Sir John Simpson said, I was the first person to resign from the province, asked to take up his seat. Mr. Justice Meredith: "I am sorry for the loss you have suffered, but I am not responsible for the money."

Nobody said you did. I was asking about the suspicion. Where did you get the suspicion?

"I got them from Andrew Pepall," answered Mr. Rex, "the man who lost money and he makes me to put them clothed. They were petty at the time he gave them. He was asking away."

Prayer Judgment

In passing judgment, Mr. Justice Meredith said:

"Peter Smith, it is neither my duty nor my right to remark upon the verdict, or in any one word that will add to your punishment. But in order that you may not think that my silence in proportion to the penalty imposed upon you and Amelia Jarvis, Jr., for co-conspirator, I may say that you have chosen to be prime of the municipality in which you lived to

Round the Country

It is surprising how much begging one is passed for the perfect man and how little for the man as he really is.

The result of this day-to-day survey is largely founded on the spot, which is telling, and on the flesh, which is weak, to the weakening of all hands.

The law must be kept. Without obedience to the law there can be no civilization. But only those laws are good which do not fly too high over the heads of the multitude.

When the writer was in rural circles this summer, it was fairly evident that there was absolutely no element of hostility entertained against the personnel of the organized open-air meetings. The writer is the same in any community. He knows what opinion and he knows what is good production, but he himself, himself at all about government control, except what is told him by the intending political candidates. In the early days there was a lot of drinking, and taverns were numerous and were well conducted. The bar was as much considered a thing to have, and with the advance of education, there has been a great advance in temperance sentiment. The rural voter at once joins the overwhelmingly with the U.F.A. He does not see the injustice of law bruising connected with the law, nor does drinking thus when there is as a young man, and that appears somewhere bothering regarding the opinion of the present voter. It does not have the slightest influence to allude to the government control system. He at once assumes it is the wrong system and will not accept the question for a moment. Then perhaps an hour later he is in the way of hospitality, he will offer you a drink of home-made cider or grape—the result undoubtedly of a high alcohol content.

He was nothing wrong in having wine of 8% to 10% alcohol in the home, however it is made, and it is over apples or grapes, just as does not sell it. Out in British Columbia under government control, even the vendor's stores will not handle sugar nor barley to be used against the law, but in rural Ontario it is no crime to go the limit of the grape.

The writer is not a prohibitionist and stands for voting for any system that will benefit best of all. It is also of opinion that the people believe in that all that is needed. But to control of the people will carry Premier Ferguson's job in trying to enforce it. But of a voter's list of two years only 25% voted for the re-election of the O.T.A., and the remaining of around forty thousand for the left or less than one-fiftieth of the total list of voters. In 1919 the majority for the O.T.A. was 407,000, or about one-fifth the total list of voters. In other words, the majority has been wiped ten times.

The experience both of Ontario and the other provinces in the past shows that the successful enforcement of prohibition depends on a large and predominant body of public opinion behind it; otherwise the legislation is worse than useless.

Taxation is something that is worth considering, but as an issue it is not for Saskatchewan. The difference between the two is that the Saskatchewan that there are connections there between What Is and What Ought To Be, and that these today have to be forged before the ideal becomes the real; the fanatic on the other hand, does not recognize the connecting links at all but wishes to rush at once to the ultimate goal. The Rev. Mr. Rumble is not a fanatic on the school and the Rev. Ben Spence on the future. Mr. Rumble believes in homogeneous co-education, while Mr. Spence would take into account many matters in connection with the public school system. Ontario, however, is not Saskatchewan, the two are very different, and the Ontario system is not necessarily the best for Saskatchewan. Neither Mr. Spence nor Mr. Rumble are wrong, they are simply [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

GADSBY NEWS

Gadsby, Oct. 17.—The Women's Institute meeting held last Wednesday to have an address from Mr. Bellows of Sterlar, on the organization, progress and objects of the Institute, was postponed, as one or the best we have ever had here Mr. McIver secured a nice field, and was a very interesting, sketching the spread of the movement from Ontario to first Alberta convention at Olds in 1915, up till the present time. Discussing the work the new provincial executive plans to Child Welfare and Public Health, with temperance and Home Economics almost as important. He gave the local members noted above on the conduct of a branch, the importance of selecting capable convenors, officials, etc. The address was very cordially received, and Mrs. Hamilton voiced the thanks and appreciation of the audience in a few words to Mrs. McIver. A very large number has also been arranged, in which Lady-day Hebron represented more than any game at the shelled supper last Friday night. It included supper last Friday night. It included also by Misses Ada Gibson ("Ada of Yesterday") and Mattie Dyment ("Ada 1921-fashioned Town"), recited last by Miss Hebron and a song recitation by Mrs. Smith. This is a lighted gazette and we hope they will appear often. Mrs. H. E. Berry sang "The New Home," which was very well rendered Mr. Hatcher and Mrs. Kruger gave a recitation, and Mrs. H. S. Overhead played a selection from "Trovatore" on the piano. The local orchestra was especially fine, the assistance listening to the beautiful concerts given with deep attention and evident pleasure. An altogether splendid afternoon and the women folks, and we hope congratulate the committee on its success.

Mr. W. D. Hoth has purchased a lot from the village council and is busy erecting office premises on the site. It is located on the other side of Main street from the post office, and will be to the barrister shop Mr. John Bellender is overhauling for a summer home, adding a up and making it look like new. He is being assisted by Bob Porter, or he is assisting Bob, or they are assisting each other. Anyway, they are both at the job, the "building boom" in Gadsby may be on in the N. W.

Mr. R. W. McClung, Western manager for the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company, paid a visit to town and consulted with his old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Todd. He had intended purchasing a little shooting expedition with Joe, but when he learned Joe had undergone a heavy operation in the city hospital he left, without what would have been a much better shooting.

The grand Ontario has taken will be an immense boarder to the other people and the old boy will not be far off when the degree of every province will be, "Ole to Ontario."

—GOVERNMENT SALE IN QUEBEC

Under the Quebec system here in force, the province is divided into areas under the early plan, and by licensed grocers in each town and even are sold at retail to restaurants, clubs, hotels, all kinds of liquors, including spirits, by the government vendors. Brewers sell direct to license holders, collecting for the government free per cent. on their gross sales.

Under this system the Premier tells us that the people voted on the question in 1921 for liquor purchased, $10,885,773, and for beer purchased from license holders, $17,527,264, a total of nearly of $27,220,037. The gross revenue received from the sales of liquor was $6,772,600, leaving a net of $21,313,171.

We are told that the health officials under this plan are wonderful. Drunkenness has decreased, crime has diminished, and the general results have been most satisfactory. There are a few facts, however, that the License Commissioners do not publish, and which probably they do not care to emphasize. We submit a few which to us seem to show that at least the Quebec system is not quite ideal.

Temperance folks have long agreed that health is signed by heavy drinking, and the official figures for Quebec seem to bear this out. Here is the month-rate for three cities, Quebec, 12.1, Montreal, 15.6, Toronto, 11.1, and the death rate of children under twelve months per 1,000 births, as follows: Quebec, 137.2; Montreal, 148.6; Toronto, 93.5.

It has been agitated by prohibitionists that crime increased as drinking increased, and we have Mr Herbert B. Ames, manager of the Canada Department of an insurance company, declaring that burglary increased seventy-five per cent. higher in Montreal than Toronto. In 1920 Montreal reported 1,687 burglaries and Toronto, 399; while 119 were convicted in Montreal and 200 in Toronto. Forty-four percent. of Toronto's burglars were put behind the bars as criminals and only eight per cent. of Montreal's burglars were so dealt with. Evidently Montreal according to statistics vastly superior to be much more law-abiding than Toronto, while the real reason was that ninety-two per cent. of her burglars went scot-free.

Temperance workers argue that drinking begets and strong nation do bad nerves, and the Montreal Gazette says "not less poor nuts fatalities increased "almost three-fold." In 1920 it is reported that in Montreal there were 19 less as many people killed by motor-vehicles as there were in Toronto, while Toronto has nearly three times as many motor-vehicles.

Again, temperance men have long argued that temperance in drink and liquor consumption is best for business, and the figures for Montreal and Toronto bear out this in a striking fashion. The volume of trade may be gauged fairly well by bank clearings, and here are the figures for the years 1920 and 1921:

	1920	1921
Montreal—
	$7,589,159,888	$6,452,160,775
Toronto—
	5,516,254,662	1,359,503,205
Decrease in Montreal	$1,956,095,226
Decrease in Toronto	$1,156,751,457

Our condolence friends have gone into the trouble of find us that Ontario is having the unpreceedable tourist trade which they claim to prove to the province of complete prosperity because Ontario is dry and Quebec is wet. We do not know the facts for last year, but the Government records show that for the year 1921 the receipts from taxation decreased." It may be that Quebec's system of government sale and control will be found better, but the facts seem to show very clearly that Ontario would have very much to lose if by any per adventure she changed her present Temperance Act for any system of government sale

Special Meeting Of Board Of Trade

Heat Bulks-up Officials at Coronation

At a special meeting of the Board of Trade held at the Royal Crown Cafe on Friday evening last, Mayor MacKintosh and Mr. Shimeck were appointed to act on the committee from the town between Lacombe and Coronation re the change in train service. The meeting, which was called by the Board of Trade, was for the purpose of discussing the present conditions in the West and the prospects for improvement, and the conditions could not improve for the better unless the people of the West did not see how the present train service could be continued.

Mr. Northwood then introduced Mr. J. Shimeck of the Railway Commission, who gave the meeting a little talk on the "lighter side of life" and created quite a real entertainment.

On motion of Mr. Northwood the meeting was adjourned, the committee and representatives from the town meeting together with Mr. MacIntosh, Mr. Shimeck and Mr. J. Wishart.

The result of the conference will be announced later.—Coronation Review.

Botha, Oct. 17.—The annual convention of the Barrhead and Carbondale Districts of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church was held in the Botha Community Hall on October 22nd. Sessions were held afternoon and evening, with a supper campaign, at which the members of the Ladies Auxiliary entertained the out-of-town guests and the town members who could be present.

Promptly at 2 p.m. the afternoon session opened with Mrs. J. F. Hillbrandenet, district president, in the chair. "Jesu Shall Reign" was the opening hymn, at the conclusion of which Mrs. Legg of Stettler led in prayer. Mrs. R. E. Smith of Botha read a portion of scripture. The minutes of the annual meeting held a year ago were read and approved. The reports of the activities of the auxiliaries for the past twelve months were encouraging indeed and showed that the various officers are doing their work in splendid style. There are 194 Band members and they helped the sum of $264.75. The total membership of the auxiliaries amounts to 62, with a total record of $648.89—the largest the band year experienced by all the members financially.

A paper was given by Mrs. Hoyt, of Stettler, on the "Oriental Problem," while Mrs. Goodin, also of Stettler, gave a paper on "Temperance." Miss Constance Ward, W.M.S. missionary from China, was present and delivered a stirring address on her work in that country. Miss Ward is now on her first furlough, having spent five years in the mission work in West China. Mrs. W. T. Ash, of Edmonton, was also present and presented a number of reports of the work at home and abroad. Miss Isabel Kinley rendered a pianoforte solo, while Miss Pearl Dunbar blessed gave a vocal number. Election of officers brought the afternoon session to a close. The officers of the past year were re-elected to serve another term.

The evening session opened at 8 o'clock with Rev. R. E. McDonald, pastor of Botha Community church, in the chair. Rev. A. A. Lyle, of Stettler, led in prayer, after which the chairman briefly welcomed the delegates to Botha. The church orchestra delighted all with a selection, after which Miss Ward gave a splendid illustrated slide showing her work in the Orient. Mrs. Ash again addressed the gathering and by her remarks drew the evening to a close. Supper was served by the Ladies' Aid and was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Ray Ball gave a vocal solo, Mrs. Blanchard and Mr. McKay a violin duet, and Mrs. Kerr and Mrs. McDonald a vocal duet. The Stettler C.G.I.T. of the Methodist church took on their pageant entitled "Social Goodwill," and in a striking way brought out the moral of the play.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute of Botha will be held at the Hall on Thursday, Nov. 8th, at 2 p.m. The cook books recently printed will be on hand and for sale.

Come to church

Harvest Thanksgiving services are being arranged for in the Presbyterian church for Nov 9th. The ladies are preparing a fine supper on the following night, the 10th. Keep the date in mind.

Ronald Ball, Roy Kenny, Arnold Harrison, Robert Friend and Rev. R. E. McDonald attended the Older Boys' Conference at Stettler on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Ball was elected as Grand Pretor and presided over the sessions. His congenial speech will go down in history as a masterpiece. There were about 100 boys present from the Stettler District.

Finger Nail Hints

The woman who does her own housework cannot hope to have perfect nails, but hard nails unless she procures such modern toys as dish washing machines and electric laundry machines. But she can have passably perfect nails with none of these, not even a cold-weather-proof glove, she will learn to wear rubber gloves. Good ones cost as little as 25c a pair, as every woman can afford these days.

Here are some hints for the conscientious woman who cannot afford electricity her current. After breakfast, smear the hands and nails with hard, cold cream or petroleum jelly, slip on the rubber gloves and slide a comfortable night rubber band over each wrist to hold the gloves on and prevent water from running in. By the dishes, using a long-handled strong brush to lather like and a wire mop so they can be scrubbed and not wiped. Do everything or other wet work with the gloves still on.

Take the gloves off, wipe the grease or cream from off the hands with a cloth and slip on loose, white canvas gloves. In rearranging and dusting in the manner that the parts of your skin are filled with heavy grease; if you scrape on the hand with the grease, it will collect and form an ugly grime between and under the nails. Your hands have been in and out of hot and cold water all the heat and cold opened and closing the pore; so the skin has taken up much of the oil. Canvas gloves will keep the hands clean.

Now, all or most of the morning's work being done, you can surely take a moment to wash your hands with soap and hot water, scrubbing them well with a small brush to remove the last few specks of coal dust. Rinse, take some cream or cold cloth and push back the cuticle carefully. If there are stains, remove with lemon juice. Polish with pumice and a soft buffer. You will be pleased with your appearance.

An unbreakable gloss for tables-ware, cooking utensils and chemical use has been developed in Sudbeam.

To enable a person to make rope when he needs it from string, a hand-operated machine has been invented.

Mark Twain On Himself

Selections from His Autobiography
That Throw Interesting Light on the Character of the Author

Mark Twain's autobiography is one of the literary treasures of the future. It has been long delayed, at the author's request, so as to minimize the pain to thoroughly respectable relatives. Extracts from advance paragraphs from the book have been given out by the publishers, Harper's, and among the latter is the following story of how the father of the great humorist's future wife demanded references from his suitor:

"In a private talk Mr Langdon called my attention to the fact that I had already indicated, which was that I was an almost entirely unknown person, that no one around about him or amongst Chester, or for that matter young to be a suitable judge of men; that I was from the other side of the continent, and that he could not count out there would be able to get information on a character; in case I had one; so he asked me for references. I mentioned Gen. Grant, and he promptly wrote suspended our conference, and I could go away and wait until he could hear from Grant. I bought a ticket and started for home.

"In the course somewhere there. I was acted for, and we had another private conference. He said that Grant was not a prominent man, among those I was clergyman Chester were all San Francisco; and he wanted to send to some of them. I suggested Twichell, who was in a bank author who had an earlier Twichell was a Sunday school superintendent at Elmira and well known to Mr. Langdon. The words were not pleasant sounding. All those men were frank to a fault. They not only spoke in disparagement of me, but they were unreasonably and unnecessarily unflattering about it. One clergyman (Hawkins) said that ex-Boxing school superintendent (I wish I could remember his name) added to their black list). Among the conversions that I would fill a

CHURCH OF ENGLAND

Former Senator Of U.S. Dies, 102

Cornelius Cole Survivor of One of the Most Picturesque Periods

Los Angeles, Nov. 3.—Cornelius Cole, former United States senator, 102 years and 7 months of age, died today.

He was a survivor of the most striking and picturesque period in the history of California. A member of the first gold-seeking party to reach the Sacramento valley overland from the east in the rush of 1849, he later became district attorney of the new county of Sacramento at a moment when the legally constituted authorities were taking from the hoodlums the reins of the state during the Civil war. Mr. Cole occupies a seat in the House of Representatives, and in 1866 was elected to the United States Senate, serving one term, ending until 1873, when he retired from public life.

Trying to Get Progressives Into Cabinet

Ottawa's Hour's Consideration None at Hand, Probable Moves

MOTHERWELL SAID TO BE HATTERING

New Efforts May Follow to Get Drury, Young and Crerar

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Premier King's return from his Western tour is expected to be followed by some cabinet reconstruction. Reports from the opposition Progressive bas responsibly pressed the necessity of bringing Liberals and Progressives and in Ottawa have been thought to have formed further endeavours to secure the participation of Hon. T. A. Crerar, former leader of the Progressives, and Hon. Charles Dunning, premier of Saskatchewan, both since the latter had been interviewed in the press. Until recently they had both been reported as willing to enter the Liberal administration, but the universally unpopular act of the negotiations. In any case, there were no cabinet changes Progressives remained outside, although giving personal support to the government.

Rumors of the premier's plans on his return from the prevailing hurry. Political gossip is busy with cabinet changes, the result of the impending retirement of Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, through ill-health, and of numerous appointments with Mr Crerar and Mr Dunning but until the premier returns and meets his colleagues, it is unlikely that anything definite will be announced. Mr Motherwell is today in Regina, where the premier is to speak. It is understood to be returning ahead of the premier's party and will probably be in Ottawa by the end of the present week. Among his friends there is much surprise over the report that his health is such as to necessitate his retirement from public life. It was some of the best before Mr. Motherwell left for the West, but there has been no word received here

Generous Gifts

The immense value offered by The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal this season is meeting with the approval of the publishers' expectations. Their large calendar for 1925 with the beautiful picture—"The Sale of Old Bobbie"—is proving a very popular premium, while the Two Thousand Dollar Bonus Contest is a record proposition. For those who raise clubs of new subscribers, there is a catalogue of some very handsome and useful rewards. The Family Herald is securing high standards of quality and service for its subscribers by their generous gifts, added to the super excellence of the paper itself; in fact few homes will be found without that great weekly when Two Dollars will secure as much.

U.S. Oil Crooks Invade London

Agents of Five Hundred Swarming to Sell Bogus Oil Stocks

London, Nov. 4.—Scotland Yard authorities are puzzled to explain the sudden appearance in London of a horde of American oil stock swindlers. Within the past week or ten days, they have started an intensive campaign to unload upon the British public stock in companies which have no existence except on paper, and which are believed to be the product of the fertile brains of clever American crooks.

The city police have only the London police have always fallen heavily into the clutches of American swindlers, especially the oil game. The police anticipate a good deal of trouble in combating the American crook-of-the-air, but they are believed to be well posted on British law that they will manage to keep just within it.

The big Berenger bonanza are looming overseas' warning all the people, and the London papers are printing detailed accounts of how the crooks work.

PREMIER AND MOTHERWELL BOTH DENY THE RUMOURS

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—Premier Mackenzie King and Hon. R. S. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, both denied the rumors that the latter was to resign from the cabinet. Hon. T. A. Crerar, Hon. Charles Dunning and Hon. Charles Stewart were also reported to be in the cabinet shake-up. Premier King said: "It is a new one on me," and Mr. Motherwell remarked: "I don't know that I can make it."

"It is a new one on me," said Mr. Motherwell to the press gallery. "We are like birds in the forest at present time, but it is the first I have heard of it."

Turning to Hon. Charles Stewart and Senator Hayden, Mr. Motherwell asked them if they had heard the latest joke in politics. He related it and they passed on the laughter Mr. Motherwell in a jocular vein denied that if they too had lost their positions while in the "Old Country."

GADSBY NEWS

Gadsby, Nov. 3. The month of October gave us a fair specimen of Scotia's best fall weather and we thoroughly appreciate the latter two months more comfortable under the circumstances. [illegible] Flooring is completed and a fine [illegible] Brownrigg has had a fresh coat of paint. The last two or three days of the month will be ushered in by a real old fashioned snowstorm, accompanied by high winds. We have hardly the snow will remain [illegible] Mr. Rowe has moved into the house recently occupied by Hugh [illegible] for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anderson are preparing in an outdoor to their future home. A baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. Hammond Home. The little chap weighed 10½ pounds, which is not so bad. The Boys generally have a pretty good attack of that complaint. We are glad to know mother and son are doing splendidly.

The radio clientele is extra large and judging by the talk when two or three gather together at the school, it is now the ruling pastime. The question-bee for the various presidential candidates have all been tested to great advantage and when the [illegible] of election day arrives, the [illegible] to broadcasting. Among the late to take home a new outfit are Frank Long and Billy Anderson.

Mrs. Freeby Hamilton has recovered sufficiently to leave the hospital and is now convalescing at home. She is making good progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Pyle, who have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Bevis, have left for home in Ontario. It was rather unfortunate that Mr. Bevis should be was not quite of the time, but her sister, Mrs. Pyle, was glad to have been with her.

The Women's Institute had a very successful assembly meeting on Saturday. Amongst other business [illegible] arranged for a social evening [illegible] and their husbands only on Wednesday 12th November. Members [illegible] to be present with their husbands—all do I mean and [illegible] only somebody else's. At the next meeting which will be on the first Saturday in December, there will be the annual election of officers. Members are asked to keep this in mind, and be present.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. W. F. Cudmore has been suffering pretty severely with blood poisoning in one of his hands. He has been confined to the house for two or three days as a prisoner. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Miss Dorothy Hennessey gave a Hallowe'en party to her little chums, and a very good time the little folks had. There was also a young people's party at the Hawkes home, which, I believe, was a pretty lively affair. Outside of the private parties there was no public celebration of the [illegible] night in town.

A most and contemptible stunt was made by some miscreant last [illegible] night on the business premises of one our Chinese citizens. Three large plate glass windows were worth about $75—were smashed with a stick, or other instrument, and the perpetrators got clear away before the proprietors could get down from their sleeping quarters to the street. Great indignation is felt by every person in town that such an affair should happen—they look on it as a blot on the fair name of the com-

Did Tipsy Czar Betray Kitchener?

Impoverished Russians, formerly persons of importance at the Czar's court, have found one source of income that has not failed them, and that is the sale of sensational articles to the London press. Whether the articles are authentic or not does not matter, but they are printed. Recently a person had no good Russian to uphold the Czar [illegible] to the effect that Rasputin had betrayed Kitchener to the Germans.

Czar had been downgrunting his master in Russia and he stated. The Empress had denounced that her consort had abdicated in favor of Rasputin and [illegible] Nicky and tortured Vasitchi, steward of the royal household, to death. Rasputin was particularly wrathful because the Czar refused to listen to Rasputin's request that he [illegible] Vasitchi up, and [illegible] to [illegible] Rasputin's request was granted.

Rasputin was [illegible] and the Empress was [illegible] [illegible] Rasputin's [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE MAN WHO WINS

The man who wins is the average man,
Not built on any particular plan;
But blessed with any common mind,
Just steady and earnest and full of pluck
For the man who wins is the man who works.
The brother labor not trouble shirks,
Who uses his hands, his brain, his eyes
The man who wins is the man who tries

LIBERAL MEETING

Following a constituency organization meeting held on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 5th, at which delegates were selected to attend the Liberal Convention to be held at Calgary on December 27th a largely attended public meeting was held in the evening at which addresses were delivered by Mr. C. R. Mitchell and Capt. J. C. Bone to a well-filled house.

Mr. Mitchell dealt with the recent appointment of the Honorable Lawrence Cannon, although the appointment of Cannon had increased by only $6,000 the salaries and expenditures for the period had increased over the corresponding period of last year by $1,000,000 and grants, which had been doubled by the Liberal administration due to the "emergency" in upon which they had been created, were now the normal expenditure of the government in addition to the "emergency" grants. Whereas, also, the interest of bonds other than public works in 1920 was $6,000,000 and in 1921 $10,000,000 rising to 1924 grants to $11,700,000 an increase that under these circumstances he endorsed the Progressive platform which declared that the government no longer be responsible for the ordinary expenditure of the country, but the whole of the proceeds of the Dominion lands and the natural resources of the provinces should be handed over to the provinces. He also declared that the Liberals were in favor of the principle of the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement and that the Liberal party was pledged to the reduction of the tariff. He also declared that the Liberals were in favor of the principle of the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement and that the Liberal party was pledged to the reduction of the tariff.

Capt. J. C. Bone followed in a short address, in which he declared that the Liberals were in favor of the principle of the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement and that the Liberal party was pledged to the reduction of the tariff.

In closing, Capt. Bone reviewed the government's military policy, dealing with the annual reserves, claiming the government were looking at and subsidizing the girl but refused to take them.

It is a long way from Alaska to the Clyde, but the recent visits of Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle This route is interesting to research purposes as the steamer has been specially designed for the Canadian Pacific Coastal S.S. Princess Kathleen," from the Clydebank yards of John Brown and Company, constructs how the increasing of those interests of to the Canadian Pacific Railway has affected the Clyde shipbuilding industry the other. The launching of another vessel ... the Princess Margaret," her further sister ship, will be performed shortly. During the past few years the Clydebank yards have been busy on the construction of vessels for the Canadian Pacific Railway, and return to speed of 22 knots. Altogether there are five ships of the Empress line already in service, and these, with the two new vessels, will take up the service that has been performed for the Canadian Pacific Railway for many years past between Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle.

Mahomet could have sold your merchandise

You know the old story of Mahomet and the Mountain—when the mountain wouldn't come to him he, like a sensible man, grabbed his Panama off the hall rack and went to the mountain—he wanted it badly enough to go after it.

That is precisely the situation today—the mountain—BUSINESS—will not come to you—you will have to go after it and go after it hard. THEY have our great advantage over the prophet—he had to take the going as he found it—you can pave the way with advertising.

MARKETS

THE EXAMINER'S REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

(Wednesday 4th)

CATTLE

Export cattle were a little over the market, but most of the choice heavy steers sold from $4.00 to $4.25, with a few at $4.35; choice light steers $4.25 @ $4.50; good $3.75 @ $4.25, medium $3.25 to $3.50; no canner from the north. Choice heifers met just as strong a demand as steers, but the supply was not large enough to establish a firm market. Choice heifers sold from $3.75 to $4.00; good $3.50 @ $3.75; medium $3.00 @ $3.25; common $2.50 @ $3.00; choice cows $3.00 @ $3.25; good $2.75 @ $3.00; medium $2.50 @ $2.75; canners $2.00 @ $2.25; bulls, choice, $3.00 @ $3.25; good $2.75 @ $3.00; medium $2.50 @ $2.75; canners $2.00 @ $2.25; bulls, choice, $3.00 @ $3.25; good $2.75 @ $3.00; medium $2.50 @ $2.75; canners $2.00 @ $2.25; feeders, choice $3.25 @ $3.75; good $3.00 @ $3.25; medium $2.75 @ $3.00; stockers $2.50 @ $2.75.

Beef—Interest for some choice heavy steers Edmonton receipts were not as good as usually but lacked in number with a slightly lower price on the poor grades. Choice heavy steers $4.00 @ $5; choice light $4 @ $4.50; good $3.75 @ $4; medium $3.50 @ $3.75; common $3.25 @ $3.50; choice heifers $3.75 @ $4; good $3.50 @ $3.75; medium $3.25 @ $3.50; common $3.00 @ $3.25; choice cows $2.75 @ $3; good $2.50 @ $2.75; medium $2.25 @ $2.50; common $1.75 @ $2; canners $1 @ $1.50. Bulls, choice, $3.00 @ $3; others $1 @ $1.25. Calves, choice, $4 @ $4.50; plain $3 @ $4.00. Stockers, choice—Some feeders up to $4.50, others from $4.25 down; medium $3.75 @ $4; plain $3.50 @ $3.75; stock cows $2.75 @ $3.25; stock bulls $2.50 @ $3.00.

HOGS

Calgary market gradually slipped all week until Wednesday, when receipts at the union depot were light. Prices declined from last week all round, selects $8.50 @ $8.75, lights $8.25 @ $8.50, sows $7.50 @ $8.00, stags $6.50 @ $7.00.

SHEEP

Lambs were in heavy supply all week and prices declined from last week $1 @ $1.50 per cwt. Spring lambs $11 @ $11.50, yearlings $10 @ $10.50, wethers $9.50 @ $10, ewes $8.50 @ $9.

GRAIN

Prices were not any great for the most part of the week but there was a firmer undertone to the market that is very encouraging. Dealers whose business was not completed on All-Canada basis have tied up enough to carry or turn some and it looks quite safe to say that the bad weather is behind us. Country Elevator—We have orders unchanged, but out side quotations are all lower, now likely to affect prairie prices on any limited purchases. Dairy Butter—Practically nothing of good quality finding its way to central markets. Cheese—Tone of trade firmer and prices unchanged. Milk Distributors at Calgary and Edmonton advanced prices to $2.00 basis.

EGGS—POULTRY

Poultry—Not much business in Thanksgiving turkeys, now quoted at $15 @ 21c for hens, of 10 pounds. Edmonton quotes 18c for hens over 11 pounds. Chickens 14 @ 16c. Calgary Edmonton paid 1c over on No. 1 All two 1 @ 2c, old roosters 6c three and mark box, but not much demand and just as well to hold back and fix up everything. Eggs—Receipts very light. Calgary price—producers: Extra mention advanced on cartons and No. 1s, but all quote No. 2s at 23c.

POTATOES

Tone firm all over Western provinces and Alberta sacked $23 delivered at Calgary. A grader; other grades due into $16 @ $20.

HAY

Changed weather may start a little more business, but so far nothing much has been done.

HIDES

Trade on this side of the line is keeping U.S. business may improve now that elections are over, and business may be better anyway.

FOOD DON'T FEEL WEIGHT OF WATER

Until a few years ago it was thought that no fish could live very far beneath the surface of the ocean, owing to the great water pressure, but it has since been proved that fish normally do live miles below the surface.

Deep-sea nets on net tool the intense weight of the water and more than a human being feels the weight of air. This is because the pressure inside their exactly balances that outside.

Little is known of deep-sea fish, which nearly always live and die at a great distance here with the water, but enough specimens have fallen into the hands of man to reveal how queer

GREAT SCHOOLMASTER

Vivid Sketch of Gentleman's Teaching Method

(Red Deer Advocate)

A correspondent has passed on to the Advocate the following sketch of one of the great English schools and Mr Wells has given a vivid picture of one of his methods of teaching

Chapter 8 of the Story of a Great Schoolmaster H. G. Wells, by the Methuen Co.

The Growth of Gentlemen Shown in His Servants and Surroundings

Lessons

Before I go on to a discussion of the latest, broadest and most interesting phase of Sanderson's educational work I would like to give my readers an earlier and more intimate view of his ability and his methods of delivery I have tried to convey an impression of his stout and ruddy presence, his gleaming spectacles, his short, compact rear observations delivered in personal jollyness. I will give now a sketch of one of his Scripture lessons, made by two of the boys at the school, Verbatim. I think, could convey as well his rich dooraverseness and the affectionate homage he inspired throughout the school

Scripture Lesson

Delivered by J. W. Swanwick on Sunday, May 25, 1924, and taken down word for word by X and Y and subsequently written up by them.

Considerable distraction has been brought to the province of Alberta during the past week by the various judging teams which have been representing the province at the Boys Short Show at Lacombe.

The team is now judging from the Provincial competition of Albert Jones and Peter Wylie, was successful in securing the Canadian National championship competition against the other Western teams at Toronto. This team was the P.E. school trophy in the interprovincial competitions of the boys' and girls' clubs in Northern Alberta some weeks ago, and also the first trip to the Toronto show offered by the Canadian National railways. The team is coached by F. H. Newcombe district agriculturist of the Provincial Department at Vegreville.

The Macdonald cup in the stock judging contest at Toronto was won by the team from Alberta University composed of Tom Davies, Wm. Gerstbrown, Malcolm Hickey, C. E. Adams and J. B. Thomson, in charge of Prof. Sackville of the Animal Husbandry Department of the University. Premier honors in the entire competition were carried off by Devin

Mr Alvin Hunt, who is organizer in this district for the Co-operative Creamery Association of the Province is being made an outstanding success. He has been busy addressing meetings to put the matter before the cream buyers, has hesitancy extending from Gadsby to Consolation and Mr Hunt is himself a big cream shipper and knows the game from every angle. It is hoped the Post will be ready to open for buyer 1st of January. Mr Scott was at Westwood on Saturday afternoon and put a good hearing and a bunch of subscribers.

Doll Contest News

Here the books a week's breakage on the Right Bower

On Page 8 [illegible] voting points at T. [illegible] are a number of names [illegible] entered in the contest. We assume the picture is entered [illegible] sure the dolls are [illegible] in fact the biggest on the market. But it will give an idea of the kind of dresses the doll wears, the way her hair is arranged, etc.

The large list of girls who have been rescued by their friends to date shows what a large part a doll plays in their lives, and they recognize the best way to get a doll of this size is to enter a contest of that kind. We don't say that every one on the list will get a doll, but we are confident that every one who works for a doll will get it, and they will appreciate it all the more on that account.

A correspondent writes to what are the chances of a telephone still getting a doll? We would say that the chances are pretty good as they need only to use the telephone, and they will be appreciated with the people of the district.

ADDRESS GIVEN BY DR. ALLMARK AT THE STORY CONVENTION HELD HERE RECENTLY

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:

On behalf of the Buffalo School Board I welcome you and say that in your deliberations we wish you some of the looking problems our school council has.

You are the representatives now sitting after the style of the rural paper; town and city [illegible] a mighty hard task—[illegible] than it is under a system [illegible]

One of the most [illegible] business men I have to deal with is the difficulty of trying to [illegible] of town High School students from a rural district and at the same time not [illegible] the town taxpayer.

In our High School [illegible] per head in 1923. The grant was $68.75 per pupil [illegible] Now these two items and we have $40.75, the amount we get from an outside pupil. Deduct $40.75 from $65.31 and we have $24.56 left.

those who have paid their subscriptions during the past ten days should consult the label on their papers. We change these labels every Tuesday, and wish every subscriber to examine the date on his paper.

There are some girls working for a doll who have not yet sent in their names, but we hope to get them for next week.

The name of girls who have entered since the list on Page 6 was printed are Lois Houghton and Dimbah Everhart, both of Dunstable post office, and Dorothy Westcott of Bullkirk.

Dr. Henry Howard, of London, in an address in Chicago, declared that the last analysis in the personal relations of married people with a personal God. We are in danger of developing the corporate ideal at the expense of the individual. That is no matter we are over organized with societies, lodges, brotes, corporations and what not. Society demands that men be trained, coordinated, organized and herded under your proper name. You are then numbed from the cradle to the grave. In the same way the human soul has a relationship with God that is all his own, and a definite place in his heart."

Lacombe Hotel Man Exonerated

Dry Lacombe Statements of Alleged Drunkenness in Bar Unfounded

Lacombe, Nov. 21.—The charge brought against A. T. Boslip, proprietor of the Adelphi Hotel, of allowing entertained persons in his beer room, was dismissed this afternoon by Magistrate Fletcher and Jones.

Evidence for the prosecution was given by Rev. Mr. Knight, of Edmonton, and Mr. Ball, of Calgary, who told of their experience while in Lacombe on July 1st. It was allowed by the defense that these gentlemen had in many particulars grossly exaggerated the occurrence they reported, both being under misapprehension.

For the defense several witnesses were called, who testified to the good character of the premises, and also to the fact that the evidence of the witnesses for the crown was discredited, allowing costs to the defense.

The case against Mr. Boslip arose out of the statements made by prohibitionists in the previous election. Repeated attempts had been made to have the case dismissed, but the magistrate refused to do so, and asked that the case be proceeded with after a period of illness.

Mr. Carl H. Pendleton has gone to Calgary for medical treatment and expects to be away about a month.

Mr. Ball is a member of the Alberta Parole operates at the point in stopping at the home of her son-in-law, Arthur B. mid-

The Women's Institute are holding their Bazaar on the evening of Dec. 4th, beginning at 6 p.m.

A special feature of the Bazaar will be the Flour Sack contest. The women in the town and district from a flour sack will receive a suitable prize. The manager of the next Flour Sack will be announced. It will make very nice little gifts for Xmas.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church held a monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. J. A. Friend on Friday last. A good attendance is reported, and progress is being made in this branch of work.

Mr. P. H. Tidmarsh, Inspector of Schools, spent Thursday and Friday looking over all the rooms and making his annual inspection.

HOGS

Calgary market has been responding to a little better tone and Wednesday sales were up to $7.75 @ $7.90 for the week ended with $7.75 @ $7.90 per cent procurer. Today's thick smooths, $7.65 @ $8.00

Edmonton prices have been holding steady for greater part of the week with $7.75 the quotation on thick smooths, off cars; lower 10 per cent provinces.

SHEEP

Calgary receipts moderate and prices fairly steady on lambs ranging from $11.50 down, but they have to be good, others $10.50, wethers $9 @ $10, ewe goes $4 @ $7 Breeding ewes around $12 each and some classy sold up to $14.

Edmonton position prices fairly steady with a slightly weaker tone on lambs now $11 @ $11.50 for choice; yearlings $9.50 @ $10.50; fat ewes $4 @ $6

GRAIN

News this week has all been bullish, but the market had apparently been discounted for there was very little change. Cash quotations are lower, but nearly all with fluctuations. The latest official dope from the Agricultural Institute at Rome is that there is a shortage of 461,000,000 bushels of wheat and 175,000,000 bushels of rye reported from all countries, which is a large

BUTTER—CHEESE—HONEY

Butterfat—The buyers are making it during the week, taking prices more at central. Special prices for fancy cream, grade 1's, grade 2's, country point receivers at Medicine Hat are also raised. In Saskatchewan there has not been any advance so far as we know. Creamery Butter—Prices advanced as per quotations, making the cartons, No. 1 and No. 2, 40c and 38c. The carton prints, have specials, still around 2c. Choice brown 33 @ 33.25; roll 32.50 @ 33. Choice cows 32.50 @ 33, good 31.50 @ 32, common 31 @ 31.50, canners around $1. Winter Feeding and Housing Fall Litters

(Experimental Farm Notes)

The fall farrowed litters have housed and fed either roots or been on artificial conditions for the winter during the winter. The rapidly growing pigs demand mineral matter for the building of bone and muscle, and dried blood meal is a relatively inexpensive form, and a most valuable constituent in the normal functioning of the digestive organs.

There are many mineral mixtures available in both organic and inorganic forms and these include dried blood, bone meal, tankage, meat scraps, bone black, ground limestone, epsom salts, Nos. 1, 12a; No. 1, 10c, ducks 10c and geese 9c. Changing Seed Grain

(Experimental Farms' Note)

A common one-time annual to time seed grain for change and new seed. The advantage lies in the fact that the grain grown on the farm for a few years it may deteriorate in its quality by producing a poorer crop. It is also a common belief that the operating farm characters, cited by reliable authorities, that has seed frequently from a crop which is productive of a heavy character and vice versa. Some experiments have verified the idea that a change of seed is more necessary. They argue that seed grown for a few years on a district most of necessity secures acclimatized and, therefore adapted to the conditions of that district. It is safe to say that many farmers could follow this advice to their financial loss. Investigation and observation have revealed the fact that it is not possible to lay down any definite rule as to when seed should be changed. It is obvious that certain circumstances may arise to make the change of seed appear imperative, even to the casual observer. For instance, a crop may be so badly damaged through lack of moisture or by some condition which has forced premature ripening as to render the resulting grain to be very light and poor. Under such circumstances, it would, of course, be folly to think of using this grain for seed. This, however, is an extreme case

The problem to determine is whether under normal circumstances one may expect a larger crop from the use of seed grown elsewhere than on the farm on which it is intended to sow it. Without going into detail, one may safely follow the rule to change seed only when seed may be obtained which possesses a higher degree of development and vigor than the home-grown. This is assuring that the home grown seed belongs to a suitable variety for the district and is free from noxious impurities. If these latter provisions are not complied with the use of seed should not be used under any circumstances. Farmers who systematically change their seed and who know seed is reasonably good, at present, would be well advised to procure some first-class registered seed through the Canadian Seed Growers' Association at Ottawa and test this in comparison with their own. This is a relatively inexpensive practice which might well be adopted periodically by every farmer and with all classes of crop.

Helps For The Home Nurse

What will happen to the one who succumbs to a single overindulgence? We can speculate to some extent on what may happen, our speculations being based on the condition of the individual at the time he succumbs to temptation.

Victims of stigmata posture (vestiges of the beast) have often eaten and drunk heartily a short time previous to one of the attacks. In the presence of a high blood pressure and brittle, hardened arteries, a heavy meal has been followed by an apoplectic stroke. Those who are overweight add to their burden of fat. The large amount of carbohydrates kindly to be consumed in the centre of a big dinner table causes the appearance of sugar in the urine in the case of those who are on the verge of diabetes. The diabetic coma soon becomes his chance of recovery. And, everyone knows that food of the wrong kind and in excessive amounts often causes digestive disturbances in children.

HALKIRK NEWS

Halkirk, Nov 28th. Mr. George Sharpe has purchased the outfit which I sent to me in Edmonton a week ago. Mr. Sharpe expects to receive the engine shortly and get it installed so that he can supply power to those who have long been waiting for it. The most urgent demand has been coming from the Halkirk Dance, operated by Mr. H. E. Wiggins.

Mr. Wilbur Barrow a former resident of these parts, has been spending a few days here among the old acquaintances.

The boys have organized a club and are calling themselves "The Keys." The meetings will be held in the new church on Friday nights. The officers are: President, Jos. Taylor; Vice-President, Barney Hardy; Secretary, Francis Likens.

A number of the Halkirk people attended the Rifle sale at Gadsby on Friday of last week and brought home some livestock. Mr. Walfred Swasey purchased three cows. Mrs. Mc-Longston one ewe, and A. S. Hervey 22 hens. Mr. Hugh Horn purchased an extension table. Barney Sorenson purchased the Jorgenson farm. Mr. Horn finds the need of more furniture to fill the large house.

The Halkirk Juniors think' Club met in the church on Friday November 25th, and decided to purchase another parlor for the church. The parlors which have been put on sale very much by the appearance of the interior of the building.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Small, who have been living on Mr. Olive Osgood's farm, during the summer months, are leaving into town. They will occupy the house formerly used by the league family.

The Farmers of Blue Church, which has been in need of repair for some time, reversed the necessary attention last week when Mr. W. L. Fulton and Mr. Neil Macleod put on a new set of Miss Upham, the Rosebank teacher gables. It will now be possible to heat the building in much less time than has been required of late.

Dairyland school has installed a new furnace of the pipeless variety. The teacher reports that the result is more even temperature throughout the day. The old stove has been purchased by the Halkirk Stores.

Until after the Christmas vacation, service will be held in the Rosebank school on alternate Sundays at 3 p.m. On the intervening Sundays the Sunday school and congregation will meet at 3 p.m. to practice for the Christmas entertainment, which is being prepared under the direction of

A Christmas entertainment is to be prepared jointly by the Sunday school and the day school in Halkirk under the direction of Mrs. A. L. Woodcock, who is being assisted by the others, chiefly the teachers of the Sunday school and the day school.

MEXICO TO EXCLUDE ORIENTALS

Mexico has fallen into line with Canada and the United States in an effort to restrict Oriental migration. The Chinese translators and industrials have been gradually monopolizing many of the more profitable industries in the northwestern part of Mexico, and this appears to have been the principal cause for the determination to restrict Oriental migration in future. Mexico has less than a thousand Japanese residents. In the whole of South America there are estimated to be about 40,000 Japanese of which Brazil has some 31,000. Argentina is the only South American country which has taken any definite concerted about the character of emigration and is to be considering a selective system

Doll Contest News

"Two Dolls a Day is the Slogan"

The campaign for Dolls is going very strong at present. During November one doll went out every day for some goal, but starting with December, it is almost certain that two girls in the district somewhere will each get a doll for every day of the month.

"Two Dolls a Day" is the slogan for the people of the district are going to see that all girls who are in earnest get dolls for Christmas.

During the past week we have had quite an addition to the list of girls who are after dolls. Here are the names whose names have come in since last week:

Halkirk—Gladys Duncan, Anna belle Taylor, Dorothy Weddell.

Stettler—Emily Trimble, Florence Sturdy, Lois Boughton, Marie Keith, Jean Reader, Frances Lamont, Jean Todd, Eleanor Lee, Edna Burkhardt, Elizabeth Kreyker, Hazel Tom (a colt Gadsby—Stella Beary.

Donald—Marguerite Hughson, Dorothy Clements.

Bethe—Helen Kemp, Anne Arnstrong, Nina Gibson, Annie Warhaft, Beryl Lutzy.

Red Willow—Dora Young, Lucile Leary.

Lee—Gladys Nelson, Phyllis Peterson, Alice Fairbairn, Elsie Brush, Sylvia Greever, Georgie Chapman, Mary Kaufman.

—o—

Thirty-six girls are now well on the road to obtaining dolls, having one or more subscriptions—generally more.

Some of the new girls will be soli citing subscriptions for the first time during this month. We would say, without any exaggeration, that these chances are the best in the world for you girls who get a start of one or two subscriptions.

The fact is that our already large subscription list contains a number of persons, due to the conditions of the last three years, and most of them are paying up this year, especially to the girls who want dolls. Then there is a percentage of people in each district who are not now taking the Independent, but would readily do so if approached by these girls on their behalf, as they have always intended taking the local paper anyway. We are quite confident that no girl who is in earnest will run short getting a doll in her particular district, whether she has twenty competitors or only one.

As this is advertisers' week in the Independent, we will postpone further news and comment about the Doll Contest until next issue, but we would ask all girls who want a doll to attend today as Christmas will soon be here and every day counts.

Union Hall

Several of our good sportsmen are talking fate of copious them days. This post is very numerous this week.

Mrs. T. A. Liben returned home from Drumheller on Wednesday after spending a month with her daughter, Mrs. H. Osborne.

Miss Eva Wilson, Gov't Photo operator at Ivricana, is reported home from being to spend her Xmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Vollmer and son Lester, also Mrs. S. Brown, were Stettler visitors on Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Shand, Mr. Mann of Erskine, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pascoe of Kenny motored to-day last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan McKenzie, viewing the new real estate.

Mr. John Anderson has been under the doctor's treatment for the past but is now much improved in health.

With deep regret we report the death of Geo. Fix on Thursday, November 30th. George was a very popular young man, 23 years of age, and always had a kind word and a smile for everyone. He leaves to mourn his loss his father and mother, several brothers and sisters. To the grief-stricken family we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Bish had the misfortune to have his hands severely hurt Friday by falling against a rail-road crown, but is much better at this writing.

Mr. Gadsby is engaged as all hours and Andy Pidgeon as foreman at the Moss Mine commencing operations some week.

A good time was enjoyed by all at the dance, a la schoolhouse—given by the local Tour Club on Wednesday.

The G. T. Club met at the home of Mr and Mrs. T. A. Liben on Thursday. Several visitors were present and among them they favored lodger hunters—and more best. The next meet ing will be at the home of Mrs. J. Anderson, December 15th.

Laid To Rest

The many friends of J. H. Bradley will be sorry to learn of his death at his home here on Saturday, November 26th.

Mr. Bradley, although a man of many years, was never in failing health for a considerable time, but no death came as a shock to his family and acquaintances found.

The deceased leaves to mourn his wife and four children—Mr. Harley Bradley, Stettler; Mrs. Ralph and Myrtle at home; Beatrice, also another Mrs M. A. Bradley, Stettler and two sisters, Mr. Harriet Bush of Forts Hill and Mrs. Arthur Weston of Rosebud Alberta.

Mr Bradley came to Salisbury, near Lindstrom, New Brunswick, in 1907 and took a homestead at Louden Lake, twelve miles south of Stettler. After farming for about six years, Mr Bradley entered the hardware business, being connected with the hardware firm of Holton & Bradley. Some three years ago Mr Bradley sold this business and retired, taking things easier due to poor health.

The funeral was held from the Methodist Church, service being conducted by the Baptist minister, Rev. C. S. Ingraham, on Monday following the arrival of the afternoon train. The funeral was very largely attended by the many friends.

The floral contributions were beautiful, being given from the family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weston, Mr. and Mrs. Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bradley

SETH WITTON CO.

ENTIRE STOCK IN A GRAND QUICK ACTION SALE

DRY GOODS--LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR

MAKE WAY! And READ-READ

Stand Back! Get Into Line! When a firm like the Seth Witton Co. plunges head-long into a sale at this time of the year, there will be something doing. The motive back of this King of Sales is as sincere as the Merchandise in it, and the prices are the lowest ever quoted in Stettler. You've seen sales before but we doubt if you ever witnessed such price cutting before. We won't take 'No' for an answer. We have entered into a Hysterical Reducing of the kind of prices that were fair in the beginning. Even though we dislike to appear sensational--This Sale is a Sensational Affair--Not a Luke-warm Proposition. Seth Witton Co. goods at 100 cents on the $ $ are always safe buys, but at 50 and 60 cents you are sure saving money, and thats the stuff---READ

SUNBURST TENDER STEAK — POSTUM CAL. VALUES BRITAIN'S FRIENDSHIP

Try this way of cooking your steak, and see if your family does not pronounce it the best ever. Trim and cut to pieces, pound lightly until the fibres are broken, then cover thickly with flour and fold and knead in flour. Turn over the other side with flour and do the same until you have worked in all the flour you can. Heat a little lard in a small amount of butter but in the frying pan and pepper the steak and lay it in the hot butter turn quickly and keep turning until the steak is browned on both sides. The flour causes the steak to retain its juice and puff up light and tender. When the steak is taken up make a gravy by blending a spoonful of flour with the hot butter in the frying pan, thinning to the proper consistency with milk or water. Let cook well.

The new Portuguese Government by its declaration of policy says it is its determination to maintain Portugal's good relations with Great Britain, to make a new agreement with Brazil and to live on friendly terms with all nations towards with France.

PARIS COMMUNISTS RAISE RIOT IN FRANCE

A Communist parade was held in Paris during the Zouave ceremonies on Armistice Day, and a number of riots were caused in which the Red flag was carried and Marseillaise sung. Police were compelled to fire in order to escape the revolutionary manifestations.

BUSINESS in CANADA

In spite of the fact that comparatively mild weather until the middle of November joined with the late ripening of the Western wheat crop to delay the usual activity in many lines in Canadian business this autumn, there were evidences of considerable activity in many lines during November. There is no yet no reason to believe that the next six months will produce any radical change for the better; at the same time, business should be no worse than during the same period of 1923 and in fact, good crops in certain sections and better prices for our main agricultural products, should result in increase in the volume of sales in many lines.

The reports on business conditions, which we receive from all sections of the Dominion, are summarized below:

Maritime Provinces

The total catch of fish by the Lunenburg fleet in 1924 amounted to approximately 171,000 quintals, about 30,000 quintals less than the catch of the previous season. Average prices have been somewhat lower and as it is estimated that the cash returns will exceed those of 1923 by a quarter of a million dollars. The fishermen and their wives will be an increase in the first half year.

Reports indicate that there is at present a brisk demand for lumber from the United States, and prices are slightly firmer. It is not thought that the production during the year will be on the scale of 1923-24, as a bush fire destroyed nearly a hundred in a large cut of timber being made.

Conditions in the manufacturing industry in general are not satisfactory, although some lines are working on part time only. The coal mines have recently been active.

The demand for apples, potatoes and other vegetables continues good and large shipments are being made to the United States and Western Canada.

General business remains quiet, Collections are being fairly well met.

Ontario and Quebec

The manufacturing industries did well during the past season, especially in Quebec, the latter province showing a pronounced in agricultural conditions. As reported by a number of leading firms, on business during the next six months. The pastures throughout the province are in excellent condition, and hoof, and cattle and sheep are in excellent condition.

A slight improvement is reported in the demand for lumber, but the mills have ceased to send to be satisfactory. The cut of logs is also reported to be less than last.

Industrial production continues much the same. The metal working industries and shoe industries have been only moderately active. The demand for leather has been comparatively light, although some fair export business is reported, with further offerings in quantities. More liberal orders for collections have been complained of and the domestic millers are said to be better employed. The woollen industry shows a slight improvement. Pulp and paper mills are in some active, although in some cases they are not operating to capacity.

Fine autumn weather has the effect of restoring confidence and a brisk trade is being done. A further seasonal improvement is still expected.

The number of unemployed in Toronto and Montreal continues to increase, and the situation this winter will in all probability be a difficult one.

Although some points report an improvement in collections, in general and these continues to be only fairly well met.

Prairie Provinces

The late completion of harvesting operations, which ended weather in November, interfered with fall plowing, and the acreage covered will be considerably below an unfavorable level. Unfavorable weather during the threshing period affected Alberta particularly, and as the result of the delay and the considerable quantity of wheat in the Northern districts was still undelivered. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics placed the West-ern wheat harvest at 358,000,000 bushels (1923, 482,269,000 bus.) and oats at 282,000,000 bushels (1923, 301,756,000 bus.) The harvest is much below that of 1923. Fortunately the crush handle with a frantic endeavor to start something. The good bond instead of poor area. It will start until, but rubber hardening and armstrong starters are worth while.

As soon as the engine starts it is very important that the choking device be opened partially, depending upon the temperature and the engine heats up, and then fully closed. Otherwise the excess of gasoline will cause the engine to run sluggishly. Indeed, it may load up the cylinders with such a rich mixture that the engine may stop again. This in turn will make it harder to start the engine than before. Do not open the choker again if the engine stops from this cause. Get as much air as possible while you crush the engine and thus appear make a correct mixture

If the car of the choker device fails to start the engine by the time it is ready to do so to apply heat to the intake manifold. You may pour a little hot water over the manifold. The intake will get warm enough this way in a little while. But a safer way is to wrap a cloth about the manifold and empty the bucketful over upon it. Extreme care must be taken not to get any water on the high tension ignition terminals or in the float chamber of the carburetor. Water will not pass through the spray nozzle and a tiny globule will stick there and both the gasoline and air entering the mixture chamber. Some car owners store or hot-air furnace attached to the exhaust pipe and some depend on hot water from the cooling system.

Neither of these will get into action, however, until after the engine has been running some time and will not help the cold starting troubles of the owner if there is a hot water jacket on the carburetor, persons who drain the cooling system on cold nights will add starting materially if they fill the radiator with hot water at the morning put before it is ready to start the engine. This warms the entire engine, and that condensation is not likely to occur

How to Start the Car In Cold Weather

By Erwin Greer
(President Greer College of Automotive Engineering)

16 course the prolonged difficulty in starting a car when the cold is that the gasoline does not vaporize readily and consequently does not burn in a suitable mixture. Understanding this, do not wear out the starter battery with the engine at your position with the crank handle with a frantic endeavor to start something. The good bond instead of your area. It will start until, but rubber hardening and armstrong starters are worth while.

As soon as the engine starts it is very important that the choking device be opened partially, depending upon the temperature and the engine heats up, and then fully closed. Otherwise the excess of gasoline will cause the engine to run sluggishly. Indeed, it may load up the cylinders with such a rich mixture that the engine may stop again. This in turn will make it harder to start the engine than before. Do not open the choker again if the engine stops from this cause. Vancouver Calls You !

A BIG winter climate, where the scenery seldom does be freezing—the temperature averages 30.1. Rugged, snow-capped mountains ever in view, scenic motor drives, paved highways—dotted on both sides with cigarette trees, centuries old; the king of the sea—the ocean open with shipping, but the palatial ocean home to the hardy fishermen's vessels; natural lures, parks and gorgeous, sea-inspiring canyons. All within easy reach of the city. There's enjoyment guaranteed for young and old—golf, football, ice hockey, basketball and picture playhouses, music and song by the world's great artists; Bobby's Canada's Picnic Gateway—the best bet; an immigration welcoming; an "open" city.

EMMA IS NOT SO FOND OF SOLDIERS

At a dinner given in her honor by the Socialists of London, England, Emma Goldman, who was deported from the United States in 1919 as an undesirable alien, and later condemned by the British Government, was interviewed by the Soviet Government's Russian mission in Russia, she said, were being treated with contempt and neglect by the Soviet, and all minds had been discredited by the ruling forces in that country. Bolshevism she characterized as a failure, and declared that she was convinced the Soviet system was the greatest menace to human life.

GADSBY NEWS

Gadsby, Dec. 8th.—Pride of place in the appearance of the new hotel went to the big Masonic banquet. Worthy Carlo, queen, etc., at which Bro. Lucas on Friday night. The banquet was served in the large dining room on the ground floor and was enjoyed enough for this big event. This part of the program had to be taken in installments, it being impossible to get all the guests at tables at one time. The only hotel part of it was cheerfully endured. The hotel management did well, and everything was augmented, near to the an-nouncement of the Masonic Lodge, and the guests were treated to a splendid supper. Bro. Red Lucas, Worthy Master of Gadsby Lodge, was the toastmaster, and he did his duties in a most capable manner. Bro. Parker made him a presentation of which will be a valuable remembrance of the occasion. Bro. Parker is leaving Gadsby for Stettler where he will be a valuable acquisition to the Masonic Lodge there.

The dance which followed the banquet was a most successful affair. The hotel was crowded to the doors and everybody enjoyed themselves to the limit. Music was furnished by Bro. Bert Bowsfield, Bro. Ed. Bowsfield and Bro. Ed. Bowsfield, Jr., and they were at their best. Bro. Bert Bowsfield, Jr., was also present with his saxophone and helped out in the dance music. Bro. Bert Bowsfield, Jr., is a young man of whom Gadsby is very proud. He has developed into a splendid musician and is in demand for dances and entertainments for miles around. Bro. Bert Bowsfield, Sr., is also a musician of no mean ability and is a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Mrs. Jack Hunt presented a very pleasing appearance in her evening gown of black velvet trimmed with gold. Mrs. Bert Bowsfield, Jr., looked very charming in a dress of white crepe de chine. Mrs. Ed. Bowsfield, Jr., looked very pretty in a dress of white crepe de chine. Mrs. Ed. Bowsfield, Sr., looked very handsome in a dress of white crepe de chine. Mrs. Bert Bowsfield, Sr., looked very handsome in a dress of white crepe de chine. Mrs. Bert Bowsfield, Sr., looked very handsome in a dress of white crepe de chine.

Let us be clearly understood that Gadsby is not a town of dances and entertainments to practice for pro-nunciation. But Gadsby is a town where a little entertainment of a reputable nature cannot be given without the support of the whole town. Last night was the first dance held in the new hotel, and the next one will be held on the night of the New Year's dance. The next one will be held on the night of the New Year's dance. The next one will be held on the night of the New Year's dance.

Mr. Hammond, the proprietor of the new hotel, is a gentleman of the first water, and he is a gentleman of the first water. He is a gentleman of the first water. He is a gentleman of the first water. He is a gentleman of the first water.

Choice bulls, $3.75 @ $4.25, others $1 @ $3.50. Choice veal $5 @ $6.00, common and poor $3 @ $5.75. Feeders, Stockers—Market fairly active and firmer tone, with feeders $3.25 @ $4, quality others at purchase count quotations steers $2 @ $3.50, stocker heifers $2 @ $3.50, stocker cows $1.50 @ $2.25.

Beef—Good cattle at Edmonton somewhat scarce this week, but quite about steady. Choice heavy and light steers $4.50 @ $5; good $4 @ $4.50; medium $3.50 @ $3.75; common $2 @ $3.50. Choice heifers $3.50 @ $3.75, good $3 @ $3.50. Choice cows $3 @ $3.25; good $2.75 @ $3; medium $2.25 @ $2.50; common $1.75 @ $2; canners $1 @ $1.50. Choice bulls $3.75 @ $4; medium down $3 @ $3.50. Choice veal $6 @ $6.50; common $5.50 @ $6. Feeders, Stockers—Less demand for good steers and heifer. Fleshy deborned steers up to $4.50, but most of the good ones $4 @ $4.35 and down to $3.25 on plain. Stocker steers $3.25 @ $3.50. Stock heifers $2 @ $2.75; stock cows $1.50 @ $2.

HOGS

Hog markets are slipping and sales at Calgary Wednesday down to $7.50 on thick smooths, off cars; bacon 1 p.c. premium. Today, $7.90 @ $8.10

Edmonton prices working lower and sales on thick smooths down to $8, with premium of 10 pc on selects.

SHEEP

Calgary prices steady on cheap, with good demand for breeding ewes up to $12 each; fat lambs $12.50 @ $13.75; yearlings $9 @ $10; fat ewes $4 @ $7.

Edmonton prices unchanged, with lambs $11 @ $11.75 for choice; yearlings $9.50 @ $10.50; butcher ewes $4 @ $7.50; breeding ewes in demand at $9 @ $12 each.

GRAIN

Grain prices during the week have been lower and notwithstanding government reports which point to better prices, the buyers will not follow advances. Heavy marketing going on throughout Alberta and threshing is on again in some districts.

POULTRY—RUSH

Poultry—Big rush on in poultry marketing and coming week should see most of it in the hands of dealers for distribution to outside points. Calgary dealers quote prices unchanged; live turkeys, over 9 pounds, 18c; 8 to 10 pounds, 16c; No. 2, 9c; old toms, No. 1, 13c, chickens 11 @ 13c; fowl, No. 1, 9 @ 11c; No. 2, 7c; old roosters 6c; geese 9c; ducks 10c. Dressed prices about 4c over live quotations. Eggs—Practically no fresh local coming to Calgary dealers, B.C. pullet eggs largely used; Edmonton dealers quote extras at 47c.

BUTTER—CHEAP CHEESE

Butter—Alberta prices unchanged and receipts light; Saskatchewan continue up to 2c at some points. Creamery Butter—All prices steady and market rather awkward to improved demand in East, which is interesting some Saskatchewan shipments. Dairy Butter—Prices unchanged and firm, but very little moving. Cheese—Prices unchanged, with Eastern market weaker.

POTATOES

Calgary market firm at $35 for A grade delivered.

HAY

Business light, but market firm and prices unchanged.

FURS

Not much new business put; trade opinion unsettled regarding values, but reports from primary fur sales at coast, continuing will hurt more of our pelts

HIDES

Tanners quiet during this week and dealers uncertain as to what turn trade will take, but hope prosperous it will start again.

Alberta's Triumph At Chicago

The Province of Alberta triumphed over the world in new fields of competition in the International Grain and Livestock Show at Chicago during the past week, and swept the boards in several classes.

Although the world championship on wheat and oats did not come Alberta's way this year as it did in 1923, numerous and even outstanding successes were won. The real triumph was at the winning of the Canadian championship on alfalfa seed by Nick Chetta of Brooks, with some of his neighbors also in the winning list in the same class. This competition has always been considered to be the premier field of merit contests of the United States, and Alberta's triumph has demonstrated that this Province is capable not only of producing world champions but also world wide outstanding feeder crops.

The world championship on wheat this year went to Saskatchewan, Canada winning the championship for the thirteenth time.

In livestock Alberta also scored an outstanding success, winning no less than three championships in horses in the three entries made for these, and winning also many events in the cattle classes.

Although the records of winnings are not yet complete, the following are some of the prizes taken:

In Hereford cattle, the Alberta University herd sold last. This herd also took the first in the John Clay special for Agricultural Colleges, etc., and also took second and reserve championship in Hereford special. The University also took third place in the John Clay special group of five steers. Frank Collicutt of Crossfield took first in senior Hereford heifers and fourth in two-year-olds. A. G. Boggs of Daysland got a place in every event in Hereford cattle, and got second in herd of grades; Herefords and fifth in Hereford heifer. He also got a reserve junior championship.

In Shorthorns, the Shorthorn heifer Princeton Rosewood from the Prince's ranch took first in its class. J. G. Clarke's Shorthorn calf exhibited by the University took third and the Prince of Wales' King of the Prairie took fourth in its class.

In Aberdeen-Angus, Henderson of Lacombe got second in the aged cow class. The calf shown by the University and grown by Dickson and Hunter got fourth, and 5th in the class went to the Chemong Bros.' calf shown by the University Rancher.

In grain events, Henderson of Lacombe got second in the aged cow class. The calf shown by the University and grown by Dickson and Hunter got fourth, and 5th in the class went to the Chemong Bros.' calf shown by the University Rancher.

A Western Favorite

The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal is far and away the most popular paper in the West. For more than half a century it has been the wise counsellor and good friend of the Western settler, old and new. In most parts of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia it is difficult to find a home where the Family Herald is not read. It is an all round paper that serves and satisfies every member of the family, young and old. To the Western farmer, the farm section of the Family Herald alone are worth ten times the subscription price. This paper there is a wonderful calendar, ten thousand dollars in prizes and other valuable rewards given to subscribers. A sample copy of rewards will be sent free of charge to any address. What interests the public is the giving of such a great paper for two dollars.

Big Reduction In Drunkenness In November

Calgary People Getting Better and Better in Every Way Every Day, Police Records Show

TEN NOVEMBER 250 Lines

CASES THAN LAST YEAR

Lowest Decrease Shown in Drunkenness; Cases of Infractions of Bylaws Decreased

If police court records are any reliable Calgarians are day by day getting better and better. The city police court records for the month of November show a decrease of no less than 250 cases compared with the same month last year and the decrease is shown in every department of crime. The total number of cases was given as 215 for the month, compared with 500 during November, 1923.

The greatest decrease is shown in the number of drunks. 35 of whom were arrested compared with 250 during the same period last year. Eight were arrested on charges of being drunk and disorderly, and two with being drunk in charge of automobiles. In November, 1923, 40 were in this latter period, no one was arrested for driving an automobile while drunk, although six were convicted on charges of being drunk and disorderly. The increased police court fines for drunkenness and the fact that a set of "teeth" are fleeting the purchase of liquor rather costly in hard times, is said to be the reason for the decrease in the number of drunks.

City bylaw cases also decreased considerably. Only 65 cases were before the court last month, compared with 127 during the same period last year. Motor Vehicle and Highway Act infractions were likewise decreased, with 76 in November last year.

Assault	9	13
Bylaws	47	127
Drunk	35	250
Drunk and disorderly	8	6
Drunk in charge of car	2	6

FAULTY NUTRITION

Many of the ailments of grown people may be traced to faulty nutrition. Well-fed children or adults understand weakness better than those who are inadequately nourished.

IMMIGRATION INCREASED 6 PER CENT

During the past 12 months 184,169 immigrants entered Canada, an increase of six per cent over the previous twelve-month period when 120,764 arrived. During the seven months ended October 31, 1924, 38,500 Canadians returned to this country from the United States, according to reports issued at Ottawa by the American Department

PAYMENT

The British Government has completed its arrangements for the payment of about $50,000,000 to the Government of the United States, due December 15th. On that date the British fiscal agents at New York, J. P. Morgan & Co., are expected to turn over the funds to the local Federal Reserve Bank. The $50,000,000 represents the December instalment on the $1,000,000,000 owed the United States, which, under the debt funding contract, is payable over a period of 62 years. The payment to be made next month is particularly interesting because for the first time it will be necessary for Great Britain to pay the new duty in gold. Liberty bonds having reached a point at which they can no longer be used for debt payments. It is customary for the British Government to accumulate funds here gradually over a period of months for the purpose of making the payments as they become due. This policy has been followed in the present case.

Botha News

Botha, Dec. 8th.—The Women's Institute held a successful banner and sale of home cooking in the hall on Friday night last. Supper was served at six o'clock and from then until [illegible] when the people came and after obtaining the articles desired had a splendid opportunity to visit. At the close of the evening it was found that the sum of $186.00 had been realized. It is understood that the object of the Institute was to raise funds with which to purchase a sheet for the community Hall amounting to $100.00. The ambition can hardly be realized. The ladies have more very set ideas ably arranged, now in charge of the following: Candy Mrs. G. E. Snyder and Mrs. Chas. Kemp; Home Cooking, Mrs. C. T. Johnson and Mrs. Bertie Gardiner; Miscellaneous Articles, Mrs. S. Steele, Mrs. I. A. Cunningham and Mrs. H. S. McDonald; Aprons, Mrs. Walter Freund and Mrs. W. G. Garvin; Fancy Goods, Mrs. Henry Townsend and Mrs. J. A. Hay. A paper work competition was [illegible] and many were the ingenious articles that were created out of the humble sack. The winner for the best creation was Mrs. J. A. McKay; Mrs. Harry Elson came second, while Mrs. S. L. Freed came third. Mrs. E. A. Freed and Mrs. J. R. Greene acted as hostesses for the evening.

The rush leads for the Institute are on sale at the post-office and those desirous of obtaining same should do so as soon as possible.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.M.S. will be held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Pratten. The last half hour will be spent socially and the ladies are asked to bring their sewing.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Bartlett left Tuesday morning for Los Angeles, accompanied by Miss Ida Bartlett. Mrs. Bartlett's health has improved sufficiently for her to stand the long journey. Botha loses a good family in the Bartletts and it is hoped that the change will do Mrs. Bartlett a world of good. Since the sale of her farm Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Garvin have entertained the family.

There will be an organization meeting for the purpose of instituting a Trail Ranger Camp. Mr. S. Steele will be in charge and all the boys are urged to attend. This will complete the organization for the winter of all the boys' and girls' work.

Mrs. Earl M. Pedden returned from Calgary on the week-end and reports improvement in the health of her husband.

It Was Dad's First Christmas

(By Ethel Cook Eliot)

Of course it would be the first Christmas Dad had lived through, couldn't be, since it happened in late seventeenth winter! But, so he often said phrased it, it was the first Christmas he'd had a Christmas to be thinking! This is how it happened:

Almost a year—nearly a year and a half, last year Dad and Mother called to see us on the long distance to tell about the babies, who, poor lambs, had whooping cough. It is a very disagreeable malady away from home and I know they would all afford it—so I talked fast and out all I could to make the call a brief one.

But after Mother had said "good bye," Dad wanted a last word, so thought it had been to say what sorts of the preservatives in the first place a hundred miles away I heard his smoking over a dozen of the things I hastes to put the receiver, and Mother's voice, "Are you there, Father? They'll wait!"

And so I was—all the way on the telephone! P. S. was, "Now Bessie, don't you and Harry get too excited for Christmas Eve, dear. I really don't want anything—not after all you spent on those babies! Don't let them there. Thanks-by-by."

"What's makes you think they're planning to give you anything, any way?" mused Mother's voice from the room connecting the one in that I'm still Dad's voice, a hundred miles away, came back, "Now, remember, Bessie, Mother would be awfully disappointed if she hasn't something to open Christmas Eve. Don't you forget it, dear. Good-by."

Mother's goodness step approaching the door.

"Well, Harry, Father says we are to have something to open Christmas Eve, and I'm sure I don't know what it can be. What do you say to postponing it till then and getting a tie or something instead?"

But, to my amazement, Harry, who is the mildest of men, stamped the floor and said in a voice I hardly knew for the rarer, out of my fearless, three is at the rug, and bought me a tie, and I'll be darned if the money rule before the fourth. But his look was a stubborn one, and I knew that my opinion had vanished.

"Now, Elizabeth, hasn't your father said that to us every single year, all during our married lives? Haven't we always had our presents Christmas morning? Haven't we always found a stocking filled with something, and, for the children, Santa Claus had been true, poor Christmas on their bureau little form had been filled with toys? It is Christmas we're going to spend money on him."

"But he always says it on yet, didn't he, even when he didn't have it to spend? Why, all my married life—"

"Why, just because he is an ridiculously fond of us all. He wanted a tie."

"Yes. But that is nonsense. Besides, Harry, I've got to get him something. He'd would notice me if I didn't, and I'm sure a necktie hasn't been enough for him for years and years. I'm not reasonable to suppose that I'm going to spend money on him."

"Why, just because he is an ridiculously fond of us all. He wanted a tie."

"Yes. But that is nonsense. Besides

PLEASE RETURN THE BIBLE

QUESNEL Dated Dec. 8, 1934.
Editor, Stettler Independent,
Stettler, Alberta.
Dear Sir:

Thanks for your courtesy in sending us the Stettler Independent. We enjoy reading it very much. Please send us a bill for same.

We have just paid our taxes and find that a large proportion of our taxes is to be expended on repairs of our roads. Some portions are impassable for the school bus and other conveyances connected with the transportation of children and equipment of storm. We have received notice that the burglary insurance is to be raised again and have got an extra quota of locks on all the windows at the house. We were wondering why we felt nervous every time we went out of doors in the evening with more than six bits in our pocket or passed through the cemetery on the 7 one of the town or our hospital street.

And then we read an announcement made by the World League Against Alcoholism that crime has increased in the United States since it became a bootlegger's paradise. Take the league's report in partial explanation, it is contrived.

The actual decrease in arrests for drunkenness since the Volstead Act went into effect is 42.3 per cent for the three hundred cities, or a million less cases of drunkenness each year than were in the west parted for the whole nation. Whose formerly drank cases made up 35.5 per cent of the total arrests of the country, they have now been cut to 10.2 per cent."

A most amazing mystery almost daily mightily belongs as often as we are entertained by shootings, holdups, bound bandits, bay murderers, armed and brigades, bank robberies, mail train looted, gang feuds galore, indictments, the sky certainly is filled with the peaceful passage of the prosperous days of 1934. Every day one or more of them may be found among the chief items of news in the papers. They are in the news of Omaha, of Kansas City, of Chicago, of New York, of every city on the continent.

But why get excited about it? Let's have calm, and not be in the least hurry to flood ourselves of the Ku Klux Klan. We want of the World League Against Alcoholism for it, either is on the decrease. Why pay attention to the statement of Mr. Alfred J. Talley of the name of general counsel of New York city that the United States is the most lawless nation on earth, that more pounds of whiskey and beauty have turned their heads to crime as never before? This is a trove nothing by the side of the fact that a million men have been prevented from going on a spree every year.

No doubt the World League's figures are correct, but its conclusions will not deter us from having a hold up clause added to the burglary insurance policy or from wondering how soon the penitentiary will be enlarged so that our Douglas county convicts can be sent there but be maintained at serving their terms in the county jail or on parole.

NEW RAILWAY BRANCH IN SOUTH

Road being was commenced last week on the new Lacombe branch of the C.P.R. south-east of Ponoka. The present end-point is 40 miles north-west from Lacombe which will leave the end of steel still two miles of the Red-Lacombe branch. The new extension serves the districts of Mirror and Gwynne and Arrowhead.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters must be brief. Letters without name and address to show bona fides of the writer will not be published, but name will not necessarily be made public. Publication not at all cases is subject to the judgment of the Editor.

Vine, Dec. 12th, 1934
Editor, Stettler Independent,
Stettler, Alberta.
Dear Sir:

To avoid any confusion and overlapping in the organization of our Community Livestock Fund, would you please insert in your next issue of the Independent the fact that under the constitution drawn up and adopted at the meeting held in Stettler on Dec. 4th, all applications for loans must be signed and recommended by the Secretary-Treasurer of the Local Association in the district in which the applicant resides.

Meetings will be held for organization purposes in your district as soon as possible, when farmers will decide on their local committeemen, appoint their officers, and all contracts must be signed through the hands of the local secretary. Until this is done it cannot be kept of the members of local committee organizations.

The writer is now ready to assist in organization and will be glad to attend meetings in Stettler district as soon as requested.

As it is now late in the season it is hoped that enthusiasm will be shown so as to get started before holidays. All contracts should be held until these meetings have been held.

Thanking you in anticipation.

I am,
Yours truly,
H. A. McMillan,
Town Adm.

DONALDA

We are surely in the grip of the Frost King, who has held his icy hand over all over Alberta. The roads are in an almost impassable state, with the thermometer hovering around the 40 below zero. We wonder if Mr. Hitchens and his reindeer will venture out in their team for Christmas just now.

The Seniors Mental Christmas entertainment will be held on Friday evening, in the Rivera Vista and Red Willow on the 21st, and Donalda on Tuesday, 25th. We earnestly hope that the weather will be moderate as be possible as many as possible to enjoy the Christmas festivities.

The services on Sunday will be: Union Church School at 11 a.m.; Rivera Mental Church Service at 3 p.m.; and Union Church at the usual hour with Sunday School to follow.

Donalda is being kept open in Donalda, though the attendance is on a minimum.

A very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to you all from your pastor, Rev. I. R. Hughson.

(The late for last week.)

On the occasion of the departure of Mr. McIntyre family from our midst at least until spring, the ladies of the U.F.W.A. and community gathered en masse to surprise Mrs. W McIntyre with their sudden appearance. A real good time was spent in games, and a presentation by the Ladies' Aid of a beautiful silver toilet set. Mrs. McIntyre has been a most energetic and faithful member of the Society, being president for a number of years, also a member on the Church Board. We trust that the rest will be there as I poor and come back in the spring ready to take up the manifold responsibilities. Best wishes.

Mr. Warren Hansen left on Monday for a trip to his friends in Ireland, U.S. We are very sorry that Warren has decided to leave us as he, by his genial, sunny ways, has won the high respect of all, so that his absence will be greatly felt among the young people.

Richard Johnson is spending a few days in Camrose this week on business. While there he will visit his two sisters.

Dr. Mannisto has been quite busy during the past week. One or two accidents cases have been reported.

We regretfully are obliged to report another family soon to remove from the Rivera Mental neighborhood. Word has been received that Mr. O. H. Haney intends shortly to return to his former home in the States where his wife's mother is living, to look after her interests since her husband's present demise. A very great loss will surely be felt when Mr. and Mrs. Haney and family have gone. They have always entered into all the sporting activities of the community, both in the church and social life. We wish them every happiness and prosperity in their new sphere of labor.

Christmas programme are being prepared for this most joyful season of the year. Children's voices are being carefully trained in song, recitation and motion exercises. The Christmas entertainment here will be held in the Union Church. The platform will be enlarged in order to provide space for the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Anderson left on Monday for Edmonton for the week-end. Mr. Anderson will be attending the Provincial Convention of the Liberal Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Anderson left on Monday for Edmonton for the week-end. Mr. Anderson will be attending the Provincial Convention of the Liberal Party.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC IN THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The choir of the Presbyterian Church will render a special Christmas music on Sunday evening, December 23rd, when Mrs. Adshead's Orchestra will play Christmas selections. Also, the choir will render Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" and Mr. Jos Mather will render a solo.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC AT THE METHODIST CHURCH

Both next Sunday and the Sunday following will be devoted to a consideration of the Christmas carols and the services in the Methodist Church.

Next Sunday at the morning service the subject will be "The Christ Child" and the choir will render "Lo! the Angels Bright and Fair" by Gounod, and "Christmas Morning" by Dudley Buck. In the evening the subject will be "The Christ Child" and the choir will render "Christmas Carol" by Gounod, and "Christmas Morning" by Dudley Buck. In the evening the subject will be "The Christ Child" and the choir will render "Christmas Carol" by Gounod, and "Christmas Morning" by Dudley Buck.

Every Christian Church is an assembly for worship and worship is the call to serve and worship. We will be held on St. George's Church Christ the King of Kings.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. Weldon Olive spent the week-end in Calgary.

Stettler Rink has a new wall painted in a very attractive manner. Mr. Wood is the artist.

Mr. and Mrs. Trotter had the misfortune to lose their second child on Monday morning.

A number of young people have been enjoying the skating on the Stettler Rink.

Mr. Barry Bowen is around again after being confined to his house with an injured knee.

Jack Dempsey is not the only famous Irishman visiting in Stettler.

Mr. Alex. Fraser has moved into the Bennett house on the hill.

Gordon Gaetz is the latest addition to the staff of the Royal Bank.

English is a wonderful language. Mr. Bailey Mason has been appointed Assistant Manager of the Bank of Commerce here.

Bailey Mason is the new Assistant Manager of the Bank of Commerce here.

The residents of this district don't have to go to the movies to see the queen. They have a big job at least three times a week when the mail returns.

Travelers who are arriving at Lewis Lake this week-end will find there will be pretty lonesome at our Alberta resort. Mr. Waterfall, who's the fish has been light.

The snow plow has made the roads passable at last, but the roads are pretty well obstructed, and out in the country some roads have not yet been broken.

On Monday, the 23rd instant, at 2.30 p.m., the doors at Stettler Public School will be open for the parents. All interested in education will find a hearty welcome awaiting them by the Principal of the school and the teachers in charge, and will be exhibits of work done during the term.

When a man gets a few choice of rum under his belt and starts painting the town red by quarrelling with everybody, he puts an awful strain on the confidence of his friends and acquaintances, and while affairs of that kind are more common in pioneer communities they show a man's class to no advantage. He would be fun, rum and rampage generally go together.

Great care should be taken at present with ashes and also with stoves, as the heat necessary for the past few days has been responsible for fires in various parts of the province. Fires of this kind are generally due to many causes and can be easily avoided if care is taken.

On Monday evening Mrs. Tarney and Mrs. Kirby entertained at the "Arrows" Tennis Supper and the senior girls of the Methodist S. S. at the parsonage. A very enjoyable time was spent in contests, group singing and tea test, etc. Cecil Hurst was presented with a beautiful traveling bag by his fellow members of the Supper. Alfred Hook making the presentation in a short and well chosen speech. Mr. Hurst occupies the position of Deputy Prime of the Supper. He will be greatly missed by his many friends.

Stettler hockey team played their first game at the local rink for the season last Thursday, December 13th, when they met the strong Red Deer team. The final score was Red Deer 8, Stettler 2. The game was hindered by the snow and water making it very difficult to negotiate anything in the line of fast speed. However, the latter scored for the home team in the first period in 12 minutes, and Red Deer in another one after 15 minutes of the same period had been played. The Reds of Red Deer scored for their team just before the end of the second period. Red Deer worked during the last period and scored two more goals, winning the match. The local team was composed of Dunkle, Mooney, Hoff and Bartowski, forwards; Woods, North, Griffin, Jackson, and Penny Griffith, goal. Sanford was the referee. Stettler now has to go to Red Deer to return game at Red Deer last Saturday evening, but the storm made the trip impossible.

HOGS

Calgary sales light during early part of week and lower holding around $6.85 on Wednesday. Tuesday sales, thick smooths, self rate, $6.35 to $6.50, canners to pay less.

Edmonton hogs advanced 10c last week with sows up to $5.25 @ $5.50, thick smooths with 10 per cent premium or better.

SHEEP

Calgary receipts light during the week and choice lambs holding $11.75, yearlings down to $10.50, wethers $9 up $10; fat ewes $4 @ $7, breeding ewes around $12, and some up to $15.

Edmonton sheep market steady, with lambs $11 @ $11.75, wethers $9 @ $10; fat ewes $4 @ $7; good inquiry for breeding ewes.

GRAIN

Marketing shows natural evening off, coincident on a high price level and the general tone is still strong. Fixed Price Committee in Alberta has permitted the following changes: Coleraine and Salals are being cleaned up.

POULTRY—BOSS

Poultry—Heavy marketing of car lots of live and dressed birds and indefinite arrangements in moving markets; prices at Calgary and Edmonton higher on turkeys, but low hog present levels will hurt in not assured by dealers. Live weights—No. 1 turkeys, 10 lbs. and over, 15c; 8 to 10 lbs., 16c; No. 2, 10c, old hens, 13c. Dressed weights 4 @ 6c over live turkeys; live chickens 11 @ 12c; live fowl 7 @ 11c; no demand for dressed fowl from larger dealers Live geese, 9c; dressed 10 to 14c Live ducks 10c; dressed 14c. Eggs—Practically no local fresh eggs, few, but extras worth around 42c.

BUTTER—CREAM—CHEESE

Butterfat—All prices unchanged and two-cents very light. Creamery Butter—Jobbing, ex- Dairy Butter—very little received at central markets; dairy table grade 20 @ 22c. Cheese—Market quiet but firm in West.

HAY

Trade demand rather indifferent, but more points being received and new business anticipated after new year.

Christmas Gift For The Family

The cheapest, best and most appreciated Christmas gift would be a year's subscription to the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. It costs only Two Dollars and the whole family would enjoy it. This beautiful set calendar for 1935 with a large picture in colors each week with the Family Herald this year, would help to brighten the home. We also hear that each subscriber is to receive a free entry in a popular contest in which ten thousand dollars in cash will be awarded. That is surely extra value for the money.

Ladies, don't balk. It is distressing to see even a man [illegible] appreciated and behind a steering wheel, not far more so in the case of a woman. The woman who talks herself into [illegible] has a way of making a good impression wherever she may be, and this applies equally whether she is driving a car or sitting at a dinner table.

Don't take advantage of the fact that you are a woman, however, though most men drivers will make way for you even when you are in the wrong, they will think the less of you while they do so. And there are some men who will insist upon their "rights" as motor car drivers. Should you encounter this last named person there is likely to be a crash.

Don't think about the possible impression you may be making upon other road users. Attend strictly to the business in hand. There will [illegible] in the minds of a good many people who [illegible] that it is not safe for women to drive automobiles. Do your best to destroy this false impression by handling your car with care and consideration for others.

Remember that other drivers will unnecessarily stare at you. If, they do, it will be not because they are admiring you, but because you have done something that has made them doubtful of your ability to drive. Show them that you are masters of the art.

YULETIDE THOUGHTS

CHRISTMAS TIME

Here's a welcome to Wishing-Time! A good word for Wishing-time! For Christmas-time is Wishing-time all the world over! Let it come in or in the white robes of winter time—the snow-man in the garden and the snowballs on the street, the sleighs on the lake and the merry bells, and the skates the soap-dragons in the hall and the ghost story in the flicker log fire light!

In fact it comes in as a sort of comfort-blanket, like Tennyson says, to all the golden glory of high summer-time—a flutter or white drawn over a summer, a festival of remembrances and cosies! In one respect at least, the season never changes: time when it tell a reason or a whirlwind of wishes. Summer-time or winter time, Christmas-time is Wishing time! I welcome once more the world's great Wishing time

I love to be out on the street on the night before Christmas. Last year, I remember, everybody was abroad. It was difficult to push one's way along. For the processions of the throng were not regular! Friends met friends: groups spoke in turn and, in streams of trouble became blocked in crossings.

If it is I dislike alone, on the current of the crowd, and caught the fragments of conversation that left upon my ears in passing. I wondered to see that everybody was wishing

"Wish you a Merry Christmas"

"May you have One"

"A very Glorious Christmas"

Clearly, then Christmas-time is Wishing-time! At the season of the year we all borrow experts in the art of wishing. If we do not do it well, it is certainly not for want of practice. We are at it from early morning until late at night.

A somewhat grieving it is for that time the cheery messages of every sense that we write, every handshake is accompanied by the expression of a timely wish, every friend we meet passing each other on the streets, we do not pause to chide but do, on or least find time to toss our good wishes to each end or as we hurry on.

A survey of the windows that, by now-up, the pressure brings, or a glance into any stationer's window shows that all the conventions of the year and all the key motifs we have been engendered in order that our gamuts be wish-ing, may find destiny and elegant expression. We find our wishes with every need of the hour, with every glance of the eye, with every stroke of the pen. We breathe out wishes on the breezes breathe responses. We radiate wishes in the very candle light. Christmas invariably comes in, and the Old Year goes out in the environment of a perfect storm-sea of wishes! There are wishes everywhere!

FROM THE CHRISTMAS TREE

Christmas peace is God's, and He must give it Himself, with His own hand, or we shall never get it. Go then to God Himself. There are His child's, on Christmas Day declares. Do not at all to go unto thy Father. Pray to Him, tell Him what thou wantest. But, "Father, I am not ignorant, nor unable, but-hearing. I feel I cannot keep Christmas aright, for I have not a powerful Christmas spirit in me; and I know that I shall never get it by thinking, and reading, and wishing, and standing; or it seems all that, and how far away beyond it, does peace, in the very centre of Christmas, overshadow, slumber, control Godhead, which no change nor decay of this creation's world, nor sin or folly of men, nor devils, nor other; but which abideth for ever what it is, in perfect rest, and perfect power and perfect love. O, Father, give me Thy Christmas Peace."—Isaac Kingsley

Christmas Time! That time must be a remembrance indeed, to whose inward something like a period healing is not resigned—in whose mind some pleasant associations are not numbered—by the recurrence of Christmas.—Dickens.

SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

What a wonderful spirit is this which meets us down on our margin where the years pass each other 'one going and the other coming!' It laughs at distance, for the mind thus is coming its way over continuous and sees that divide us. It starts pilgrimages at today, and smiles, to the old home.

It calls the old and from faded pages it brings scenes that never should separate. Indeed, scenes are called then that one scarcely remembers from one year's end to another. It stops pensiveness on the way to the cemetery of forgotten things. It produces memory, and digs in the ashes of the past.

It breaks in manhood with the sound of bells, and lets in a flood of feeling that carries down the barriers of selfishness, and our little hearts are caused from the it encourage it is an earnest of redemption—a promise that the world is no altogether bad, for the — — —

Home Town Paper Campaign

Everyone is saying now that the single issue paper is dead, and that nearly it tends to be right. But even that is to a limit. It may be a good or a true thing to issue people as a rule, but it is not always intended. It is true that some people are pleased here, then if new people come they will be a chapter of what they would like to chapter of some other town.

Most people in the country around these people in the town, seem more and more interested in their own local paper. Some of these have now many more readers than they had some before them. If this is true, then a real emergency who will undertake to follow the scheme up for two months. If the writers of the letters reserved replies then there should be forwarded or handed over to the person who is in charge of the follow-up work. The scheme, of course, must be taken up by each locality for the purpose of getting people for by every community, and number of personal letters from interested friends and be of interest interest in the scheme would reach friends on the unexpected lands in an organized way, and the whole idea would be realized.

If John Jones did not care to go to the trouble of composing such a letter, then some interested one in the town would do so and John Jones would not mind receiving it. And sending it to the Editor of his home town paper, by the way that could be done for him. Then the Editor would publish it, and the next week there would be a number of letters from other friends interested in the town, which in turn would be published. Then the next week there would be still more letters, and so on. Such a letter would interest many young farmers in many parts of the world, because the people in every district come from widely different parts, then any amount of imagination would be used. John Jones would probably get a number of personal letters from interested friends and be interested himself in hearing from friends on the unexpected lands in his particular district, and so on in an organized way, and the whole would be realized.

KING'S PROCTOR NAMED

The Provincial Attorney-General's Department has named R. A. Scott, Deputy Attorney-General as King's Proctor, a new appointment which carries with it the right to interfere in divorce cases where public interest demands it. This work has been carried on for some time by the Attorney-General's Department, without a definite appointment, which is now made necessary in the ship with such letter rules in length.

"You, sun, marvelous," and a visitor from "Main Street" as he was enjoying all these wonders by his son as New York City "marvelous what man does, isn't it? And yet," asked the visitor, "he cannot make a worm."

—VII—

It is always difficult to preach to a man who has made a success, and an argument difficult with a great assistant of strength and power. But after all, much depends on the interpretation of the word "great."

When we think of a great city we think of the number of population; not of the greatness of its people.

We prize greatness that we are more interested in today than in yesterday.

"Yesterday," we jubilantly say, "ended last night." Which, according to the almanac, is true. But in our yesterdays in our business. The greatest can only be rightly judged by the past. Experience does count, for something. History is not "trash," as contrary to the maker of the Ford motto, while he said it, forgot that he was making history himself, even to the extent of changing the American timber.

Man has done marvels, but in the doing of them his own undoing must be reckoned. We achieve always at a price, we speculate always at the expense of some loss. Man has created the mechanism of speed, but found himself, in what is his utmost gain? Has the span of life been lengthened? After all, that is the end we all hope for and endeavor to attain to. Is he? Has Man found anything which may have moved up his own years? The material increase in hours-fullness would not point to such a result. And certainly with the missing hours-fullness, man is scarcely happy. Has he earned for himself more wages, more money, more romance of real life? He would not bear out such a gain. What, then, has he gained by the accumulation of his gadgets and contrivance? What profits is it to him now that he has gained the whole world by a financial, economic, and inventive devilment?

"But all this," says some one, "is national progress. Certainly you would not contend, would you, that we should stop this progress? Is there any very simple reason that you cannot. But, I ask, do we honestly believe that all progress is really real progressive,—for ourselves, our money, our comfort, our enjoyment, our power? Are we bringing rapidly down every cloud of ignorance, the wound

Tomorrow's Business Man

A Thought for Him to Think About

By Edward W. Bok

(Author of "The Americanization of Edward Bok," "A Man from Maine," etc., etc.)

I asked Theodore Roosevelt once what one fundamental quality he believed was more glaringly lacking in the American character than any other, and which, of all other qualities, he would add if he had the power to do so.

Without a moment's hesitation, he answered: "A greater efficiency based on thoroughness." He repeated the word thoroughness."

I felt it was the Dutch accenting in that epoch, and, as a Dutchman by birth, it naturally struck a boastful responsive chord within me.

Each of us has our own notions as to the greatest deficiency in our national life, and I dare say if any two were invited to name the same thing. But when you think it over calmly, he did not. Theodore Roosevelt put his finger on the one dominant and vital defect, because that is what it really is, as our American life when he said "We don't know what thoroughness is."

II

Now, the American's lack of thoroughness is not because he does not want to be thorough, but because thoroughness is not taught him as a child. On the contrary, the respect of quantity and not quality is constantly forced upon him in practice to be a part of his everything. He must learn as many words as he must do as many examples; he must be able to read so many lines. It is always quantity—quantity from the start. He may learn these words and sums and lines as a parrot learns, so long as he learns them; and he may also learn in the largest sense of the term, a great deal that he is the briefest part. To far more important fact of life is that thoroughness is not rewarded and told that he is the briefest part. To far more important fact of life is that thoroughness is not rewarded and told that he is the briefest part. To far more important fact of life is that thoroughness is not rewarded and told that he is the briefest part.

Here would and thoroughly he has learned what he so glibly recites or turns out into the question. As he progresses through boyhood, the same lack of thoroughness meets him everywhere, and clubs deep into his consciousness. So man his father and the simple task of reading his newspaper; but he sees his father read and he reads. He imagines, the boy finds, that everything is tabloid form; the most popular periodicals being those in which the shortest articles, and whose chief bid for public patronage is that their reading, digest or appreciation must happenings of the world. "It's all in a nutshell," says the boy, "and why not?" "Why," says the father, "we haven't time, you know, to read much. I like the writer who boils things down."

III

The boy sees his mother's home: she has all boiled down for her in predigested cereals, canned goods and prepared foods. "All you have to do is to add milk and serve," says she, "and everything is ready for you." Even our preparation, and those you have to cook, are largely boiled down for you minutes and your meal is ready." Whether the food is nutritious or not, the boy does not know. He has been taught to believe in the efficiency of abbreviations, but what appeals to her most is that it saves time. It is a mere matter of boiling down in the information acquired. We are keen to read a book we have heard about. We rush to get it: and then we hasten to read it and to get through with it, so that we can say we have read it. We are full of a desire to see a play that others are talking about. We rush hence, jump into our clothes, speed through our dinner, bolt for the theater, go restlessly out between the acts, look at our watches to see how late it is getting to be, wait our turn, and then are in the mob before the curtain drops, rush home, jump into bed, because if we do not immediately go to sleep, and we are tired through a busy day. We do not assimilate the play or a book. We have not time. We have to get to bed. And then we hear on the next day of a new play or a new book. And then we hear on the fourth of July! We suppose a certain factory is engaged by the season in day's work, and how far before or behind. Barely is the question asked: "Is the product better?" A man's efficiency is gauged and based on how much he can produce. Never mind if our goods can bear no comparison to English clothes; our homes produce so many yards in their time, the number of our automobiles count equal to the number so long as those of foreign nations and nation to the world." In what respect? Let him test us. He cannot do so.

We have the financial dominance of the world.

We have the commercial supremacy in bulk.

We have the tallest buildings.

We have the record for mass production.

We win with the bird in the air and push the eagle out of its path with the plane.

We drive under the water with the submarine and vie with the fish in speed and distance.

Space is no naught to us; we annihilate it with the telephone, the wireless, and the radio.

We dig under the water and find how to bridge the bed of the river.

We tunnel under great buildings and subways ride like motors in the mart in the morning and back to their homes in the evening. We pride ourselves on the fact that a man need not inhale a single breath of the air that his fellow man has done to door to door.

We speed over the rails sixty miles an hour and consider hourly if we are half an hour late in a journey which required a week for our forefathers.

We even obliterate the stars in that

HOW MUCH DO YOU OWE LOCAL MERCHANTS

(Bentley—The Enterprise)

If everybody paid their debts promptly the average business man would have a much easier time doing business and would not be forced to ban money For verification of this statement, ask any Bentleyville business man, he knows. Human nature is the same the wide world over, and therefore a move from Penn a county city will be no sound reproduction here in Alberta.

Even though they might not care to give it their concentrated attention, honest folk will not be wanting in sympathy for the unusual misfortune taken by a Raymond, Wash., grocer to explain his to customers. Starting under the sting of having been forced into bankruptcy the man posted on his front door a list of persons who he declared owed him money and stated that if they paid their debts he would have been able to pay his. "These people forced me into bankruptcy" was the sign over the names.

In the list, says the correspondent reporting the affair, were the names of some of the prominent homeowners of the town. They were naturally not any too well pleased with the publicity given their names, but the business on a result of extensive credit to persons who failed to meet their obligations, as he can hardly be blamed for attempting to shove his customers for it.

The moment is considered as an example of the manner in which petty dishonesty in the conducting of small business. Probably none of the grocer's debtors owed him more than a few dollars each. Yet collectively these bad debts ruined him and his investment of forty odd years of hard, unflagging labor. In most cases these debtors, it would be impossible to locate in a court system, and without credit cannot borrow money.

The southern businessman whose names were made public is doubtless not alone in his misfortune, but no doubt the hearts for a man better by the publicity. They have made him what his competitors of the past, even with credit, may never be—a successful merchant.

GOOD RECORD IN SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

The Provincial Government savings certificates are a fine and another good year, according to figures for the purchases up to the end of November are reached nearly a million dollars. The total purchases for the 11 months of the year were $1,720,384.12, while withdrawals of certificates amounted to $0,015,287.49, leaving a net amount in the hands of the Treasury of $714,796.64, the third highest total since the inception of the scheme. The accumulated total amount of savings in the Province's hands since the inception of the scheme in 1917 is $3,346,565.

THE EXAMINER'S REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

(December 16th.)

HAMPERING CONDITIONS BAD

All commodities this week have suffered in marketing functions owing to bad weather and interrupted train service

CATTLE

Calgary trading very light this week. Last week end the top price on heavy steers was realized of $6.60. Prices this week probably about last week's level. Choice heavy and light steers $4.50 @ $5; good $5.75 @ $4.25; medium $3 @ $3.50; common $2 @ $3. Choice heifers $3.50 @ $4, good $3 @ $3.75. Choice cows $3.75 @ $4, good $2.50 @ $3.75, medium $2.25 @ $2.50; common $1.50 @ $2; canners $1 @ $1.50. Bulls $1.75 @ $2.50, others $1 @ $1.50. Choice calves $5.50 @ $6.75, common $2 @ $3. Feeders, Stockers—Quotations nominally unchanged, with top feeders around 5c, others down to $5.50; stockers $5 @ $5.50, others $4 @ $4.50; heifers $2 @ $3.50; stock cows $1.50 @ $3.50.

Sheep—Lighter receipts at Edmonton and approaching holidays making market indifferent except for choice heavy, choice export steers $5 @ $5.50; choice light $4.75 @ $5; good $4.25 @ $4.75; medium $3.50 @ $4; common $2.75 @ $3.25. Choice feeders $4.50 @ $5; good $4 @ $4.50. Selected cows $3 @ $3.25; good $2.75 @ $3; medium $2.25 @ $2.50; common $1.50 @ $2; canners down to $1. Bulls, medium to common $1 @ $2; good $1.50. Calves, veal, $5 @ $5.50; common $4 @ $5. Feeders, Stockers—Choice feeders $5.25 @ $5.75; choice stockers $5.25 @ $5.50; medium $4.50 @ $5; common $3.50 @ $4; stock cows $1.50 @ $3.25.

Hogs—Practically no sales at Calgary up to Thursday, when the quotation was $7.25 @ $7.50, which continued for some days; basis 90 p.c. premium.

Edmonton has been paying up to $8.50 for long haul hogs, but premium dropped on that account to $8.75@ with 10 per cent premium on sows.

DAIRY

Hot month business at Calgary and market unsupportable last week up to $11.75; top for summer fair; and for cows up to $7.

Sheep prices unchanged at Edmonton and Calgary. Quotations at Calgary: $11.75; yearlings $9 @ $10; lambs $8 @ $9.50.

GRAIN

European buyers continue to pay closer at the advances which are recorded on Canadian and American markets and high levels have been reached. Just how high they will go on selling agency appears to know, but it is the wish of home and the export crop sure to bring a good price.

POULTRY—EGGS

Poultry—Late shipments have been delayed on the railway lines and necessary deliveries made impossible by bad roads during present week. Most of the dealers have their orders filled, but prices will hold until the end of the week. Christmas week buying prices will depend on number of late orders reserved and also purchasing demand at home. If there are very heavy receipts turkey prices seem sure to go down. Eggs—Limited local shipments show even greater reduction due to bad weather.

BUTTER—CREAM—CHEESE

Creamery Butter—Market quiet and steady, with exact trade taking small surplus from Alberta. Dairy Butter—Receipts still light and merchants paying up to 40c for fancy grade of table butter. Cream—Very light receipts at all points and likely to keep down until after holidays. Cheese—Market quiet and firm.

POTATOES

Scarcity of second markets would buy potatoes now, but shipping out of the question. Calgary dealers could pay growers $30 @ $35, delivered. Outlook of market very favorable.

HAY

Dealers report demand slow and nothing arising out of cold spell. Carlots trading slowly. Southern districts reporting fair sales, which may exceed early help demand in central and northern sections.

HIDES

Market weaker and outlook is unfavorable.

FURS

Trappers in north delayed by snowfalling by heavy snow; prices are unchanged, caps are weaker, but prices not reduced so far

Botha News

Botha, Dec 22.—Christmas services at the Community Church were short lasting just helpful on Sunday last. In the morning the pastor spoke on The Sweetest Story of All" showing how evidence that it is the best story to last and the greatest one that ever entered this world. In the evening the Christ theme was the one that we should be most concerned. Entertainments were held successfully throughout the district from the early primary and stages to the pupils from outside could not attend. The evening services was well attended and the address was on the "Spirit of Christmas" showing the fact that underlying the Christmas spirit of the true meaning there must be the spirit of unselfishness, love, confidence and higher things the spirit of the heroic Christ and not of William Herod, the commercialized system. "Glory to the World" and "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear" were sung.

The consolidated school has been closed since December 14th on account of the storm and the bad road distance of the roads. The board will not be open until after the New Year. Needless to say the children have no objection to such a prolonged holiday.

Mrs. T. A. Kerr has resigned her position as teacher in the Botha Consolidated School and Miss Ada Mae Blackie has been appointed in her place. Miss Blackie is a graduate of Normal and has already been at various times Mr. Kerr's assistant in the school. She will be welcomed by the pupils and parents alike.

Mrs. Pipe-ash, together with Sophie and Edward, left for their home on Sunday to spend the Christmas holidays.

George Bossler returned to his home in Botha on Saturday to spend the Christmas holidays. Some of George's many friends were pleased to see him.

It is with regret that we announce the death of Mrs. Johnson last week. Mrs. Johnson had been quite ill for some time, though again on account of ill health, having undergone a serious operation recently. Death took place at Vancouver on Saturday morning. Mrs. Johnson left on the Saturday morning's train for the coast, but on being notified of her mother's death, immediately returned to Botha. It is understood that the funeral will be held at the interment at the Botha cemetery. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mr. Johnson and the family in their sad bereavement.

Mr. Preston returned from Edmonton on Monday afternoon, having been called there on account of the illness of the latter's father. The sad news of the passing away of Mr. Preston's father reached Botha on Monday morning, and Mr. Preston left on the first train for the coast, but on being notified of the sad bereavement returned to Botha. It is understood that the funeral will be held at the interment at the Botha cemetery. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mr. Preston and the family in their sad bereavement.

Mr. H. A. Hartley has been ill for some time with a bad attack of bronchitis, confined to bed for a week he is not able to get around as yet. We hope to see Mr. Hartley about for him.

A full report of the Christmas festivities will be given at the coming next week.

CHRISTMAS TIME

By Ruth Mason Rice, in New York Times

There is no sorrow so deep
That can't be chased away from the air;
There is no gloom so great
Can't lose the firelight from the room;
There is no frowning cloud
While holly wreaths are hanging near

There is no wholeness so true
That can withstand Christmas time;
For poppy is everywhere,
And kindliness has set a snare
To catch the weariest of men
And love him back to Good cheer.

There's none alive in too great need
To understand the Christmas cruel;
There's none alive who has so much
That he can lose the Christmas touch;
It's a contagion . . . None knows . . .
The Christmas germ will get you.

Pecular Rules To Credit Scores In Western Hockey

Calgary, Dec. 22. Peculiar point-scoring rules are in effect in Western hockey circles at the present time.

Western Canada Hockey League. They have come to light as the result of a game played here on Thursday night between the Calgary Tigers and the Regina Capitals, which the latter won by a score of 3 to 2. The game was considered to be the most important of the season in Western hockey circles, and was characterized by fast and clean playing throughout.

It is the custom in Western hockey circles to award a point to each player who scores a goal, and the Western Canada Hockey League is no exception to the rule. That was supposed to be no secret for Britain.

The two plays are altogether out of proportion, and the fact that Gooding could score nerve with the two defense men in the scrum. They should certainly be blamed for the nerve, an assist for Bonner and no assist for Brydon.

And assist is where one player truly assists in scoring," by making the last pass which the scoring player converts into a goal.

It is difficult to see where Brydon "truly" assisted in scoring. He had no intention of passing to McCormack, and as fast from that play even on his own stick he could not have even hoped to have made a play that would be directly connected into a goal.

Then after time fate one reason in which one player rushes from end to end, and some one scores off the rebound from his shot which is probably freed from a clutching hand to net taken in his possession in order to report a goal to result. Many players adopt that style of attack, but it is certain that they will be tempted to beg the referee even to be allowed to assist in penetrating the defense if they feel that there is still no real control on the scoring column. A player who rushes, and closes in a shot, who's converted into a goal on a rebound certainly deserves an assist, and the scorer the longer splitting of together and make the community enrichment, the better

WEEKLY NEWS SUMMARY

Cattle Rates to Japan Reduced.—As a result of representations on up by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, the rate per head on cattle from Alberta to Japan has been further reduced to $100. This rate was formerly $160. The reduced rate is reported to act as a considerable stimulus to the trade in cattle to Japan, which has been established during the past few years. The last shipment of 300 head left Edmonton on December 15th, and included cattle, steers, oxen and four of men in charge, at the old rate. The new rate will be published shortly by the railway companies, and will be in effect three months from date of publication, at the end of which time it will be reviewed again.

The Canadian Trade Commissioner to Japan has been advised of the new rate, and it is expected that shipments of cattle from Alberta to Japan will go forward to date about 200 head have been shipped to Japan by the Department of Agriculture and P. Burns & Co.

A large farm in Japan is being organized to undertake the shipment of cattle from Alberta.

GADSBY NEWS

Gadsby, Dec. 15.—The pre motive the western sky last Tuesday morning, just as the sun climbed above the horizon. While the east showed wonderful shades of orange and red, the western sky was a beautiful study in sunlight in the south, changing to the deepest through various shades of mauve into purple. Bert Hoffman records have written a description of this that would have been a poem; I merely register the incident as a proof that we live in a world of beauty, not alto ays appreciate it as it should. Since then I have wondered if that beautiful sky had anything to do with the sudden change in the weather we have had since Thursday last. It began with that cold, forecast, grizzly chilly shivering forebode night into snow—the wind in the north-west. On Friday the ground was covered about one inch deep. On Saturday afternoon some began again, this time with the wind in the south-east for a change, and it kept at it all Sunday and on the snow-bound part of the hostnet. Monday night, which had new young round to the north again—a regular blizzard. We have never seen so much have had so much snow on the ground—3 or 4 inches on the level and drifting in some places to 4 or 5 feet. It will be all to the good come spring but very inconvenient meantime. I suppose we must grin and bear it.

There is a change in our train services beginning on 4th of January 1929, and although encouragement for this per been made as to the schedule of the improved service, should which for announcement later or phone Mr. H. Parker at the depot.

The strange voice from "Central" goes heard last week would probably be Miss Gladys Parker, who has been hired for Miss Boggs, who was a little under the weather for a day or two.

Our lady readers especially will be interested to hear that Mrs. Fred Mann of ne married at Edmonton last week to Mr. A Simpson, a young man who is fairly well known in the district We wish the happy couple a long and prosperous life together.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos Hilson entertained a number of their neighbours last Friday night at which cards were the main item, closely chased by a very excellent supper, a very enjoyable evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Penfold and Mrs. Arnour Greg had a rather rough experience on Saturday night on coming to town. In fact we don't think we have had a better and harder time to get through the snow than we had on that occasion. Mr. Penfold's car was a Ford and the Indian in his bonnet where they spent the night, Mrs. Penfold making them very comfortable.

Mr. Tom Taylor has left on a trip back home to old Ontario. His people live in Manitoulin Island, having a farm there. Mr. Taylor has not been here for 15 years the old folks are likely to make a celebration.

The L.D.A. meeting did not materialize on Saturday last has been planned for the first meeting in the afternoon. Don't forget to be there.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hall left on Monday morning for Lone Beach, California, and points en December 18th, 1928.

Gadsby, Dec. 22.—I regret very much that my report would be failed to be in the office in time for publication in the handsome Christmas number. Also, I regret having to ask for space for our reader in a week like this. However we have got the feeling just like easier and that it was a dandy Christmas everybody. The occasion, I might say was caused by a break in our party spirit and the arrival of Santa Claus.

Bob Collins made a flying trip to Drumheller last week, starting out on Saturday morning. He had to be back for the Mrs. Bob Collins, Mrs. Andy Parker and Mrs. Jack Collins, Drumheller. Happily his time

GADSBY NEWS

Gadsby, Dec 18.—Did you notice how sky last Tuesday morning? At the sun climbed above the horizon. While the east showed all shades of orange and red, the west sky was a beautiful misty blend it was not in any way due to the hardships of the journey.

Little Rock district has organized a "500" Club for social evenings during the winter and one gathering—and a very successful one—was held last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Potter. Miss McKay, the school teacher, was highest lady in the game and secured a neat little prize. Don't ask me over the phone who was Miss McKay's escort for that night for I won't tell you.

Gadsby has a Social Card Club, too, and should have met last Wednesday night but "They all with one consent began to make excuses." I don't blame them.

In common with many more districts, we have had a rip-roarin' of a week as regards weather. Begin ning with a mild snow on Saturday afternoon it developed a nice little blizzard and when snow ceased the bottom fell out of the thermometer. As one party said, it took two thermometers to register the drop. Botha News

Botha, Dec. 18.—Christmas services in the Community Church were interesting and helpful on Sunday last. In the morning the pastor spoke on "The Greatest Story of All", showing the children that it is the best stories that last and the greatest ones that we cherish, the story of the birth of Christ being the one that we cherish the most today. The congregation as a whole assisted in the singing of the carols from the evening song book and no doubt the people from outside could not attend. The evening service was well attended and the subject was the "Spirit of Christmas", showing in fact that underlying all the festivities of the Christian season there is not the spirit of unselfishness and carelessness in higher things. During the service the orchestra, under Mr. Wilbur Epworth, rendered two selections. "Joy to the World" and "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear."

The consolidated school has been closed since December 12th on account of the storm and the bad condition of the roads. The school will not be open until after the New Year. Needless to say the children have no objection to such a protracted holiday.

Mrs. T. A. Kerr has resigned her position as teacher in the Botha Consolidated School, and with her sister, Miss Alice Staive, left for Camrose on Monday morning. They will make their home in Camrose where Mr Kerr is now employed. The people of Botha wish them all success in their new home.

Miss Tiverton, together with Sophia and Edward, left for their home on Sunday to spend the Christmas holidays.

George Rossiter returned to his home from Normal at Camrose to spend the Christmas holidays. Rossie cooking always tasted good to George.

It is with regret that we announce the death of Mr E. O. Johnson, who lived south of town. Mr. Johnson had gone to the coast about two weeks ago on account of ill health, having suffered some time from tuberculosis. Death took place at Vancouver on Saturday morning. Mrs. Johnson left on the Saturday morning's train for the coast, but on being notified of her husband's death, immediately returned to Botha. It is understood that the body is being shipped for interment in the Botha cemetery. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mrs. Johnson and the [illegible] Dr. Preston returned from [illegible] Monday afternoon. He proved in health and ready for the killing of the fatted calf at Christmas.

Peculiar Rules To Credit Scores In Western Hockey

Calgary, Dec. 22.—Peculiar precedents have been made to credit players on the scoring averages in the Western Canada Hockey League. They have come to light in the first two games played here, and if an early amendment is to be made on the present run of happenings in hockey it seems that some change will have to be effected in the scoring regulations.

Here are two specific instances which will no doubt appeal to the fact as being absolutely unfair to the players, even though the precedents were suggested by such a scholarly character as Frank Patrick, former head of the Pacific Coast League.

In Wednesday night's game against Victoria, Bobby Benson of the Tigers rushed the length of the rink, carrying the puck. He dodged through the defense and here straight in at Holmes in the Victoria goal. His shot from close range struck the goalie's pads and rebounded onto Oliver's stick as he followed in to score. The league scoring regulations insist that Benson is not entitled to an assist. It may sound fair to officials in the committee room, but to the ordinary fans it seems ridiculous.

Then going back to the first game here, when McCormack grabbed on a loose puck from behind Briden and slapped in a goal almost from the blue line; the league officials decreed in a very rare moment that Briden always gets an assist. He had no intention of assisting McCormack in the event; in fact he didn't know McCormack was even near him.

Gardner checked Briden straight on with a body check and the force of the impact caused Briden to lose the disc entirely, and it fell behind him as he staggered completely out of the play. McCormack sprinted up from behind, took possession of the loose rubber and flew it through a broken defense into the cage. That was supposed to be an assist for Briden.

The two plays are altogether out of proportion, and no fair-minded critic would ever agree with the two decisions. They should certainly be the reverse; an assist for Benson and no assist for Briden.

"An assist is where one player truly assists in scoring," by making the last pass which the receiving player converts into a goal.

It is difficult to see where Briden "truly" assisted in scoring. He had an intention of passing to McCormack, and in fact from that play even on his own merit he could not have even hoped to have made a play that would be directly converted into a goal.

To a after time fans see games at which one player rushes from end to end, and some one scores off the rebound from his shot, which is practically fired from a distance that is not usually taken to be reasonable to expect a goal to result. Many players adopt that style of attack, but it is certain that they will be tempted to bear the rubber even to the danger point in penetrating the defense if they feel that their effort will not merit credit in the scoring column. A player who rushes, and closes in a shot which is converted into a goal or a rebound certainly deserves an assist, and the sooner the league officials get together and make the necessary amendment the better

By Ruth Mason Rice in New York Times

There is no sense or depth
To the Christmas season's fret;
There is merriment or sweet
Or else for twilight from the room;
The current low is cracking sheer,
While body wrappers are buying near

There is no sadness or crime
That can withstand the Christmas time;
For gayety is everywhere.
And kindliness has set a snare
To catch the wariest of men
And lure him back to Good Apollo.

There's none alive in too great need
To understand the Christmas creed;
There's none alive who has so much
That he can lose the Christmas touch;
It's a contagion . . . None immune . . .
The Christmas germ will get you, soon!

HOCKEY PICTORIAL

Second Edition

The second edition of the Hockey Pictorial is now on the market, more complete and up-to-date than the original which was received with such favor. Besides containing a number of pictures of the players of the Western Canada League, it contains a number of pictures of the players of the Pacific Coast League, which was not in the first edition. Besides this, as was ever printed A complete record of the season's games to date, dating back to the early history of hockey. The new edition not only contains the history of hockey in Canada, but covers the history of the game in the United States also, with 200 handsome engravings of Canadian and American teams, and is right up to the minute in every respect. Any further information pertaining to the book can be obtained by writing to the Hockey Pictorial, 94 Victoria St., Toronto, Ont.

Fully registered Note Certificates will be issued in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $10,000 and $100,000, or any multiple of $1,000, and will be exchangeable for others of like amount as set forth in the Trust Deed. Each Note certificate will bear interest up to and including December 15, 1924, and on set weeks from some at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, payable half-yearly on June 15 and December 15 in each year during the period thereof, or a declining premium of ½ of 1% during each five year period thereafter.

Legal investment for Canadian Insurance Companies.

TRUSTEE AND REGISTRAR: THE ROYAL TRUST COMPANY.
Transfers may be effected at the Registrar's offices as agencies in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Vancouver.

Mr. E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, has summarized his letter of December 8, 1924, as follows:—

These Note Certificates will be direct obligations of the Railway Company and have priority over $865,350,200 of Common Stock and $300,000,000 Common Stock, representing an equity at present market prices of approximately $600,000,000. The Preference Stock has paid 4% dividends without interruption since its issuance in 1886. The Common Stock has paid 4% dividends continuously since 1902, with the exception of the year 1908, the rate since 1913 having been 10% per annum.

In addition they will be secured by the assignment to the Trustee, by way of security, of all the Railway Company's right, title and interest in and to all unpaid purchase money or deferred payments under or covering due to the Railway Company in respect of lands in the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, sold or contracted to be sold by it prior to December 1, 1924. The amount of principal outstanding due to the Railway Company on December 1, 1924, in respect of said sales was $66,000,000. The Railway Company will covenant to pay to the Trustee all sums, both principal and interest, less expenses and taxes paid to protect the security, received by the Railway Company in respect of the said contracts. The Railway Company covenants that it will not charge the lands in respect of which such deferred payments are or shall or due, so as to prejudice in any manner the security hereby created.

All monies received by the Trustee will be utilized for the payment of interest on the Note Certificates and thereafter as a Sinking Fund for the purchase and cancellation of the Note Certificates at the best prices obtainable up to the call price prevailing at the time of such purchase. If Note Certificates cannot be so purchased the Trustee shall redeem the Note Certificates by lot at the prevailing call price. The Railway Company will covenant that in the fourth and each succeeding year the annual amount available for the purchase of Note Certificates will be at least $300,000.

The Note Certificates will be issued under, secured by and subject to a Trust Agreement between the Railway Company and The Royal Trust Company as Trustee.

The net earnings for the last five years, after paying all fixed charges, including interest on Consolidated Debenture Stock and all other obligations, have been as follows:—

Year ending December 31, 1919	$31,370,653
" " " 1920	32,814,363
" " " 1921	33,163,687
" " " 1922	33,585,140
" " " 1923	34,439,409

Yearly interest on these Note Certificates amounts to $1,350,000. The average yearly net earnings for the last five years as above set forth amount to $33,185,573, or over 24 times annual interest requirements on these Note Certificates.

These Sinking Fund Secured Note Certificates are offered if, as and when issued and received by us, and subject to the approval of all legal details by Messrs. Meredith, Holden, Heward & Holden. Trustee Certificates in coupon form or Note Certificates in definitive form will be available for delivery on or about December 30, 1924.

Cattle Rates to Japan Reduced.

As a result of representations made by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, the rate per head on cattle from Alberta to Japan has now been reduced to $100. This rate was formerly $160. The reduced rate is expected to open a considerable shipment to the trade in Alberta livestock which has been precluded since the Department has been unable to get a test shipment to Japan.

The new rate is for a minimum shipment of 50 head and the more stable, steam space and at no extra charge, as did the old rate. The new rate will be published shortly by the railway companies and will be in effect for three months from date of publication, at the end of which time it will be reviewed again.

The Canadian Trade Commissioner in Japan has been advised of the new rate, and it is expected that shipments of cattle from Alberta ranges will go forward. To date about 250 head have been shipped to Japan by the Department of Agriculture and P. Burns & Co.

A large farm in Japan is being organized to undertake the shipment of cattle from Alberta.

MAKING TOM-TOMS FOR SALE which the Hawaiian aborigines used to popularized by American manufacturers.

Two-tone, native mashed bananas, morsels of the African jungles, are being manufactured at Alabama for sale to gullible tourists. Tom-tom makers have taken their cue from the way in which the Hawaiian aborigines used to popularized by American manufacturers.

Most people find fault with their neighbors in order to get even with them.

Erskine News

Bush! Mc[illegible] has moved [illegible] from his farm east of here to Bittler and has had his share of trouble with the deep snow and cold blizzard days.

The deep snow and cold weather still certainly made a small attendance at the Christmas trees in the different school districts which was scheduled for this week.

Mr and Mrs. G. L. Swanson returned home [illegible] last and will be [illegible] Wilson party for the rest of the winter Gordon has just removed from a severe attack of acute tonsilitis.

Dick Sumner had both feet badly frozen in the cold weather of last week

The Manse Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield and Lois and Lydia of Edmonton arrived home on Saturday for Christmas with their parents.

Waldo Rupe [illegible] has been attending normal at Calgary, arrived home on Saturday afternoon. Waldo expects to take a school after the holidays

Mrs. Alice Clark [illegible] has been teaching at Ullamore, returned Thursday to spend Christmas with her family.

Mrs. Logie Hodgson and her niece Mr. Pete Bathie each left on Tuesday last for a [illegible] visit at Minneapolis.

The Scottish social had the most fortune to have three of their [illegible] and two more lady [illegible] on the welcome night of Saturday night. The house had got on the usual allowance while the logs were in in Erskine and a splendid crowd turned out until they got on the night of eat, and very much after that. What was elected ahead of the organs for no telegraph poles before being herded over a three grade.

The C.P.R. westbound passenger was several hours late on Tuesday owing to the [illegible] snow on the track, and had to add [illegible] train for a short distance to bring them from Red Deer

Paul Bennett spent the week-end with his brother John at Big Valley.

Mr Standley, of Hoole, had his fine family Ford last week in a bad [illegible] smash.

R. H. Clark and W. H. Herman each had the good luck to shoot a deer a short time ago. They were found along the Prairie Home Trail. Content Prairie road for Erskine district. Bite has also been on a report hunt for several days.

Fenn News

The continuance of the storm has necessitated the postponement of all school concerts and other Christmas festivities in this district, and school has been closed indefinitely. The roads are in a terrible condition, making all transportation extremely difficult. The cold spell at this writing seems to be abating somewhat, the thermometer having risen above zero and the barometer having dropped, indicating slightly warmer weather.

Christmas passed off as well as could be expected in the stormy circumstances. Not very much visiting could be effected but family parties were the order of the day.

The community extend their sympathy to Mr. Herbert in his recent sickness—Mr. Herbert having severely frozen his feet in the execution of his ministerial duties.

Mrs. S. Sutin is on the sick list. Quite a few are down with severe colds.

A car of Big Valley coal, ordered by the local U.F.A., is expected in at any moment.

The next meeting of the U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. Leslie Legg on Wednesday, January 14th. This is the first meeting of the new year under the new officers and we hope to see as large a crowd as rural conditions will permit.

No wedding bells to announce just but we anticipate some definite news within a few days.

The C.N.R. westbound mixed had a slight accident near Fenn Monday morning, when a broken journal derailed an empty box car. This delayed the train about two hours in getting into Stettler.

"TIPS" TO OUR TRAPPERS

Trapping the Fox and Coyote

(By Robt. C. Hodgson)

These are the two most difficult animals to trap that the trapper, be he novice or professional, will have to contend with. With a keen sense of sight and hearing and instinctive cunning developed to a degree where it is sometimes almost supernatural, especially at the sane of the latter animal and his close relative, the wolf, the trapper will be required to exercise great skill and judgment if he is to be rabid with any success in taking them.

One of the most considerations in killing the human odor that will be found on traps and other trapping utensils used by the trapper. The traps can be dipped in blood, or planted in pot over until good and warm and then rubbed over with tallow, or burned in variegated manner for a week or so to kill the human odor. They should then be planted until you want them for trapping purposes where they will not be touched by human hands. Others treat skins to seal in setting the traps, and these claims should have the pelts well coated with blood or tallow ane to used for no other purpose. Of course this applies to taking of the animals on land for many of these predilections are not required in using water sets for the simple reason that water destroys all human odor.

Learn Their Habits

A knowledge of the habits and general peculiarities of the animals you are to trap is essential, and this is impressing of the fox and coyote. As one of the best means of finding their habits out is in hunting them, novices will do well to secure their guns in this manner in connection with trapping them. You will soon learn many of their habits, but you will never learn more than you will at first by means of traps. You will tread at least two hundred thousand yes instead of coyote; and in great part, if all high-power is an excellent rifle for this as it has great power and such a flat trajectory that long, easy shots can be made. A 32-20 is also an excellent rifle especially when high power cartridges are used with it. The feats of these animals are much talks and for natural habit there is nothing equaling the poultry, rabbits, carrion, etc.

One of the best sets for fox is known as the water set, and is made along the banks of streams and in springs, where fox frequent. Place about a foot away from the bank, set in the stream or spring, a good-sized flat stone and have the top of it kindly projecting out of the water. Half way between this stone and the bank set your trap, planting it and set the pan so that when the trap is set the end will show out of the water and rubbing also. Now put a piece of bait on the flat rock, and when Mr. Fox comes along he sees the bait on the pan of the trap to get it without getting his feet wet and caught.

Another Set

A set equally as good for fox and coyote is at cow and sheep paths, or other animal paths if you can find them. In case you cannot find the latter push the turner will do as well for these animals are sure to travel them. His best plans to make the set are at bends in the path, or where they have to go around close to a rock or tree projecting into the path. Make an excavation at this place, just the size and shape of the trap, and have it just deep enough so that when the trap is set it will be on a level with the surface of the path. Put some dry leaves or grass in the bottom of the hole, set your trap and then cover it over; first, with dry grass or leaves, and then with dirt. Prior to covering it put a bunch of wool under the pan, as this will serve a two-fold purpose; prevent dirt from getting in and hampering its action, and also preventing the trap from being sprung by rabbits. In covering the traps never use your hands of course, nor rather an evergreen bush, as this not only make a good job, but it also leaves no human odor. When the set is completed take away anything that is not necessary to the set, then you have been handling.

Fox Burrows

Foxes make their burrows on side hills sometimes sandy; coyotes often locate their dens in similar places, but more often among rocks, etc. If you can find the dens of either of these animals you have one of the best trapping sets. An excavation should be made at the mouth of the den just a little inside the mouth and the trap set here. Then outside the mouth but close to it, two or three more traps should be set in a similar manner.

What is known as "gang sets" are used a good deal in trapping foxes, coyotes and wolves. Owing to their size, several traps set at one place they offer a bigger possibility of an animal being caught, if only one animal is caught and finding it out any animal visits the set it is sure to be caught also. Three traps are the best set together more than one can be

Starting with the New Year on think there should be some improvement in marriage ceremonies. For several hundred years the ceremony has been the same and the minister has read the same chapter to the Bible and spoken the same words. We recommend that ministers in future give regular sermons on this common theme from regular texts. If ever a couple needs a sermon it is when they get married, and clergymen have been somewhat lax in that regard. Sermons on thrift, on citizenship, on cooking, on raising families, and hundred subjects will bring results and if all publishers followed some such plan the divorce rate, especially in the States, would start to go down instead of continuously up-ards.

[illegible]

That reminds me that when John Adams, after-ards president of the United States, was married to the daughter of a minister, the old preacher man performed the ceremony and promoted from the task—"And John never more eating or drinking, and go not he back a devil." Mr. Adams could never find out whether he father-in-law was somewhat of a humorist, was referring to the mother upon wedding breakfast or to having got his daughter off his hands, but the sermon was outstanding as on the subject of thrift and against waste in the household.

[illegible]

The Independent has always favored church union in a town the size of Stettler. Union is the logical development from the standpoint of economy and efficiency. We can well understand, however, the hesitancy or plain objection of the old-time Presbyterians to entrap a union of this kind. Their Church history has gone back hundreds of years to the time of the martyrs in England and Scotland. They fought against the king and against the state for freedom of religion, and naturally don't like to see the same wiped out.

[illegible]

Although a Unionist, we have little use for the type of Insurance sent out from Union headquarters. It is fit usually for the waste paper basket. Picking up one recently we note that five results are threatened all who do not enter the United Church, to believe—"Separation from the Great West, Separation from Foreign Missions, Voteless Irrigation, Unrest and Disruption, Perpetuation of Strife, etc."

This sounds to us like pious rot. Literature like the above is enough to make people revolt instead of persuade them to enter union. When you want arguments without lust or reason you can always count on some high Church dignitary to supply them.

[illegible]

Church Union in a town of six churches like Stettler is the most unmitigated pottey. It won't make one little to nonsense in the skies any less narrow if we had two churches instead of six. We have nothing to say against creeds, but if they divide the population, they are a burden instead of a help in building up a community. If the Union literature factory would sacrifice its attention to the benefits of a United Church instead of devoting its time outside the Union there would be less friction in town and this matter to a reasonable consummation.

OBITUARIES

Bert Olof Johnson was born in Helsingo, Sweden, on the 6th day of January in the year 1893 and there he grew to manhood.

He came to America in the year 1910. He was a sailor on the American waters for five years, then he settled on a farm in Iowa and there he was united in marriage to Miss Anna Olsson on the 16th day of October, in the year 1916.

To this happy union were born three children—Elmer, Dean and Ellen. They moved to Alberta, Canada, in the year 1919, settling on a farm near Bolsha, at which place he lived until his death on December 19th, in the year 1924. He was 30 years of age.

The deceased was a good, honest man, a good neighbor, a loving husband, and a good father.

He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, three children, and his aged father and mother living in Sweden. He also has three sisters and one brother, all living in Sweden.

The remains were laid to rest in the Bethel cemetery.

Mr. James S. Morrison

There was held to rest on the 31st of November, in the parish churchyard of Kilmarnock, near London, all that remained of one of the sons of Scotland, who, like so many others, has helped to make her famous for her "far-wandering folk."

James Smith Morrison, eldest son of the late John Morrison, "Newsan," Dreghorn, was born in 1849, and he and whosoever he went upheld the fine traditions of the inflexible integrity and yet true kindliness of the Scot. Receiving his early education in Grange and in Fordyce Academy, under the famous rector, Mr. Largue, he went to Glasgow where he was trained as a civil engineer, in pursuit of which profession he gave years of service in four continents.

Like so many of his countrymen, he took the world-at-end road, working first at Stanton-on-Tees and later in London, where he joined the staff of the G. E. R. He was appointed to admiralty work in 1886, serving first at Whitehall and later at Devonport and Pembroke Dock. He next carried through contracts for the great engineering firm of Pearson & Son at Dover and Plymouth, receiving special praise for the successful completion of a difficult drainage scheme at the latter place.

Then began a seven-and-a-half years of work abroad. He was sent by his firm to New York and soon after later to carry out a large contract at Para on the Amazon. His next work was up on the Gold Coast, but on the outbreak of war his services were requisitioned by Sir John Jackson for work on Salonica Plain.

He was deputed to accompany the King on one of his tours of inspection and had the great pleasure of having his work specially commended by His Majesty, also by General Pitcairn Campbell (which was perhaps even more satisfactory to his engineering mind).

His next appointment was in Woolwich Arsenal, from which he was sent by the head of his department all over England to speed up the delivery of materiel for the army, a task for which he seemed peculiarly fitted by his own unflagging zeal apparently inherent energy.

After the war he was asked to undertake the designing and building of a pier at Cypell on the Mines Corporation there, which work was very successfully carried through. After his return to London he received an appointment under the Metropolitan Water Board, and was in their employment when he was suddenly and unexpectedly called to the higher service. The call could not find him unready. In whatever part of the world he found himself, there he made it his business to work for the benefit of his fellows and for the furtherance of the Kingdom of Righteousness.

Three of the late Mr. Morrison's sons served in the war, two of them making the supreme sacrifice. He has left a widow and five of a family to mourn his loss.

Three Rivers, Quebec, Has New Station

Citizens of Three Rivers, Quebec, regard the recent inauguration of the new Canadian Pacific Railway Station as something a new era has ushered in the life of their city numbering as it affords proof of the statistics already adopted by Trois-Rivieres as an industrial centre and of the greater prominence it is expected to occupy in the future. The new station building is the most up-to-date and magnificent of the kind in eastern Canada. Of its construction cost, not less than $200,000 represents the amount of men's pay roll in Three Rivers.

Some time ago Three Rivers has developed may be gathered from a few remarks made by F. J. Robert, first Postmaster, at the banquet that marked the assistant general passenger agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, in proposing a toast to the prosperity of Three Rivers. "Ten years ago," he said, "Three Rivers was practically dead. Today it is a healthy city." He said. "Then the Northern Railway was built but it was a failure.

GENERAL BOOTH'S OPINION

A cable despatch from London, England, states that on his return to England after a tour of Canada and Australian National lines, General Booth, head of the Salvation Army, affirms that Canada is the most attractive to the people of the British Isles.

Wins By Foul In Third Round

Stakes Is Given the Decision Over Whiteside at Drumheller Heat

Drumheller, Dec. 5.—Leo Stakes of Drumheller won his fight with Whiteside of Penhold by a foul, one minute after the third round had started in the ten-round bout, which was the headliner of the boxing card, staged in the Napier theatre on Christmas afternoon. Whiteside hit Stakes when the Drumheller man was on his hands and knees and Referee James Burchenes's decision to give Stakes the fight on a foul was the only verdict which could have been given under the circumstances.

The first two rounds were hammer and tongs, with Whiteside getting in some powerful rights and lefts to Stakes' face, while Stakes devoted an especially hard body blow. For the heart in the first, which jarred the Penhold miner. Stakes also got in some clever in-fighting and body blows, but at the end of the second Whiteside had a slight edge on points. However, as Referee Burchenes cautioned the boys before the fight that they would have to fight strictly according to rules and the first foul would cost the one delivering the foul blow the fight, Whiteside had to watch his step and Stakes was entitled to the decision. The fans were naturally disappointed, as they were out for a finish fight as the winner took all the purse and Whiteside had as many backers in the crowd as Stakes.

Jockey Saunders of Penhold easily limited out Ed Phillips of Drumheller, the Drumheller lad taking three trips to the canvas in the first round and with a stiff right to the jaw, followed by a heavy body right and left, Saunders ended the argument one minute after the second round opened. The Penhold boxer was in the pink of condition and was considerably heavier than Ed Phillips, who was in poor condition after his recent sickness. Saunders, though, is a real knock-out boxer and made a fine impression in Drumheller.

Donald Smith started the decision over Joe Sabell in the four-round semi-final, Percy Wheeler giving Smith the decision for his lightning and aggressive work in the final round.

Joe Saunders, the clever Drumheller juvenile boxer, easily outpointed Roy Hanson, another eighty-pounder, in the curtain raiser, Referee Wheeler dropping the boat in the fourth, after Sandor had given a remarkable exhibition of boyish courage.

SEED GRAIN PRICES SET

The prices at which seed wheat will be sold from the Provincial Seed Cleaning Plant at Edmonton in behalf of the seed growers patronizing the plant have been set as follows: For Marquis and Ruby seed wheat, First generation $2.25 per bushel; second generation street price for No. 1 Northern at the time of sale. Second generation 25 cents above, third generation 50 cents above, fourth generation 75 cents above. Extra No. 1, 50 cents above. The prices for seed oats will be set at the final meeting of the Alberta Seed Growers at Calgary January 20th, but those wishing to purchase oats may send in their applications now to the plant at Edmonton and they will be protected in the order of their applications when the prices are set. Should the plant be not suitable to them, their applications will be returned.

COMPARISONS

Diamonds and charcoal are constantly called to mind by the deep and usefulness are as far apart as the poles. So it is with

Scott's Emulsion

Many imagine that all cods are similar, but when the usefulness of cod-liver oil is compared with all other fats, the difference in value is as far apart as common charcoal and diamonds.

Scott's Emulsion is cod-liver oil made pleasantly available to build up those who are rundown or weak.

ANNUAL DOG DERBY AT THE PAS

Upper photograph shows the dogs in the centre of Shorty Creek, with a time of 23 hours 12 minutes. Below, the two-day freight runs, which is an added feature of the Derby.

DOG numbers in Northern Manitoba are not on the wane, every day grooming their teams for the eighth annual 200-mile non-stop dog derby, which is being held on February 3rd, 4th and 5th. Although the race is still some seven months off, interest is already being given their daily start at Shorty Creek, where the race will start and finish. Saunders ended the argument one minute after the second round opened. The Penhold boxer was in the pink of condition and was considerably heavier than Ed Phillips, who was in poor condition after his recent sickness. Saunders, though, is a real knock-out boxer and made a fine impression in Drumheller.

Donald Smith started the decision over Joe Sabell in the four-round semi-final, Percy Wheeler giving Smith the decision for his lightning and aggressive work in the final round.

Joe Saunders, the clever Drumheller juvenile boxer, easily outpointed Roy Hanson, another eighty-pounder, in the curtain raiser, Referee Wheeler dropping the boat in the fourth, after Sandor had given a remarkable exhibition of boyish courage.

The year the teams will race over a new course, the North Lake gold camps having been set as the turning point. The starting point will be at the Hudson Bay Railway bridge over the Saskatchewan River, and the teams will follow a route which is served with telephone communication to that fine, gamey, progress reports will be available.

A five-day team freight race has been added to the programme this year in addition to the regular race, in which a load of 100 pounds and the team will run 20 miles each day for five days. The object of this is to promote the breeding of good freighting dogs.

The Carnival Queen contest is already attracting much interest with entries having been made from various points in the province. The query and members of her court are the young ladies who secure the highest number of votes and these have all their expenses paid to and from the derby. In and also guests of honor during the entire week that the carnival is held.

WHAT KIND OF A FIGHT COULD YOU PUT UP?

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

Did you ever stop to think that every day and every hour of the day that body of yours is keeping you out of a lot of trouble and a-very? Why? Just by doing its work faithfully, keeping every part up to its maximum condition of health, it gives you the upper hand, as it were, and you are unconsciously putting up a good fight.

For instance, you catch a slight cold, and immediately your resistive forces in the way of a faster and stronger heart beat attempt to combat it.

A sliver runs into your finger, to which some poisonous material is already. Immediately the white corpuscles in the blood are stimulated and attempt to wall off the poison.

A tonsilar brought her son-in-law to the physician. There was a large lump on the youngster's thigh, just below the groin. Mother and child were greatly worried. An operation was apparently necessary. It was summertime, the youngster looked active. The physician took in these points.

"Did you stub your toe?" he asked. Mother and child looked at one another in amazement.

He had guessed rightly.

Removing the shoe the physician found a nasty festered toe.

By cleaning up the toe the lump disappeared.

What had happened?

The filtration system had been doing its work.

It has little glands along the lymphatic system—part of the blood system—which resemble a sponge. If poison attempts to enter the system these sponge-like glands absorb it in large quantities, but permit it to enter the general blood system in very small amounts. A lump in the arm pit may be from a scratch or cut on the hand or finger. A lump in the neck from teeth or tonsils, and so forth.

Do you know that in Typhoid Fever, for instance, and also in Tuberculosis of the intestines, there is an actual ulceration of the lining of the intestines.

What does your fighting body do for you?

As the sliver tries to burn its way through the intestine Nature actually grows another coat or layer to make up for the one penetrated, just like the rubber patch you put on your inner tube. And the red corpuscles, those wonderful bodies, carry within themselves the food to maintain all the tissues of the body, and the joints for all the organs. If you eat proper food, get some exercise and sunshine, they will do faithful work for you. That is all they ask.

Then your muscles presented you with a wonderful body, strong, clean, and with a blemish which you go immediately on your way, sometimes taking chances with your body, because it is so strong and efficient.

Perhaps you were not so fortunate, and have always had to be careful in order to enjoy a fair measure of health.

Now what I'm thinking about is what kind of a fight would you put up if that body of yours were to meet some hard opposition. You might be in an accident, a severe shock, an unusual exposure, or some epidemic. Now what you'd have with which to fight it is what your parents gave you, and what you have done with it since.

In other words, you have been robbing up a body to withstand any of above, or you have been doing the reverse.

The whole matter is very simple. You live day by day in only one way. That is by the food you eat, and the use that is made of that food by your body.

You are likely the average person and have been eating too much, and constipating too little.

All a question of intake and outgo of food.

As to intake, a simple rule, if you take any concentrate whatever, eat one part meat or eggs, two parts butter, fats or milk, and three parts vegetables. Cut down on meats or eggs if you are indoors all the time. Further, if you are going to build up your body, fighting body you must get outdoors in the sunshine in health.

As a matter of fact, the body functions better in the sunlight than in the darkness. Your skin is not encouraged to work as well in the damp of weather, so moisture and waste are not thrown off so well.

You actually retain a larger percentage of waste matter in the body during a dark day than on a bright day. That is one of the reasons you feel so sprightly on a bright day. You have thought that it was simply the brightness of the day that brightened you.

No, the sunshine makes an actual improvement in the blood itself. Scientists have found that the actual quality and quantity of the blood improved on sunny days—from five per cent. in people who were removed from darkened rooms to the bright sunshine of the outdoors. But food is only half your method of strengthening that body of your for its every-day fight against its enemies.

Food has a co-partner and his name is exercise, or work.

If you have worked hard mentally and physically, a rest is indicated of course.

But if you have not exercised regularly a little exercise then you, you feel stiff and sore, and so you conclude that further as you can exercise muscles in 5 minutes.

What happens?

When you exercise you call on that body of yours that is such a wonderful body-builder. It has been keeping you out of trouble, and now you call on it to do more work. It does it by increasing the heart beat, and you actually wear out some blood corpuscles. Now Nature has an extra supply of blood cells in the bone marrow all ready, and throws them into your blood stream when you make a sudden call of this kind.

Now if you stop taking exercise after this first attempt, your blood making department very gradually makes up the extra cells to keep in balance, should you ever have another fit and take some exercise. However, if you decide to take exercise regularly and go at it every day, it seems to serve notice to that effect upon the blood making department, and it gets real busy manufacturing blood cells for you in increased amounts.

That is why a boxer, wrestler, oarsman or footballer, athlete real condition in a few weeks. Exercise necessitates the an elevator attention on the blood making machinery, and it turns out more cells. For instance, a man like Dempsey or Carpentier should get into first class condition in from four to six weeks. They have a sort of elevator somewhere for the blood machinery. A heavy man like Willard takes a great deal longer, but only because of the reason of fat which must be removed in addition to putting on heart, lungs and blood into condition.

Now, as to exercise, don't get the idea that it means hours of drudgery. The world's strongest man, Sandow, only gave us fifteen minutes a day, just the length of time it takes him to give his performance.

Why is such a small amount of time necessary?

Simply because he has an educated body. When you exercise a muscle the blood vessels in that muscle become dilated in order to let more blood enter the muscle.

If within a short time you take some further exercise the small arteries supplying the muscle do not have time to contract to former size, and remain slightly dilated. If you take further exercise within a reasonable time, the vessels are still further dilated, or rather prevented from contracting to any extent.

What does this mean to you? That systematic exercise of a muscle shortens the arteries supplying that muscle to remain in a condition of dilatation. This increase in the blood supply not only provides an increase of oxygen during activity, but "clearing regions" carries an increased amount of nourishment to the muscle, with the result that the muscle increases in size and power.

There is the secret then. A small amount of exercise every day gives you educated arteries, and you get your increased amount of nourishment, not only during exercise, but during repose, even when you are asleep.

So, then the whole business of building up a fighting body is by eating and exercising.

Unfortunately we have a brain, we have a will of our own, we have developed habits. This affects the ease with which we live but a most wonderful variety of food, and wonderful chefs to prepare the food, everything, in fact, to tempt our appetite and encourage us to eat. That is the way we live then—by eating.

But what about making this food a part of our memories body by exercise?

Also, in these days of labor-saving machinery, automobiles and electricity, the food does not get use.' up.

And so you must call it play and that big thing, outside sports, and just take a look at that body of yours as it carries you 2,000 day by day. Just as an automobile, the less you have to use the broken the better.

Have your engine, your body, under such control that you are not supplying broken, that is headache powder, pepsin tablets and purgatives, every day.

You are in your early manhood or womanhood. You can play the games and not almost anything and everything.

You are middle aged. Lose of the meats and eggs, less also of the butter, fats and milk, with plenty of walking golf and such exercise. You are into the declining years of life. Still less of the meats, with some walking as the outdoors every day.

And so as you think of that body of yours and its daily fight for you, why not get in behind it with the same common sense you use in other matters.

Just the two things to think about—food and exercise.

And then should the day come that finds you in a serious illness, you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have given that body of your's a fighting chance to put up its best fight on your behalf.

To Keep Down Motor Car Expense

By Erwin Gross
(President, Chicago College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago)

When my friend opens his garage door every morning he always greets his car with: "Well, how are you this morning, old boy?" Somehow the spirit of that man gets into his car, for he seems never to have any mechanical trouble. Car blindness means car service. Car service means money in the bank that would otherwise be spent on repairs.

I have several other my friend's method of working, and it amounts to just these rules: follow who anticipate trouble is better off than the fellow who simply remembers that trouble after it occurs. And following is the reason why my car is always ready to go on a cross-country jaunt any day in the year.

To keep down expense in the first place, I inspect the ignition system weekly, with special attention to the distributor, making positive all connections are tight. Every month I clean and re-file spark plugs, checking up on the battery every two weeks, filling it with distilled water when necessary, tightening the battery supports and all connections, inspecting battery wires to be sure and to the frame ground and noting if the commutator on the starting motor is clean and not coming. On the lighting system, checking up all connections once a month, making sure that the "output" reads properly and does not stick.

Lubrication is, I believe, the most important of all items to keep down car expense. My grease gun is used exactly once a week, together with a few drops of oil here and there where needed, especially around the spring leaves. Every five hundred miles I change the crankcase oil, and every three months the transmission and differential get a new bath.

I check up two inflation every other day. Temperature does not make a lot of difference in air pressure. All in all, about two hours' work on the car a week keeps it in excellent condition.

Subscribers to the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal have been advised that they will receive free of charge a beautiful calendar for 1925 with a most attractive picture in colors entitled, "The Ride of Old Dobbin." When one considers that the subscription price of this big 72 page family and farm journal is only $2.00 per year, one is amazed by the value received, but with a beautiful picture calendar thrown in, the value is indeed opportune.

What's that? This careful attention isn't absolutely necessary to keep a car in good running order. Yes, dear reader, can think what you please. I got a great deal out of following my car like I would a pet, and my car responds with oversight, consistent service.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Twenty Year 4½% Sinking Fund Secured Note Certificates

Date of Issue December 15, 1924. Date of Maturity December 15, 1944.

Principal and semi-annual interest (June 15 and December 15) payable direct to holders by cheque in any district at par or may be purchased at par at any of the branches of the Bank of Montreal. Fully registered Note Certificates will be issued in denominations of $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $100,000. Registered as to principal only. Redeemable at par and accrued interest up to and including December 15, 1929, and on any interest date thereafter on 6 months' notice at a declining premium of ½ of 1% during each five years period thereafter.

Legal investment for Canadian Insurance Companies.

TRUSTEE AND REGISTRAR: THE ROYAL TRUST COMPANY.

Transfers may be effected at the trustee's offices or agencies in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Vancouver.

Mr. E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, has summarized his letter of December 8, 1924, as follows:—

These Note Certificates will be direct obligations of the Railway Company and have priority over $93,338,254 Preference Stock and $300,000,000 Common Stock, representing an equity at present market prices of approximately $460,000,000. The Preference Stock has received 4% dividends without interruption since its issue in 1910. The Common Stock has paid dividends continuously since 1902, with the exception of the year 1908, the rate since 1912 having been 10% per annum.

In addition they will be secured by the assignment to the Trustee, by way of security, of all moneys, securities, money or deferred payments owing or accruing due to the Railway Company upon all agreements for the sale of lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia in respect of lands in the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and British Columbia, sold or contracted to be sold by it prior to December 1, 1924. The amount due or accruing due to the Railway Company on December 1, 1924, in respect of said sales was $66,000,000. The Railway Company will covenant to pay to the Trustee all moneys, both principal and interest, less expenses and taxes paid to protect the security, received by the Railway Company in respect of the said properties. The Railway Company covenants that it will not change the basis in respect of which such deferred payments are or shall be due, so as to prejudice in any manner the security hereby created.

All moneys received by the Trustee will be utilized for the payment of interest on these Note Certificates and thereafter as a Sinking Fund for the purchase and cancellation at not more than Note Certificates and thereafter as a Sinking Fund for the purchase and cancellation at not more than Note Certificates and thereafter as a Sinking Fund for the purchase and cancellation at not more than Note Certificates at the best prices obtainable up to the date of purchase, but not exceeding the redemption premium. If Note Certificates cannot be so purchased the Trustee shall redeem the Note Certificates by lot at the prevailing call price. The Railway Company will covenant that in the fourth and each succeeding year the annual amount available for the purchase of Note Certificates will be at least $300,000.

The Note Certificates will be issued under, secured by and subject to a Trust Agreement between the Railway Company and The Royal Trust Company as Trustee.

The net earnings for the last five years, after paying all fixed charges, including interest on Consolidated Debenture Stock and all other obligations, have been as follows:—

Year ending December 31, 1919	$37,339,866
" " " " 1920	34,084,063
" " " " 1921	33,169,687
" " " " 1922	37,548,140
" " " " 1923	34,999,460

Yearly interest on these Note Certificates amounts to $1,350,000. The average yearly net earnings for the last five years as above mentioned amounted to $35,108,043, or over 24 times annual interest requirements on these Note Certificates.

These Sinking Fund Secured Note Certificates are offered if, as and when issued and received by us, and subject to the approval of all legal matters by Messrs. Stewart, Smith, McMichael, Hoskin & Holden. Temporary Certificates in interim form or Note Certificates in definitive form will be available for delivery on or about December 30, 1924.

HALKIRK

Halkirk, Jan. 5.—A case of scarlet fever has occurred in Halkirk and a family found in strict quarantine. The victim is little Arlene Tyderman. It is hoped that the little girl will not suffer long nor be left with any bad after-effects of the disease. Mr. Tyderman is in charge of an elevator for the Midland Elevator Co. on the C. & E. north of Leider.

Mrs. Dr. Duke is indisposed at present with a attack of tonsilitis. Clarke and his sister Frances were born in charge of the farm while Mr. and Mrs. Duke have been wintering in town so as to give their youngest son, Billy, a better chance to attend school.

Mr. Sheridan, who was employed in the butcher shop here for some weeks last fall, has moved into the house a half mile south of town. Mr. Sheridan formerly resided in Carlet.

Among those who have been spending their vacations in this community and have returned to their work were Miss Ethel Baines, Miss Greta Bailey, and Miss Gladys, of the Camrose Normal School; Mr. Alfred Bush, of the Stettler High School; and Miss Dorothy Farnalo and Mr. C. E. Johns of the University of Alberta.

Miss Margaret Farnalo has taught in the Grosmont school near Athabasca Landing during the summer months, has returned to her home here to spend the winter.

Miss Gertrude Cranston has been disposed for a few days with a severe cold, but will soon be able to be about again.

After several days of fairly mild weather a violent storm broke out again on Monday afternoon, which threatens to demoralize the railroad and country traffic again.

C.P.R. Station Was Badly Burnt Early Thursday Morning

The C.P.R. station was damaged by fire on Thursday morning, the office being completely demolished. The blaze was first noticed by Mrs. Houghton from the Astor House about 4 a.m., looking out from the east side of the building, and she rushed up the telephone central, who informed the fire plant. It did not take long for the alarm to be given and the firemen to reach the scene and by 4:30 a.m. the north end of Main Street was crowded with spectators. The firemen soon had a stream of water playing on the building, and by use of their players accidentally gave a pail for Stettler, the game proceeding under the roof and one Gerald scored three of Drumheller's goals, while Gratia accounted for the other tally.

The Drumheller boys were much improved with Stettler's fine covered rink, while they were treated fine by the Stettler hockey club management.

Big Game Tonight

A contest which is awakening much interest will take place tonight at the skating rovem, when a game of Broomball will be played between Colley's Lumberjacks and Skinner's Gas Eaters. These two antagonists had formerly met in the prize ring without a decision, and their disposition has not yet been settled. In the game of the big boxing bouts, but will take place on ice with brooms, instead of in the ring with gloves. Their hostilities will fill a subsidiary but only very important part, and a cool hoop (item from starting each other's hair when the game becomes too fast and furious. Broomball, as most people know, is played like hockey, only a football is used instead of a puck, and brooms take the place of hockey sticks. The sides will be as follows: Lumberjacks—Colley, Wickson, Bamford, Tanner, White, Olive, McLean. Allen; Gas Eaters—Skinner, Barnett, Duckworth, Wirth, Sharpe, Scallan, Mackie, Adams.

Stettler School Notes

School opened on Monday after two weeks' holidays. Everyone appeared to be the worse of wear, with 100% power for work during the new term. Several new pupils were admitted and we hope that this term will prove a brilliant one for every pupil. The holidays were thoroughly enjoyed by everyone and now we must all buckle down to work and pass with flying colors in June.

In order to keep work up to the highest standard, weekly tests are being given in all the grades. This will enable all pupils to keep up with a thorough review. The old maxim—"Order is Heaven's first law; and this confirmed.

Some are, and some be, greater than the rest"— is also being observed so that all "leaky brainers" will soon forget [illegible] in school time and realize what it really means.

Fenn News

Ding-dang-ball—the chinook ring out for two of our popular local young people, and that the fatal knot was tied on New Year's Day. And so they start the new year and their new life together, both at the same time, and we wish them all the luck and happiness that this new year and successive years may bring. Miss Phoebe Parkman becomes Mrs. Jack Lockwood, taking up her residence in the Lockwood house, Mr. and Mrs. Parkman having fitted up their new home near the lake.

Mr. Jack Lockwood and Mrs. Dan Wallace spent last Sunday with Mrs. Jas. Ross. Truth to tell, roads are still pretty bad, but with the advent of better weather are becoming more passable for the motorist, both on and off the beaten track.

The Ladies' school concert, which was postponed owing to the inclement weather, will positively be held on Friday, School started Monday, January 5th. At this writing the thermometer registers 28 degrees above zero, a consistent of affairs for which most of us are offering thanks. It would seem that only a few of the real old-timers in this country will be able to stand such severity and duration.

Don't forget the U.F.A. meeting at Mrs. Leslie Legg's on January 14th. Mrs. Lockwood's organization, which takes place in Calgary towards the end of this month, will be a subject of discussion.

Doll Contest News

Three girls attained their dolls this week one going to Elnora's Dress of Stettler, another to Elnaboth Dress of South of Stettler, and another to Mrs. Lee Watt also south of Stettler. We have made for a doll who wish to get one and the chances are better than ever, as all who get dolls drop out and give the others a chance. Of course with the last roads a girl cannot get a doll in a day but she can be in in a week or two by using the coupons.

The week we have also heard from Viola Clarke of Kansas, Jessie Watson of Big Valley, and Peggy Perry of Botha. They will soon get their dolls. Mary Whitcroft of Botha is also doing well, and we expect to hear soon from Margaret Raglasse of Dunsdin and Dannie Walker of Red Willow. We understand that Gladys Haverson of Barthburn is also doing well. We will be surprised if we do not hear from Marjorie Bowey and Emma Hankins of Gadsby in a few days, and there is also a girl working for Dorothy Clements of Dunsdin. Two girls, Frances Laier and Inez Young of Bartlett, are well advanced, while Gladys Nelson of Lee should have no difficulty in getting the doll by prizes.

MARY LIKES THE DOLL

Dear Mr. Willis:

Thank you very much for my beautiful doll. She is just the one I wished for and I love her very much. I call her Jean.

Your friend,
Mary Fetherstonhaugh.

Our slogan is—"A Doll for every girl who is working for one."

Unique Service In Methodist Church Sunday Evening

A unique service was held in the Methodist Church last Sunday night, it being the Sunday School Anniversary. In order that the people might become acquainted with the work of the officers of the General Board of Missions, these officers were present by proxy. Courtney Patrick, representing Dr. S. D. Chown, General Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, presided and introduced the other officers. Arthur Barrington spoke for Dr. Endicott, Gen. Sec. of Foreign Missions, and Arnold Bohrer for Dr. Armstrong, Asst. Sec of Foreign Missions. Crete Blair-neff, as Dr. Manning, Gen. Sec. of Home Missions, was unable to be present through illness, but Harold North, representing Mr. Lloyd Smith, Asst. Sec. of Home Missions, spoke on behalf of the needs at home. Harry Patrick read a personal letter from Dr. F. C. Stephenson, Sec. of the Forward Movement Dept. of the Church, and Eric Hoe, on behalf of Mr. W. G. Watson, Treasurer of the Missionary Society, gave a brief statement of the financial needs. Two or three instruments made by the boys ought to be noted. One hundred years ago the income of the Society was $144.80, last year it was $1,664,939.66. For fifty years the work of the Society was confined to Canada alone, among the whites and Indians. At that time foreign work was undertaken and Japan entered. Thirty-two years ago another venture was made and missionaries sent into the heart of China. The work both at home and abroad has wonderfully prospered. The Student Methodist Church holds a unique position among the churches of Alberta, being among the very few that have never drawn a cent from the Missionary Society, but on the other hand has regularly made its contribution to the funds of the Society and then has aided the funds to the extent of more than $2,000.00. It has therefore always been an asset, never a liability. The boys are to be congratulated on the fine addresses that were given.

Rev. Thomas Powell, Supt. of Missions for Alberta, and also a member of the General Board, was present and gave a most inspiring address on the value and place of missions in the Church. He also spoke at the morning service and at Wall Lake in the afternoon. Subscriptions were taken and indicate a substantial increase over last year.

The anthem by the choir was exceedingly well rendered.

Lynn Summers is slowly recovering from an attack of La Grippe Dr. Connolly of Stettler was in attendance.

Our Xmas program, which was postponed on account of severe weather, will be held at the school on Thursday, January 8th, at 8 p.m. sharp. Remember the date and come on there. A real treat in store.

Frank Wolsen, who has been working at Pinkham, Alta., for the past few months, had the misfortune to freeze his nose and feet quite badly during the severe storm. He reported at the office on Monday—the first day of the month of December.

Mrs. Thomas Staples that these have been nothing on families in Southern Alberta for the past few months, intend leaving shortly for California.

Gordon Summers, one of our old boys, has got a appointment at Los Angeles, Cal., in repairing his holidays at Kansas City, Mo., and Omaha, Nebr. We hope he extends his trip this much further.

School re-opened on Monday, January 5th, with Miss Kitchen again in charge.

FIRST TRIP MADE BY CAR FROM MELFORT TO THE PAS. IN NORTHERN MANITOBA

"Jack" Brunnen, the well-known Northern Manitoba traveler, who already has a number of automobile achievements to his credit, added another to his list last week—the greatest of them all—when he blazed the trail in a Ford coupe from Melfort to The Pas, in Northern Manitoba. This is the first time the trip was ever made by car and many miles of the route traveled was through an unbroken wilderness. Brennan, accompanied by another traveler, left Melfort at 4 p.m. Monday, November 17th, traveling as far as Nipawin that night. He left Nipawin Tuesday morning, spending Tuesday night at one of The Pas Lumber Company camps along the Carrot River. The Pas was reached Wednesday night, a total of 300 miles. One hundred and thirty-two miles were made over new trail. He broke trail through one more for twenty-five miles, and traveled twenty miles over a poplar corduroy trail. The trip is only possible during the winter—after freeze-up and before the heavy snowfall. Outside of the tough going, in spots, no accident or break-down of any kind marred the trip. The car is equipped with balloon tires and a number of other accessories, and was a source of wonder and admiration to the officials in the northern metropolis, where the husky dog and the canoe are the great transportation stand-bys. Mr. Brennan left The Pas Thursday evening, driving all night, arriving at Nipawin 5 p.m. Friday, and Melfort at night.

It was a wonderful trip and while he would not care to make it again under the same conditions, still, he would not have missed it for before the trouble and invisible involved.

Advice Country Girls to Pass Up the Cities

Rest Homes Are Point Stress, and Country Life Is Supplied

I have a letter before me written by a farm girl. She is 22 years old and a graduate of the local high school. She says she is intelligent and is frequently has been told she is pretty-looking. She adds if she might not find by life open to more advantages than the country, and might she not succeed at some sort of city work. Could I put her in touch with an employer who would give her a chance, she asks.

I do not like to advise—that is the duty of parents. But I did write this girl and I said: "Don't do it." And here are some of my reasons which I am throwing to country girls who, like my country correspondent, have heard only the pleasant things. Title I do not say the city is [illegible] or that there are not delights, [illegible] [illegible] city life and [illegible] [illegible] think about for [illegible] [illegible] brother, to husband, to mother, to sister. It is quite different living in the country among friends in one's home, to the other side of [illegible] working-girl. I'll bet that thousands of country girls who have left home for city employment have fairly cried their eyes out in loneliness and homesickness.

Another thing, girls. In the city you are a working-girl, your name exists are also working people. The [illegible] is not important; but you who are used to being considered on an equal plane with everybody at home, will soon realize that you are not at [illegible] to the city. The making of friends is no friendless city by a working girl is a task beyond the capacity of 95 girls out of every 100 starting in it.

You are better off in the country than in the city. Your country friends are not to be envied when you [illegible] would be. They might not wear quite as ashy clothes, but the minds and hearts of those clothes covers is just as fresh underneath as a thousand fashion floral and pattern. Your work is better too. The country girl with her practical training in many things and the clerk, stenographer, or other working girls of the city. Now, don't [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] those words I write are the truth.

Farm the Best

Girls, stay in the country. Don't [illegible] [illegible] of your early [illegible] by plunging into the city like a fire and torture. Just try to make [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] country, both boys and girls, are as [illegible] as well-educated, as noble, as cultured, as worthy of you, as any [illegible] you can meet out of the city. Stay in the country until you have your mate, unless it is to study or visit and then go only if you are financially able and are properly protected by friends or relatives.

The [illegible] country girls have [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Round the Country

The Red Deer Advocate is satisfied that Group Government, where the groups are divided upon economic issues, is the system of the future. It says that "it is contended that farmers and labor are on the right lines in their policies of economic groups, and then the editor writes a downright vein of toryism in the Old Country under the heading—"Two Main Tides of Political Thought in Great Britain."

The Old Country evidently needs someone to show them that two main tides of political thought are agitated in all nations, and that there should be several, each one separated into its own economic group.

There are two lines of work in the world and always have been—the force of conservation and the force of progress. Both in the complement of the other and sometimes one and sometimes the other is dominant, according to the needs of the country and the times. Here in Alberta we think the force of progress is the one that should guide our destinies. Most people, we would admit that the force of conservation is the one most necessary at the present time.

Economic groups organized along political lines have the same relation to the main tides of political thought as tributaries have to the main streams. Every tributary finds its way to the main body at some time or other, and is absorbed into it. The fact is that you cannot separate the population into economic groups on political lines, for any length of time, because such divisions can only be sectional. The farmer or the merchant may think that their groups are distinct and separate, but the result is the same. They are as close together as the groups known as the Democrat and the grain grower associations. The merchant represents the farmer on the merchandising end, and the farmer represents the merchant on the production side, while the editor represents the merchant and the farmer on the publicity side.

Dr. Peat speaks of the phase of the question in his well-known persona. Instead of groups say members of the body:

"If the foot shall say to the hand, because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

And the eye cannot say to the hand, I have no need of thee; nor again the head to the feet, I have no need of you.

There should be no schism in the body. And whether one member suffers, all the members suffer with it."

There is quite a distinction between a group organized along economic lines and one organized along political lines. We are an organized into economic groups, but this is essential. The parallel in The members of the body. But when an economic group goes into politics it does so for the purpose of dominating and controlling politics and a schism is created for that reason.

The State of Nebraska, according to newspaper reports, will have a law on the statute books compelling married couples who are childless after a lapse of two years to give reasons. If Nebraska is anything like Alberta the chief reason would be that a trip to the hospital interferes with dancing and bridge.

One can always depend on the States of Nebraska, Iowa, North Dakota, etc., becoming spawners for some fresh laws. If there is something that some people don't like, they get their representatives to drive up a law to reform their neighbors, and it generally goes through, but unfortunately the referendum is not brought about in that way.

The province of Alberta, however, does not go very far in encouraging the advancement of fanatics. A notice that permission will accrue if registration of a birth is not made in thirty days is all a family gets. There is no check enforced.

The Commonwealth of Australian, on the other hand, gives each mother a bonus of $25.00 for each child, and one can imagine that some of our large families in Alberta would see the money right now, especially if back payments were included. The twenty-five dollars is not a recompense but an aid to enable them to pay some of the debts.

Rev. Mr. Steele of Gadsby has sent us an article this week from the Methodist Weekly Witness, entitled "What's Wrong with Canada?" It is printed on Page 5. The chief point in this article to my mind is the tendency of certain organizations here to grow up, and get away with a profit, instead of settling down and making the country a place of residence. Look it up, it is worth reading.

The Independent would be glad to hear from some of the school children on the subject—"What I like Alberta as a place of residence."

CORRESPONDENCE

McMinnville, Oregon,
Dec 28th, 1924.

Editor, Independent,
Stettler, Alta.

Dear Mr. Editor,

The weekly visits of your paper have disappointed, naturally enough, as it is time to renew, which I hereby do. We can't get on without the link that ties us to old associations and friends.

Tilly tell me you are having a hard winter up there. Well, little have the coldest here for years. And as to around the cold of this Pacific slope and Alberta cold, please give me the quiet, crisp cold of Alberta in preference to this heavy, damp, chilling cold that makes you keep up a strong fight against "taking cold." Glad to hear of your heavy snowfall, which I hope presages good crop weather for next year.

You will hear soon of the prosperity of the American farmer this year, and he is more prosperous than for many years. But this seldom reflects in prosperity can't quite obliterate some of the holes? Even 1920. It can't cover up the basic fallacies evidenced, nor the fact of abandoned farms abandoned by folks who just "fit out" because they could not stay and live. It does not do away with the fact that for a time Congress was shaken by fears of the collapse of the Northwest.

I am not so sure that this prosperity is going to do the farmer of America as much good as it will some others. Already one can see some of the large concerns putting on campaigns for the educating of the farmer's profits.

The machine concerns are making severe upon sources of those believethey ought to have new tractors. I would not attempt to quote the report of how many carloads of them have already been sold in these parts—in my nothing of the new autos that have gone into farmers' hands. All kinds of "drives" are on—from new roof campaigns and silo campaigns to "drives" by the chambers for worthy objects. Everywhere the ambitious salesman is out after the farmer's surplus prosperity. Instead of paying off longstanding debts or making himself a little more secure by a little better establishment for diversified farming, he is spending his money under the impulse of "drives". Let some loss from some cause again and he will wish for the opportunity this season has given him.

We folks of Alberta can't those stone—we have now long lived in glass houses. After studying at close range farming conditions in U.S., I am led to believe that the Alberta farmer has much less cause for complaint than he often imagines. What did we do with our opportunities in those prosperous years? If some of us commit have them over again we can't. Soon you will understand the wisdom of the slogan, "Safety first." Let us not be tempted by the lure of "easy money" and "big returns" and "quick turnover" and "big profits" and "big crops" and "big prices" and "big land values" and "big everything" and "big nothing" and "big debts" and "big interest" and "big taxes" and "big failures" and "big bankruptcies" and "big suicides" and "big funerals" and "big graves" and "big hell" and "big damnation

THE EXAMINER'S REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

(January 1st)

CATTLE

Beef—Calgary receipts light and some good cattle brought higher prices and all here good; choice heavy and light steers $4.75 @ $5.50; good butchers $4 @ $4.50; medium $3.25 @ $3.75, common $2 @ $3. Choice heifers $4 @ $4.25; good $3.75 @ $4; common $3.25 @ $3.50; good cows $3.25 @ $3.50; good $2.75 @ $3, medium $2.25 @ $2, common $1.50 @ $2; canners $1.25 @ $1.50. Choice bulls $1.75 @ $2.25, medium $1.25 @ $1.50; canners $1 @ $1.25 Choice calves $3.50 @ $4; common $4 @ $5. Stockers, Feeders—Not much trading; but tone firm, with $5.50 @ $4.25 on feeders and stocker steers $3 @ $3.50. Stock heifers $2 @ $2.50; stock cows $1.50 @ $2.25.

Beef—Light receipts at Edmonton, but choice stuff higher and all others strengthened. Choice heavy steers $5 @ $5.50; choice light $4 @ $4.50; good $4.50 @ $5; medium $3.75 @ $4.25; common $3.25 @ $3.75. Choice heifers $4 @ $4.25; good $3.50 @ $4. Choice cows $3.50 @ $3.75; good $3 @ $3.50; medium $2.50 @ $2.75; common $2 @ $2.50; canners $1.25 @ $1.75. Choice bulls $3 @ $3.25; medium $1.50 @ $1.75; canners $1.25 @ $1.50. Choice calves $3.50 @ $4; common $2 @ $3.50. Feeders, Stockers—Supply light and most good stuff taken by butchers; choice feeders $4.50, others down to $3.50; stocker steers $3.50 @ $3.75; stock heifers $2.50 @ $3.25; stock cows $2 @ $2.50.

HOGS

Calgary prices stronger during week and sales Wednesday at $9.25 for the third successive day, being 10 per cent premium.

Edmonton prices stronger and sales on thick smooths were from $9.25 @ $9.50; with 10 per cent premium on heavy.

SHEEP

Calgary prices steady, with not a great deal moving; lambs $11 @ $12.25; wethers $9.50 @ $10.50; fat ewes $8 @ $9.

Edmonton sheep prices showing more strength, with choice lambs up to $12; yearlings up to $10.50, and fat ewes up to $7.50; others range down according to quality.

GRAIN

Prices are swinging around and the buying, though it stalls at times at strong advances, keeps on absorbing Canadian wheat very freely. The market outlook now is all to the good for this crop and if 1925 should be anything like as good as the prices of 1924 there will certainly be little cause to complain.

BUTTER—CREAM—CHEESE

Creamery Butter—All prices unchanged and firm; demand not very keen, but everything taken care of without any trouble. Butterfat—Creamery receipts very light and prices unchanged, if you have the food keep saves up to production during the cold weather. Dairy Butter—Receipts at central markets very light. Cheese—Market steady, but somewhat slow.

POULTRY—HIDES

Poultry—All prices holding at last week's quotations and moderate receipts could still be taken without trouble; weather has kept back lot of stuff. Future prices will depend on volume of receipts. Eggs—Not very much moving, and Vancouver shipments of pulled eggs supplying fresh trade.

Figured in Historic Sod Turning

This sentence Lobbing wheelbarrow and spade do not appear capable of very lofty service now, but nearly half a century ago they carried the weight of a very important event. The ceremony marking the commencement of the construction of the Canada Central Railway through Pembroke, Ontario. Following the ceremony, the spade with which the first sod was turned and the wheel-barrow into which it was shovelled in the presence of a very enthusiastic crowd, were presented to Miss J. Mellish, daughter of one of the flower of the village, the lady who performed the ceremony of the naming of the first locomotive built in Canada. The Canada Central Railway was consumed into the bonds of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which crossed Canada over the Canada Central lines in 1881, and will be added to a museum of relics connected with the early days of the railroad which is being formed in Montreal.

So much for the actual ceremony. The Pembroke "Observer" of November 3rd 1875 says: "The assembly then adjourned to a spacious booth that had been specially erected for the occasion, where champagne and beer had been provided for the purpose of drinking several toasts which had been previously agreed upon, by a few enthusiastic friends. The toasts were then proposed in succession, and were drunk with great fervor to say the least. Three cheers were given for the Queen, and the regular order of the programme had to be abandoned. The Pembroke Brass Band was present and performed some popular airs."

HAY

Growers now looking at prospects of sales with much more confidence owing to cold, stormy weather. Not very big demand yet, but many districts will have to buy some; market not bullish yet, but looks a lot better.

FUEL

Very little business and tone of market is poor; tonnage not showing very buying inclination at present

FURS

No change in prices, with movement from farming districts light owing to bad trails; Edmonton Fur Exchange prices range steady. First Hudson's Bay sale next month.

HORSE CATTLE FOR JAPAN

A shipment of 500 head of Alberta beef cattle will shortly be made from this province in the name of a large Japanese firm which has interested itself in the importation of beef from Alberta ranges. This is the first large shipment to result from the reduced rate of $37.50 per head obtained by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, following negotiations and test shipments. Another Japanese firm is negotiating for some space for a similar shipment in the near future. This indicates the beginning of a steady trade with Japan in beef cattle.

A WHITE RIBB PRAYER

Cardinal Mercier, Belgium's famous war-time prelate, sends a message to America through "The Dalmester"—

Why, O my God, need men quarrel when love is so sweet? Why need they waste time and strength in harming one another, when it is so good to make others happy?

Oh, I hear that selfish mein starved to industrial strife are no new feature of this day. Even after twenty centuries of Christianity, the world has been witness to the most gigantic and cruel slaughter ever known to history. And the prayers signed by the ballots of nets has little place in men's consciences, in their morals, in the intercourse of nations.

Wherefore, O my God, is this? Unbelief means, hath blasphemy at Thy Gospel, and proclaims, as though in triumph, that it has failed.

But we, Thy followers, O my God, unshaken in our belief in Thee, we repeat with the psalmist that justice is on Thy side and that Thou art victorious in this assault of the unbeliever.

The good news, brought by Thee, O Lord, to the world, with the promise of peace to men of good will, is no mere spiritless message, meant to console souls without their help and in spite of themselves.

Thy Gospel never only those who welcome it and live by it.

What does the history of the last four centuries tell us? Despite their boasted and immense increase in power and material wealth, Christian nations in general have suffered, both in their masses and governments, a woeful decline.

On the other hand, there are individuals who have preserved a marvelous moral strength comparable only to that shown by the early spiritual leaders.

Thy teaching, O Lord, ensures victory to him who follows, defeat to him who betrays it.

Have pity on the world; be merciful to us, once more.

With the help of Thy Grace we shall return to Thee and Thy Gospel. Peace and joy will be ours once more. For the unwearied pursuit of pleasure, way husbands and wives substitute mutual respect and the pride of bringing up a strong family, healthy in mind and body, fit for the service of their country and their God. Then moral progress will keep pride with material welfare.

May the nations acknowledge the law of authority. May citizens practice justice and charity to one another.

Great light and strength to all peoples that they may do their duty true to Thy words: "By this shall all men know that you are my disciples: if you have love one for another."

Short Hours, High Pay, No Care

Bosses, in the terms of wealth, power and [illegible] are the aristocrats of Elihu Root, well known United States statesman, lawyer, lecturer and near-veteran farmer, he says, are a the by product of manhood and, in return, the young man must first stand up for manhood. He thought that with and consider according to Mr. Root, are the forces built up within the male himself—in other words its character, his personality and his individuality. Mr. Root's remarks to the Harvard business were delivered to the undergraduates of the Hamilton college and have been represented in part as follows:

The process confronting every man who intends to make his mark in the world is "the making of the man." He told the students they each were called on must run a mental, "and you are engaged by events of this process which has been thought out and lived out, in making it into the biggest, most competent man that the nature of your material will permit. Those unfortunate are born in to affluence, and it was not to be desired that the men can live a contented happy life. Others are born to be the equivalent of ten units, others again one hundred, three hundred, four hundred and so high as a thousand units in human intellectual power. The thing he stressed was that no student should be content to be a mere unit. "The worst, the hardest thing you have to do," he emphasized, "may be the thing that counts most, because it is from the hard things that discipline, and discipline alone, makes possible the highest competency of one's nature."

Mr. Root declares there are two ways of at in the world; the force of conservation and the force of progress. Both have to exist. It is the natural business of the old to be conservative and the business of the young to be progressive. But, he adds, the spirit of youth may bring about changes that is not progress. That largely depends on the development which has come about within the individuals themselves. Of the standards of success he says in part:

I suppose that you have not very definite ideas as to what you are going to do in life after you leave here. If you have they will probably turn out wrong when you leave. But you can fix for yourself standards of the kind of success that you wish to obtain, the kind of thing that you wish to do with this instrument that you are creating here. I do not quite know how to get into your mind what is in mine about that.

There is a very great misunderstanding about what constitutes successful advancement in life. It is not to become rich. That does not help much. Money enough to be independent. Yes, to be independent is a fine thing, and not to be to anything any distressing.

We have had a very great change in the condition of labor in the world in recent years. The laboring men in countries, particularly in England and the United States, have come to have higher wages and shorter hours of work than they have ever had before; that is, they have had more money to spend and more leisure to spend it in. But I doubt if they have ever been more discontented.

The immediate effects of higher wages and shorter hours of work have been discontented workmen.

Why?

Because they have not in them the power, the fullness and development in them the capacity for the enjoyment of life. They are like the prospector who made a lucky strike in the mountains and could think of no way to celebrate it except to buy a hundred pounds of baked beans. He had not trained himself to enjoy life. He did not know how.

You find curious spots in the history of civilization. You find that at certain times in the progress of civilization the nations are incapable of taking in certain ideas. I was reading about the talking possession of the properties of the church in England in the sixteenth century. There was discussion about taking the abbeys, monasteries, wide possessions which the church had acquired, taking it back for the crown. The best suggestion that could be made about the property was that it should be given to somebody who could fight instead of having it in the hands of priests. That generation in England was incapable of absorbing the idea of applying property to public use. The only public use that they could think of was to fight.

Doubtless there are real and important ideas that we are not absorbing now. Some future generation will look back and say, "How stupid they were not to understand!" But we cannot do it. We cannot take to vegetables.

But the fellow who could not find enjoyment in anything but baying cashed books had not been trained to the enjoyment of life. In the end, as compared with wealth, with fame, with all the things that people interest themselves about in their struggle toward success in life—in the end you will find that success in life comes from what you have made of your inner nature.

One must proceed within himself. Cultivate your tastes so that you will receive joy from things of beauty; cultivate your powers so that you will receive joy from the exercise of them; cultivate friendships so that your hearts may always be warmed by sympathy; cultivate the virtues that all men admire so that you may be entitled to self-respect.

One of the good things about a college of this size, I would say, is that it affords an opportunity for you men for that kind of training because you are here in immediate contact with and immediate observation of the group of men who have undertaken to pass their lives in education. In doing it, they have been driven partners to resign the supposed pleasures of wealth and to seek their pleasure in themselves.

You see, as you pass through your course at college those dozens of men from whom you are learning mathematics, Greek, Latin, biology, history and what not, you see them leading happy lives without much money, with very little money; you see them leading happy lives because their vocation has compelled them to develop those qualities within themselves which are the only sound and durable bases of human happiness.

What Everyone Should Know

The Last 10th Ounce is the Best

No farmer likes to waste any milk which he produces. He is usually very careful up to stripping time. Yet the very first milk drawn from the udder is very poor milk and the last milk is extremely good milk. The stripping often averages from 1/2 to 1/3 per cent of better fat. This is why one should keep on milking until the very last drop comes out. Leave nothing in the udder.

There is another reason why stripping is advisable. If a small amount of milk is left in the udder it tends to "dry off" the cow. Sometimes a cow is condemned as being a cow with a short lactation period. The cow owner should make certain that the cow is being given her chance. Frequently the fault is the milker's, not the cow's. This is especially true in the case of cows known as hard milkers. Since it may be tiresome work to milk these cows and since all the milk is withdrawn, the milking period accordingly is shortened and poor cows are blamed! Often these are the best cows in the herd.

The first milk drawn at each milking contains very little butter fat. If

GADSBY NEWS

Gadsby, Jan. 5th.—We are enjoying the welcome change in the weather, and trust the comparatively mild spell will stay with us for quite a while.

A few of our wanderers have returned from spending Christmas and New Year holidays in other parts. Among those who dropped off the train on Saturday were Mr Charlie Leonard, Mr L. C. Belcourt, our village blacksmith; Mr. Brown, our genial school principal, and Dr and Mrs. Brayton. The Doctor has had a nice little holiday and we are glad to see him back again. We feel more comfortable when we know "Doc" is standing by. He was more missed than the blacksmith—which is saying quite a lot

There is another marriage on the wires in the district, and very soon, I believe, Miss Edith Barry will become Mr. Art. Potter. The young lady is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barry of Ingleton, and is deservedly popular in her community. A number of her neighbors organized a shower for her which was held at her mother's home and was a very successful and enjoyable affair.

Little Eadie has a very successful 5-cent Club to their credit who style themselves "Ye Gentle Tyros" Club, and certainly live up to their title on every visiting night. Last Tuesday night they met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gaskell and had a very fine time. Mrs. Gaskell is an ideal hostess and entertainer and all the members seemed in good form for harmony. As the good refreshments, which was one of the features of the evening, Mrs. Ted Robinson and Mr McDonald led the field, and received notable prizes.

At the other end of the list was Mr. Fred Hooper, whose prize was a very welcome addition to her toilet accessories, an application being made on the spot where it should do most good.

During his holiday Mr. Babcock visited Lacombe, Edmonton, Bassano, Bow, and other points, and after hearing those over thinks there are worse places, from a business standpoint, than our own little district. We agree with him.

Mrs. J. F. Samuel and Miss Elsie Hamel were Stettler visitors last Saturday and had more dental work done.

Despite the heavy roads and bad weather, Hugh Sceptoe and his partner, Fred Jones, are making good progress in hauling the brisge timbers for the Hanna Warden line south of town.

Mr. Jim Colclough has been under the weather for a few or times days but is feeling better now and is back on the job, hauling cut timber for H. W. Barry, which makes him a round trip of nearly 20 miles every day with two teams.

Mr. John Lane is serving a badly sprained ankle these days, sustained when his saddle horse fell and rolled over him. One is lucky to get away so easy as that. Enough our sympathy goes to Mr. Lane just the same.

The U.F.A. have been very quiet, recently, this winter, but Bill Allen is determined to wake them up on an early date, which was agreed on and his committee are getting on a dance on the 16th instant, with the usual very excellent music.

Botha News

Bot.a, Jan 7th.—The Consolidated School opened again after the holidays on Monday morning last and the attendance was normal. The noticeable weather assisted in bringing all the small children and it is hoped that there will be no need in the future to close the school. The staff remains the same with the exception of Grades 4 and 5, Miss. Thos. Kerr having resigned and Miss Winnifred Hutchinson taking her place.

Robert Poland returned from attending the Boys' Parliament at Edmonton and reports having a splendid time. There were in the neighborhood of 70 boys present from all the province. Much business dealing with the work of the Trails and Trail Rangers was dealt with and the programs for the year made more easy to handle. A report of the work will be given in the local groups shortly.

Miss Winnifred Hutchinson arrived on Saturday's train to take a place on the staff of the Consolidated School. Miss Hutchinson is stopping at the parsonage.

Services in the Community Church were well attended last Sunday. In the morning the address to the children took the form of an object lesson on Temperance. The interest was maintained to the end and the children will always remember the illustration used.

In the afternoon the trip was made to Smith and the attendance of the people made the effort worth while.

The evening service in town was a good start for the new year with the predominate thought of the service being "The Supremacy of Christ."

The aim and object of the Community Church this year is: "Every boy and girl in the district in the Church School, and every adult attending Church." The work will now be accomplished until this is done.

Mrs. J. F. Hollinshead entertained to tea the English ladies of the town in honor of Mrs. Elmer Carter of High River, formerly of Pollockville, England. Mrs. Carter will remember the war days when so many of the boys passed through Pollockville and not a few through her own home. A delightful time was spent over the tea cups and was enjoyed by all.

George Bender returned to Hermut at Clareon on Monday morning.

Miss Thomas, together with Sophia and Edward, returned in town on Sunday for the opening of the school.

Miss Bagley arrived on Saturday's train after spending her holidays with friends.

Reports from Califerosa from the Underwood family are so far as learned not very favorable to Robert. A change of location has been made and it is hoped that it will be benefical.

Arnold Hartman is driving the van from the north-east until such time as cars will be running again.

Roup and Kindred Ailments

(Experimental Farms' Note)

Roup in its beginning stage is very simply a common cold, but in more sudden of onset, produces greater distressness in the subject, is prolonged in its course and brings serious consequences.

The common membrance of the upper air passages, nostrils, corner of the head or eye show evidence of irritation by a discharge, which at first is fluid and watery, and is accompanied by sneezing, coughing and a clucking of the head. Cold or catarrh seldom presents more symptoms than these. On the other hand, roup passes from these symptoms to those of a greater severity. The discharge becomes denser and more viscid in consistency, sticking the eyelids together, filling the sinuses and blocking the nasal passages. Attempts to clear these eye by wiping the head against the shoulder leaves the feathers in a very sticky condition. Once the lids are closed the discharge becomes chessy-like in consistency, a similar change taking place in the sinuses and nostrils. The features become greatly distorted through swelling. A similar process may take place in the wind pipe, lungs, or abdominal air-sacs.

Cankerous sores may form in the mouth which are usually covered with a tenacious yellowish-colored false membrane. The larynx may likewise be the seat of these lesions, the membrane confining the mucous and a fatal termination resulting through suffocation.

As a general rule the subject shows considerable systemic disturbance. The affected bird early isolates itself, becomes listless, takes food sparingly, or not at all, the feathers become ruffled, and the age yield diminishes or ceases entirely. Diarrhoea appears early in which the feces are of a greenish-yellow color.

Colds seemingly are due to unhygienic environment, and the undesirable condition that is responsible should be sought out and remedied. Colds frequently are brought about by the combination of two or more factors working together, each accompanied followed by a sudden drop in temperature.

Damp litter, and especially when the dust is due to accumulated pulverized fecal matter is another frequent cause of irritations likely to result in colds.

Actual causes of colds are confining causes of roup since derangement of the membranes upon the avenues of infection to the serious convoluted mass of the latter. It is, therefore, imperative that the first consideration should be directed towards the practice of good hygiene. The patients must be made comfortable. Draughts, dampness, dust or chills must be corrected or avoided. Diseased birds should be removed from the rest of the flock and kept in isolated quarters or hospital pens.

A purgative is indicated (one half to one pound of Epsom Salts per [illegible] birds) in order to promote the elimination (them relieving congestion), and to clear the gut of effete materials.

The administration of drugs to the alimentary tract by means of the drinking water is of questionable value, and may do actual harm by derangement digestion. Sick birds are likely to take a smaller quantity of water than a healthy one, and will consume a large quantity of water is most dangerous.

Local medication can be highly beneficial and may be applied directly to all birds in the flock whether or not they are showing evidences of disease or not. Birds showing no symptoms should be non-irritating and of known germicidal value. Argyrol in a one per cent watery solution has given best results in the treatment, and should be applied with a medicine dropper, one drop to each eye, each nostril and in the mouth. Daily applications should be given for three or four days, or as long as disease is in evidence.

In the isolated cases, the chessy matter should be removed with tweezers or pencils, after which argyrol should be applied. Where membranes have formed in the mouth they should be removed and the parts painted with Tr. Iodine.

Walls of the Silo Must Withstand Great Pressure

Any material which is sufficiently strong and which will make an airtight wall (which is necessary to prevent the silage spoiling) will make a satisfactory silo. The material, however, might not be permanent. The life of the silo depends upon the durability of the material and the stability of the foundation. The following are the points to be considered in regard to any type of silo:

1. The walls must be air-tight.

2. The walls must be smooth, so that the silage will settle evenly and uniformly.

3. The walls of the silo must be sufficiently strong to withstand the outward pressure of the well-packed silage. For example, at a depth of 20 feet from the top, the outward pressure amounts to 11 pounds per foot of surface. For example, at a depth of 20 feet from the top, the outward pressure amounts to 11 pounds per foot of silage. For example, at a depth of 20 feet depth it is 220 pounds. The walls or hoops holding the wall material together must be sufficiently strong to withstand this pressure with an ample factor of safety.

4. The foundations must be well built and sufficiently strong to carry the weight of the silo and the silage without settling. Most silos fail on account of poor foundations. The outward pressure of the foundation upon the silo rests must be level else the silo will settle and stand in a twisted position.

5. The silo must be built or braced to stand the heaviest wind storm without danger of collapse.

6. There should be a sufficient height of silo to insure sufficient weight to pack the silage. Wherever silos used to be built silo and constructed in which the floors are only a few feet apart, they are now being constructed two and one-half, and frequently three times as high as their diameter. Since the cost of the foundation and the roof is the same regardless of the height, tall silos cost less in proportion to their height than the low, squatty type of silo.

BUILDING AT THE COAST

Vancouver, B. C.—Reflective of the rapid development of Vancouver are the large number of buildings which are being erected here at the present time. Three large engineering jobs, involving an expenditure of $1,000,000 will be commenced in the spring. These are the new elevator of the Pacific Grain Terminals, Ltd., the dock and warehouse of the Robin Hood Flour Mills, Ltd., and the dredging east of the Lapointe pier of the Harbor Board.

King George Can Trace Descent From David

By the time this page—Empire Year—draws to a close, Britain will have been visited by practically every sovereign in Europe. "It is exciting to be our ancestral pride, therefore, says a writer in Answers, "to be able to reflect that in length of descent our King takes precedence over them all."

Indeed, if there is any truth in legends, he is directly descended from King David of Israel, one of whose descendants is reputed to have married Boadicea II., a Scots King, somewhere about 800 B.C.

Embracing legends, however, and keeping to history, it is certain that His Majesty can claim an ancestor who successfully led the Picts and Scots against the Ancient Britons as far back as 220 B.C., the year in which Babylon fell.

This was Fergus, the son of Ferchard, who is reputed to have been descended from Ezekiel II. and the Jewish princess. After the defeat of King Bellous the two Celtic races in Scotland were so pleased with Fergus of the start, Queen Anne, the throne that they vowed that the kingdom was again vested.

During this queen's lifetime Scottish statesmen had successfully insisted that her successor must not only be a Protestant, but one of the House of David as well. The British parliament found that the only person who fulfilled both these conditions was the Elector of Hanover He was directly descended from Princess Elizabeth, the daughter of James I., who, in 1613, had married Frederick, the Elector Palatine.

The Hanoverians, as they were called, proved themselves able rulers and worthy representatives of the line of Fergus.

Since the accession of George I., the succession has never been broken.

CHRISTMAS TREES

Halifax, N. S.—The quantity of Christmas trees shipped from Nova Scotia this year exceeds all previous records. Fifty carloads, containing 8,700 bundles of trees, were shipped from Queens County to New York. This is an increase of twenty carloads from this district over last year. From territory along the Dominion Atlantic railway about 12 carloads were shipped, while from the entire province shipments totaled approximately 80 cars.

LEARNING ABOUT ALBERTA'S SYSTEM

So widespread has been the interest shown in Alberta's system of transgrading and its results in improving the quality of cream and creamery butter, that several prominent contributors of dairymen have invited Dr Marker, Alberta's Dairy Commissioner to address them. During September Dr Marker addressed the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers at Chicago, giving them in detail Alberta's system, and in February he is invited to attend the convention of the Washington State Creamery Operators who will meet in Seattle

The Alberta Dairy Convention is to be held on February 4, 5 and 6, and the Western Canada Dairy Convention to be held at Vancouver on Feb 10 to 13.

CREAMERY SHORT COURSE

A short course for creamery operators, similar to that which has been held from time to time at the Alberta University, is being arranged for, to last until Saturday, January 24. There is no registration fee for this course. Application should be sent to C. Marker, Dairy Commissioner, Edmonton.

Mr. E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, has communicated his letter of December 8, 1924, as follows:

These Note Certificates will be direct obligations of the Railway Company and have primary over $963,338,994 Preference Stock and $360,000,000 Common Stock, representing an equity at present market prices of approximately $400,000,000. The Company has received 6% dividends without interruption since its inception in 1886. The Common Stock has paid dividends continuously since 1882, with the exception of the year 1885, the rate since 1915 having been 10%.

In addition they will be secured by the assignment to the Trustee, by way of security, of all unpaid purchase money or deferred payments now or hereafter owing to the Railway Company in respect of lands in the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, sold or contracted to be sold by it prior to December 1, 1924. The amount due or accruing to the Railway Company on December 1, 1924, in respect of such lands was over $66,000,000. The Railway Company will covenant to pay to the Trustee all monies, both principal and interest, from time to time received on account of the assets, hereinafter by the Railway Company in respect of the said contracts. The Railway Company covenants that it will not charge the lands in respect of which deferred payments are or shall be due, as so to prejudice the security hereby created.

All monies received by the Trustee will be utilized for the payment of interest on these Note Certificates and thereafter in a Sinking Fund for the purchase and cancellation of these Note Certificates at the best prices obtainable up to the call price prevailing at the time of such purchase. If Note Certificates cannot be so purchased, then the Trustee shall redeem the Note Certificates by lot at the prevailing call price. The Railway Company will have the right to the fourth and each succeeding year, to the amount available for the purchase of Note Certificates up to at least $300,000.

The Note Certificates will be issued under, governed by and subject to a Trust Agreement between the Railway Company and The Royal Trust Company as Trustee.

Main Causes of Calf Troubles

Cold milk today, warm milk tomorrow.

Sour milk today; sweet milk tomorrow.

Dirty pails; filthy surroundings.

Filthy pens; filthy or pneumonia from heat or sun.

Feeding too much or too little.

No drinking water supply.

Sour whey and sour skim milk from the factory.

Worms.

It is a good practice to leave the calf with its dam for the first two or three days after it is planted to raise its early start.

Attempts to replace animals with dependable livestock due to cold weather losing an old or preventing a well-planned feed.

A great deal of attention is a very useful to raising calves, months of age. Regularity in feeding is a factor in a calf's development.

If the calves are not housed with their mothers, they should be given individual attention. Calves are more liable to scours when they are housed in groups.

Fair Only Check Defined

17. A fair body check shall be when a player takes an aggressive step and slip or one of the body when standing still or starting at a low rate of speed. If however a player is skating fast or uses his knee or elbow, it will be considered charging and a foul and be penalized accordingly. There shall be no body checking within five feet of the boards.

Penalties in Detail

Under "Instructions to Referees" the following paragraph is one worthy of careful study:

Must Return Promptly to the Ice

Referees are to see that the game starts on time and that the teams return promptly to the ice at the intermissions. The intermission is ten minutes only, and teams not playing promptly the referee's signal to return to the ice shall be penalized by the loss of one player's services on the ice for every minute delay. Referees will give a penalty signal to the players five minutes before the rest period expires.

Goaltender Must Not Throw Puck

The goaltender may stop the puck in any position or manner he wishes, but shall not throw it to his team or other player of the defending side, other than the goaltender, shall during the play, by, all, kneel or slide along the ice in the goalkeeper's territory. Penalty, one minute for a goalkeeper who infringes the rule, and two minutes for any other player or his side who offends.

Women's Charge Goaltender

Referee shall penalize all players charging a goalkeeper, whether accidental or otherwise. Penalty, two minutes or more. Goalkeeper who trip or clash opponents are to be ruled off for at least one minute.

No Off-Side Between Areas

Area's distinguishing line 30 feet out from the goal is to be drawn across the rink. Within this no-man there can be no off-side for the defending team, but the attacking team must keep on-side.

Penalties All Bench Play

Referees are to penalize players who throw their sticks along the ice whether the puck after striking the boards or pushing it up. Penalty, two minutes for the first offence.

Amateur Hockey Rules Outlined for Benefit of Players

In order that hockey players and fans may familiarize themselves with the rules of amateur hockey that they may better understand the game and know why the referee gives his decision, we publish a number of the most important playing rules as given by the rule book issued by the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association.

Goalkeeper

6. (a) The goalkeeper may stop his puck in any position or manner he wishes, but shall not throw or hold it, and no other player of the defending team, other than the goalkeeper, shall, during the play, by, on, kneel or slide along the ice in the goalkeeper's territory. Penalty, one minute for a goalkeeper who infringes the rule, and two minutes for any other player on his side who offends.

Women's Charge Goaltender

Referee shall penalize all players charging a goalkeeper, whether accidental or otherwise. Penalty, two minutes or more. Goalkeeper who trip or clash opponents are to be ruled off for at least one minute.

No Off-Side Between Areas

Strangler Lewis Loses Wrestling Title Recently

"Big" Stone Lazzle at the Strangler's Headlock and Tosses the Champ Around Inside and Outside the Ring—Lazzle Is in the Semi-pical Sure and Successful

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 2.—An erstwhile university football player who has been trying to make a stand up against the pounds and whose knowledge of the technique of grappling is that of a novice, is the new wearer of the world's wrestling belt for heavyweights.

He is Wayne "Big" Munn, a youth of 21 who has prodigious size, great strength, but eight times off the fourth floor of the Lewis and Ed "Strangler" Lewis and crushed him into submission.

Lewis today is in a local hospital suffering injuries to his back, a bewildered look on his face and a sense of humiliation that is new to him. He is no longer champion of the world.

Munn, despite his youth and inexperience, is the master of his opponent, defeated decisively in his power over the latter's skill, although a foul, that resulted in a protest by Lewis' manager, saved the victory.

The fans possibly didn't understand why Strangler Lewis, out of wind and tired to the core, permitted the referee to disqualify him for a foul that was committed by the youthful challenger.

Then Came the Climax

The climax came after two minutes of wrestling for the second fall, when Munn, twisting free from a headlock, lifted Lewis high in the air with a body and crotch hold, apparently the only weapon at his command, and dashed him to the ropes. Lewis crashed through the ropes and hit the floor of the platform. Lewis' fall rebounded the boards with a terrific thud and the referee rolled to the center of the ring.

Lewis' friend "Billy" Sandow, manager of Lewis, sprang into the ring and [illegible] Lewis' head and the referee [illegible] Lewis' cries and [illegible] after which Lewis [illegible] Munn [illegible] Lewis [illegible] Lewis [illegible] Lewis

Round the Country

All readers of this paper should make a study of Page 3 this week in which is outlined the development of the Province of Alberta during the past nineteen years. The progress made by the province has been wonderful, and its future is assured.

The question will undoubtedly be asked—Why is it, if the province is all that has been made such rapid progress, the individual farmer has remained stationary or even gone back?

We consider that there are two answers for this:

1. The farmer has built the transport for a future individual prosperity. He has had to do all the pioneer work, and the burden of developing the provinces agriculturally has taken upon him when interestrates were high, transportation rates were abnormal, and home markets relatively few.

2. The cost of buying and breeding land, building houses, barns, machinery, etc., used up all the farmer's profits, and in bad years left him without any reserve upon which to support.

3. Like everyone else many farmers used their money unwisely by building up with too much land, buying automobiles, and other luxuries, while their land and stock were not all paying for.

Nevertheless the average farm is today a good investment and a going concern, and only good seasons are required to bring about individual prosperity.

We note that Aaron Sapiro, the co-operative wizard, is using Henry Ford for a million dollars for libel. That's nothing. A local Lawyer here is using Ford's Hope for three millions, and everyone is hoping that he gets it.

From July 1st, 1924, to December 31st, 1924, the net earnings of the entire C.P.R. system from Fort William east were $176,000,000. The net earnings from Fort William west for the same period were $66,000,000.

In other words Western Canada has been earning over twice as much for the C.P.R. than Eastern Canada. Of course the numbers consist of that company in much greater than the figures suggest that Western Canada has been paying "all that the traffic can bear" during those years.

On Wednesday, January 7th, Number One Northern wheat sold in Winnipeg over for $1.86 and at Winnipeg for $1.87.

The represents a difference of $ 0 cents as between the western and the eastern rents.

Why pets the difference? Not the farm? The speculators and private above owners are getting the loose at present, because they are on the ground and know how to handle the wheat. No farmer in Alberta at present can afford to ship by consignment to Vancouver, because it is per much of a gamble, on account of the distance of the route and the lack of sufficient elevator capacity.

The Alberta Wheat Pool should now for the individual farmer what he cannot now for himself, and ship.

Why rates are expensive? Why should be another saving of 7 cents per bushel.

The time should come when the Alberta farmer gets 17 cents more for his wheat when shipped via Vancouver.

What Other Editors Are Saying

CANADIAN TO U. S. HAS RATES ON WHEAT

"In January, 1925, the Omaha Bee published the results of an exhaustive study it had made with reference to the cost of producing wheat in this country, as compared with the cost of producing and marketing wheat in Canada. One of the most significant features of this report was the difference in cost of transportation to the Canadian wheat growers and the American wheat grower. It showed that the Minneapolis, Canada, wheat grower can reach Chicago market by lake and rail fund for a rate of 30¾ cents per hundred weight. The same rate prevails to the wheat grower in Calgary, Canada, district. But the American wheat grower who ships to Chicago from Aberdeen Falls, Idaho, must pay a rate of 69½ cents per hundred weight to get his grain delivered at Chicago, or more than twice what it costs his Canadian competitor to reach the same American market. The rate from Billings, Montana, to Chicago, is 57½ cents per hundred weight; from Cheyenne, Wyoming, 59½ cents; from Denver, Colorado, 69½ cents; from Grand Island, Nebraska, 57 cents; from Mitchell, South Dakota, 57½ cents.

"From this it will be seen that the cost of transportation is much less in Canada than in the United States. The difference is so great that it amounts to many cents per bushel. The cost of railroading is about the same in both countries. If any difference exists in the cost of operating the railroads, the lower cost is said by the United States, where climatic conditions are more favorable. If the Canadian railways are losing money, then money goes to the producers. If there is no loss to the roads from this low rate in Canada, then surely the railroads in the United States are getting from the rate they are getting.

"It has been claimed that the railroads in Canada have been losing money. That may be very true. It has not been charged that this loss can be attributed to the low rate charged for hauling wheat. If the loss was suffered by the Canadian railroads it could be turned into profit, would it be necessary to increase the rate there to the same rate charged in the United States? The loss suffered in Canada could be incurred from the low rates on other commodities. The loss on such commodity would be a compensatory rate. No commodity should be carried with a rate so low that it is carried at a loss, and both Canada have the rate by another commodity limited high enough to cover that loss.

"Anyway, the freight rates on wheat here in the United States seem to need revision."—The Press, Minot, N. D.

Weekly News Bulletin

Work of Provincial Labor Bureau

During the past year the various branches of the Provincial Labor Bureau throughout the province placed a total of 32,241 men in positions, chiefly on farms, and also placed 7,760 women. The most pre placement was in the south. The number of placements was considerably lower than the previous year, owing to the fact that a large number of extra harvest hands were placed in the field during the heavy crop of 1923.

Good Attendance at Dairy Course

More than a score of creamery workers from various parts of the province are attending the special course at the University which opened on Monday and will continue until Saturday, January 24th.

Conference on Railways and Coast Rates

Premier Greenfield, Hon. V. W. Smith, Minister of Railways, and John Callaghan, Deputy Minister of Railways are in attendance at the conference of railway heads and Dominion Government officials being held in Ottawa to decide upon some policy for extension of northern Alberta railways. The Premier and Hon. Mr. Smith also attended the conference held in Winnipeg between officials of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company and the C.P.R. to decide upon special rates on sugar beets which will permit the sugar company to establish a sugar plant at Raymond, Alberta.

Record Pig Sold

One of the largest boars of pure-bred registered Berkshire stock ever imported into Alberta was unloaded at Raymond on December 23rd. The Clark tonnage Limit amount to the ranch of Ray Knecht at Raymond.

Price Grain for Seed Fair

It is expected that practically all of the grain exhibitors shown from Alberta at the recent International Show at Chicago will be exhibitors at the Annual Provincial Seed Fair which takes place in the Lamoureux Building, Calgary, January 29 to 31. The annual convention of the Alberta Seed Growers will be held at the same time, when important topics will be discussed by prominent agriculturists of the province.

The railways have arranged for special rates for delegates attending the annual Seed Convention on the usual basis of a fare and a half on the C.P.R. Convention taking place at the Chicago, in 10% units per hundred weight; from Cheyenne, Wyoming, 59½ units; from Denver, Colorado, 69½ units; from Grand Island, Nebraska, 57 units; from Mitchell, South Dakota, 57½ units.

Public Invests Savings with Government

The second largest year in the history of the province savings accumulations system was recorded in 1924, when the people of the province invested in any one year, but owing to the fact that the Provincial government to the extent of $6,348,- 238.25. The largest amount ever invested in any one year, but owing to the fact that the withdrawals were withdrawn by the government during the year the net total was $4,- 098,000, an amount which by any comparison is a very large one. The withdrawals were conducted as 8984. of 5,46 left in which is 1,141 more than since the year 1920. The total withdrawals since the year 1920 were 1,- 141 in number, and the withdrawals of the five per cent. investments amounted to $5,113,- 276.00. The number of total investments quoted above that this form of savings investment is growing ever more popular.

FRENCH SOLDIERS SEARCHED

A communist proclamation posted inside the garrison walls at Lille, Pignon, on December 29 caused the military authorities to search the personal effects of all the soldiers. Persons in whose clothes huge Communist tracts were found were held for disciplinary action.

A Big Job in Housekeeping for Globe Circumnavigators.

Big dealing with huge figures one would think that at least the chefs on this giant Canadian Pacific steamship would be in some way awed by what is before them. Th kh. Makanis Housewife, of having to prepare 163,000 pounds of vegetables, of having to roast 17,000 pounds of beef 17,000 pounds of veal 17,000 pounds of lamb 17,000 pounds of other fresh meats and 3,500 pounds of assorted. Would it not be rather easy for the first cut of a four month cruise? Yet this is the task of the executive department of the existing Empress of France, the new Canadian Pacific luxurious ship had to provide 12,000 pounds of potatoes, 7,000 of sugar, 6,000 of distillers, 2,000 of cutlers, 2,000 of turkeys 2,000 of guinea

Rich and Gendall had a real "Hoo Day" on Wednesday when fully 300 bags were delivered to them at the stockyards, something we have not seen here for some years. They were in all sizes, shapes and colors—Reds, Blacks, White and Tartan—but all seemed in good condition.

"Le Cercle Tyros" Club, of Little Knife district, had another happy night at the home of Jim Critchley and though a "Bash", Jim rose to the occasion and made a capital host. The lucky card experts were Mrs. Gallion and Frank Gaetch; with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Potter holding down the cellar position. "Le Club" is becoming increasingly popular and a real boon to the district.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Allen had a party of the neighbors at their place last Friday night. Cards and music passed the time pleasantly and a nice supper rounded the evening off nicely.

The first meeting of Gadsby's new council was held last Wednesday night and amongst other business transacted was Councillor Drinnan being presented to the mayor's chair, Mayor Rushton having resigned.

Our Junior hockeyists have more enterprise than their seniors and on Saturday last they drove to Halkirk and engaged the boys there in a stiff contest—winning out finally by a score of 4-3. The goal scorers were: For Gadsby—Allen Booth, 2; McDonald, 1; Matty Bankton, 1; for Halkirk, Francis Lahrer, 2. The Halkirk boys appear in Gadsby on the 17th and are determined to reverse that result. Let us many as can go to the rink and encourage the Kids.

The Women's Institute are planning a Sale of Work featuring the contributions of the humble fowl and consequently a banquet. On that occasion the diner will take place for a beautiful quilt which the members finished on Saturday at a quilting bee held in the Rest Room. After their work was over a little lunch was very much enjoyed.

There was interesting hockey on Sunday afternoon when the Marvel vs. Empire game was staged. The young fellers didn't have much on the old sire as the score 5-3 shows. Games have been arranged for the 18th (Sunday first) when we look for fast hockey as both teams will meet in battle array: A Team—R. Long, W. Erickson, H. Davies, R. Stewart, C. Stillings, R. Pasher, J. M. Drinnan, H. A. Hart; B Team—D. Petersen, S. McTaggart, F. Erickson, Dr. Drayton, T. Harrison, J. Charnick, J. Rich, T. Gaetch. Face-off 1:30 p.m.

My Dear Mr. D. Drinnan.

You will kindly grant me the favor I am about to ask of you. It is this I was born in Gempy and I dont know my age and as all of my people were of Catholic faith I was baptize in that Church. Would they have the records that far back.

I would be so grateful to you if you would be so kind as to send me the parish priests add. and his name so I can writ and ask wether I am able to sptain my correct age. Or would it be possible that I would be able to sptain it thrown you by giving you my name.

My father's name was Hosea Tremblys. My mother's was Buddy. I mean my grand father. My mother's father. He lived there. And I had a brother and a sister that stayed there. They were married. My sister married a man by the name of Pat Murphy. My sister's name was Betsy. And my brother's was Philey. They both had large families.

My name was Mary Susan Tremblay. I was the youngest of the family. I was eith of me. I would like to know the age of four of you that I know are living Tow brothers Francois and Ambrose. And a sister Jennie. Elen. I also had a sister that died in York down in the new south school during the year and then married a Mr. MacFady. She died giving birth to her first child her name was Zelia. My mothers's name was Betsy.

I would be so grailfull for this information.

I had also an Uncle Johnny. My

GADSBY NEWS

Gadsby, Jan. 12.—Mr James Todd and his "Permanent Players" have decided to get busy on another play, now that the holidays are safely tucked away. I believe they meet this week to discuss a number of suggested dramas and as they are all a bit in advance of what they were last year, we are likely to have a treat in the near future. With the talent at his command, Mr. Todd is justified in aiming a little higher. Besides giving the people a splendid entertainment for their money the surplus is handed over to deserving organizations in the district, and I am given to understand that Omega Ladies' Home Circle are slated for a portion this year, and also our Women's Institute. Good work!

As we forecast in a previous issue, Mr. Arthur Potter and Miss Edith Berry were married on the 7th inst. and left for Edmonton and other points for a short honeymoon. They will take up housekeeping immediately on the Atkinson place, south of town which Art has rented, but will move in the spring to his own farm north of town. We congratulate the young couple and wish them much happiness.

Our lady readers, especially those older residents of the district, will be much interested in the announcement of the advent of a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilchrist in Stettler—Mrs. Gilchrist being formerly Miss Edith Hoover—one of our most popular young ladies, a real Gadsby product, born and bred. Mr. Gilchrist is a Scot—not too canny—and a trusted member of the E.C.D. staff at Stettler.

THE BUSY MAN

By Edgar A. Guest

The busy man must rush along
He has no time to stay,
He has no time to hear the things his neighbors have to say.
He can't afford to waste an hour on gratuitous affairs
He minutes are all precious things and five of them he spares.
He's building up a business, and on that he's an intent
No matter can get to him unless on business bent.

I often see the busy man go rushing through the street,
I take his hungry little nod and chuckle as we meet.
I never stop him on his way He is so sternly set
Tells me there is a dollar near he's hurrying to get.
I know he hasn't any time to take one step aside
Or that poor dollar with he seeks to him might be denied.

I'd love to tell that busy man so much on business bent
That he could be a kindly man and never lose a cent
I'd like to stop him just for once and whisper to him this:
"The time you spend in thoughtfulness is time you'll never miss.
It is not in who you pass, dispute it though you may,
You build your fortune on this earth by when you give away.

"You think you're busy? And you are, but when the game is played

You'll wish some more along the way to help a friend you'd stayed,
You'll wish you'd spent a little time to smooth another's way,
Had stopped to give a helping hand; a cheering word to say;
For you will learn when It's too late that men as rich as you Found time to win the world's respect and build a business, too."

Botha News

Botha, Jan. 12.—The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Hall on Thursday afternoon last and a good attendance was recorded. Mrs. J. F. Bellhouse presided over a paper and Mrs. Roy Bull and Mrs. Chas. Kemp gave a duet, which added to the interest of the session. Arrangements are under way for a millinery demonstration in March with a basket sewing competition at a later date. The next meeting will take the form of a tea at which all are most cordial, concluding with dance and refreshments. The date for the next meeting is August next but the secretary of the Institute in 1925

The W.M.S. of the Community Church will hold the monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. J. A. McKay on Friday afternoon, January 16th at 2.30 p.m. This is the rally meeting of the year and the Red Feed offering will be taken.

The Literary Society of the High School turned their meeting on Friday last over to the Young People's Choir and all listened with interest to a concert of the Boys' Parliament recently held in Edmonton. The report was given by Robert Friend, Jack Sproule from the Botha Live Wire Young Squad.

The land found the weather too cold to journey to the rink in Stettler on Friday night and the game was postponed, together with the returns of the rink.

The new train service for Botha is as follows: Westbound at 2.35 a.m. and Eastbound at 6.05 p.m. This will make a much more convenient for people going into Stettler.

The annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Botha Consolidated School District will be held on Saturday afternoon at the school. The election of a trustee and the annual report will be the business transacted.

Rev. Mr. Stevens in the Community Church on Sunday last were well attended and the interest manifested in the service is encouraging to see the attendance kept up despite the weather. It is hoped that this will be appreciated by the people from the country will be able to attend more regularly. The service at Scotch in the afternoon was the last this winter and with a fair attendance the weather man, the service throughout the remainder of the winter should be good.

Mrs. A. Finlay who has been ill for some time moved above much improved. Mrs. Mrs. Lisle, who was attending her, has been laid up but is up and about again.

Mrs. L. A. Cunningham has been on the sick list for a short time but is improving.

Cut Those Coal Bills By Insulating Homes

This winter the people of America will waste not less than $300,000,000 trying to heat their homes, this amount representing the approximate value of about 8,000,000 tons of coal that capacity may will be shoveled unnecessarily into American furnaces and stoves.

Recent scientific investigations, which uncovered the waste, place the blame on the wholly unscientific methods employed in construction of our dwelling houses, writes Newton Burke in the January number of Popular Science Monthly. The average dwelling, the investigators assert, is so built that only between 40 and 50 per cent of the heat of the coal consumed in the furnace is utilized to make the house comfortable for its occupants. The rest is lost up the walls and roof—particularly the latter—and this unscientific construction involves billions of tons of coal annually, practically every type of house from the modest bungalow to the big apartment house is responsible, and if one applying a layer of similar materials towards the roof. Some most basic changes in the methods of building must follow, they can be performed cheaply.

How Soon Will Our Farm Work Be Done By Use Of Radio?

Illustrated Wizards Prattle Great Things

By EARLE C. REEVES

Who Interviewed the Expert to Learn Some of the Secrets

Now he is returned in plenty of cash, I was a bad, as usually I rebelled, as follows:

"The back of farm I want a rest," I said, "as one on which I can reach out of bed in the morning and push the button to stop the pigs, puke another one to bar the eaters, press a third to clean out the barn, and so on all my hour."

"Yes," said the farmer, "and then you'd want to have somebody to push the buttons. You're fired."

I have a firm conviction that one of the reasons the farmer get angry enough to fire me was that normally he wanted to run that kind of a farm to, and all those years I have believed that I merely took out but a few million dirt farmers have been thinking.

Am I right? Would you like to do a little "push-button" farming for a change? Isn't it about time, considering the number of things a push button will do in a hurry. Isn't some of the farm's thousand-and-one jobs for more automatic?

Now we looked yourselves those very questions. I know it. All right, get that picture

A Probability

In the center of a gently rolling Western plain, a six-i-hundredfoot square has a small room at the top, and a cupola on it.

At a small to-one in the room sits Mr. Hertz. He has before him a key, the chief to his feature, which is a keyboard of push buttons. On his head is a pair of powerful field glasses. He is looking through the glasses at an invention now a million miles away, which has manipulators like push buttons, or merely walks in motion, and they nothing at all.

Suddenly, about an hour after noon, Mr. Hertz has a great idea. The farmer is in the middle of a field of wheat, grain. Across this field grain is a horizontally steam engine from the

Round the Country

The editor of the U.F.A. says that Sifton's ultimatum to the Liberal party was more than Sifton's due—a bargaining number and he after was bargain number and he says that Canada should not be governed in power and nor by a single one-man-one-vote party. Sounds like Bolshevism.

Then speaking more in terms to matters of this kind, but we wish to point out the fundamental difference between the two cases. Egypt has been for years a possession of Britain—while Sifton had no such connection with America. In other words Egypt was a part of a branch family of the parent organization, and we believe if one of Alberta's family threw a member of the central committee out of their meeting, they would have a very definite and definite objection from the head office.

The editor of wheat in Canada today is no more certain what it was a year ago. That is a fact that will bear all kinds of interpretations from people of interest. Some will say that once they have no interest, it is talking small to worry. Others will say that it is well and just that more to buy and sell. Still others in a short time will be in a panic about something. To us, however, it seems that there is indeed danger of wheat becoming cheaper than it is now and there is also danger that the wheat may sell cheaper. Of course, we could be wrong.

This is the time months research we have heard from a prohibitionist for a long time. Let us report it—Rather Premier Edmonton—a matter of the heart and head, instead of some on the outside here.

S. J. Garland, M.P.P., member for Bow River constituency, and a number of our readers, addressed a newspaper of his own constituency, the Bow River Times, and the following extract from that paper will be read with interest by many of our readers:

"Mr. Garland is far too modest to tell us how much he has done for the province during the past year, but we know that he is a hard worker and a keen student of public affairs. HOGS

Calgary prices stiffening and sales on Wednesday up to $9.50 @ $9.60 for thick smooths; heavy $1 per cwt. premium.

Edmonton prices somewhat irregular and sales most of the week at $9.25 @ $9.50, thick smooths, off sort, heavy $9 per cwt. premium.

SHEEP

Good quality lambs in demand at Calgary and will make up to $14, others down to $12, choice yearlings at $11 and down to $9.50, wether $9 @ $9, according to condition.

Receipts at Edmonton light, but trade still well; with lambs worth $13.50 @ $13.85, wethers $11 @ $12 and fat ewes $6 @ $8.

GRAIN

All markets very strong and many predictions are made of the $2 mark being established and a fellow knows. Wonderful buying power being shown by the European nations, who were thought some time ago to be up to their limit, when prices were lower. Nobody knows where the market will collide.

CHEESE—BUTTER—CHEESE

Butter—Alberta prices unchanged. Saskatchewan showing upgrade between northern and southern creameries and northern prices may be reduced. In Manitoba some of the creameries are to under the Alberta price; outlook uncertain. Creamery Butter—Market somewhat dull and Alberta fortunate in being able to sell to Vancouver at 34 @ 35c, basis specials, for our long prints and cartons unchanged. Eastern market weak and quite a lot of better reported in Winnipeg looking for a buyer. Dairy Butter—Most of the make absorbed at country towns. Cheese—Market steady.

POULTRY—EGGS

Eggs—Not many Albertan moving and not likely to be until weather clearens for the better. Poultry—All prices are sound; the chicken price wears the best a lot of them are stagey, and real quality chickens might bring more.

POTATOES

All Western markets strong and general prices asked by the growers is $25 for A grade, delivered at central points. Some will not sell for this.

HAY

Not anything extra in movement yet, but take leaves getting a little stronger as cold weather continues and season advances.

FURS

Market unchanged from last quotations, though some fluctuations are reported during interval; first of the Eastern auctions looked on to stabilize prices.

HIDES

Dealers not optimistic; tanners showing indifference and most of the hides coming in are frozen and have to take the cut.

Western Canada Enters New Era Of Prosperity

Western Canada is entering upon a new era of prosperity. A change for the better for individuals in all walks of life is now on every hand. The prospective improvement will be reflected in the private and business affairs of Western Canada, and in the attitude of Western financiers and investors with regard to Western business. Others, who had more hard-earned in showing optimism than the changing conditions, are also looking on the improved situation with a more cheerful view. The prosperity of the country as a whole depends to a great extent upon how much each every individual—each and every one of us—and in advancing the more prosperous future that is forecast.

One reason cited by the Eastern business men and bankers for advancing the statement that the general business situation in the West is improving, is that old outstanding obligations are being liquidated. In recent years business in the West has been practically stopped by the failure of merchants, both rural and commercial, to have been compelled to carry a great many of their customers on extended credit. This has meant the tie up of a vast amount of capital in book debts, and has been detrimental to the further development of the country. This condition was not the making of any person or group of persons, but was the result of general conditions over which men of business had no control.

During the last two years farmers have adopted a cash basis of business. Last year the West was blessed with a bumper crop; this year has crop was not so large, but the price was better and the cost of production was lower because the farmers got the return has been sufficient to enable the ultimate consumer to liquidate some of his long standing obligations as well as keep pace with his immediate requirements.

The liquidation of these old debts has had a resulting effect and in fact works around once a month. The farmer who has crop and is able to settle a debt that has been outstanding for several years has now to come here and pay over some cash. The proceeds of this are later made to the local storekeeper, and money runs on her round. A portion of that money stays in the community in which the debt was contracted and later paid. The more active the circulation of money, the greater the prosperity of the community. In this manner, who in Vancouver has a crop an eye upon what business, assisting individuals in the supply of other industries to purchase more of the produce of the farm. So when the farmer gets his money for his grain and pays off his local merchant, he is starting an endless chain in motion that reaches around the whole country. So it is quite apparent that the prosperity that is in store for the Western Canada can only be as an accumulated fact through the realization that for all to share in this prosperity each and every one must do his share to produce it.

Ziegfeld Bans Bobbed Hair

New York.—Florenz Ziegfeld, producer of the "Follies" and inventor of beauty contests on human pulchritude, has declared war on bobbed hair. A new banned ballot, following in the footsteps of a number of applicants for chorus places. "Pass" Ziegfeld last night mailed a bulletin to the chorus girls stating: "I find the bobbed hair unbecoming." Bobbed hair is unfeminine. Bobbed hair has pre-occupied American woman head. It has made them all alike. It has put them in a pod. It has destroyed that mystic and precious charm which the woman of charm must accentuate. Bobbed hair is also a symptom of that slump-like uniformity which distinguishes women today.

I have permitted bobbed hair girls to appear in my revue only because I was making a new departure, a particular feature was to be my girls and practical Courses in beauty culture. But I have always insisted upon truly feminine women with luxurious, natural hair—because they personify the finest in American womanhood. Bobbed hair is destructive of the essential charm of the individual woman with its individuality.

Bobbed hair may be all right, according to Mr. Ziegfeld, on the day of the bobbing, but after that it is bad. But in the evening, at social gatherings, the undesirable results of fashion's mania on a charm are manifest. Women will be seen at the rate of four a month—twenty lessons in all—bottled hair.

The Cream of the News

A HARD NUT TO CRACK

Robert E. Speer, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, says that New York city is the city of Greek common field in the world. With a half-million Russians, as many more Italians, and almost as many Germans, with thousands of thousands of Irish and Jews from every country, there is more than a million Greeks. It is necessary to understand the Greek if Protestant missionaries are to evangelize American metropolis as the apostle Paul did in the world in which he swung on Christian work.

SHIPBUILDING IN BRITAIN

Shipbuilding in Great Britain and Ireland has fallen off, according to a statement just issued by Lloyd's Register of shipping, based on figures for the quarter ended December 31 last. Three months ago Great Britain and Ireland were constructing 345,000 tons more of merchant shipping than all the other maritime nations of the world combined. The report for the quarter just ended shows that they are now 125,000 tons behind the other countries. Other figures show that the United States has also fallen behind in the construction of ships. Other nations of the world show an increase of 205,000 tons, while the United States has fallen off by 6,000 tons.

RADIUM'S CHIEF LESSON—100 YEARS OLD

Using radium as a measure, Professor Alfred C. Lane, professor of geology at Tufts College, has estimated that the approximate age of the earth's crust is 1,000,000,000 years. The experiments he is conducting are based on the disintegration of radium into lead. The chemical decomposition is translated by mathematics into terms of years.

WILL "SAIL THE OCEAN BLUE"

Sailing over the seas in the vain of Drake and in a schooner hardly larger than that commanded by that sea rover, is the boat to be attempted by a group of adventurous twentieth century Englishmen. As expedition of fourteen men, under the command of Captain Norman Wilkins, of the Royal Naval Reserve, sailed in the three-masted ketch Marmion, on New Year's Day, from Appledore, the Devonshire port where Drake weighed anchor many years ago. Captain Wilkin will follow precisely the route of his illustrious countryman around the dangerous Straits of Magellan and up the Pacific coast. He and his comrades mean to prove that adventure is not entirely confined to the past and the stage. Hundreds of applications were received by Captain Wilkins for places on the Marmion, and he voted several days to choosing the best fourteen from among the many desiring to go. With a few exceptions the crew are making the trip entirely for adventure.

GADSBY NEWS

Gadsby, Jan. 26.—The death of James Myers of Lea district removes a real old-timer, who was well in the very highest respect by all who came in contact with him. The head of a large family, who are mostly grown up, Mr. Myers was one of the pioneers of Gadsby district, having settled there in the early days. Although he had been in poor health for some years, his death came as a shock to his many friends, as it was not generally known that he was seriously ill. The funeral, which was largely attended, was held on Sunday afternoon, interment taking place in the Gadsby cemetery. The deceased leaves a widow, seven sons and two daughters to mourn their loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Kruger had a party of their neighbors and friends on Friday night and I hear it was a real jolly evening for all. Those folks, too, that former have a sort of round of these gatherings, and it makes the otherwise dull winter evenings pass very pleasantly.

It was a real pleasure to her many friends to see Mrs. Al. Sharpe looking so well as she stepped off the train on Saturday. Mrs. Sharpe is visiting her son Dewey and his wife and will be around for some time. Her many friends will all be glad to renew old friendships and give her a good time while in their midst.

Our junior hockeyists had a visit from their old rivals at Halkirk and repeated the result of the game at Halkirk—winning by 4-2. It was a real good game and the crowd seemed to enjoy it tremendously. The finish was accompanied at the opening for Gadsby, Allan having three goals and Elmer one.

Gadsby Co-operative Mercantile Association had a shareholders' meeting today (Monday) at which the main business was to decide what course should be taken to collect the large outstanding accounts. After various suggestions had been received an assessment form sheeted out in front of directors to advertise for tenders on a quantity of hay to take over the bank, and take the necessary proceedings, the directors being empowered to accept a satisfactory bid. The main subscribers of the quickest way to effect a final winding up of the affairs of the Association.

The news of Mr C. L. White's death came as a real shock to his many friends in town and district generally. One of the best known men in our district, he was one who made friendships and held them. Always ready to help a friend in need, he was a man who will be sadly missed by all who knew him. It was his wish that his remains be taken to Ontario for interment, and Mrs. White left on Wednesday of last week for Toronto, accompanied by her son Ernest, who had been visiting here for a few days. The deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved family in their sad loss.

Mrs. Wm. Hyde is visiting friends in Edmonton.

Mr. Ted Robinson and Miss Peter and Pieton Rogers, while the Boston were Mrs. Ted Robinson and Sam Porter. We envy the latter families their enjoyable outings.

Ibanez's Denunciation Of King Of Spain

Ibanez's denunciation attacks upon King Alfonso have brought him into the international limelight and it has been unkindly suggested that he is press-agenting for his next novel. But the newspapers probably dare Ibanez an injustice, though he is not blind to the fact that his present course may add to the popularity, especially among English-speaking readers, of his next book. One should bear in mind that the novelist has prosperity in Spain which is ideally enough to be unconcerned, and that after all Spain is his own country, and that to become a refugee from his home means but be a blow to him. Suggestions that he is working for the sale of his books also overlook the fact that Ibanez has long been a republican. He has been urging democratic ideas on his own countrymen for thirty-five years. In fact, his first notoriety at home was the result of his political and not his literary activities. We are prone to forget that before Ibanez wrote "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" he had a long record as home. When he was only twenty-eight years old he had to flee from Cuba because his criticism of the Spanish administration there was not welcomed.

To the outside world Ibanez is one of the best-known of living Spaniards. This fact and the fact that his charges against King Alfonso are specific and of the utmost seriousness make his attack upon the King of unusual importance. He is not as much accompanying the institution of monarchy as his particular regime of Alfonso, and this also makes him different from the ordinary Socialist. He accuses the King of personal misdeeds, of criminal offenses that lead him to honor as an Italian says, "Alfonso XIII knows." he says that the king organized Primo's military regime of repression and that he did it deliberately. But it is certain to his mind, to cast Spain into a state of fresh information which would pave the way to Berlin. Alfonso is said to be bought on authority on account, Ibanez said, although the Ibanez's accusations have been made in Madrid, and carried on extensively by the press support with the Cortes military attaches.

The Ibanez book learned that the German military attaches at Madrid was sent to the commission to the Great War Office a great deal of information that apparently had come from the French military attaches, and that might easily be valuable to the Germans. As inquiry caused the fact that the French attaches and disagreements relations with Alfonso, and, naturally, took from a year ago any information he could pick up with reasonable accuracy concerning certain future plans, and note enough that the information would be promptly to Berlin. This was the end of the old diplomatic game, but it was interesting to know that Ibanez has not invented out of hand his charges. Nothing is to be said by Ibanez about the King's personal character. He is reported as not lacking upon both counts. He could not have had a less distinguished adversary with the Spanish monarch. Many of Primo Spain has been massacred 1,000,000 men were injured 10,000 kills. Yet the Spaniards are loyal to him as a result of the dictatorship.

Of twenty thousand Spaniards in blanching under the Alfonso-Primo dictatorship, the Ibanez book is the number perished in the Moorish Annual, where Gen. Primo was defeated. The Ibanez book is the most prominent, especially for the Spanish Socialists, who are now in the ascendancy. Ibanez is a Republican, but he is a Socialist in whom he has some confidence. Ibanez is a Socialist, but he is a Republican. He

Let us look at this population question for a moment. When a new settler moves to a farm in Alberta he does not compete with anyone save the grass and the livestock he raises does not take the bread away from a neighbor. The products of his farm are sent on the open market and there do not lower the price of his neighbor's acre one. On the contrary they may raise the price, owing to better opportunities for co-operation by shipping in car lots. In fact his residence in the district is a distinct gain all around. He shares in paying the taxes, he takes part in the social life of the district, he becomes a school trustee or a municipal councillor, he boosts—up more land, his wife becomes a member of the U.F.W.A. or the W. M. S. societies, his children become the economic backbone of the future. Perhaps by and by he changes the growing generation every quarter century, or more, but he may prove to be like the late Mr. Macdonald, of whom it may have some significance to give to his district. The two type of co-operation prevail while in others there are combinations to operate.

Once every land there is little sense in encouraging immigrants before we have put enough on the farm at the present time. More population is not much of value unless it has the capacity in land to feed it. Prosperity in rural districts will become prosperity and less population per acre. Most people adequately fed and clothed tolerate civilization. Add population means adequate protection and adequate production and distribution of wealth. But that is when the farm of a poor with all the families that accrue from ordinary husbandry.

Abraham in the city sense this year said, remember that only the look of a man was perceived then; now after marketing a good crop of wheat at $1.10 or more per bushel. Wheat produced on a bushel of seeds, with the results may turn one way or another. But supposing this fall or next Jack or rain had come in June, would Mr. Garland or Mr. Gardiner have introduced a resolution at the annual convention whose import was to eliminate sunlight?

Well, one rainfall won't make a country or of the lack of it. In this country it only for instance. The rain that fell on and later year in June time in August and the countries that followed it, made the crop of 1924 a record one. In 1923 when we had a crop of 187,000,000 bushels of wheat and 114,000,000 bushels of oats. It is anything wrong with a season that can produce a crop every of that size? Or if some people will claim that 1923 was an exceptional year, a decade not be used for purposes of comparison, as there anything wrong with a country that in seven out of ten years produces from 70 million to 125 millions of wheat, and occasionally six years? Would one of those years lower current of land development—

HOGS

[illegible]

GRAIN

[illegible] March, though it has not been established yet. Prices show a little movement up and down, but not as much as might be expected at the present high levels.

BUTTER—BUTTERFAT
CHEESE

Butterfat — Alberta prices unchanged at basis of 30c, specials; Manitoba and Saskatchewan on basis of 29c, specials, at centralizers. Re-colgate light. Creamery Butter—Prices unchanged, but this is more due to local demand and fairly large supply. Dairy Butter—Not much coming on central markets; fancy table quoted at 29 @ 30c; dealers quoting No. 1, 29 @ 29c; other grades down to 12 @ 13c. Cheese—Market firm and surplus in West showing up well.

POULTRY—EGGS

Eggs—British Columbia supplying most of Alberta good eggs. Poultry—Supply light and demand not very pressing any increase in prices.

POTATOES

All markets firm and $35 appears to be the general price at most Alberta points and Lethbridge quotes $40. Americans could prices going very high, owing to bad loading conditions there, but not likely to maintain recent advances.

HAY

Business active in southern part of province and Lethbridge quotes prices are getting $12 @ $16 for alfalfa; and timothy $15 @ $18. Calgary prices unchanged, but demand heavy. Edmonton reports prices advancing and importations of alfalfa likely.

[illegible]

Prices are not any better, but the dealers are now looking for a better demand from towns, and think spring should show improvement. Business is light yet.

FURS

Coyotes are now in prime condition and pelts in the northern and central districts are worth on black on $11.00, and inferior quality down to $7. Muskrats are not as firm and though no declines reported, declines are not likely. Raccoons will show demand and not prime.

Big Slice Of Africa Is Bought By One Man; His Object Is A Mystery

The greatest single farm that the world has ever known, I am told, will be that which Tom Hart is to establish in what used to be German South Africa. The other day at the auction sale of the confiscated property in London he bought a vast tract known to outsiders as more than 100,000 acres, but never definitely any exactly surveyed. This freshly cut property is apparently [illegible] and Hart is understood to be [illegible]

[illegible]

Mr. Hart has lived in London fifty years, and, having been born in Kansas, may be called an absolutely hopeless Englishman. He has had no agricultural experience. "I never even had a children's farm," he said, laughingly, when asked if he intended to cultivate his immense tract.

A good deal of speculation exists as to what he intends to do with his vast purchase, but one thing seems to be agreed upon by all—it is regarded as most unlikely that he over will sell a single inch of it to any German. He is hostile to the bare thought of such a thing. But nobody quite believes him when he declares that he is wholly without plans as yet and that he will think if they took the notion to be ready to sell at their absolute face value.

An artisan family who invested $700,000 in a little land plot of 1,000 acres has had to make that money out of one of the abandoned businesses of all. But a man is not so very likely to spend what must be a considerable portion of his total fortune on a mere whim.

All sorts of speculations are afoot, but probably none of them is justified at last. One is that Mr. Hart is going to use the territory as an example of an experiment in land settlement among new lines, but this is considered improbable by those who know him well. They say that he never has shown any very marked interest in political theories and always has regarded the conventional farm as a permanent, strong and fine, or good enough for him.

It is regarded as much more probable that Mr. Hart bought because of the decision to throw the sale open to people of all nationalities. It is believed that he feared a certain danger that if the property should be repurchased by Germans, and even that he may have known of some such plan. That it was presumably interested in German West Africa land certainly was unknown to any of his associates.

Another thought is that perhaps he may be the head of a secret English syndicate or even a group of syndicates. The property is already very largely developed as cattle, cocoa, rubber, cocoanut, tobacco, bananas and oil plantations and three German enterprises have ever largely controlled the profits of English planters alongside of them in other parts of what once was known as the Dark Continent, but as no one knows to be known.

It is noteworthy that Mr. Hart was not an early bidder at the sale, but made his first offer immediately after an excited Englishman had made a violent protest against the possibility of the land's return to German ownership. This caused something of a sensation, for the [illegible] was well known and was very much in earnest.

He could now be [illegible] the nature of a king if he [illegible] and part of London, [illegible] and [illegible] never definitely and exactly surveyed.

Scientific Research And Bovine Tuberculosis

Eventually it will probably be possible to exterminate a cow against infection by tuberculosis, thereby making her immune to the disease.

Scientists are now engaged in research work in the famous Pasteur Institute of France with this object in view. It is thought that great progress has already been made by Prof. Calmette, whose chief contribution to the fight is a serum which he hopes will be effective in increasing the animal's resistance in all periods of a year to eighteen months.

The serum is now being used in extensive tests in Alberta and in other countries, and, if found as effective as its enthusiastic hopes, it will be the greatest boon to dairymen the world ever has had to combat.

At the present time, the only known method of controlling tuberculosis in cattle is by testing for reactors and slaughtering them when found, regardless of whether they are newly infected or so far gone as to be fatally ill.

The mild reactor of today, if allowed to live, to the animal which successfully infects the remainder of the herd.

The argument that the disease may be eliminated owing to the good health and vigor of the infected animal is dangerous to the welfare of the farmer.

Hence or later a tubercular animal, kept under average farm conditions, becomes a prey to its disease and a source of infection to the other members of the herd. The reactor which does not eventually become a source of contamination is the exception to the rule.

The animal which reacts mildly to the first test can contaminate an entire herd before subjected to another, regardless of the physical outward appearance which is often very deceptive as in the case of humans.

It is greatly to be desired that Prof. Calmette's serum will fulfill his hopes and there is good reason to believe that it will. But until ample experiments have been made to prove its efficacy, it would be folly to change our present policy.

The present method of tuberculin testing has been far from perfect in the matter of control, but it is the best method so far evolved. The exponents of our present testing industry is that if reduced tubercular animals from one in every seven tested in 1918 to one in each thirty three tested in 1924.

After that date, lately in holding with the principles of diseased animals [illegible]

Vaccine For Tuberculosis

Still another step in the campaign of the Provincial Department of Agriculture to bring us bear every possible factor on the fight to eradicate bovine infantile from cattle was taken this week, when Hon. Geo Hoadley called to England for a supply of the vaccine developed by Dr. Nathan Raw.

Notice of Dr Raw's discovery was brought to Mr Hoadley's attention in a letter from the office of the High Commissioner for Canada in London, England. Mr. Hoadley immediately asked for a supply of the vaccine.

The vaccine is the development of Dr. Nathan Raw, late member in the British House for Liverpool and former visiting physician to the Sorwall consumption sanatorium. In an article published in the letter from the High Commissioner's office and taken from an English newspaper it is stated that the vaccine has had a test of over three years and has been successful in 91 cases. One prominent veterinary found that on one breeder's farm where 50 per cent. of the calves had suffered from tuberculosis prior to the introduction of the vaccine, not one calf showed symptoms after its introduction.

The treatment with the vaccine is simple. Immediately after [illegible] calf is separated from its mother to avoid infection. When a week old it is vaccinated and two weeks later is again vaccinated, against tuberculosis.

Fixed Proportions

There are a number of fixed proportions used in all recipes, and the following are standard:

One-half an ounce liquid or flour for muffin and cake batters.

One-third an ounce liquid or flour for soft doughs, as for biscuit.

One-fourth an ounce liquid or flour for stiff doughs, as for bread.

One-third to one-half an ounce butter or sugar for all batter cakes.

One to one and a half teaspoonfuls of baking powder to a cupful of flour for batters or doughs.

One-third an ounce shortening as flour for pastry.

One teaspoonful of soda to one pint of sour milk.

What a Beginner In Beekeeping Should Read

(Experimental Farms' Note)

The winter months afford the beginner an excellent opportunity of increasing his knowledge of bees and bee management through reading. There are, at the present time, many good books and journals devoted entirely to beekeeping, but beginner is often at a loss to have which to choose. Mr. C. B. Gooderham, Dominion Apiarist recommends one of the following for general reading:—"The Honey Bee," by Langstroth and Dadant; "Beekeeping," by Dr Phillips, or "Productive Beekeeping," by Frank C. Pellett. In addition to one of these, every beekeeper should have a copy of the "A.B.C. and X.Y.Z. of Beekeeping," which is the best reference book obtainable as it deals with practically every phase of beekeeping and bees in addition, special articles for beginners. These books can be purchased from any dealer in bee supplies.

It is also advisable that the beginner subscribe to at least one good bee journal, any one of the following can be recommended:—"Gleanings in Bee Culture," Medina, Ohio, U.S.A., price $1.00; and for the French reader, "L'Abeille," Custor Postal 176, Quebec, P. Q., price $1.

The beginner is also advised to obtain the following Dominion Experimental Farms' bulletins and circulars:—

Bulletin No. 32—"Bees and How to Keep Them."

Bulletin No. 23—"Wintering Bees in Canada."

Circular No. 106—"The Diseases."

Circular No. 85—"Facts About Honey."

Circular No. 18—"Beekeeping in Canada."

These may be had free upon application to either Mr. Fairmaire-Brunch, Department of Agriculture, or the Bee Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

What Everybody Should Know

There is a lot to be known about a cow and her ways when one sets out to buy. It is just as easy to get stung in buying an unprofitable cow as it is to get a good one, and should have a long, this tail, a fairly long neck having no loose skin on the under side, the udder should be large and with an little flesh on it as possible, and the escutcheon it is from tend to hair, as seen from behind, the horns.

Another point that is somewhat of a wedge-shape as you view her from the front and side. She should be somewhat narrow through the shoulders, but thick as you look backward through the stomach; and from the side she shows great depth from the back down through the stomach, and comes on you look forward. A cow of this type has capacity for food, and thus will pass more such than another with such capacity not indicated. The beef sort is blocky and square-like—just the opposite of the best type of dairy cow. The beef cow or cow of beefy tendencies is co-part, whereas the dairy cow is thin, angular and loose-jointed. If one observes these facts he should make a fairly wise selection in choosing a cow for milk and butter production.

Refuse Permission to Bring Danish Hogs

To settle doubt which has existed for some time in the minds of the hog breeders of Alberta as to whether the standard of bacon hog set by the federal authorities was not too extreme, and to demonstrate to those breeders the type of hog from which is produced the grade of bacon demanded by that most discriminating bacon market in the world, the British public, Hon. Geo. Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture, furnished plans this week to bring from Denmark several specimens of the Danish hog, the product from which dominates the British market today. Since this announcement was made however, permission to bring these hogs from Europe has been refused by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, because of the general embargo on hogs from European countries.

Mr. Hoadley had previously arranged with Prof. Hornberg, Live-stock Commissioner of Denmark, and a brother of Dan Hamilton of Lacombe, Alberta, to make the selections of first-class specimens of the hog for this province. Permission to have them examined for conditions of health and to be subject to quarantine to prevent transmission of disease, however, when Mr. Hoadley sought the necessary permission for importation it was refused.

Consequently the plan has fallen through for the present, although Mr. Hoadley intends to persist in his efforts to get some of these hogs to Alberta.

Stettler Defeats Ponoka In Fast Game

Stettler hockey team played an excellent game against Ponoka on Thursday night and succeeded in defeating them by 7 to 1. Ponoka is at the head of the Big Five League, and they brought down their full team with three subs. so that no side can be given as that score. The fact was that they were outplayed and the local team got up after a different game than when they met Red Deer last week. The ice was not as hard as last week and this, no doubt, favored the local team, as they have always played on ice of that kind. They have now won three and lost two of the final games played with Red Deer.

The game started off at a fast clip, with Weeds, Harne and Vincharon on the forward line, followed by Neff, Murray and Duckworth; North and Scelle on the defense. This combination seemed to work well as at the end of the first period the score was Stettler 3, Ponoka 0. Frequent attempts of the forward line kept the game at top speed. This was followed by two more goals in the second period, making it 5 to 0 for the locals. In the third Ponoka made strenuous attempts to even up but they were able to score only one, while Stettler P Everhardy managed to fill long-added two more. Final Stettler 7, Ponoka 1.

For the locals Murray scored two goals, one of them on a nice piece of combination. Weeds also scored one. Duckworth and Neff each added to the total by one. Scelle, Harne and North each added one. Referee—Chas. Sanford.

TO THE ELECTORS OF STETTLER

At the earnest solicitation of many ratepayers, I have decided to run for the office of Mayor of Stettler. As I will be unable to personally see everyone, I take this opportunity of solicitating your vote favorably next.

There are many obvious reasons for my coming forward, as many in fact that space and inability to see the Town books will not permit me to thoroughly take them up here. I wish to point out one mistake (possibly we were all to blame for it): The stokers installed at an approximate cost of twelve thousand dollars have not, for some reason, given the results expected. We all realize that fact and must make the best of it.

One main reason for my candidature, and one that hits us all, is the rising debenture liability of the Town and which has meant, as you know, heavy taxation. While every province in Canada has curtailed expenditure even on necessities, our Town has continued to spend money lavishly.

Some of the departments have been managed economically, others very much the reverse. One of the solutions of our difficulties is the curtailment of all expenditure except for absolute necessities.

In conclusion I will say, if elected, that it will be the main endeavor at all times to devote my very best effort in the interests of the Town.

There are many petty, absurd rumors in circulation. Of them I take no notice. My record of four years at the head of the Council in the early days of Stettler, with only a small amount of money to finance the Town, will stand inspection.

(Signed) N. B. McGILLIVRAY.

TO THE RATEPAYERS

Having been requested to stand for re-election as Mayor of the Town of Stettler by numerous ratepayers, I have, after mature consideration, decided to accept the nomination. In my public announcement made two years ago, I promised that I would endeavor to administer the affairs of the Town in a sane, business-like manner, and I trust that you will agree that after a perusal of the Annual Town Statements for 1923 and 1924, I have fulfilled that promise.

It has been brought to my notice during the past few days that certain statements have, and are, being made to the effect that these Annual Statements do not represent the true financial standing of the Town. These Statements are prepared by a reputable firm of chartered accountants, at considerable expense, for the express purpose of placing the results of the financial affairs of the Town, at the Annual Ratepayers' Meeting held in Feb., before the ratepayers, and which purpose they have, I consider, fulfilled. If any single criticism of the Financial Statements as presented by the Auditors, Messrs. McClellan, Wood & Co., can be made, I am sure the Council of the Town would welcome the opportunity to have the Town had been conducted. I feel that this is the time for open criticism, when I would have been glad to take an opportunity to reply. An analysis of the Town's assets and liabilities of the Town have been reduced from $34,470.21 of 1922, to $4,361.82 in 1924. In 1922 the liquid assets amounted to $7,153.39 to apply against a floating liability of $34,184.27, whereas in 1924 the floating liability was $4,361.82 with liquid assets of $4,011.89 to off-set same, or an improvement of over $20,000.00. This does not take into consideration the taxes outstanding in either year, which would make a still better showing. All this improvement was made, notwithstanding the fact that the mill rate has been reduced. The space at my disposal will not permit my going further into these figures, but I am prepared to meet my opponent in public debate and discuss with him for the benefit of the ratepayers the affairs of our Town.

If elected on Monday next, the same policy of rigid economy will be continued to the end that the rate of taxation be reduced to the lowest possible figure, and no mistake be made by having large expenditure of your money, for control buildings or otherwise, is contemplated.

Respectfully yours,
W. H. SHARPE.

Municipal Elections

Nominations Day on Monday passed off quietly, with the result that two candidates were nominated for the office of Mayor and six for the Council, making an election necessary for these positions. For the School Board the former members were returned by acclamation.

Two girls are now on the verge of getting dolls—Frances Lalor and Hazel Tomlinson, both of Sunday-School. With the return of milder weather they should each get a doll in a few days.

Besides the above the following girls are very much in the running for dolls—Rena Hiller, Red Willow; Kathleen Fraston and Margaret Hughson, Dunsdale; Florence Lynn and Marjorie Wilson, Erskine; Miss Gibson, Peggy Parry and Annie Wedhoff, Bethel; Jessie Watson, Big Valley; Helen Procter, Bettler

The [illegible] prospect has only ten dolls left in stock. The first ten girls who supply them with a 2-lb pail of lard at once. If there are still over the ten, and there is likely to be a number, they will secure a doll but they will have to wait a few days until the [illegible] arrive from Toronto.

As soon as the ten girls and any additional ones who may be close to the end of their list get their dolls, the contest will close, and no more dolls will be given out.

It is very much to the benefit of the girls in the campaign to get in their lists as soon as possible. At present there are only ten dolls left, and this stock will soon be exhausted.

Round the Country

Those who have ever lived in Gibraltar will not wonder at the success of Presbyterian Chatsboo there which have voted against union. Most of the towns in that province have two large churches across the street from each other, one Methodist and the other Presbyterian. Both of those are prosperous enterprises with well-paid ministers, large pipe-organs, and choirs, and well-established church organizations. Why they should unite would be a mystery to anyone who knows the East because they are strong enough without union.

Chinook Union is really a Western question, and is in favor in this part of Canada. Here is a purely economic standpoint. No one is voting sweet because he wants to establish the world or from any similar altruistic standpoint. He is voting because he sees no less little churches struggling about trying to pay the minister's salary, and he wants them to vote for less than one. Church Union like any other business question is a matter of economics. The churches are really mission groups whom the ministers are trying to have operated under the guise of a ship.

George Washington Plunkitt, one of the old time Tammany bosses, died recently in New York. He was the originator of the term "honest graft" and the first boss to give graft a respectable substance in the following way: "Everybody is talking these days about Tammany men growing rich on graft, but nobody thinks of drawing the distinction between honest graft and dishonest graft. There's an honest graft, and I'm an example of how it works. I might sum up the whole thing by saying:—I seen my opportunities and I took them."

Honest graft and patronage are synonymous terms as politics. All parties indulge in patronage, even the provincial party in power at Edmonton, as any student of public affairs will note.

That parties at the present time will give a public job to the person who is most fitted for it, but if two or more candidates are equally fit, the job will go to the man supporting the party in power. In this case the successful candidate can say: "I seen my opportunities and I took them."

Plunkitt never made a secret of most of his operations. He was quite frank about them. He was not ashamed of his methods. He was proud of them. He was proud to be known as a politician. He was proud to be defeated. They are only men-ing parties that look coyly at "honest graft" but wither up in a short time."

Of course, this is straight material too, but aren't all "honest graft" jobs built up on a materialistic basis?

Dear Sir,

Would you allow me to complement the "Boome the country" Editorials in January Issue of the Independent, by the present meeting.

Be the facts what they Egypt would was a great speaking. She was and probably is drawing a certain contingent of her population to the orders "com Moses" use the third letter he says "Pe Samuel Smyth Agricultural" is a very patient patient to a new the basis Treaty Centre Secretary was also instructed to reply to the Providence Rose-in that the amount of James Rankine was not allowed by itself. However's letter to the English Communists in the recent election in England indicates clearly that treasure are "scraps of paper."

"The Price of Wheat in Canada Today" touches me more closely than last year. The year 1925, one farm yielded pretty nearly twice the 40 we had to be sold. A friend of mine in Red Willow was able to hold his wheat from 1924 to 1925 and base he is getting over today as much as he could had he sold in 1923. If there was sufficient space to store wheat, I could do it and finally sell at a figure agreeable to the farmer. However you go all things in their respective places, and as for wheat, no matter how many congress or the price factor of the case, if there was a Joseph who would not sell said wheat when a certain price in the times of plenty but said Joseph would store the commodity until a satisfactory figure to the farmer could be realized.

Education and not a kindgrass will put these converts to Temperance. I am living in a city of close to 150,000 and from what I have seen of the enforcement of the Vendrest Act, in [illegible] [illegible] also to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

This applies to all thin cattle.

HOGS

Calgary hog prices have to a firm and during the present week receipts light. Thick smooth heavy sows $10 to $10.10 and bacon 30 per pound. Edmonton market also advanced and off cars here $10, with some going hard boar at $10.25, bacon 30 per pound.

SHEEP

Receipts at Calgary light and prices firm with choice lambs up to $14.25. Mutton around $12 and fat . . . on good quality.

Edmonton not getting many sales and operations are nominally unchanged, choice lambs would make $14, choice wethers $12 and ewes up to $9.50; grading down according to quality.

GRAIN

After a long pull to reach the $2 point, wheat family and cold went it and since then has been going up in spectacular fashion. The average . . . only a guess, but there is a wide margin on the near-by . . . there is no room for speculation . . . advance, and this is was expected to . . . Canadians Make Pilgrimage to Holy City

Pope Pius XI.

His Eminence Cardinal Begin, who will lead the Canadian Pilgrimage to Rome, leaving Montreal and Quebec on May 1st next.

Canadian response to the Papal Bull proclaiming the Holy Year Universal Jubilee is speeding up. Preparations are now practically complete, sailing berths secured and Holy Year pilgrims are beginning to gather. Canadian Pacific officials report that applications for accommodation on the C.P.R. Mediterranean steamships chartered by the Home Tours Incorporated to carry Holy Year pilgrims to Bordeaux like a cannon, are steadily pouring in from all over Canada and the United States and that the Canadian contingent will be largely composed of many distinguished members of the professional, clerical and lay life of the Dominion. Cardinal Begin, Archbishop of Quebec, has gained hundreds of adherents to the Movement as have several more high dignitaries of the Church in Canada.

The opening date of Holy Year has already been set by the Papal Bull. From a statement by the Government and leading officials the World over by the Government and leading officials the World over by the Government and leading officials the World over

BOARD OF WORKS

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I beg to submit my report on the Board of Works for the year 1924. The appropriation for the Board of Works for the year was $4,070.00. Of this amount $3,971.00 was spent, leaving a credit balance of $100.00.

The estimate for the landscaping for the C.W.V.A. monument was $250.00. The amount spent was $202.00, leaving a credit balance of $11.00.

For street dragging and filling, $1,200.00 was estimated. This cost $1,110.50—an over-expenditure of $110.00.

On sidewalks, crossings, and repairs, $800.00 was estimated. This cost $907.00—over-expenditure of $107.00. This was caused by necessary work on old sidewalks rotting out.

New concrete crossings, $160.00 was estimated. This was not used.

Street sprinkling, $600.00 was allowed. $439.00 was spent, leaving $61.00 unexpended.

Trash and taxes, $250.00 was estimated. The cost was $275.00—an over-expenditure of $25.00.

Street light and maintenance, the estimate was $1,000.00. This cost $1,035.00, leaving $175.00 on the credit side.

The overseer's salary, $870.00 was estimated. This amount was spent. Geo. Saxby's salary estimate was $480.00. Of this amount $375.00 was spent, leaving a credit of $105.00.

On sundries $60.00 was estimated. $11.00 was spent, leaving a credit balance of $49.00.

All estimates were kept within their limits as much as possible.

Councillor Dennis.

ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I would have liked to have presented you with a much better statement of the Light and Power Dept. for the past year. As you all know the crops in this district were not of the best, and this reflected on the business in town, together with the long drawn out coal strike, which forced your Committee to buy just where they could procure supplies—regardless of cost—as the principle reasons why this department does not show up to better advantage.

The stokers were installed last spring, and are working satisfactorily. Had we not had them it is a question if we could have operated during last winter and fall, as the quality of fuel offered for sale during the strike was very poor quality, but against this adverse circumstance our fuel bill for the past year shows a reduction of $1,412.00 compared with 1923.

The Delco and Meteron units were installed during last summer, and affording better service to the customers. There are no meters now to read, which also cuts down the office work.

We had a meeting of the Committee to inspect the equipment at the Power House, and found same in good condition. There were no repairs required, and the machinery is still doing the good work it has always done.

As mentioned in my report for 1923 the pole lines had to be altered during the past year to conform with the Provincial Protection Act. This work was completed in the fall, and the cost amounted to $1,629.54. The amount over the estimate was caused by your Committee discovering that a number of poles—over amount figured—were rotten at the butt, and had to be replaced. The line now conforms with the requirements of the Electrical Protection Act, and a certificate to this effect was granted by Inspector Wagner of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

The capital account was over-expended to the amount of $6,031.17. In this amount is included the re-setting of the boilers. This could not be called a capital charge, but it has been taken care of in the levy for 1925 by the amount of $5,000.00 being included in the Estimates.

The number of kilowatt hours generated at the Power Plant during 1924 was 2,004,650, as compared with 2,171,000 in 1923. This shows a decrease in 1924 of 72,344 kilowatt hours. As our revenue for the past year was only $425.87 less than that of 1923 this explains a certain part of the loss your Committee has been trying to locate for the past two years.

The deficit in this department during 1924 was $980.60, but this loss has been taken care of in the tax levy as your Committee was protected against a deficit to the extent of $1,200.00.

R. Dick Ballantyne,
Chairman L. and P. Committee.

REPORT OF WATERWORKS COMMITTEE

It will be noted that the Waterworks Dept. shows a surplus balance on the year's operations of $1,606.95, adding to this the 1923 surplus of $1,331.00, total surplus up to $2,937.95. There are at present 211 water connections. 3 new connections having been made during the year. Number of hydrants 25, all of which are in proper working order.

Considerable trouble is still being experienced with the pumps at the water wells, owing to the accumulation of sand. At present our well is being cleaned in which was found sixteen feet of sand. It is anticipated that the well will be shortly in operation. As pointed out in my last year's report the remedy for this sand trouble, according to the opinion of several engineers whom we have consulted, appears to be in the construction of a sedimentation tank, and your Committee would recommend that this matter be taken into serious consideration by the new Council without undue delay.

TEA SUPPLY INADEQUATE: PER 1/8 HIGHER

Tea prices are going up rapidly because less is being demanded by eight hundred more people. Tea is the cheapest and certainly one of the most palatable and satisfying beverages known. But the tea-growers have been unable to meet the tremendous demand. It takes three years for a tea bush to mature to the plucking stage.

"HANG THE KAISER"

The old cry of "Hang the Kaiser," which gained popularity after the Armistice and has been forgotten for several years, was repeated in the Chamber of Deputies by Deputy Bonnet, of Paris. He declared the German Crown Prince is preparing to resume power, and insisted France renew charges against the "war criminals," starting with hanging the Kaiser and continuing "with all the aristocracy of Germany."

Induction Service At Presbyterian Church Fort Saskatchewan

A very interesting and impressive service was held in the Presbyterian Church last Friday afternoon, January 9, when the Rev. C. E. A. Pascoe was inducted minister of Fort Saskatchewan and Patricia. Principal Miller of Robertson College, Edmonton, who has been acting moderator during the vacancy, conducted the devotional exercises, and narrated the steps taken to fill the vacancy, with the result that a very hearty and unanimous call had been extended to Mr. Pascoe. Rev. A. D. Reid of Knox Church, Edmonton, and a minister of Edmonton Presbytery, then took charge and duly inducted Mr. Pascoe, after the usual questions were answered. The Rev. T. H. Mitchell of Robertson Church, Edmonton, then very feelingly and impressively addressed the pastor and congregation in relation to their duties outside the Church thereto, in the Church and then. Pastor Master. The Rev. T. T. Rolfe of Rupert Street Church, addressed the minister with words that came back to the congregation and people in the happy settlement of the many years of ministerial labor. Mr. Pascoe replied in a most fitting manner, and pledged himself to the performance of the responsibilities and opportunities of the pastorate. A number of visiting ministers and people were present, including a number from Stettler, requiring only two more, and Eastern Lights, of Stettler, is short of Times Ladies, of Stettler, is short of Times Ladies, of Stettler, is short of Times Ladies

FIRE RECORD OF MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL

A cash balance in the bank, with all expenses for the past year met, including debenture payments, and the new operating cost for the year of $6.50% per patient day, was the record established by the Red Deer municipal hospital during 1924. This is one of the fifteen municipal hospitals now being operated in Alberta under the provincial government's municipal hospital scheme.

The hospital had a total of 2026 patient days during the year, with 1,000 admissions, and 100 births. Its operating expenditure for the year was an increase of 916 hospital days over the previous year, the hospital was able to finance all its obligations, including full debenture payments, and have a balance at the end of the year. Special note is made of the hospital operating cost of $2.50 a day, which is considered to be the low-est of any of the municipal hospitals in the province.

INDUCTING THE KING

The senate of the National University of Ireland, established by statute in 1908, of which Eamon De Valera, Republican leader, is chancellor, has decided to take steps to have altered the charter which gave to the King the right of appointing the board of visitors, which hears appeals against the removal of professors. By a vote of 30 to 20 a resolution was carried to vest this power in the senate solely itself.

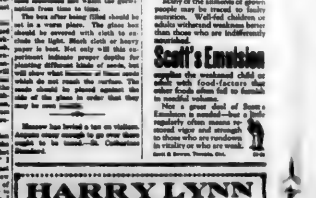
Pasturage Profitable In Hog Raising

Pigs in Clover

(By J. B. Spencer, Director of Publicity, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.)

In the raising of hogs for market two points in particular are to be kept in view—economical gains and a desirable type of finished hog. How to secure these results was the basis of an experiment carried on at the Indian Head Experimental Farm:



thirty young hogs, consisting of forty-two Berkshire and eighteen Yorkshires, were divided into the groups as nearly as possible, the former and remaining seven of the former and seven of the latter breed.

Lot 1 was pastured on biennial white sweet clover sown as a nurse crop in 1923. Lot 2 on Hubam; Lot 3 on rape; Lot 4 on Sudan; and Lot 5 on second cut alfalfa. Lot 6 was put in a dry yard; Lot 7 was hand-fed and received buttermilk as a supplement to the meal ration, while all the other lots received tankage in addition to grain. The experiment continued for fifty-six days, when practically all of the lots were ready for market. The results feed given to all the lots was the same and consisted of shorts and ground oats, barley and peas.

The greatest gain was made by the Yorkshires, which were followed by the hand-fed lot, but their gains were more expensive than any of the other groups. The gains made by those receiving green feed were almost the same lots, being 200 pounds in the sweet clover lot, 207 with the rape lot, and 231 with the Hubam lot. Those fed on buttermilk and grain made the lowest gains. A more important point, however, is the profit made with each lot, or in other words, the economy with which grains were made by the different systems of feeding. The costs per hundred pounds of gain on the different groups were the lot on sweet clover, $4.05; the lot on hubam clover, $4.02; self-feeder lot, $6.80; hand-fed lot, $4.29; and the buttermilk lot, $4.62.

Studied from the losses hog cholera puts the Yorkshires at a slight disadvantage. With the Yorkshires the sum was different as nine of the Berkshires survived the disease, leaving the three self-fed, graded thirds and two were unfinished. Hogs

From these experiments three notes of distinction are determined: First, that suitable pasturage is favorable to cheap gains and high quality in the finished product; second, that although the self-feeding is favorable to making gains, it is expensive in the pound of gain and is unfavorable for the development of bacon quality; and third, that the Yorkshire is better suited than the Berkshire for the production of bacon carcasses of the purchaser and many others entered to the Report of the Indian Head Farm for 1924.

Make A Friend Of Your Car

A Horse's Prayer

To Thee, my Master, I offer my prayer—Feed me, water and care for me, and when the day's work is done provide me with shelter, a clean dry bed and a stall wide enough for me to lie down in comfort. Talk to me. Your voice often means so much to me. Be kind to me. Put no harsh bit in my mouth. Whip me when pulling up hill.

Never strike, beat or kick me when I do not understand you. Watch me, and if I fail to do your bidding, see if something is not wrong with the harness or my feet. Examine my hoofs when I do so eat. I may have an ulcerated tooth, and that you know is very painful. Do not tie my head in an unnatural position, or take away my best defense against flies and mosquitoes by cutting off my tail. Do not limit my vision by blinders, so that I am frightened by what I cannot see.

And finally, O my master, when my youthful strength is gone, do not turn me out to starve or freeze, or sell me to some cruel owner to be slowly tortured and starved to death, but do thou, my master, take my life in the kindest way and your God will reward you here and hereafter. You will not consider my irreverent if I ask this in the name of Him, who was born in a stable. Amen.—(Author Unknown.)

Paddy's Mother Advises Him

Let the gay lads go for the butterflies; but look to your mother now, Shamrock paid for the goose they wear and the ribbon that binds the lover;

And any penny fool can spend your money and waste your pains.

But what you'll want in the years to come is a wife who has learned to save.

Oh, a pretty face and an empty head is a poor man's bitterest loss,
And what you'll need as the days go by is a wife who will keep you straight.

The fun of youth is a treacherous thing, and sure is a cruel blast,
And the beauty you sow in the days of spring through the winter can not last;
Oh, the smile of a flirt may be good to see, but, Paddy my lad, beware!
Think more of the ways of the girls you meet and less of the clothes they wear;
And don't you fall for the pretty face or the sort of a stylish gown,
But look for a wife who will help you up, not one who will drag you down.

A TOAST TO OUR FARMERS

(Gentleman's Magazine, Sept. 1749)

Let the wealthy and great
Roll in state
And entertain their friends,
While thro' life we jog on
Thro' a country fog
Without regard or ends.

We eat our own lamb,
My chicken and ham,
Grown fat on our own flocks and fatten'd on our own.
We have good barley for beer,
Our wheat

We have fruits,
We have flowers,
The lark is my morning alarmer.
So Judy Boys now,

Long life and success to the Farmer!

MORTGAGE SALE OF FARM PROPERTY

Pursuant to the directions of the Registrar and by virtue of the Powers of Sale provided by "The Land Titles Act" under a certain mortgage which will be produced at the time of the sale.

There will be offered for sale by public auction at the Royal Bank Corner in the Town of Gadsby, in the Province of Alberta, on Saturday, the 28th day of February, 1925, at the hour of 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon, the following property, namely:—

All of Section Twenty-one (21), Township Thirty-eight (38), Range Seventeen (17), West of the Fourth Meridian, in the Province of Alberta, containing by measurement Six Hundred and Forty (640) acres, more or less. Reserving to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company all coal, petroleum and valuable stone.

Terms of sale to be ten per cent. cash at the time of the sale and the balance according to the terms and conditions to be made known at the time of sale or upon application to the vendor's solicitors.

The above property will be offered for sale subject to a sealed reserved bid and free from all encumbrances, save taxes for the current year.

The vendor is informed that the above property is situated about one mile from Gadsby. There are six hundred and forty acres more or less, all fenced with three barbed wires and cedar posts and a stock fence. The soil is a black loamy loam with a clay sub-soil. Two hundred acres are summerfallowed, seventy five acres ran-sod and one hundred and one hundred and twenty-five acres are in stubble, making a total of four hundred acres under cultivation. Balance of land is scrub and contains a number of sloughs. There is a drilled well upon the property. The buildings consist of a frame dwelling house not finished on outside, and a barn not finished.

For further particulars and conditions as sale, apply to—

Annual Meeting Of The Erskine Board Of Trade

The annual meeting of the Erskine Board of Trade took the form of a banquet, which was held in the Lobby View Hotel Monday, January 26th, at 7:00 p.m. Twenty-four members partook.

After ample justice had been done the chapter of edibles, including the "Boot" McKenzie, Provost Morrison called upon Harry E. Welsh to act as Toastmaster, which duty he performed in a pleasing and creditable manner.

Toast List

King and Country—Proposed by A. Fetherstonhaugh; responded to by singing one verse of National Anthem.

Our Community—Proposed by A. Fetherstonhaugh; responded to by Harry Rendell.

Visitors—Proposed by E. J. Pearson; responded to by T. Lindsay and Frank North.

Our Ladies—Proposed by J. E. Noonan; responded to by R. C. Vaught.

1924 Officers—Proposed by A. W. Hamel; responded to by President Hoffman, Sec.-Treas. Lobb.

Our Boys—Proposed by Harry Lyons; responded to by J. Mackenzie.

President Morrison, in responding to the toast of the 1924 Officers, thanked the Board for the ability co-operation it received during the past year, and briefly reviewed the various matters of interest to the Board dealt with.

In soliciting renewed interest and support for the 1925 Officers, he urged them to have an optimistic vision of the future, when normal conditions resume. He felt we are just emerging from the deflating period and as soon as values have reached proper level, improved conditions and more prosperous times will result.

Secretary-Treasurer F. W. Laing, in reminiscent vein, presented a brief sketch of the earlier history of the Board, which was greatly enjoyed. Out of the original 24 members of the Erskine Board of Trade only 3 are left, viz.: W. J. Barron, Harry Walsh, and H. E. Everade. Four have passed to the Great Beyond; balance have gone forth to other parts.

Present membership of Board, 23. Meetings held during 1924, 12. Average attendance, 15.

Election of Officers

By a standing unanimous vote the 1924 officers were returned by acclamation:

President—A. E. Morrison
Vice-President—R. Sveinson
Sec.-Treas.—F. W. Laing
Executive Com.—R. C. Vaught, J. Mitchell, C. A. Melander.

A speech, song, or story from each of the present cabinet—the proceedings on the evening advanced and entertainer carrying talent of a further nature.

The musical numbers contributed by Messrs. Mitchell and Gerde were enjoyed and appreciated.

The outgoing of Auld Lang Syne at midnight terminated a very pleasant evening.

Union Hall

(Held over from last week.)

A film drama produced by W. Selwyn got one in February, Rosa Alberta never fails.

Mrs. C. E. Wilson, who was recently operated on at the Central Hospital, Calgary, is doing easily and is expected home shortly.

Thomas Thompson has returned home from Southern Alberta, the international journeying on to California to be with his brother, who is reported failing, concerning that he could get all the winter he wants. We are glad to see him back and hope he remains, for he is one hard, well-versed opponent and we want a hard team this summer.

We are anxious to know when the Grand Trunk Club will organize and announce the date of the next dance in the school. Some talk of a Box Social, but we have had enough of that for one year. There will be enough expense attached to the dance.

We are sorry to report that Miss Marguerite Watson, a former U. E. girl, now in the employ of the Western Canada Flour Mills Co. at Chicago, Ill., has been very ill with pneumonia.

We cannot help but notice the attendance of pupils during the past few weeks. Grade still in the ninth, but owing to the snow was unable to attend, being completely taken by the drifts.

Mr. Pete Sammer is now making extensive alterations on his newly purchased premises on Section 19.

Pete says he is going to improve this farm and make it second to none in Alberta, and is contemplating breaking about 160 acres this season. Mrs. Sammer, who is visiting relatives in Iowa at present, is expected home some time next month.

Several of the relatives and friends of Lyle Summers gathered at his home on Sunday to do honor to his birthday. They all wished him many more such days of departure for home.

Many people think that citizenship means a devotion to the municipal. No doubt, that view of the question. The moment you never devotion of any individual the corridor of the time to should devote to his private business. In fact citizenship means the training that a man has or should have in his sphere of life, whether it is buying bricks or carrying groceries.

We can see the glitter of the gem then more clearly in relation to the municipal government without training is paramount. There are lots of instances where voting ability is of little interest to citizenship. Even in the Issues U.F.A. and U.F.W., the Labor W.C.T.U., the Tom Bancroft, the Trad Bancroft, the C.G.I.T. and other similar organizations which exists have organized for some purpose to help the growing boys and girls. But these things are only means and have their function to help the development of citizenship.

The young only have centres in our town in these places. The [illegible] the school is the school room, are nothing other than machines if it is not a training in citizenship, how a training in basic habits of good conduct. Democracy is the foundation of better work, and better world, and can only be reached on as a two-way passage. We have to do something a good home a good school, and a good town, to be a good town to live in. We have to attain up from top to bottom the determined to be more responsible and not the less important among the [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] of citizenship.

Dear Sir,

I want to convey a few notes of my appreciation of the [illegible] columns of your paper "The Stettler Independent" to my friends and neighbours in the Stettler district.

I left Stettler on Dec 1st and went to Vancouver, B.C. over Edmonton to Vancouver. The trip through the mountains was very interesting. The lakes and rivers on the east side of Yellowhead Pass were all frozen over, on the west side it was all open, although there was more snow, but it was not very deep. The only wonderful sight was all through the mountains and Fraser Valley. There, where there is great numbers can be seen feeding [illegible] of deer, elk, moose, bear, etc. Vancouver I took passage on the C.P.R. Steamship "Empress of Japan" for Victoria. There I met Tom Watson and Mrs. Watson, who were also on the way to the South. We boarded the steamer "General Brevity" for San Francisco and Los Angeles. We had good weather and a gentle rolling sea. A [illegible] of passengers took sea-sick, but felt better after a few days but. We had a stop at twelve hours in Seattle, so we got a chance to have a glimpse at the city. It certainly change [illegible] appearance in a great, but since I saw it last in 1909. Everything looked to be very good and lovely. From San Francisco 12 o'clock noon, Dec 7th, steamer ran through the Golden Gate, and we were in the Pacific Ocean. The next morning [illegible] the open ocean, and the rolling to make better [illegible] better [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

PAYING THE BILLS

WHAT subject has met with more consideration, criticism and comment in Western Canada during the period of depression, than that of payment or non-payment of bills? It is a subject of interest to practically 100% of the adult population of the country, and to many a subject of utmost importance.

FINANCIAL writers seem to agree, when their arguments are analysed, that general conditions show improvment as debts are liquidated. It is true that statement might be reversed to read that debts are taken care of as conditions improve. They go hand in hand. Whether one be the cause and the other the effect is not so apparent. Sure it is however that the payment of debts, on a large scale, lets loose a quantity of money which passing from hand to hand, stimulates business remarkably.

PAYING bills has another far reaching effect than that of putting money in circulation and that is the effect on the credit of the individual.

A man owing another and making no great effort to pay, or even reduce the debt, creates in the minds of his creditors a feeling that confidence was misplaced in ever trusting that man with the loan of the money or the goods as the case may be. If that creditor happens to be a storekeeper and to have several of his customers treating him similarly he feels that everything is wrong with the world and becomes most pessimistic. His pessimism is bound to effect his neighbor. He refuses to grant credit to worthy people fearing that they too will be unmindful of their promises. Business slackens naturally, as the result of this lessening of confidence, because good faith is the basis of business.

ON the other hand, and this is becoming to be more generally adopted as the correct attitude, many who owe are paying what they can and instead of staying away from the creditors when they cannot pay, are seeing them and making any arrangments possible. This has the two-fold effect of retaining the good opinion the creditor has of the debtor and creating a feeling of confidence on the part of the creditor, who in turn still trusts his customers and keeps business running along smoothly.

THERE is an opportunity for each and every one of us who owe any money to help create a better feeling throughout our district by doing simply his duty by the creditor who has enough faith in him to trust him with money or goods.

Best—With somewhat better demand Edmonton market was firmer. Choice export heavy steers $6 @ $6.50, choice light $5.50 @ $6, good $5 @ $5.50, medium $4 @ $4.50, canners $3.50 @ $3.75. Choice heifers and heavy $5.25 @ $5.75, good $5.00 @ $5.25, medium $4.50 @ $4.75; good $5.75 @ $6; fancy $6.25 @ $6.50; choice cows $5.75 @ $6; good $5.25 @ $5.50; medium $4.75 @ $5.25; canners $3.25 @ $3.75, stockers from $3 @ $4. Choice bulls $5.25 @ $5.50; common to medium $4.50 @ $5. Choice veal $5 @ $7; common and heavy $3.50 @ $4. Feeders, Stockers—Best native steers for feeders $5.50 @ $6.25; good $5.25 @ $5.50; medium $4.50 @ $5.25; common $3.50 @ $4.75; stock heifers $3 @ $3; stock cows $2.25 @ $2.75.

HOGS

Calgary market remains light and prices stronger, with sales Wednesday at $10.25 @ $10.50 for thin (7 months, off cars); bacon 10 p.c. premium; today's sales $10.35 @ $10.50.

Edmonton hog prices were shading lower on most of the sales, with hog head basis at $10.15, off cars, but most of the offerings $10; bacon 10 to mail for Canada in March.

SHEEP

Best—light at Calgary, but choice lambs around $14 and perhaps two bits more; fat ewes $9 down; choice yearlings $12.50.

Edmonton sheep receipts light and prices practically unchanged with top prices, lambs $14; yearlings $12 and ewes $8.50; others lower according to quality.

GRAIN

Great action in the market during the past week, but prices mostly on about last week's level. Cash prices at the local centre are below actual values, everything points to at least some recovery from the low point of Wednesday.

POTATOES

Growers in Calgary district offering more freely and prices are down a five-spot in some instances, with sales at $26 @ $45.

HAY

Market slow but getting under way but sales being steadily made and surplus in some districts must be getting small.

FURS

Carcass takes now are showing up poor quality and not worth more than half prime skins of same time ago. New York sale this week showing steady tone as far as reported.

HIDES

Improvement indicated in market last week has been lost owing to rush of dealers to sell and trade now feeling pessimistic as tanners have stocked up for time and looks like recession for spring trade.

Round the Country

Most people in Canada would like to see the United States get a taste of its own medicine once in awhile. The Canadian government has always been extremely sensitive to criticism from the slightest criticism of the Dominion from the United States and there have been few of these but what they have all of us aware to it pretty.

The "Buffalo Herd" bill imposes a duty of 45 cents per bushel on Canadian wheat. This is levied in addition to the 21 cents of the American protective tariff. The bill is designed to keep Canadian wheat out of the American market in future, but they will do it in a small quantity to help out their own millers.

Of course in the long run it will be one can offer any extensive market for Canadian wheat. Canada must look elsewhere for its markets and the newspapers of the United States are now endorsed Canada's action in placing an embargo on the export of wheat to the United States. Canada is putting a fair deal and is not trying to injure or show unfriendliness to the United States. Canada has a right to do what she is doing and the United States newspapers commend her action.

Canada's action in placing an embargo on wheat to the United States is a step in the right direction. Canada has no enemies that she should trade with. Canada has a right to trade with those countries that will trade with her on a fair basis.

But the Canadian government won't do anything, except allow any farmer-man wanting to build up a Farmers tariff against our farm products without retaliation, and also go one better by banning them our timber for manufacturing purposes around the line.

A correspondent writes us that we are mistaken in stating that citizenship does not mean a devotion "to the common weal." He states that good citizenship means just that.

It all depends what is meant by that expression. If a devotion to the "common weal" means a movement for and bolting or attending meetings and supporting your own particular sect, then it is the reverse of good citizenship. The only way that society can make progress is by the work of the individual in his own particular line. A farmer following the even general truth can do more for the good of the community by tending his farm and by tending that well into a profitable. Many successful men have ruined by a devotion to the common weal, regardless of the individual and eventually for the state.

The farmer is the bulwark of the state in more ways than one, but only when he follows the pursuits of the farm. Carlyle in his book on the French Revolution relates that during the whole period when the guillotine was doing its deadly work, the farmers of France were engaged in the peaceful pursuits of agriculture.

Today the cities of Russia are not nothing with all the pressure that Bolshevism has given them both in, the farmer is tilling the fields and reaping the grain as usual.

Those who have been reading Mr. Shoesmith's letters in this paper will remember that he went to Australia to go on conditions in southern California. Then to become the informal. Mr. Shoesmith is now available to him as a visitor there. Yet for all Mr. Shoesmith's admiration for California he shows plainly that Alberta is the best country for the young man without much capital. We have been corresponding with him in this province for about 6 o'clock here, but the time will come when we will spend it here also as permanent residents. If settlers in this country would write home to their friends in the same spirit that residents in California write to their friends, there would be a wave of immigration into Alberta that would increase materially every year, and many of our problems would be solved.

Mrs. R. G. L. Strange is doing good work in the Home Economics Branch's Magazine and has an article in the issue of Feb. 15th on "When the Family Entertains."

This article gives a life-like description of the succession of the hour during the winter, and an outsider reading it would come to the conclusion that our winters are really a big opportunity for recreation, amusement, and entertain instead of a period when it is necessary, if possible, to make a trip to the Coast or to California. Our winters are, with many people, the best time of the year, and the severe cats of this year has been one of the most healthful for several years. It is now a well-known fact that a certain percentage of people must take themselves somewhere to higher altitudes where they can stand the cold of the winter climate, and to mild winter climate. A cold winter is said by those who have had the means of the year, provided, of course, that one has sufficient clothing.

Mrs. Strange says that if people would only be a good thing if our climate was more generally known. English people on Bath says it did last December, but unfortunately such things don't happen here.

The trouble with Bath is that he would have to be a millionaire before he could afford to live there. Bath is not the only health resort in Europe, but there are many others equally as good, and many others cheaper. Switzerland is one of the most beautiful countries in the world, and there are hundreds of health resorts in the Alps. Many of these are open all the year round, and they are not expensive.

WINTER IN THE YUKON

Dawson Daily News

Short

Dawson is the only city in the Yukon to be reported to 70 below in Yukon there is a land where it is thought land is the exception rather than the rule. Dawson has endured cold weather for many years, but the mercury has never gone below 70 below zero. Dawson is a city crowded at present, but is reduced to a mere town during the winter months. Dawson is the only city of any size in the Yukon also called "Dawson" is a town of the Yukon. Dawson is the only gate through which the mercury has ever been known to go below 70 below zero. Dawson

WHAT IS CREDIT?

CREDIT is the expression of trust and belief in a man's ability to meet his financial obligations. In all human relations trust is the inspiration to larger accomplishments.

CREDIT is the power to obtain goods or service by giving a promise to pay money at a specified date in the future. Let us, therefore, understand at the very outset that after all credit is only as strong and as good as the person upon whom it places the obligation to make future payment.

THE BASIS FOR CREDIT GRANTING

IN granting credit the three following factors are always taken into consideration—

1—Character
2—Capacity
3—Capital

THE first factor, Character, is the most important. A man or women with character does not attempt to purchase what he or she does not expect to pay for at the time agreed upon. Another point to impress upon oneself is that your credit rating does not depend upon how you CAN pay your bills, but how you DO pay your bills. From the foregoing statement you will see that—

CHARACTER is the Basis of Credit. The bulk of the world's business is done on credit. Credit means confidence - credit means service when extended to you by your merchant, wh ther it be individual or in a corporation. Is character an aim worthy of our attainment?

"Short accounts make warm friends"

THINK this over and make every man your warm friend by paying your bills promptly.

Annual Meeting Of Waverly M.D. 367

Secretary's Salary

Mr. Cusack moved that the action of the former Board in increasing the secretary's salary from $1200 per annum to $1500 per annum be confirmed. Also moved that the Board was only authorized to pay $1200 per annum. Mr. McConnell seconded. Carried by Mr. Blain, that the Board's action be confirmed. Mr. Blain said he had been under the impression that the Board was only to pay $1200 per annum. Mr. McConnell stated, seconded by Mr. Blain, that the Secretary's salary be left at $1200 per annum. Carried.

Thanks.

Mr. Blackwood moved a vote of thanks to the Auditors and the Secretary for their services during the year. Seconded by Mr. Cusack and Mr. Day. That the meeting adjourn. Carried.

Letters To The Editor

for a stranger to get in on my job. The oil business is not very flourishing either at present, so there is nothing to look for in that line.

I should advise all young people in Canada to stay right where they are. It is true some have been successful in some cases on account of small or no experience at all, but I was too much rats today will be saved by the time I get home. Better conditions in the future. The tailors in Portland, Oregon, have already offered $8.00 a hashed for a certain kind of wheat and are not able to get it. Canada can raise that stuff and we will get the price too some day.

I will conclude for today and hope to be able to send you a few lines again sometime later on. With best regards to you and all my friends in the town as I remain,

Yours sincerely,
A. Rouse.

LIKES ARTICLE

Mr. Editor,

Feb. 17th, 1925

The Independent came today and I read the article by Private Comrie-Clark with interest. I was in the band. Got promoted in the field. Was taken from a radio and but into land over a town and then to Germany. The article pretty well on the mound and what appeared to me in my head should not look much.

The newspaper is confronted with many unreasonable, unconsidered, and at times a cold critic to run about for items. It isn't fair for you as to concerned. But for the man who has been cloaked, proved up and who may have had his head more items to some good reading matter. Some one seemed to get rid of all items. Usually they in a business sense require part of the space. But it is generally that the latter wants to be heard. Let the latter come to the front of their head about Mr. Report. Yes, I can better supplies the plans, a house and a write concern everything that took years to learn to the state in which the writer comes in. Whether writing is a necessary evil, I don't know, but I do know that there are writers now, and he's been, and I presume will be for some time.

But the point—Taber wants new comers, were away those who already own the land, and if it keeps up, the Lord help those who have their money tied up or something unproductive for all concerned, and that means "Bad Business."

The more you print of that kind of journal the better for Alberta land and people. Some day I want to come back—not transient, but a permanent resident this time.

Yours,
Sincerely,
Subscriber.

Stettler district has one big asset that is often overlooked—Coal. Every inhabitant of the district need go without coal in the winter time. If he is a farmer all he needs to do is to haul up his team and drive off to the mines where he can get the best coal the local law for $2.00 per ton.

The local coal mines are serving hundreds of farmers every week, and there are sometimes 75 or 80 teams waiting for coal at any one of the mines. This means a good deal to the residents of this district, and we can answer any knowledgeable reader when we learn that in the coming farmers pay $12.00 for their coal at the mines, and have to haul it from there to their farms.

There are a number of farmers who are interested in establishing new coal mines in other districts, but we are glad to say that the farmers of Alberta or Saskatchewan as a rule will not go to the trouble and labor to open a new coal mine when they can get much better coal at a lower price from an up-to-date mine. Nobody knows better than the farmer himself that he can get much better coal at a lower price from an up-to-date mine. Nobody knows better than the farmer himself that he can get much better coal at a lower price from an up-to-date mine. Nobody knows better than the farmer himself that he can get much better coal at a lower price from an up-to-date mine.

There are never a thousand men who will open a coal mine unless they can get enough local business to warrant the expense. It is found that when they do get much wealth in a district, when farm values have increased and when the farmers get the money they want around the world for

THE feeling that the worst of our troubles connected with over extension of and in many cases unwise credits are past, seems to dominate the majority of thinking people. This year debtors as a whole, are more hopeful of being able to get clear of debt within a reasonable time, and are doing all they can to satisfy their creditors both with cash settlements and arrangements to govern future settlements. The feeling three years, two years and even one year ago, was generally one of almost hopelessness and in some cases of despair on the part of those having liabilities in excess of their shrunken assets.

A VERY commendable spirit has been shown by many creditors, particularly companies doing a large volume of business, to share the losses of unfortunate debtors by writing down their accounts to meet the condition of their debtors and encourage them in their efforts to gain their financial equilibrium.

ONE industry operating extensively in Western Canada through its association recently gathered figures from its members showing among other things that the amount of money outstanding on its ledgers had decreased in two years three by about twenty-five per cent. This reduction was brought about very largely by voluntary payments as legal actions and threats of same were studiously avoided.

AS it is recognized that one of the chief obstacles to prosperity anywhere is an excess of debts, it behooves us to give deeper consideration to what we as individuals should do as our little contribution towards bringing better times a little nearer home.

IT is just possible that we may be negligent here and there, and were we so inclined could dispose of an obligation we are now ignoring. Our example multiplied a hundred fold in this locality might mean a very encouraging impetus to business. It could certainly do no harm.

MARKETS

THE DRAMATIC REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

(February 28th)

CATTLE

Beef—Receipts at Calgary light and prices on choice killers stronger. Choice heavy steers $6.50@$6.85; choice light $6.00@$6.40; good $5.35@$5.75, medium $4@$5. Choice heifers $5@$5.50, good $4@$4.50. Choice cows $4@$4.50; good $3.50@$3.90; medium $3.50@$3.90, common $3.00@$3.25, canners $1.25@$2. Choice bulls $3.50; medium $3.00@$3.25; common $2.25. Choice veal up to $9.25, other good calves $8; common $5.25@$5.50. FEEDERS AND STOCKERS—Unfavorable weather and light supply made market slow, with prices steady on top feeders up to $4.75; others $3.75; stock steers $3.50@$3.90; stock heifers $3@$3.50; stock cows $3@$3.75.

SHEEP—Hot many cattle at Edmonton this week and good demand kept the market firm to stronger, with choice heavy sheep $6.50@$6.75; light $6.25@$6.50; good $6@$6.25; culls $4@$5; choice lambs $8@$8.25; good $7.50@$8; culls $4@$5; choice yearlings, through the packing up and down of over 3,000 ships, represented a tonnage of 1377 bottoms had been recorded, was an increase of 1,000 tons over the total for the corresponding period in 1924. The Canadian Government Merchant Marine Limited, which was established in 1903 with seven ships carrying a cargo tonnage of 40,000 tons, has now a fleet of 22 ships, with a total tonnage of 150,000 tons. The Canadian Pacific S.S. Lines, which early in 1903 had a fleet of 5 ships, has now a fleet of 17 ships, with a total tonnage of 120,000 tons. The Canadian Pacific Railway Co. has also increased its fleet of ships from 5 to 15 during the same period, with a total tonnage of 100,000 tons. The Canadian Pacific Railway Co. has also increased its fleet of ships from 5 to 15 during the same period, with a total tonnage of 100,000 tons.

HOGS

Calgary market steadily improved up to Wednesday when thick smooths sold extra well to $10.10@$10.25, up 10 per cent. premium. Today's sale $10.10@$10.05.

Edmonton prices firmer all week and best sales of thick smooths, weighed off cars, $10.10, bacon 40 to 50 per cent. premium.

SHEEP

Calgary receipts light and market unsteady at $11 for lambs; wethers $7; and ewes, $6. St. Boss are likely about the top prices, though choice lambs might bring more.

Lambs at Edmonton have been making as high as $13, others lower according to quality; fat ewes $6@$8.50; wethers from $12 down.

GRAIN

Prices showing usual fluctuations to be expected at this time of the year and though there are temporary declines there are many who think the end of the crop will be sold at high levels.

WINNIPEG — OPTIONS — CLOSING

WHEAT—Alberta prices unchanged, but Saskatchewan and Manitoba down to 20c and talking of another drop of 2c. Bad weather delaying reaping.

OATS—Market somewhat weak but light sales to become prices up on customs and prices; not here rather severe, but trade price is between 20 1-2 to 21c.

DAIRY BUTTER—Receipts at central points very light. CHEESE—Supply of really good cheese in West well used up and prices advanced to the customs now from 23c.

POULTRY — EGGS

EGGS—Culture and Edmonton dealers paying 40c basis extras and receipts very light, owing to bad weather checking production; Lethbridge quoting 38c basis extras.

POULTRY—Very little marketing and demand very slow; heavier receipts would break prices.

POTATOES

Calder weather and light stocks on hand at Calgary boosted prices up again to $40 for A grade.

HAY

Dealers reporting several inquiries from farmers and ranchers who are apparently among at continued cold weather and deep snow which is still found in many parts of the province. Market showing stronger tone in all districts.

BUTTER

Tonnage out of market now and here and. The dealers give morning reasonable advisability of selling the bidden room, to avoid hair-shipping.

FUR

Last sale at New York shows values paid by the western dealers about in line with commercial demand and not much change in quotations.

The heavy snowfall last winter was followed by wonderful crops in Ontario. Is it too early to predict the same for 1925?—Brockville Recorder.

Shorn Bed—Shorn has certainly made its appearance on the provincial map. Shorn Bed all day Sunday is emblazoned in a blizzard at night with the old time legend of the Grand Hog Day runaway train to form. One is encouraged to hope March will be here and all fairness make its exit like a lamb. Its a long month however, and we may see more shorn of little before that.

The Dublin Municipal Commercial electors in Divisions 1 and 2 were pretty warmly contested, especially by the farmers as the vote plainly shows. They take their municipal politics very earnestly down there which is a very good thing to see.

In division 3, Mr. Joe Morrison was elected by a vote of 57 against Mr. Veyger's vote of 48. In division 1, Mr. John Christiansen was elected by a vote of 88, his opponent, Mr. James Parr getting 14. Mr. Harrison is thus re-elected for another term. Mr. Christiansen is a new Councillor, but should make a capable representative.

Mrs. Charles Freeman who has been very ill lately, is now well on the way to recovery.

The Committee for Rink Affairs pulled off another successful dance on Friday night, and besides giving us everybody a good time they boosted the Rink Funds quite a bit.

The Wagner's Institute had a very successful sale on 21st inst. at which all the articles shown were sold from Floor Barks. The articles ranged from the severely plain and useful to the ornamental and fancy, pronouncing the fact that the Institute ladies are always adept in handy craft. What was most agreeable to the ladies was that everything found a ready purchaser and the receipts were very quickly cleaned. Tea and coffee was served during the afternoon, with sandwiches and cake, which was a very popular feature of the sale. With the big Entertainment meeting on the last month and the Sale of Work, the Institute has been very popular. A drawing took place for the fancy embroidered quilt and no. 108 was the winning number. Mr. W. E. Erickson being the lucky one. It was a very fine prize.

Our old friend, Mr. Lionel Farrell, has been paying us another visit. He knows where to come for some choice cattle, and he has handled quite a few cows from this point during late fall and winter.

Late Sunday night, just before turning in, I give the main a whirl and caught a lady giving a reading. I at once recognized the voice of our good neighbor, Mrs. Cantrell, and willing to the end and the prizes verified when the announcer announced Mr. Elmbrook, if he were between 7 and 8 years of age. Mrs. Cantrell was the lucky lady who had the good lady would be home on Monday. Mrs. Goodwin has been visiting her parents in Calgary, and had been induced to give a reading for broadcasting. Her selection was perfect, and she got an encore shower which fitted that.

This district was not directly represented at the opening of the Legislature last week owing to the fact that our good member, A. L. Sanders, had been quarantined for Scarlet Fever with his children and could not be present happily, in a pretty mild form, and Mr. Sanders had to be in quarantine as a contact. He was likely to be relieved in a very few days and will be in his place this week. With a few members following the vocal example set by Mr. Dedhouse, our friend won't be alone.

Mr. Bacon, from Edmonton, has been in the district for two or three days buying horses. He left on Saturday with a carload and expects to be back soon for more. Mr. Bacon is a friend of Alf. Bevary, and had R. O. to guide him around the country.

The Gadsby Golf Club have had their Annual meeting and made plans for the coming season. The following officers were elected. President, C. F. Anderson; Vice-President, H. E. Pushon; Secretary-Treasurer, R. St. Shaw; Ground Committee C. Cockcraft; J. M. Dettman, A. Chamberlain. The entry money has been fixed at $5 per year for Ladies free, boys under 18 years of age, $2 per year. I understand the committee have arranged for a novel try sarnal and dance on March 17th.

Mr. Cook, of Rosebank, is having a visit from her sister, Mrs. McMillan, of New Glasgow, Nova Scotia. She is greatly enamored of this western country. We give her our full permission to stay as long as she feels that way.

Mr. R. W. Harrison, has decided to leave us for the larger city of Stettler where he will reside and open up a store room and agency for the Chevrolet car. We are sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Harrison from our circle, they have been the very best type of citizens, helpful in all community efforts, and congratulate Stettler on their acquisition. Our best wishes go with them for their future success.

Musical Opportunities

(By Arthur Mason)

The history of music is filled with wonderful stories. But the story of the growth of music's helpmate, radio, is so wonderful an one. For a very few years interest in music was the possession of only a few and to those and were interested. Music did not exist for the people at large, or it existed only as a far-off realm of mysterious possession of the experts who wrote it. There is not space here to tell the full story of the growth of the music-hearing public, of all that this can be said that everyone is now upon a time as available to only a few people here and there, it is now available to, and is a treasured interest to the majority of the peoples of the world, so that the pleasure attending to a love of music is one of the best pleasures of hundreds of millions of the human race.

The 19th, 20th, and 20th Century Musical Radio.

The events now in performance has come to be of the present range and variety because of a public demand. That public demand has been created and has increased because of the quality of music on offer. Supply has responded to demand, and demand has responded supply. The musician of no earlier than the eighteenth century would be amazed to find his beloved, but comparatively acquainted, art in command of such a vast public as is now available to it, and not even the nineteenth century musician, nor the nineteenth century musical public, would have imagined a world in which people was so illimitably on offer, of such variety, or of as certain an appeal to everybody of every taste as it is now to be at the close of the first quarter of the twentieth century. The musical opportunities of to-day are, in fact, without number or end, and no taste in music need go unsatisfied The familiar centres of our own time and former times—orchestras, chamber-music combinations, operas, choirs, bands—the solo instruments—now pour out their music in a volume which even a little while ago we could have been unbelievable. But more significant than that, new instruments that were undreamt of by

The Problem of The Co-operative Dairy Pools

The following article by Mr. A. Scott will serve to answer a number of questions which cream producers ask when the subject of cream pools comes up. If you are interested the Association will be pleased to go into further details on any angle of the whole dairy industry, and time will be allowed to go into further details at their command. Only recently we have come face to face with the problem of finding a foreign market for our surplus butter or our dairy product. The honey crop full of the present writer's estimate that there will be no surplus honey to be got ready for the spring market, a short start in the Spring Tests must be made. Some of the bees, and they will come from bodies of water to get their supply of water in which to dissolve the sugar. In many cases the sugar melts there will be 200 tons of honey in the hives.

This is not a very large amount for the whole province, but it is a considerable item for some of the districts.

A couple of years ago we figured on from the government reports at Lethbridge as a source. April is the only month in which to insure millions of dollars in May and June. This year has been very well supplied with rain and is based on the fact that there is an average rainfall in Alberta of 16 inches per year, and that about one inch falls in April when it is true of 1-2 inches the total amount of from May to June the important growing months.

We have a conviction this year that will not be so mild as all until the month of May. The water is reserve in the snow will be evaporated to the inches of rain in April without a drop falling during that month. In fact the ground will probably be into even if no more snow or rain comes during March and April.

The last time the farmers are hope for as a spring as dry as a Prohibitionist got up to the 20th of May.

A rain could very well have been on to two feet of snow on the farm and every year with proper precautions.

This means one thing. Town, Change of trees protected through all the farm, will hold the snow over growing season, and provide the moisture for a real good irrigation system.

Every time five inches of snow is melted on to keep off your land, you lose a load: each of rain, or 10 tons per acre. Here would you like the job of carting 10 tons of water to every acre of your land on the Spring? Well that is the amount of water you lose when five inches of snow blows off, and that is the average snow fall each winter.

To those who is cutting down the trees to make a community fence to save snow please do not gossip. Be a good sport a few more acres for grain and the land of the snow fall by making any early spring.

BECAUSE it is vital to your well-being and the best interests of your families. Because in so doing you are setting organized good-will to combat organized hate which is devastating the world. Because in so doing you are helping to set the whole world right; because in so doing you are building up for your children the great dominion of the future.

I WANT to say as strongly as I can that the well-being of the country community is the vital factor in the life of the nation. Civilization is upheld by the plow. If the country is right, the city will be alright. If the country goes wrong, the city cannot endure. From the country well forth the very springs of life; it is the nursery of the citizen of the future. In the hands of the country dwellers rest the destinies of our Dominions and the welfare of coming generations.

IN outlaying districts it is right that there should be subordinate community centres, but the main community centre must always be the Country Town. Each town should be for its own territory a social centre, a business centre, a religious centre, an educational centre, an amusement centre, an employment centre, an inspirational centre, and an organizing centre. Man liveth not by bread alone.

IF all the profits which have been made by outside interests from the requirements of the farmers of the West during the last ten years had been kept in the country communities to which they belong, towns, and municipalities, instead of being in many cases on the verge of bankruptcy, would be prosperous and flourishing, adjacent farm lands would be higher in value and more readily saleable, and the country communities would be fortified and entrenched that they could pass through a long siege of hard times without suffering.

Beware Of Alaska Or "Miracle" Wheat

(Experimental Farms' Note)

Although tried time and again by numerous Experimental Stations, Alaska or "Miracle" wheat has failed to gain a place for itself, except among those who would exploit it for their own financial gain. But unless history fails to repeat itself this spring, we may expect soon to see the signs of an aggressive campaign, having as its objective the sale of this wheat to Western farmers. We may expect to hear or read about marvellous yields that it is capable of producing under all conditions of growth. One of the promoters of this wheat, a few years ago, was quoted as saying that the seed he obtained a bushel of seven pounds and from these seven pounds he produced 1500 pounds of seed at the end of a season. He also claimed that variety ripened in two weeks less time than other varieties. It has, we understand, been tried out in many districts, including Edmonton, Macleod, Minnedosa, Brandon, Melville, Rosenay, Beaverlodge, Edmonton, Manyberries, Eldorado, Manyberries, Minnie, Rosenay, Beaverlodge. It has always been easy to interest people in this wheat owing to its branched head. If an ordinarily branched head will yield so much, it is argued, surely a branched head will yield much more! While head for head this may be true, yet experiments have not shown that it holds good acre for acre. This wheat was probably introduced into North America from Europe or Egypt in Colonial days. It was received by the Philadelphia Society for promoting Agriculture in 1807, some which time it has appeared periodically under new names or number.

In 1906 the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture began an extensive investigation of this wheat, which investigation was continued for several years. In the meantime it has been tried by almost all over the U. S. but it is not now grown anywhere on a commercial scale. The fact that it has many features established in spite of the remarkable advertising it has received is a good indication of its inferiority. Persistent, however, some interest is occasionally aroused, and sometimes an effort is made to exploit it. The following are the conclusions arrived at by the Dominion Experimental Farms at considerable pains. As far back as 1909 the chief of the Dominion Cerealist Division offering this opinion of it:

"The so-called Alaska or Miracle wheat has been thoroughly tested, and the conclusion of extensive tests over a number of years in the U. S., by the United States Department of Agriculture (Bulletin No. 227, 1910, P. 57). This summary is as follows:

(1) That it has been used in this country very often as a means of deceiving people and very seldom as a farm crop;

(2) That it has failed to produce even fair yields when tried in many parts of the country, and has never been known to produce extraordinary yields;

(3) That it is not a good milling wheat;

(4) That the branched head is not a sign of superior yielding power.

Shelter For The Garden

Attention may be given that for the most successful growing of horticultural crops, fruits vegetables and flowers, protection from the strong winds and winds is essential. Shelter protection benefits these crops to a large degree.

The Horden Experimental Station, with the exception of a row of hedges has orders and given ash and cottonwood trees around the old forest home, was open prairie in 1916. During the past seven years the trees have grown to a height of from 20 to 30 feet. These trees have developed a splendid shelter belt and have also supplied numerous planters of fruit bushes, shrubbery, hedges, etc.

The following species have been tested at the Horden Experimental Station on dot neighboring farms:

1. Non-suckering varieties of willows such as laurel-leaved willow, golden willow, Wisconsin willow, Russian willow, etc. These are very hardy and fast growing. They are also easily propagated from cuttings.

2. Manitoba maple or ashleaved maple, and ash. Trees are a good deal slower than the willows, but are very hardy and moderate in growth. They are also easily propagated from cuttings.

3. Non-suckering varieties of poplars such as laurel-leaved poplar, golden poplar, Simon poplar, etc. These are very hardy, fast growing trees, and are easily propagated from cuttings.

4. Caragana or pea shrub. This is a very hardy shrub and is easily propagated from seed.

5. Hedge nurses an attractive shelter belt. Caragana hedges are also useful for fruit plantations. The seed should be fresh as it seems readily to lose its vitality.

6. Shelter protection may be obtained by planting fruits such as lobsters, dwarf cherries, buffalo berry, etc.

"SILVER HORDE" READY FOR CANNERY

THE picture above a scene that is embedded at a Slaven River among in British Columbia, along the line of the Canadian National Railways, one hundred and sixty miles north of Prince Rupert. Here the world's supply of silver fox is being raised for the fur trade. Silver foxes are the most valuable of all furbearing animals, and many farmers who possess the necessary land and water facilities are turning their attention to fox farming. The most valuable fox is the silver fox, which is a variety of the common red fox. Its fur is of a silvery color, and is very beautiful. Silver foxes are raised in captivity, and are fed on a diet of fish, meat and vegetables. They are kept in pens, and are bred in the spring. The young foxes are born in the summer, and are weaned in the fall. They are then sold to fur dealers, who resell them to the fur trade.

Simplified Fables of Aesop

The Discriminated Donkey

In the depth of the winter a donkey once prayed for spring so that he might have some fresh green grass instead of the hay, which was his fare. The spring came with the warm weather, but although he had plenty of green, fresh grass, there was a great deal of work to do on the farm with plowing and sowing the crops and he received heavy oats. So he began to grumble again and said that conditions were worse when the morning time would be over for there would be lots of time for rest.

Then came the summer very hot and dry, so the donkey grumbled afresh, the days were longer and he was worked harder than ever, and so on and so on. But here he was disappointed, for with autumn came the harvest of fruits and vegetables to the market, and food for the coming winter.

He after he passed the end of the seasons he found that each one had trouble and work, and then he was back again to the one he started from he decided that he would make the best of things as they came.

It is very silly to keep wishing for the time to pass, just as there will always be something that is not to your liking. It is much wiser, by far, to resolve to enjoy the time as it comes, and never grumble at what you cannot alter.

Fox State Exports to England

Imports into England from the Irish Free State increased during 1924, an average of 50 per cent over the imports of 1923. Also they are about 25 per cent. above the annual average for the ten years preceding the creation of the Free State Constitution.

MONEY FOR RAILWAY EXTENSIONS

The Provincial Legislature will submit to the electors of Edmonton by-law authorizing the city to guarantee payment of principal and interest of $130,000 of a total issue of $1,000,000 of bonds to be issued by the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia Railway Co. The proceeds of the bonds are to be used in the construction of the railway from Edmonton to Spirit River, a distance of 200 miles. The city's guarantee is to be for the purpose only of enabling the company to secure the money at a lower rate of interest.

Immigration Plans

The Alberta Legislature, at the instance of Premier Greenfield, unanimously passed the following resolution, re immigration to the Province:

"That, whilst the responsibility for Provincial and rural immigration rests with the Provincial Government, the result of such policies certainly affects the welfare of the province as a whole, and that the assistance of provincial services and existing agencies available, is of great importance:

That the Legislature, therefore, would and we therefore urge a joint policy on the part of the Provincial Government, the Railways and the Press, not only to stimulate immigration to Alberta, but also to avoid duplication of effort and expense.

That the Premier make a brief report of the new policy to be agreed upon at the next session of the Legislature

Round the Country

Canada is now entering into another period of immigration, and it is to be hoped that no effort will be spared by the Provincial Legislatures, Municipal Councils and every other retail organization to attract a substantial share of the 1 per cent now entering the Province of Alberta.

After going through a period of stagnation during which immigration has been at a standstill, farming, business and professional men are now looking forward to a period of unprecedented prosperity. Every indication points to a period of activity in the construction of railways, in the opening up of new areas, in the development of our natural resources, and in the more intensive cultivation of our farms.

Alberta farmers have recently been shipping a new commodity to the United States. During the past few years there has been a considerable increase in the number of bee-keepers and last year 600 tonnes formed a total production of nearly 60,000 pounds of honey, valued at approximately $10,000. The exact consideration is not known.

Contract for aeroplane spruce has been made between Victoria Limited, manufacturers of aeroplanes, and Powell River Company in Vancouver. The spruce will be logged on the property of Limited Mill and Lumber Co. at Beckley Hill at Port Clement, on Graham Island and at Jarvis Inlet, in Vancouver. The contract calls for the delivery of two million feet.

Canada leads the world in automobile exports in proportion to production, according to a statement of motor vehicles or to population. Not quite so much can be said for the automobile exports of the Dominion are only two-fifths of the exports of Canada have nearly doubled, the value being from $4 per cent. to 17 per cent. of the automobile export trade of the world.

A special train of forty-two cars containing nearly 1000 head of stock for export to Great Britain, arrived at Montreal from Calgary. The train had stock pens at Montreal, re-ice. There added to shipments.

At Port Arthur, Ont., Toronto and Montreal, Ontario and Quebec made up what customers claimed to be the greatest concentration of Canadian exhibits ever seen in the city of the trade. From the yards the cattle were taken by motor trucks to the ship's side at St. John.

When the record-to-scale cruise passengers aboard the Canadian Pacific steamship "Empress of France," reached Quebec recently, they were entertained by Raoul Rhetault, a prominent French banker, who had over a large number of villages along the Rhine. Under-cooking, the chalk surrounded in a modern attire of heart failure. The visitors from the American Rhineland were invited to their ship were permitted to attend the funeral, which took place 4 in the desert with weird and impressive religious rites. Among those present were world-famous journalists.

Between 900,000 and 400,000 French Canadians will gather at Montmagny, organs will gather at Montmagny and St. Pascal in June to take part in a festival to be given by a great national gathering of the province of Quebec in honor of the first organized party of Norman settlers on this continent. President Coolidge, King [illegible] of Norway and Lord Byng, Governor-General of Canada, have been invited to attend. Meetings of some forty Norwegian organizations, divine service by the Bishop of Oslo (formerly Christiania), field sports, local contests and historic pageants will make up the programme.

Taxes at the rate of 30,000 a day are being collected by farmers in Western Canada during the last 10 years, according to a report of the Canadian Department of Agriculture. A total of 130,000,000 young trees, mostly poplar and willow, have been used in farmers in that section in connection with shelter belts.

Canada has entered into negotiations with Germany for a trade agreement which will give her the benefits of the most favored nation agreement. Reports to that effect have been received by Dominion officials and at the close of the year Canada's trade with Germany had doubled in being Canada's third best customer.

A co-operative shipment of poultry in New York City, consigned and handled by the Dominion Poultry Co-operative, of Toronto, was brought good results. The shipment consisted of 1,000 carefully packed crates of turkeys and the shipment netted an extra a pound for their birds, the New York selling price being 41 cents a pound.

Among the interesting loads of lumber now in Canada's forest Highway, from the First Wake to the Last Spike" by J. M. E. Saxton, C.E., published by Thorburn and Abbott, Ottawa, is the story of the early history of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the various contracts, the story of the life of the construction days as experienced by the author, who was a member of the company's engineering staff.

Mineral production in Canada for 1924 is estimated at $200,000,000, as compared with $211,670,253 in 1923, according to the preliminary statement issued by the Department of Mines. Metallic minerals accounted for $99,851,000 of the total, coal for $30,000,000, clay products for $7,000,000, structural materials and clay products for $11,000,000.

The Port of Montreal created a new world record in 1924 for the amount of grain handled in any one port in any one year, namely, 105,-132,326 bushels, while from January 1 to December 31 the total handled was 364,588 bushels more than her nearest competitor and 17,335,742 bushels more than the news mark established by Montreal.

Described as the finest cantaloupe ever seen in the world, the "Princess Katerina," recently launched by Messrs. Thomas Brydon, widow of the late Lord Mount Stephen, a former president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, left Glasgow on January 15 on her ten thousand mile journey to the Canadian Pacific's fleet of Canadian steamships plying the seaboard of British Columbia.

A historic pageant of some proportions is being planned by the Calgary exhibition board for this year, the object being to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the city by the old North West Mounted Police in 1875. In the period which has since elapsed, Calgary has grown to be an enterprising, busy, modern city, having a population of 72,000. A campaign similar to that held in Calgary in previous years is also planned for this summer.

Here and There

An act of arrangement passed the House of Commons recently in the case of the London Express Company, which has been in liquidation since shipped to America to form part of a modernized exhibit there. The cattle, which are valued at $500, came from the National Park at Banff, Alberta.

All those matters are of direct import to the retailer and dealer. His prosperity is absolutely bound up in the prosperity of the farmer and the general development of the resources of our province. Truly he has always recognized this.

At the recent convention of the Retail Merchants' Association, it was brought out that in many of the retailers proved their profits for from two to four years were represented by accounts owing them by the farmers customers. In past years they had been functioning on loan companies and private bankers without any of the security enjoyed by them instantaneously.

This is very personal proof of the responsibility of the rural with farmer, and in return the farmer should recognize with the retailer. The prosperous of either directly affects both.

For some years western provinces have labored under the disadvantage of stationary population, and in a normal state the population of newly settled districts should increase naturally by leaps and bounds, partly by natural increase, partly by immigration.

Opinion is not unanimous on the advantages of immigration, but one practical example, one person-placed fact is worth a hundred opinions. The United States, with their population of over 110,000,000, have achieved the distinction of being not only the greatest agricultural country, but the wealthiest, possibly the greatest country on earth.

It has been done by a policy of unrestricted immigration. With practically a wide continent to develop they have made the most of unity brain and brawn as was members could accomplish, both as a nation and individuals.

What could be their position today if they had not for half a century welcomed open arms to every enterprising stranger, only asking in return that their business good and useful citizens.

And we believe that with the trend of European immigration turning once again to our Dominion it will bring a new era of prosperity in which all interests farmer and merchant will share alike.

Women Take Up Beekeeping

Many women are now included in the ever growing ranks of beekeeping enthusiasts. A few have taken to beekeeping as a sole source of earning a livelihood, but the majority of them are keeping bees simply for the pleasure of association connected and these interesting little insects. But only do a few manage to secure a fair share of honey for their pains, but from various sales, with proper care, they be made quite profitable. For a hobby or a recreation, beekeeping provides a combination of a pleasant and profitable summary to recreation and in the open air. And not a

The Merchant's Great Ally

THE automobile is a great ally of the small town retailer in his daily fight against the big mail order houses, and with good roads there is no reason why the farmer should not be prevailed upon to purchase his requirements as needed from the local merchant instead of stocking up from the mail order houses.

TO take advantage of this, however, the dealer must bring his goods to the notice of his customers, and should start right in to advertise in "The Independent" and circularize them now to secure their business directly the roads get good. Point out to the buyers that they can see what they are buying and do not have depend on drawings and descriptions.

THERE is just one way in which the farmer can best promote prosperity in the town near which he lives and that is by spending his money in that town instead of sending it away to the far-distant city. Every time the farmer sends an order to a mail order house he helps to destroy the prosperity of his own community and to boost his own taxes. When he sends a dollar away from home he gets none of it back. When he spends a dollar at home, a part of that dollar comes back to him in some way. It helps the town where it is spent to provide a profitable market for his products and it helps the town pay a large part of his taxes.

The Farmer and the Merchant are the factors that help to build up the prosperity of the community, and the automobile, the horse and the telephone are the connecting links between the two

Botha News

We Botha Band, under the leadership of T. Bircumshaw, are to have a second band concert in the Hall on Friday evening next. The weather turned cool and the attendance was not all it should have been but the programme was excellent and the band acquitted themselves admirably. The various items presented showed careful training, and from the applause accorded, were appreciated by the audience. The selections were to deliver: March, "Regent Band," Overture, "The Bourgeoisie," Vocal Duet, "Mendelssohn" H. Hansen and H. Carter; Violin Solo, Master Pickerell, "Serenade," "Moonlight in Venice," Reading by Miss H. Tipman, Brass Quartette composed of Messrs. Bowman, Lapwin, E. Friend and Hewetson, "Reverie," Waltz, "S. Treasures," Vocal solo, H. Prothero, Reading, Mrs. H. D. McDonald, "Solo to Banjo," "The Police," "God Save the King." The accompanists for the evening were, Messrs. Earl Preston and Fred Sanctuary. A dance to help keep up the evening and quite a number remained to trip the light fantastic.

Mr. Hodgins has returned to Hardisty after a visit from a visit to Calgary, Edmonton and Leduc. Between now and then business conditions seem to promise well in those places but good business is looked for in the hardware business this spring.

The death took place on Friday morning last, March 13th, of Mary Ann, beloved wife of Alexander Kipp. Deceased was in her 58th year and has been suffering for some six months from a cancerous growth. Much sorrow on a happy release from the intense pain and suffering which through all the months was borne with fortitude. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, interment being made in the Botha cemetery.

Botha district in 1905 and resided here most of the time, coming from Virginia here, but primarily from Dingley, Yorkshire, where the deceased was born. Left to mourn her loss is Mr. Kipp at home, Doris, Mrs. Cecil Gale, of Rosedale, and her father and mother still living in the old land. The funeral was held from the Botha Hall on Monday, March 16th, Rev. H. R. MacDonald, pastor of the Community Church, officiating. A large congregation assembled to pay their last respects to the deceased and with loads were laid all that remained of one who was held in much high esteem. During the service Mrs. E. Carter sang by request "When Upon Life's Billows you are Tempest Tossed," leaving upon the listeners a profound feeling of the solemnity of the occasion. Mr. Jack Davis had charge of the funeral arrangements.

midnight banquet was a sumptuous affair, the table being decorated with an election cake in colors bearing aloft the victor's ringing bell. This cake was made by Mrs. Harbinett and another made by Mrs. Harry Everett decorated with the councillor's name were the outstanding table decorations, although the food prepared by each lady there was a triumph, as all agree that this community boasts more good cooks than—and it isn't safe to make comparisons, as each community has its pride—well-founded no doubt, suffice to say that the men did justice to the occasion and if the women of any community ever eat in their own talk they have accomplished very much. Mr. J. W. Thomas is the chief. After congratulations to Mr. Harbinett on his recent entry into public life, he spoke a few moments on social status of culture in relation to material prosperity, and the value of the people to the community, and urged that the people and citizens take more interest in the affairs of the district. Mr. Sackett followed with a spirited and instructive address on Pool Markets.

DONALDA

A telegram has just been received from Miss Rendell, bringing the sad news of the death of Mrs. Bertha Davidson, sister of Mrs. L. H. Hughes, who passed away after a prolonged illness, on Sunday, 11:00 p. m., March 15th.

We wish to sincerely thank all those who helped in any way, expressed sympathy for the sorrow contained. Mr. and Mrs. Hughes and family.

Dr. C. V. Buchanan passed through here on his way to Edmonton in the interests of the Chair of Agriculture and the Canada Fund of the Methodist Church.

Special meeting will again take notice shortly for the re-appearance of "Lethbridge Nan" the exceedingly popular play recently presented to overflowing and delighted audiences at Dundas, Red Willow, Meeting Creek and again at home.

"Little Recruitment Nan" we are sorry will not appear again at home, but at the Grand Theatre, Stettler, where she and her Dramatic Personale, will be featuring this most modern and unreliable of comedy dramas to true lovers of a really high-class entertainment. The Donalda Dramatic Club are to be congratulated for the splendid support they have received as well as for the manifest spirit with which the proceeds are so freely devoted to the Church Benevolent purposes. This is the secret of their success. It will be impossible to present the play before the latter part of April owing to the condition of the roads. Announcements will be made later.

R. W. Grier has been busy these days taking stock of his Hardware, Implement and Furniture lines.

While rounding down the hill on Monday, Jas. Nan Hannah had the misfortune to break his leg. He is reported doing as well as can be expected.

The Ladies' Aid Society are quite well along with the "Musical Entertainment" and Box Social which will be held in Kinnon Hall on Friday 27th. The program will consist of a highly entertaining and novel "Musical Play" recently published.

The cast of characters of the Play will be announced in next week's issue. Be sure and reserve this date. St. Patrick tickets will be sold. Get yours early.

WESTERN MANAGER

THE rapid extension of the operations of the Canadian National Railways in Western Canada, and the purchase recently obtained during 1921 under the provisions of Mr. A. J. Hall, Land Commissioner, have justified the creation of plans for the further extension of this work during the next few years. Mr. Jack Davis has been appointed Western Manager of this department, with headquarters at Winnipeg, an appointment which will meet with very general approval throughout western and eastern Canada where Mr. Johnson is favorably known as a first class engineering man, and a thorough business executive.

Born on the Island of Jersey in the Mediterranean, Mr. Johnson received his early education in England; thereafter agricultural College, Guelph, Ont., and Toronto University, from which institution he graduated in 1906, B.A., and with the degree of Bachelor in Civil Engineering in 1908. From this latter year until 1910 he was busy on the land as a practical farmer at Myrtle, Ontario, and North Battleford, Saskatchewan, gaining in that period invaluable experience of the farmer's problems on the prairies, which was to stand him in good stead in later years. Having by this time acquired a reputation as a right worker, he went to Ottawa, 1910, appointed Market Commissioner for the Dominion Live Stock Branch. On the formation of the Board of Grain Commissioners in 1912 he was appointed Chief of Stock Yards Service for the Dominion Government.

On July 1st, 1925, Mr. Johnson resigned his position with the Dominion Government to become Agricultural Agent for the C.N.R. and was appointed General Agricultural Agent on Jan. 1st, 1917. His wide experience in all departments of the work was a great asset to him in his new position, and enabled him to deal with many matters which those directly interested in such matters, will be of considerable assistance in the performance of his new duties which, in view of the immense importance of settlement operations, will be of great benefit to settlers in Canada and the Canadian National Railways, affords almost unlimited scope for his activity. Among other functions of the work coming under the jurisdiction of Mr. Johnson's department is that of the Employment Service of Canada, which has been established in connection therewith, and the Colonization Department, which deals with the placing of suitable newly arrived immigrants in farm labor.

OVER SIXTY YEARS TO SERVE CHEESE

That Canada will soon take its place with the nations that are the largest consumers of cheese seems assured considering the steady increase in consumption in the past few years since Kraft-MacLaren Cheese Company, of Montreal, introduced the five pound box. The Kraft Company were the originators of the popular individual wrapped cheese, without rind or waste, in the five pound wooden box, and, while the original product has had many imitators, none have been able to produce a cheese of the same uniform quality and flavor because the Kraft process is protected by patents. The Company does not make cheese, therefore, it is not makers cheese, therefore it is not competitor with the cheese factories busy and adding to their prosperity and that of the farmers. Kraft Cheese is simply a scientific blending of these manufactured cheeses by means of the patented Kraft Process, which absolutely controls the flavor.

The company has just issued a beautified recipe book showing over 60 different ways in which cheese may be served. Many of the dishes are illustrated in natural colors. A copy may be obtained, free, on writing to the company in Montreal, mentioning this paper.

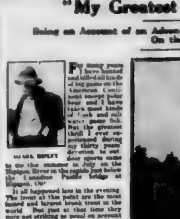
"My Greatest Thrill In Sport"

Being an Account of an Adventure Which Overtook Chuck Ripley On the Nipigon.



By Chuck Ripley

It happened late in the afternoon. The trout at this point are the most finicky and keenest I have found. But just at that time they were not striking so we moved on a couple of the succeeding and eagle stretches of water. I was over to my canoe on a little point watching my casting rod, it's common, that I had already had considerable luck and would be a profession to myself and other anglers to take them in this manner, when fly casting is the vogue.

The water was high. The Virginia Falls bridge, and below, by a number of miles to the big bend, which is the beginning of the Nipigon proper, was almost in flood. The trout were feeding on the surface and rising for every fly that came their way. They were not particular as to the fly they took so long as it was small. I had a number of fly boxes with me and had tried out the Parmachene Belle, the Silver Doctor, the Jock Scott and the Royal Coachman, but they would not look at any of them. Then I tried the Nipigon Red, which is the favorite fly of the locality, and they would not look at it. Then I tried the Montreal, the Professor, the Black Gnat, the Coachman, the Cowdung, the Grey Hackle, the Red Ibis,

You Belong to the 'Corporation' Of Stettler

THE people of this community are apt to overlook the fact that they are stockholders in the town of Stettler and district and that their fortunes are bound up with those of the community as a whole. Perhaps they do not realize that if their town fails, they will fail with it. There is just one thing, ordinarily, that kills a town in the first place, and that is lack of money.

A TOWN is just like a corporation, and the money possessed by its inhabitants is its capital. If this capital is depleted, a town will fail just as a corporation whose capital is depleted by poor management or other causes, will fail. And just as the corporation which once has failed can seldom retrieve its lost fortunes, so the town which has failed can seldom "come back."

THE capital of this community is depleted when its money is sent away from home in a way that brings no benefit to the community. It takes no great amount of thought to be able to realize that the town like the individual cannot last long if is' it paying out more money than it takes in.

THAT does not mean that a prosperous town is the one in which the people do not spend any money. On the contrary, a prosperous town is one in which the people do spend money, but they spend it At Home.

CATTLE

BEEF—Prices firm all along the line this week at Calgary with choice heavy and light steers $6.25@7; good $5.50@6.25; medium $4@5.25; common $3@4. Choice heifers $5.50@6; good $4@5.25. Choice cows at $4.50@5; good $3.75@4.25; medium $3.25@3.75; common $2.50@3. St. Cannery $1.25@2. Choice bulls $4.75@5; medium $3@3.50; common $2.50@3. Calves $7.50@8. STOCKERS, FEEDERS—Business not very heavy but prices unchanged at $5.50 for choice heavy short-keep; others down to $4; stocker cows $2.50@3.25. Stock heifers and cows $2@3.

BEEF—Edmonton cleaning up well this week and prices firm with demand here. Choice heavy and light steers $6.50@7; good $5.75@6.25; medium $5.75@5.50; common $4@4.50. Choice heifers $5.25@6; good $4.75@5.25. Choice cows at $4.50@4.75; good $4@4.25; medium $3.50@4; common $2.75@3.25; canners $2@2.50. Choice bulls up to $3.50@4; medium $3@3.25; canners $1.50@2. Calves, choice veal $7@8. Common $5.50@6. FEEDERS, STOCKERS—Demand not quite as keen but prices hold pretty well; choice feeders $5.50; really choice stockers $4.25; others down accordingly to quality. Stock heifers $3@3.50. Stock cows $2.50@3.

HOGS

Calgary prices yesterday reached $12.65, thick smooths, off cars; bacon 19 p. c. premium. Today's sales $12.40@12.65.

Edmonton showing decided strength with northern hogs at $12.65 and others, off cars $11.50@12.75, thick smooths, off cars; bacon 19 p. c. premium.

SHEEP

Not many sheep at Calgary yards and prices about unchanged with top lambs $16; yearlings $11 and fat ewes $4@5.50.

Scarcely enough sheep at Edmonton to establish market, but values unchanged from last week, with top lambs $16; ewes $10 and wethers $15.

GRAIN

All the grain that was spent this week and prices took some recovery at Winnipeg. Any man who tries to predict grain markets is a cut anyway, so let it go at that.

BUTTER, BUTTERFAT, CREESE

CREAM—Alberta prices unchanged and market outlook remaining for opening of season; production seasonably lighter yet. Saskatchewan prices dropped a cent yesterday.

CREAMERY BUTTER — Demand somewhat better on some of the second grade and whole market tone is heavy; export business will keep prices up throughout the season better than might be expected; at least like to ever last year. DAIRY BUTTER—Very little moving. CHEESE—Prices on stillton and twins advanced.

POULTRY—HIDES

Calgary trade having a little price war and extras quoted on range of 20c@24c, fowls 18c@20c, ducks 18c@22c, geese 16c@20c, most other markets likely at the lower quotations; country potatoes stationary and 10c to dozen buy basement. POULTRY The receipts light and quite a lot of inferior stuff being drawn out.

POTATOES

Calgary deliveries still quoted at $30@$40. A grade, market likely to keep up until larger offerings come along.

HAY

Hold over stocks are saving feed situation in many districts and though considerable buying, position not as acute as was anticipated earlier in the season. Prices not much changed

SEEDS

Market slow and likely to stay that way until better quality hides come off in spring and winter stuff taken up tenders, which they are not at present showing any inclination to do, unless at reduced prices.

FURS

Prices at Winnipeg auctions do not indicate any material change in buying prices.

Alberta's Educational Report

Total enrolment in Alberta's normal and secondary schools was 141,273 for the term ending in 1924, according to the report of the Department of Education tabled in the Legislature this week by the Minister of Education, Hon. Perrin Baker

This enrolment 673 less than the previous year, but the report draws attention to the fact that there is an increase of 1,164 in the enrolment of those grades above Grade Eight. The secondary schools had an enrolment of 18,446, or 9.43 per cent. of the total enrolment. Here the enrolment in secondary schools has increased as shown by the fact that in 1905 the high schools ad only 565 pupils or 2.41 per cent. of total enrolment. In 1913 the total was 8,232 or 5.38 per cent. and in 1924 was 13,446 or 9.13 per cent. of the total.

The supply of teachers is increasing rapidly, the report says, and there is no difficulty for schools which will pay reasonable salaries in securing teachers.

During the year 611 teachers were trained at the normal schools and certificates granted to 188 trained in other provinces making a total of 799 Canadian trained teachers ready for teaching in Alberta.

The institution of the correspondence course for pupils in outlying districts and who were unable to attend school has been a success. There are 350 pupils enrolled in the courses.

During the year the province contributed $30,440.97 toward the education of deaf and blind children, and a grant of $5,000.00 to the Canadian Institute for the Blind.

Loans to school districts were paid back to the government during the year to the extent of $101,901.42 principal and interest. The outstanding total is now $464,617.54 in principal and $11,314.32 interest.

The report of the summer school held in August showed an enrolment of 321 teachers.

In the examinations held during the year the candidates totalled 16,247.

There are now 38 inspectors, one of whom is for high school work, compared with 30 inspectors with two for high school work before the reduction was made in 1922.

The attendance at the inspected school at Calgary was 998, of which 200 were day students, 258 night students and 255 in correspondence courses.

Analysis of the enrolment figures showed that there were 79,916 in grade schools and 67,485 in ungraded schools. Analysis of the age of pupils according to grade showed that 38.95 per cent. of be total enrolment was over-ages, 56.40 were of normal age according to grade, and 4.65 were under-ages. A total of 3,873 left school at the age of 15, of these 1,272 were in Grade Eight, 945 in grades above Eight, and 656 in the grades below Eight. The report states that there has been a large decrease in the pupils leaving school.

ON PARLIAMENT HILL

OTTAWA, March 19th. [illegible] are matters of keen [illegible] Canada in connection [illegible] London, ready on the House of Commons from correspondents handed on the House from day to day by different members of the Government, and from the press attacks made by censorship measures, both on this side and on the other side of the Atlantic against the Federal Government's plan for eliminating control of Atlantic freight rates. It has become evident that there has been uncovered one of the largest and most powerful combines now in existence. The control of freight rates now exercised by the North Atlantic Shipping Conference extends to a similar degree over almost every line that is exporting heavy toll upon all shippers and producers.

More serious in its effect upon Canadian goods and Canadian ports than the actual high rates maintained by the North Atlantic Conference is the gross discrimination against those ports and those goods and in favor of the same goods shipped from United States. This discrimination, which is abundantly established in the evidence taken by two sessions only by Special Committees on Agricultural conditions and clearly demonstrated in the speech made by Hon. Thomas A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, on March 3rd, has been the subject of repeated protests to the Canadian government for the past few years. It is noteworthy, though, that while the present Government has been quick to act upon such complaints by introducing a measure in Parliament the Meighen administration and the Borden Government only investigated and took no action whatever.

Britain Also Investigating

Another feature of this situation, which has become the central subject of discussion this session both in and out of Parliament is that, following strong objections taken by British shipping interests to the subject matter of the Preston report, it has been arranged that concurrently with the investigation to be conducted by a Special Committee of the House of Commons, there will be an enquiry by the Imperial Shipping Committee in Great Britain. Also, the evidence to be taken by the Canadian House of Commons will be transmitted from day to day to the Imperial Shipping Committee, and, on the other hand the latter body along with British shipping interests are arranging to have witnesses not only from Canada but also from Great Britain attend the sittings of the Canadian Committee and give evidence here. All this was made clear during the time of Parliament during the absence of Premier Meighen and the Canadian Government during the past three weeks and tabled in the House of Commons last Friday by the Prime Minister.

Long Session Develops Explosion

In one of the cables sent a few days ago by the Prime Minister to the Secretary of State for the Colonies in London it was made clear that the course of action now being pursued by the King Government was decided upon some time ago and was based upon the evidence and the recommendations of the Special Committee on Agricultural Conditions two sessions ago. That table said in part:—"That Special Committee found that a combination existed in North Atlantic traffic and it recommended that action be taken to control its operation. The Canadian Government will welcome before the Special Committee sent to be named representations from the Chamber of Shipping of the United States who will be obliged if the Chamber can be advised. If for any reason the British Government should conclude that in addition to this enquiry it would be desirable to have an investigation by the Imperial Shipping Committee the Canadian Government would not wish their course of action which was decided upon some time to be to delay in any way such further investigation."

Canadian Exports Only to Benefit

Important contributions to the debate on the measure in the House of Commons during the week ended March 14th, were from Hon. W. R. Roberts, Minister of Agriculture; William Duff Ladenie member for Lambton, Ont.; Hon. W. D. Euler, Liberal member for North Waterloo; Robert Forke, leader of the Progressives and Alfred Speakman, Progressive Member for Red Deer, Alberta, for Calgary, one of the conservative members to participate [illegible] and made a point of criticism that the steps which would be so beneficial by the Canadian Government would be carrying out of the part of Montreal United States wheat, as well as Canadian wheat and that whether nation would reap some of the benefit which is intended for Canadian shippers. To this Hon. Mr. Motherwell replied that the United States wheat that came into Montreal elevators in bond would be kept in separate bins and would not be mixed with Canadian wheat at any time. The evidence given before the Royal Grain Commission," proceeded Mr. Motherwell showed quite distinctly that we are on our guard all the time to see that there is

CORN GROWING DEVELOPS

Greater acreage than ever will be in corn in Southern Alberta the coming season, it is reported. Last year the acreage in the southern part of the Province was about 16,000 acres and it is expected this will be doubled. Lethbridge Board of Trade plans to hold a corn show in that city in the fall.

Chicks Come Earlier With Each Season

Each succeeding year brings earlier arrival of the start of business in the poultry raising industry, so far at least as operations of commercial hatcheries are concerned, and where once early spring was considered the time for placing the first setting eggs in the incubator, mid-winter is now considered none too early in some cases where proper equipment for incubation and the rearing of chicks is at hand.

The care of the newly hatched chick is without question the most exacting task of the poultryman. During this period, the most delicate of their lives, many of them die unless skillfully and tenderly cared for. The apples with double faces when the chicks are reared without the aid of the hen [illegible]

For success in raising chicks artificially, a comfortable house, brooding devices of ample capacity and simple heat, wholesome foods of sufficient variety to promote health and growth, intelligent feeding and chick sanitation are necessary. Care of the chick from day to day during the two weeks, throughout the weakening period, extending from the age of two weeks until eight weeks of age, and the range period, from eight weeks to maturity is detailed by A. C. Smith of the University of Minnesota, Poultry Husbandry Division, as follows:

First day.—After hatch is completed, leave in incubator from 24 hours. Leaver in brooding temperature gradually.

Second day.—Feed six times, providing best causes for each fifty birds in each feeding of one of the following summer: Half ounce to ingredients: one small handful: (1) Rolled oat oatmeal, (2) finely crushed wheat, (3) Finely cracked corn, (4) commercial chick starter, (5) cracker-crumbs or dry bread crumbs, dry or moistened with whole sweet milk, or (6) hard-boiled egg with cracker crumbs.

Third day.—Feed as during the second day, and giveone feeding of green food—a lettuce leaf, or clover green on end. Do not cut into small pieces but make them pick it. Continue the green food until birds are placed on range.

Fourth day.—Feed as on the third day providing about two ounces for each fifty birds at each feeding. Place light litter of cut straw, clover chaff or hay chaff on floor and feed in litter

Fifth day to two weeks of age.—Repeat feeding as on fourth day, except some soon feed and providing wheat bran on clean boards, removing remaining amount after birds have eaten for five or six minutes. When pure wheat bran is not obtainable use a good commercial chickfeed.

Provide chicks with all the whole milk they will take in ten or fifteen minutes for the first ten days. After that provide skim milk, or if that is not available, mix 20 per cent. meat scraps in a special hopper, or either all sweet milk or all sour milk; do not change.

Two to Eight Weeks

Supply mash feed in hopper, using one of the following foods:

(1) Commercial chick mash, or

(2) Pure wheat bran with an unlimited supply of milk, or with beef scraps in a special hopper, or

(3) Equal parts of cornmeal, wheat middlings, wheat bran, and fine cut meat, and 10 per cent. good grade meat scraps, or

(4) Same as (3) except that the beef scraps may be reduced to fifteen per cent. if milk is provided.

In addition to mash, feed a mixture of equal parts finely crushed corn, wheat, and hulled oats twice a day or use commercial chick feed. Feed all the birds will clean up in twenty or thirty minutes.

Eight Weeks to Maturity

Put chicks on range as soon as the weather is suitable. There is danger of putting chicks out too early unless very well protected.

Either No. (3) or (4) mash may be used for this period, adding to each pound of mash to the 10 pounds of feed. Finely ground oats may be used instead of oatmeal in the ration.

A Bigger program of Farm development

This is the time of year when many farmers contemplate greater farm development, purchasing more land, more and stronger horses, and additional machinery.

In accomplishing such a programme you are borrowing money, to some extent, or usually, necessary.

Assuming a loan of that kind is a matter for future consideration, all that is required is an interview with the local branch manager of the Bank of Toronto. He will be glad to listen to your problems, give advice and lend every reasonable financial assistance at his power.

A month with the branch manager of the Bank of Toronto to-day.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters must be brief. Letters without name and address to accompany them will not be published, but name will be withheld if so desired. Anonymous communications will not be published. Publication is left entirely to the judgment of the Editor.

To the Editor,
Stettler Independent,
Stettler.

Sir:

If you will permit me a few lines of valued space in your paper I would like to reply to a statement of a correspondent of the Erskine news appearing in your issue of March 26th, concerning complaints had before the School Board at their special meeting that my complaint was not dealt with at the Principal as he says but at the Melliodeora sales, and the real complaint after being replied to by Miss McRoberts was discussed at the Trustees, was carried out to the letter and Miss McRoberts received instructions in this matter, the others being of a minor nature which I considered not expedient at a early date, and had your correspondent's children under her instruction he would be one of the first to complain about the station.

I think Mr. Editor, if your correspondent would read his own remarks and let the Secretary of the School Board furnish you with correct reports of their meetings and A. Whitney the public at large would not receive a false report of the proceedings of their meetings.

I invite the two papers of this district to call at the Secretary's office and read for themselves the true remarks of the meeting in question and know that your correspondent has been very unfairly false and untimely and of order in sending you the report of the meeting of the school board.

Thanking you for your valuable space.

Yours,
R. E. MURAY
Erskine, March 31st, 1925.

WARDEN U.F.W.A.

The local met at the home of Mrs. Estep, on March 20th. On account of the very bad condition of the roads only six members were unable to attend. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. E. Hewitt, who with Mrs. W. Maddison were visitors. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

Many items of business were discussed. Mrs. J. Keep gave a very interesting and worthwhile paper on "Poultry and Egg Production" Mrs. Barnes' paper on "Health and Child Welfare" was read by Mrs. J. W. Estep. Mrs. Hewitt read a letter from Mrs. Mitchell, of Stettler, one of the charter members of the U.F.W.A. Mrs. Mitchell is now living in Stettler, and is very much interested in the welfare of the U.F.W.A.

The Concert and Social at Buena Vista last Thursday night attracted a large crowd and was a real treat, as the play received "Encored Fast" under the able management of Mrs. T. Williams as stage. The terrible state of the roads prevented many from attending The proceeds amounting to an encouraging sum was very much appreciated. We sincerely hope that the program may soon be repeated in Warden.

Mr. Bueh on has been invited to attend the I. O. D. E. anniversary services at Morrin church on Sunday, when Mr. Buchanan will display their excellent choir of ... voices. Mr. Buchanan is a ... and disappearing quickly with ... in every evening. We wish that ... could see the sap running.

The Annual Flag Day Tea Meet and Social was ordered a splendid success in spite of the bad roads. This was the universal verdict of the entertainers audience that gathered at Hanna Hall on Friday evening. Mrs. Thorpe was well taken and the song and instrumental well rendered. The proceeds amounting to nearly fifty dollars was very gratifying to the Ladies' Aid Society.

It was the intention of the Hanna Ladies' Aid to present this highly entertainment program in Dunsdale, but owing to the condition of the roads it was decided to postpone to a later date. The same talented Upstar Entertaining the Flag Day was required to say also been postponed.

Mrs. Lemay of Seattle, Washington, arrived Monday to visit her father Mr. Ryan, who is seriously ill with cancer. Old or members of the family have also been summoned and are expected to arrive at any time.

A beginner's class in the Primary work will be organized this month, commencing the first of April, this announcement should have appeared in last week's issue.

Preparation are being made for Special Easter Service here. Rev. R. D Mayer of Calgary, as announced last week will be the special preacher. He will also give illustrated lectures on the Bible in the interest of the "Bible Society."

The Ladie' Aid Society of Hand of Wilson have a unique method of raising funds. A real enjoyable one at that.

The program is somewhat of a mystery to outsiders, but nevertheless it will prove most interesting and educational on every body some.

A Clean Slate

A FARMER we know of, who has made quite a success of farming, credits part of this success to some advice given him by a neighbor when he started to homestead in this district.

THE advice was, "Never put a cent of mortgage on your homestead after getting your patent, except for illness." The advice has been followed to the letter for the past ten years and the man in question is out of debt and has a bank reserve today. How many of us can show a clean title to our land today? Would such advice as the above have been heeded if given to each one of us when we took up land in this district?

THERE is a lesson here for those of us who have our land plastered with mortgages and other incumbraces. We blame the other fellow for the high interest we are paying, when, if we look inwardly, we, ourselves, have a great deal to do with the real cause of our troubles. We should promptly realize this and commence to "get our house in order" by clearing off these incumbrances as soon as possible, and as best we can, and once getting them cleared off, keep them that way for the future. This advice holds good whether we are starting out or starting again.

THE sum that the Alberta farmers pay out in interest must amount to millions of dollars every year. This sum is holding the country back, and keeping the individual farmer poor. Benjamin Franklin's words still hold good—"The borrower is a slave to the lender, and the debtor to the creditor."

MINERAL PRODUCTION IN ALBERTA

Mineral production in Alberta ... to establish a value $22,749,662, in the year 1924, according to the preliminary report on mineral production issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This is a decrease from the production of the previous year, recorded chiefly by the coal strike during the early part of the year. Alberta in 1924 dropped to fourth place in mineral production in which the provinces, having previously held third place. The figures on value of mineral production in the province for the past three years are as follows:

1922	$27,872,126
1923	31,297,536
1924	22,749,662

Coal production for the year was valued at $19,101,270 compared with $20,918,393 in 1923. Clay products were valued at $839,541 compared with $800,... 56th in 1923.

Alberta runs a very close second to Ontario in production of natural gas, Alberta's production in 1924 having been 7,100,... 000 thousand cubic feet, while Ontario's production was 7,622,... 512 thousand cubic feet. These two provinces produce almost the entire Canadian production of natural gas.

MASONS HAS BOOTLEGGER AND HIS CUSTOMER

You can't be a bootlegger and be a Mason, declared the Grand Lodge of Kentucky, which declares it to be unmasonic conduct for any Mason to purchase or possess intoxicating liquor. The order, in open charge, ousted its grandmaster, Ben L. Rosenthal, of Louisville, Kentucky's Grand Lodge orders also declared that no Mason shall be proceeded against by his lodge until any Mason who has brought such a person shall forfeit its charter.

Perhaps significant not because Kentucky once was world famous for its home of high art of bootlegging and brandies, but because that ancient brotherhood will hereafter prescribe any man who obtains, or has obtained, liquor in illegal vendor, the man who prescribes the vendor, indicates that the Masonic order of Kentucky are considerably dash and ... to have the backing of the ... Round the Country

We don't think all the fishermen of the Province started out to be selling beer from bottles. It was a mistake to ask for that privilege, as bottles invented a label are not a good advertisement for the house. As it stands now the public have the privilege of buying either beer or whisky through the proper channels. Go no further than that would make a license of a privilege. If the Alberta Legislature gives a certain amount of freedom in dealing with liquor that is a far as it should go.

Strange as it may seem the fact remains that the only economy yet the local legislature would agree to under this year's new is abolish Government House. That is the old appeal the democracy flung out a year ago unhung, but not yet tradition, and down with the place.

When we were boys we used to smoke old pipes called "Good Driving Sweet Stealing," and one of the verses ran like this:—

"She's fair like the rose, like a lamb she is meek,
And she never was known to put paint on her cheek,
In the most graceful curls hangs her raven black hair,
And she never requires perfumery there."

Of course that was long ago. Girls are not so much so that those days and can doesn't see graceful curls that hang down the neck any more. Most men have to pay for the hair cuts of self, wife and family, and certainly the real hair is now a complete industry in itself. Yet the only justification we know of for the bobbed hair craze is that some ladies' tailors found somewhere ground a ruling that the hair should be bobbed and pruned, if it bobbed. Anyway, it's are a thing of the past and will remain so until a ruling comes from somewhere that the present custom is to be reversed.

Judging from the front page stor ies of the Bulletin these days the girls are paying for Alberta's debt.

There is nothing a movement humdrum and sameness, from prohibition to Progressivism but some everyone connected and lost the weekly editor Even the provincial government is not immune from publicity owner by paying everybody connected with it but the weekly newspapers, one which it depends for its publicity in the rural districts. The weekly newspaper editor of Alberta is even so far as to send out to his friends a Christmas card, and the Government has not supported any paper to do that.

There it no wonder that the weekly editor is embittered "had pay" because there are so many agencies that work to make him so. Week after week he has to pay the printers and the wholesalers and every week there is constant pressure on him to grow away the only commodity he has to sell (newspaper space) to further the ends of some individual or group of individuals or corporations or governments. The vapid paper basket of the weekly editor in all of creation that is one that is more free of charge to the public than the weekly newspaper. Every week the editor is confronted with a hundred appeals for free publication in all cases is subject to the judgment of the Editor.

Gladys, Alberta,
April 3rd., 1925.

The Editor,
The Independent,
Stettler, Alberta.
Dear Sir:—

Will you kindly allow us a little of the valuable space in your paper to say a few words in reference to the proposed action re-garding the extermination of the coyote pest in the province of Alberta. This action we consider to be a very necessary one, since there is probably not a citizen who has but felt that something should be done to rid us of certain nuisances. It is not in the law, but in the method in which it is being carried out that we object. It is a real pathetic upon the authorities a charge that such a spectacle as we were privileged to witness on Wednesday could take place on our Main Street. Not only was more per-sons than necessary, but practically every child within the village limits, from the kindergarten class of small tots, were asked for nothing more dowry. The objection is raised that the children should not have been engaged in such work, but we are of the opinion that it was the duty of the City authorities not to permit the freedom of the streets, but to make it impossible for anything of the kind to show. We have illustrable pranks and only a few streets, let us make the most of them. Some—clean of all sights which might have rendered them unfit for—should be reserved for us.

This is not a "save-the-dog" appeal, we are firmly behind the Council in the service, but there is no necessity for the destruction of dumb animals of greater force than any local justice, and we feel sure that a large majority of the people of Stettler will be glad to know of decency be observed; that the method be humane, and that the instrument of destruction be effectual.

Thanking you,
We are,
"Interested."

Dear Sir:—

At a meeting held on 2nd inst. contains on complaint to the report of the proceedings of the Stettler Council for the meeting, held on 23rd ultimo.

We are pleased to see that our indication to indulge in any controversial matters of this nature, but we feel perfectly satisfied to allow the ordinary business of the Council to proceed, decide as to correctness of reports submitted for publication.

I shall be pleased if you will announce the fact that in the near future, the Erskine Literary Society will present another comedy in three acts, entitled "Lighthouse Keepers." The producers are working overtime on the production, assisted by the Advance Agent's report can be relied upon, the production bids fair to excel anything yet attempted.

Look out for the date.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters must be brief. Letters without name and address to the bottom of the waiter will not be published, but name will be given if so desired. The Editor Publication in all cases is subject to the judgment of the Editor.

Gladys, Alberta,
April 3rd., 1925

The Editor,
The Independent,
Stettler, Alberta.
Dear Sir:—

Will you kindly allow us a little of the valuable space in your paper to say a few words in reference to the proposed action re-garding the extermination of the coyote pest in the province of Alberta. This action we consider to be a very necessary one, since there is probably not a citizen who has but felt that something should be done to rid us of certain nuisances. It is not in the law, but in the method in which it is being carried out that we object. It is a real pathetic upon the authorities a charge that such a spectacle as we were privileged to witness on Wednesday could take place on our Main Street. Not only was more per-sons than necessary, but practically every child within the village limits, from the kindergarten class of small tots, were asked for nothing more dowry. The objection is raised that the children should not have been engaged in such work, but we are of the opinion that it was the duty of the City authorities not to permit the freedom of the streets, but to make it impossible for anything of the kind to show. We have illustrable pranks and only a few streets, let us make the most of them. Some—clean of all sights which might have rendered them unfit for—should be reserved for us.

This is not a "save-the-dog" appeal, we are firmly behind the Council in the service, but there is no necessity for the destruction of dumb animals of greater force than any local justice, and we feel sure that a large majority of the people of Stettler will be glad to know of decency be observed; that the method be humane, and that the instrument of destruction be effectual.

Thanking you,
We are,
"Interested."

Erskine Alberta,
April 6th, 1925.

C. L. Willis, Esq.,
Editor, Stettler Independent,
Stettler, Alberta.
Dear Sir:—

At a meeting held on 2nd inst. contains on complaint to the report of the proceedings of the Stettler Council for the meeting, held on 23rd ultimo.

We are pleased to see that our indication to indulge in any controversial matters of this nature, but we feel perfectly satisfied to allow the ordinary business of the Council to proceed, decide as to correctness of reports submitted for publication.

I shall be pleased if you will announce the fact that in the near future, the Erskine Literary Society will present another comedy in three acts, entitled "Lighthouse Keepers." The producers are working overtime on the production, assisted by the Advance Agent's report can be relied upon, the production bids fair to excel anything yet attempted.

What Other Editors Are Saying

STRAW PAPER PLANTS IN WESTERN CANADA

Calgary Herald

Copies of the Morning Post of London, printed on straw paper, arrived in Calgary The paper is of fine quality, and the impression is clear, although it is admitted by newspaper printing experts that the fact remains that the present demand for paper will exhaust the wood pulp supply in fifty years. The estimate may be far-fetched, as the supply of wastelands and of afforestation are employed on the timber lands of Canada. Nevertheless it is the fact that newsprint is becoming apprehensive in regard to the supply of paper, and that their anxiety can be remembered when one realizes that the consumption of news-print paper is enormous. Fifty years ago America used less than 500,000 tons of paper, and to-day the consumption exceeds seven and a half million tons.

The Morning Post describes the straw paper as "a fine substitute for linen." It is an elaboration of the ancient method of using straw, and some straw paper has been made for the Bible Society and Oxford Press. The Post states that fifty million tons of straw paper a year can be produced by the new formula. The only chemicals used are common salt and lime, and the plant is self contained. The Post is struck by the great possibilities that this opens up to Canada. It says that the "process has been carried out in French Fortescue with success, and is to be continued on a large scale in Canada." It is estimated that fifteen million tons of straw are found in Canada annually. "With the exception of a Canadian straw pulp mill capable of producing fifty tons of pulp a day," the Morning Post adds, "no custom paper lasting a few days, the burning of the straw will be transformed into a great modern industry with illimitable possibilities."

REPORT OF DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Evidence of improved conditions in the agricultural elements of the province is contained in the volume to part which goes to make up the annual report of the operations of the Department of Agriculture which was presented for the year 1924 to the Legislature by the Minister, Hon. R. Boyle, on Monday.

It has been previously reported that the total value of all agricultural products for the last year is estimated at $217,647,000.23, as compared with $200,194,000.00 for 1923.

FARMERS WANT WIVES

Unmarried farmers of the Vilna district in Alberta are beginning to wonder under the monotony of "single blessedness." At any rate, a group of bachelor farmers with the assistance of the Vilna Citizens' League have communicated Thomas Jackson, Pine Knoll, to visit England and befind the summer and bring back with him women of marriageable age who would make suitable partners for the Vilna bache-lors. The C. F. A. lands have endorsed the idea, and prominent men and women of the district are supporting the plan both morally and financially.

Botha News

The epidemic of influenza seems to be spreading in the district and so many are being confined to their homes has somewhat upset all concerned in anticipation. On the whole the illness is not serious but it gives the patient an uncomfortable time for a few days.

Norne Hawkins is stopping at the Royal Hotel at Bentley and her parents have been fortunate as she has been able to conduct secondary during the epidemic. Miss Hawkins has been visiting the McKay family and Miss Peatherson since arriving in town.

The W. M. S. program and Social evening has been postponed from the 10th to the 24th when it is hoped that all will be in better condition for travelling

The W. M. S. will meet on Friday afternoon, April 17th at the home of Mrs. E. H. Preddon. The meeting is called for 2.30 and all the members are urged to be present. This will be the concluding meeting for this church year.

The Parsonage Committee is sorry to announce that Mrs. Preddon's sojourn in the Preddon state from 2 to 4 p.m. on April 17th, and hopes to drop in for a cup of tea. This is to reserve afternoon.

The Young Temperance Society in the Sunday School and pledge cards are to be signed next Sunday when the cards were turned on. It was hoped that all had signed the pledge. The attendance was small and further opportunity is to be given them on the 19th next Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Part of Innisfail spent the week end with Jessica and Mrs. Gibson and of course Mrs. Gibson is one Johnson the Calgary family to Mrs. Gibson's parents. Mr. returned to Innisfail on Monday Morning while Mrs. Park is spending a week or two.

The Independent is expecting to meet with a live Calgary visitor in the next few days, the Spring poets.

Comm. Dennis has been busy this week having the trees on the boulevards sprayed and is assisted by Mr. Vangenhiem

The reservoir at the power plant was cleaned out this week and everything now is in the best future

Mrs. R. Hoe and family are leaving for Drumheller where a number of their friends residents will be taken by R. G. Hoe.

Good Friday and Easter Monday are both Bank and Post Office holidays. The Bank and Post Office will be closed on both days.

Miss Dave Clark of Erskine, visited with the Wilson home for a few days last week, while having some dentistry done on town.

A committee of the U. F. W. A. will be held on Saturday April 25th, at 2.30 at the home of Mrs. L. Johnson. A paper on Canada and Ambers and Books will be given

A regular meeting of the U. F. A. will be held at the Hall on Saturday April 18th, at 2.30 Mr. Campbell and Mr. Savage will speak on agricultural; all members are requested to attend.

Rev. Mr. Price is giving a lecture in London in W. Tim at the Methodist Church on Good Friday evening. The choir should give a good account as Mr. Price is an interesting and fluent speaker.

Mr. Bodway has prepared a paper on gardening, which will be read at the next meeting of the Women's Institute. Mr. Bodway is an authority on the subject, and this paper should prove very instructive as well as interesting. There will be a musical program also, this evening which will take place on Tuesday, April 6th, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The ladies of the Rotary Club extended to the members last Wednesday evening and put up a nice lunch and a good program of songs. The affair ended with a dance which broke up at midnight. Several town ladies and gentlemen were attending the convention at Edmonton on April 21st. Mountain and Sheriff are two new rooms here to be erected.

The past week has seen the arrival of many Spring birds, as they seem to know when a spell of fine weather is at hand. The transition from winter to Spring has been very rapid and on account of the heavy layer of snow all winter, the grass is starting to green while the sap is running in the trees.

Mr. W. H Ereksun of Saskatoon was a visitor in town on Wednesday.

A number of people motor into town each week for treatment by the X-Ray machine

Mr. A Scott of Sunday entertained her Sunday club at their luncheon on Wednesday

Dr. Kennedy and Penny Griffith motored to Edmonton on Friday last week, playing over the week-end with friends. They drove a new Ford Sedan and report the roads in fine condition.

Wm. Johnson, of Netherhill, Sask., who has taken a farm near here, through Blair and Morton was a visitor in town on Wednesday. Mr. Ball leases was a resident of the district two years ago but has spent some years in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Lolley informs us that he intends to treat Geo. Skinner's interest in his week's issue with either cockscomb, and he hopes that Skinner will produce a copy of the issue to the Post Office telling the articles required and a number of prizes will be given. Kindly keep the dates in mind.

Mr. Bert Bommers' Hall on Monday, April 13th is sure to attract a large crowd and it will the social event of the season. All the new styles are and would be carriers will be there and Mrs. Bommers will be assisted by assistant at Comber's that where the dandies will be found.

The fine mild weather of the past few days has taken the snow away in the fields and everything is now clear except some of the sidetrails where the drifts are the deepest. The sloughs were beginning to overflow, and we brighter this Spring than for years, on account of the excessive moisture in the ground.

A young fellow by the name of Jupp who has been working for Mr. Smith at Penhold was loading a rack onto his wagon on Tuesday when the rack slipped and dropped on his foot breaking his teeth against the rack bolts. Five of his teeth were broken completely into the gums and he came to town to have them extracted and the bone fixed up again.

Mr. W. Taylor, who has been in California all winter arrived home on Saturday to look after Spring operations on his farm. Mr. Taylor states that conditions are not so good in California as a while ago and unemployment is much widespread. He met many former residents while traveling over the State, and says that most of these were to be doing well.

Mr J Kirkpatrick of London Lake, said to Geo. Patrick yesterday a ear of fine potatoes. Brother Hi-Ferry and he topped the market as regards the size and uniformity of the load put down. It is a great pity the farmers in this district allow such good breeding stock to go to the butcher. Those Heifers are from 8 to 12 months old and with a little attention now can not be obtained anywhere. Why will the farmers not see the opportunity when they are trying to build up an export trade?

The Boyd family from County Dawn Ireland, arrived in Stettler on Monday night and were met by the Dominion Immigration agent and conductor of the Board of Trade. They were entertained at the National Hotel, and were taken out to their farm north west of town the next day. DONALDA

The song house are evidently busily training for part work We are informed that the Donalda Choir will render the same selection as at the concert recently given by the Edmonton Choir.

Rev. Mr. Price, pastor of the Baptist church, will preach an Easter sermon next Sunday evening. The subject will be "Christ's Resurrection." Special music will be rendered by the choir.

Messrs Vern and Bennie Mounce motored to Edmonton on Friday last to attend Donalda's program in the evening. Mr. Vern Mounce is a student at Donalda and "Our Boys Are," the very popular plays will be the main attraction. Those attending Mrs. Mounce informed us that the play was a splendid production and was well worth the price of admission. The Program after the regular devotional and business period was taken over, as the Donalda Choir members who certainly did great credit to their training. The singing was splendid as well as highly entertaining. The Donalda Orchestra also rendered some very fine selections. The orchestra is composed of students and is under the able direction of Mr. Ernest Seitz, who is also a member of the Canadian Educational Movement.

Mr. Seitz, teacher of violin at Mount School has returned and will return to his home at Easter in Calgary. We are very sorry that he stay a no letter.
